FOREWORD

It gives me pleasure to place before the public in general and scholars in particular this Calendar of Persian Correspondence Vol. I (1759—67) as reproduced by the offset process. This has been done in response to a resolution passed at the thirty-seventh session of the Indian Historical Records Commission, held at Delhi in 1966, to reprint the first two volumes in the series in view of their continuing demand and great historical value. I hope the present volume would be welcomed by research scholars.

I take this opportunity to offer my thanks to the Manager, Government of India Press, New Delhi, but for whose cooperation and help the volume would not have come out so soon.

S. N. PRASAD,
Director of Archives,

PREFACE.

WHEN in 1891, the Imperial Record Department of the Government of India was first formed under the supervision of Mr. G. W. Forrest, among the Records received from the Foreign Department was a large collection of Persian papers, which included Firmans, Sanads, Treaties, Newspapers and finally the records of the Persian letters issued and received.¹ This correspondence was preserved and recorded in the following manner.

Of Issues, copies, translations, abstracts, and later, drafts; and of Receipts, originals, copies, translations and abstracts were kept. These various collections were by no means complete when they were taken over by the Imperial Record Department, and for the earlier period the Persian versions, whether in original or in copy, are altogether wanting. It thus comes about that the present volume, in spite of its title, is based almost entirely on documents written in the English language. It will be further noticed that for the first 870 numbers we have had nothing beyond the Abstracts to go upon.

When the late Dr. Wilson took over charge of the Imperial Record Department, he recognised the desirability of treating the Persian Records as a separate whole, and took steps to have them arranged and classified, with the result that when, in 1906, I became Officer in charge I found that so much progress had been made that it was possible to form a clear estimate of the scope and importance of these Records, and make definite proposals for dealing with them.

Up to the year 1906 only two munshis, on small pay, had been employed to bring order among the vast mass of Persian documents.

I therefore obtained the sanction of Government to create a special Persian Section within the Department, which in pay and status should be quite distinct from the rest of the establishment. Four Maulavis, each well versed in Persian and enthusiasts for historical research, were appointed, and thus came into being the Oriental Section of the Imperial Record Department—a little group of specialists forming a distinct and complete compartment in itself. To the head of this newly created Section, Maulavi Zarif Muhammad, a distinguished graduate of Aligarh, has fallen the task of preparing the present calendar of Persian letters.

Although as I have said we have no Persian originals to go upon for the period covered by this volume, Maulavi Zarif's knowledge of the Persian language and the Munshi style has stood him in good stead in dealing with these abstracts and letters.

The other three Maulavis have been variously engaged on the press—listing of original letters, etc., in calendaring letters of which we possess the Persian originals, and in arranging and sorting the documents in general, and supervising the flattening of documents and the repairing and binding of volumes and bundles which have suffered from the ravages of the climate and of insects.

The earliest documents in Persian date from 1766 and these are copies: the earliest originals date from 1778. These are already being calendared by Maulavi Amjad Husain, a direct descendant of one of the Munshis of Warren Hastings' time, who possesses a very rare gift for deciphering almost illegible documents.

Some of the letters now calendared have already appeared in Long's "Selections from the Unpublished Records of Government, 1748-1767", many are included in Vansittart's "Narrative of the Transactions in Bengal from the year 1760 to the year 1764" (published in 1766), and in the Reports of the Select Committee appointed in 1772 to enquire into the affairs of the East India Company. Mr. Talboys Wheeler also drew upon them for his "Early Records of British India." This by no means exhausts the list of those who have found them useful, at the same time the correspondence has never before been treated as a connected whole.

A few words are perhaps required on the method of transcription employed in this volume ; for objection may be raised that in a publication intended rather for students of history than for students of Persian, a scientific system of transliteration was not required. In reply I would say that the first object I had in view in transcribing Indian proper names was consistency : that is that every name occurring in the work should be spelled in one way only. My second object was to adopt such a mode of transcription that no doubt could remain in the minds of scholars as to the way in which names were written in the original.

The first object might have been attained, had even the most misleading system been employed—such for example as we find in the English version of the Seir Mutagherin, which has been copied by so many later historians. But nothing short of a scientific transcription could secure my second object.

The system here adopted requires no explanation. I must mention however that in regard to certain Hindu names such as Dūlab and Nob Kishn I have transcribed the more familiar Persian corruptions and not attempted to reproduce the original forms.

In conclusion I have to thank Mr. Cloughton for the untiring care and patient labour he has given to the preparation of this calendar, for it is on his shoulders mainly that has fallen the task of revising Mr. Zarif's work and of reading the final proofs.

E. DENISON ROSS.

884. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Refers to his parwānah pressing for vigour in collecting the revenues of Burdwan. The Rājā moves from place to place and has only sent a small part of the gist. Has therefore determined to send a person to receive the revenues, with troops and cannon. Major York has reported the bad behaviour of the Faujdar of Sylhet. The commanders of Jahangirnagar and Islamabad have been directed to make him prisoner and send him to the Nawāb. At Midnapur the Marhattas attacked Mr. Johnson's troops, and two pieces of cannon have been sent to his assistance. Through the will of God, the greatness of His Excellency, and the bravery of his troops, the Marhattas will be destroyed and consumed by the fire of the cannon as lighted straw. Understands from Major York that the Zamīndār of Birbhum is ashamed of his misconduct and willing to submit to the Nawāb. There is a great difference between his present and his former letter. Rājā Faṭh Singh was formerly a friend of Šābit Jang Bahādur and is devoted to the Nawāb. His country has been much damaged and he stands in need of the Nawāb's favour, which may be shown him when he visits the Nawāb at Patna.

Hopes that the Nawāb will arrange for the payment of the very considerable amount due to the Company. Sends a copy of the Khwājah's qistbandi. Feb. 24.

961. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has before written to him about Nand Kumār's treasonable correspondence with the enemy, that he had intercepted the letters, made Nand Kumār prisoner, and was examining his papers. It appears that he corresponded with the Shāhzādah's people, Kāmgār Khān, and Sheo Bhat, and tried to injure the Nawāb and the Company. He would certainly have been punished, if his offences had been such as to come under the tenor of the Company's laws. However, it is not in the power of such a man to injure the Nawāb or the Company. He has been treated in such a manner that he will never be able to show his face again and will remain in his own house without credit or employment.

zādah to have the khutbah read or sikkahs struck in his name as yet. Major Carnac told the Shāhzādah to come to him without any apprehension, if he wanted help. The Nawāb should confer with Major Carnac and Mr. McGuire at Patna, and find out what amirs of Delhi are in the Shāhzādah's favour. Has written to Madras for troops which he expects in a month's time, as Pondicherry has fallen. The revenues of Behar should be allotted to the Shāhzādah for his maintenance and expenses. Has received through Khwājah Husain 'Askari a copy of the letter of Shāhan Shāh Abdālī to Mīr Ja'far, wherein Shāh 'Alām is not mentioned. If His Excellency regards the former orders of Shāhan Shāh Abdālī, the latter will be well satisfied. Tells him to write in answer what he thinks advisable.

(N.B.—Two copies sent, one by Khwājah Husain 'Askari, the other by ḍāk.)

Feb. 26. 969. To the Rāy Rrāyān. The gumāshṭah at Budhun says that he has advanced the dādni to the people of Bynadpur parganah for cloth. Chētan Rāy, Tahsildar, will not allow the gumāshṭah to collect the money due to the Company. A letter asking for Chētan Rāy's help for collections should be sent to him. Sends a copy of his letter to Chētan Rāy for his perusal.

Feb. 26. 970. To Chētan Rāy. Tells him it will be to his disadvantage to stop the collection of money due on account of advances to the inhabitants of Bynadpur village for cloth. On receipt of this letter he should hand over to the gumāshṭah anyone owing money to the Company.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 147, p. 37.]

Feb. 26. 971. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has heard everything from Khwājah Husain 'Askari. Particular note has been taken of what Khwājah Husain 'Askari said of the Sarkār. Mentions that many people come for recommendations, which are given to them. If this practice is disadvantageous to Government, any advice from His Excellency will be accepted. Asks that the zamindāri given to Khwājah Petruse may be restored to its rightful owner, for on enquiry the former Zamindār was found to be blameless. This act will not only be one of charity, but it will be for the good of the Government. The matter is left to the judgment of His Excellency.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 151, pp. 39-40. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Mar 1. 979. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Acknowledges receipt of the Nawāb's parwānah enclosed with a copy of news from Delhi. From Major Carnac's letter, it appears that the Major has left the two Mahārājās to chastise Kāmgar Khān at Behar. As regards the Shāhzādah, advice has been given before, and Major Carnac has also been written to on this point. On his arrival at Patna, he should consult with the Major; what His Excellency then proposes to do will be agreed to. A reply to the letter from Shāhan Shāh Abdālī, a copy of which he sent through Khawājah Husain Askari, is sent for his perusal. In this letter of Shāhan Shāh Abdālī there is nothing concerning the Shāhzādah. If His Excellency thinks it proper to write to Shāhan Shāh Abdālī he can do so.

The conclusion of the war at Pondicherry has left the English some choice troops for Bengal. Kirat Narāyan, by whom his letter was delivered, has been put in place of the firangi in the chunam business. Orders have been issued to the padre to restore all the land they acquired.

His orders to Mīr Qāsim and Colonel Sābit Jang were to be obedient to the will of Shāh Ālam. His Majesty's faithful subject * who has succeeded Sābit Jang is obedient to the will of Shāh Ālam, who has been brought into the fortress of Patna. Is ready to accompany him [to Delhi].

Mar. 1. 982. To Rājā Rām Narāyan. Has received his letter accompanied with a nagr and offering congratulations on the success at Pondicherry. Therein it is mentioned that Major Carnac has conducted the Shāhzādah to Patna and the Rājā himself is with the English troops. On the Nawāb's arrival at Patna, he should go and pay his respects to him and everything will be settled, for the Governor has written in his favour. The Nawāb and Major Carnac have both been instructed to consult one another when they meet. The conclusion of the war at Pondicherry has left the English some choice troops. Shāh Abdālī must have been strengthened, for he has defeated the Marhattas.

Mar. 3. 985. To Rājā Tilok Chand. Regarding the chālān for one lākh and fifty thousand rupees, only one lākh and fifteen thousand have been received, the remainder has not arrived. Of the three months' gistbandi not so much as seventy-two rupees have been realised. Asks how much longer the Company's business is to suffer through the false promises of his wakīls?

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 158, pp. 44-45. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 56.]

Mar. 4. 986. From Rājā Tilok Chand. Transmits a chālān for a lākh and a half of rupees. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 37.]

Mar. 4. 987. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Acknowledges receipt of his letter concerning Khwājah Michael. The Khwājah has told everything, but as he is indebted to the people who have complained to the 'Adālat, he has been imprisoned. Will wait for his release to settle the matters between him and the people.

Mar. 5. 990. To the Rājā Rājān. In answer to his letter, has directed the Tahsildār of Helky to get the money due to the Company and not to impede the collections.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 161, pp. 45-46. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, pp. 67-68.]

Mar. 5. 991. To the King. His Majesty can judge from the loyalty of Major Carnac his feelings, and in fact those of every Englishman towards His Majesty. They are all his devoted servants. From his farmān understands that he wishes him to have the khutbah read and sikkahs coined. This matter being of great importance, it would be right first to ask Shāhan Shāh Abdālī and the umarā of Delhi to do so, lest they should be displeased. If the addressee acts in this manner, his faithful subjects in Bengal, Behar, and Orissa will then read the khutbah and coin sikkahs.

[Mar. 5.]

992. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. From a letter from the Chief of Islamabad, and an acknowledgment from the Faujdār Muḥammad Rīzā Khān, it is understood that the said Khān has received from the 1st October to 23rd December and paid to the Sarkār the sum of sixty-five thousand four hundred and thirteen rupees. Enclosed is a copy of the acknowledgment. This money through His Excellency's favour must be paid to the Company. It is desired that he should write to Sayyid Turāb 'Alī Khān and the Rāy Rāyān on the subject.

[Mar. 5.]

993. To Turāb 'Alī Khān. According to a letter from Mr. Verelst and an igrārnāmāh from Muḥammad Rīzā Khān, Faujdār, the latter has paid the sum of sixty-five thousand four hundred and thirteen rupees received from the 1st October to the 23rd December 1167 to the Nawāb's Sarkār. Enclosed is a copy of the igrārnāmāh for his perusal. The Nawāb and the Rāy Rāyān have been written to on the subject. The Rāy Rāyān should be instructed to return the money for the use of the Cossimbazar factory.

994. To the Rāy Rāyān. According to a letter from Mr. Verelst and an igrārnāmāh from Muḥammad Rīzā Khān, Faujdār, the latter has paid the sum of sixty-five thousand four hundred and thirteen rupees received from the 1st October to the 23rd December 1164 [1167] to the Nawāb's Sarkār. Encloses a copy of the igrārnāmāh for his perusal. Hopes he will remit the money as well as forward the letter enclosed for the Nawāb.

Mar. 6.

995. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Sometime ago His Excellency was informed of the complaints that arrived from the Company's gumāshṭahs and other merchants engaged in trade on the Rājā of Bisseli's estates, of that Rājā's misbehaviour. He was also asked to send a parwānah, armed with which a letter would be written to the Chief of Jahangirnagar factory to send a few troops to chastise him. As no answer has been received and complaints are still coming in, some Company's ṭalīngās have been dispatched to seize and bring the Rājā to Murshidabād. When he has been brought, it is hoped that Turāb 'Alī Khān or the Rāy Rāyān will be ordered to set up Dhūrāb Narāyan, the Rājā's brother, or some other competent person in his stead. This will put an end to all complaints. Enclosed is a copy of a farmān just received.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 166, pp. 48-49. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Mar. 6.

996. To Turāb 'Alī Khān and the Rāy Rāyān. The Rājā of Bisseli has been creating disturbances among merchants and other people. The Nawāb has been written to for a parwānah to chastise him, but no answer has been received so far. As more complaints are pouring in, the Chief of Jahangirnagar has been directed to send some tilangās to seize and conduct him to Murshidabad. It would be a distinct advantage to dismiss him and place his brother or any other capable person on the gaddi.

1761.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 167, p. 49. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, pp. 68-85.]

Mar. 7. 997. From the Rāy Rāyān. Transmits a letter to Chētan Singh, Tahsildār, for the approbation of the Governor. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 40.]

Mar. 7. 998. To Khwājah Husain 'Askarī. The jewels have arrived from Cossimbazar; his presence is needed for the breaking of the seals so that the jewels may be put up for sale at auction.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 168, p. 50.]

Mar. 8. 999. From Rājā Tilok Chand. Expresses concern at hearing from his wakil of the Governor's displeasure on account of the non-payment of the Company's tankhwāh. Is concerned to hear of the Governor's demanding an increase of revenue. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 37.]

Mar. 8. 1000. From Rājā Rājballabh. Offers congratulations on the khal'at sent by the King on the fall of Pondicherry. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 42.]

Mar. 8. 1001. To Sheo Bhat. On his arrival at Midnapūr, which is the Company's assignment, he plundered tenants. His own parganah of Pataspur has not been spared. For the security of the country troops are stationed at Pataspur. He is requested to order his 'amlah, as the Company's have been ordered, not to create disturbances or molest the inhabitants.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 169, p. 50. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 80.]

Mar. 9. 1002. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his parwānah of the 24th Rajah. His Excellency's views regarding the Shāhzādah are very correct, and as the matter is an important one, it cannot possibly be settled in a short time. Copies of a farmān and parwānah from the Shāhzādah are sent for his perusal. On his arrival [at Patna], expects to hear all the news regarding this matter from him P. S.—Khwājah Petrusse has personally informed him what His Excellency wrote to him. Hopes His Excellency will not be under any apprehensions. In every respect the Governor has his interests and welfare at heart.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 170, pp. 50-51. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Mar. 9. 1003. To the Rāy Rāyān. In answer to his letter concerning the affair of the tankhwāh, he is requested to have the money ready so that on the arrival of the parwānah from the Nawāb, he may be able to pay the sum into the Cossimbazar factory immediately.

- Mar. 10. 1004. From the Rāy Rāyān. Professes attachment to the Company. Declares that he has collected the gists with the greatest difficulty. States that he has duly delivered the letter to Mr. Batson's address. Trusts that there will be less delay in future in transmitting accounts of the Governor's health. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 40.]
- Mar. 10. 1005. From Damodar Singh, Zamīndār of Bishanpur. States that he has issued orders to his people not to intercept English letters. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 20.]
- Mar. 10. 1006. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. It is unjust that the Marhattas should receive the whole revenues of Cuttack. It will be difficult to pay the chauth or the sepoy as large sums are due from Sylhet, Tippera, Bishanpur, and other places. The Company and he himself should raise troops of their own, for it is absurd to rely on the Shāhzādah. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 5.]
- Mar. 10. 1007. To Khwājah Husain 'Askarī. The Saudpattar he sent by Bābū Sadā Sheo has been received. Some time ago, the addressee wrote saying he was coming here. It is hoped he will do so, for then the seals of the jewels belonging to the Government can be opened and the jewels disposed of.
[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 172, p. 52.]
- Mar. 10. 1008. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Learns from Mr. Verelst, Chief of Islamabad, that when Muḥammad Rizā Khān was Faujdār of that place, he sent his Diwān and some troops to seize the Rājā of Tippera, that on the Rājā refusing to surrender himself, Mr. Verelst sent some of the Company's troops against him and ousted him from the samīndārī. Requests the Nawāb to appoint Muḥammad Rizā Khān or some other capable person to the vacancy. Desires to know how much revenue in the shape of money, goods, elephants, etc., was paid by the former Zamīndār. Muḥammad Rizā Khān will deliver the same to His Excellency through Mr. Verelst.
[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 173, pp. 52-53. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 13.]
- Mar. 12. 1009. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Is glad to learn that on the 26th Rajab, His Excellency's jhandā arrived at Baikuntpur, where Major Carnac, Rām Narāyan, Rājballabh, and other officers paid their respects to the Nawāb. Assures him that the Major and the two Rājās will serve him faithfully and hopes that peace and prosperity will reign in the province. Agreeably to the Nawāb's orders, the jewels will be opened before Khwājah Husain 'Askarī and disposed of. As ordered, the Rāy Rāyān will certainly deliver the present tan-khwāh into Cossimbazar factory. Hopes the Nawāb will send him an account of the visit he intends paying to the King.
[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 174, pp. 53-54. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 13.]
- Mar. 13. 1010. From Rājā Tilok Chand. States that he has sent a lākḥ and a half of rupees in part payment of the two lākḥs due. The pay-

Mar. 13. 1012. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Disapproves of the too hasty orders Major Carnac has issued for marching troops against Kāmgar Khān. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 5.]

Mar. 13. 1013. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. States the plan he has formed for satisfying the Company's demands. Supposes that the Governor has heard of the Wazīr's deposition and of Shāh Abdālī's taking possession of the Sulṭanat. Approves of the orders the Governor has issued to prevent collision between the zamindārs and mutasaddis. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 5.]

Mar. 13. 1014. To Turāb 'Alī Khān. Acknowledges receipt of his letter offering congratulations on the success at Pondicherry. It is surprising that the letters in answer to his of the 29th, sent by dāk to Mr. Batson have not reached the Khān. They must have miscarried to Patna.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 175, p. 54. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 85.]

Mar. 13. 1015. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his two parwānahs and a letter, all dated the 28th Rajāb, acquainting him that Major Carnac, Major York, and Mr. Lushington paid him a visit, and advised the 4th Shā'bān as a lucky day for His Excellency's visit to the King. Hopes the Nawāb will inform him of the proceedings at that interview, as he is his well-wisher and friend. Khwājah Husain Āskari will write and let the Nawāb know all particulars as he has frequent conversations with the Governor. Wishes to know the sentiments of His Majesty. Majors Carnac and York write that the King wishes to have sikkaḥs coined and the khutbah read, for he says that through the circulation of the coins his sovereignty will be acknowledged.

Mar. 15. 1021. To the Rājā of Mourbhanj. Acknowledges receipt of his letter and professes friendship for him. Says it is right the Rājā should correspond with him as all the zamindārs are doing so. The officers going to Mourbhanj will be cautioned to behave in a proper way. The Rājā is also to treat them with due respect.

Mar. 15. 1022. To Murat Narāyan Dās. Advises him to remain on friendly terms with the whole country. As regards the addressee's desire to gain the friendship of the Company, refers him to the Governor's letter to the Rājā of Mourbhanj.

Hopes His Excellency will regard the person who remains with him as the Company's chief and live in friendship with him. The affairs of His Excellency and those of the Company are the same.

Dec. 19.

1404. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's parwānah saying that according to the Company's accounts and the papers of receipts and balance, examined in the presence of Mr. Hay, Rs. 1,08,000 was due from His Excellency exclusive of the money paid into the factory at Patna; that His Excellency will assign it on the Rāy Rāyān, and that he approves of Rs. 10,000 for the support of Mir Ja'far. Is sensible that the khālīshah account will soon be settled and that His Excellency will speedily make an assignment. Is well assured that without Rs. 15,000 a month, the Nawāb Mir Ja'far cannot support himself. Says that the said Nawāb is like His Excellency's father and that therefore whatever His Excellency bestows upon him, will not be ill employed and credit will redound to him. Hopes that Khawājah Petruse will be directed to pay the Nawāb Rs. 15,000 a month.

(N.B.—Another letter was written to the same purport.)

Dec. 19.

1405. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has been informed that when Rājballabh went to see Mr. Ellis, the latter gave him a courteous reception, but that when Mr. Ellis intimated his desire to see Rājballabh, the Rājā replied that he could not consent to it without orders from the Court. Says that this seems very improper, as any displeasure between His Excellency's mutasaddis and the Company's chiefs will only be attended with trouble to both the Governments. Asks His Excellency to order the Rājā to apologise for his behaviour and in future to live in friendship with Mr. Ellis. Encloses a copy of a letter he has written to Rājballabh on the subject for His Excellency's perusal.

(N.B.—Another letter was written to the above purport.)

Dec. 19.

1406. To Rājā Rājballabh. Has been informed that when the Rājā paid Mr. Ellis a visit, the Chief was not deficient in giving him a good reception, but that when Mr. Ellis intimated his desire to see Rājballabh, the Rājā replied that he could not consent to it without orders from the Court. Says that His Excellency's affairs and those of the Company are the same and that there is no difference between the people of the Government and those of the Company. Believes that His Excellency will not be pleased when he hears this.

1761.

Desires the Rājā to behave in a friendly manner towards the English chiefs and in conjunction with them to conduct the business.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1761, no. 435, p. 220. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 71.]

- Dec. 20. 1407. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's farwānah saying that his standard was erected; that Mansā Rām has arrived on the part of Chatardhāri Singh and Phulwan Singh, Zamīndār of Bhojpur; that if they [the rebellious zamīndārs] did not come in four or five days, His Excellency would march forward, cross the Soan and severely chastise them; that Mir Bā 'Alī Khān has taken Bhekhary fort and stationed a garrison there, and will clear the forts under the hills belonging to the Zamīndār; and lastly that His Excellency will inform him of what occurs in the future. Has already written to His Excellency that the Zamīndārs of Bhojpur were formerly knaves and that the number of the English troops attending his happy stirrup was very inconsiderable, and has asked permission to send Colonel Coote with advice regarding the capture of Cuttack. Says that Mr. Hastings will accompany the Colonel and that thus the business between His Excellency and the Colonel will be concluded. Remarks that Mr. Hastings is a sensible man, that he will speedily wait upon His Excellency and be obedient to his will. Desires His Excellency to send a capable person for the Nāibship of Cuttack to go with the Company's troops and Major Carnac to that place.

(N.B.—One more letter was written to the same purport.)

- Dec. 22. 1409. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has sent Bū 'Alī Khān into Bishanpur to root out Kāmgār Khān. Is utterly disgusted with the conduct of the zamīndārs of Birbhum and Bishanpur. Is resolved to collect the revenue himself. Hopes the Company will aid him in reducing these people to obedience. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 17.]

- Dec. 23. 1410. To Rāmdhan Nāg. Has received his petition concerning his sending the money and getting ready the other qisṭ. Desires him to send all the money according to the qisṭbandi.

Says that the increase of their friendship, the flourishing of the country and the tranquillity of the inhabitants are greatly impeded by the non-payment of the Company's money. Desires him always to send the money according to the qistbandi. Approves of his sending the mutasaddis with the papers. Desires him expressly to order them to get the remaining money ready.

Jan. 9.

1418. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter forbidding the forces to be prepared for Patna or Cuttack on the grounds that the enemy on that side have been weakened and chastised; that all the forts are in His Excellency's possession; that the King and the Wazir are proceeding towards Shahjahanabad; and stating that His Excellency will make inquiry concerning the reduction of Cuttack and act as shall be most advisable. Is glad to hear of His Excellency's success. Admits that there is no great occasion for a large number of troops at Patna. Will dispatch them when His Excellency writes. Regarding the reducing of Cuttack, says that this is the season to put the scheme into execution. Desires that a capable Nāib should be sent with the forces of the Sarkār. The English troops will act in alliance with them and settle the business in a proper manner. Tells His Excellency that in one or two months the rains will set in, and that then the season will be over.

Jan. 9.

1419. To Mīr Dāwar Bakhsh. Has been informed that his people have detained four boats, laden with tobacco and going from Jahangirnagar to Rangpur, notwithstanding that they had a dastak from the Chief. Whatever dastak is issued at Jahangirnagar or other places under the Chief's seal is on account of the Company's Sarkār and therefore to intercept the boats is improper. Desires him to release them without delay, to return any custom hat may have been received, and direct his people not to act in this manner in future.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 4, pp. 2-3. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 49.]

Jan. 10.

1420. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Says that in order to reduce expenses, some of the troops ought to be disbanded. Declares the mission of Colonel Coote to him to be improper, as no union subsists between them. Jan. 16.

1425. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's letter saying that the Rājās of Bhojpur have fled; that His Excellency will easily settle the affairs of the country to his satisfaction; that he consequently intends to send back Captain Castairs with the English troops to Patna; that the King has crossed the Jumna and proceeded towards Delhi, so that there will be no occasion for more troops to remain on that side; and desiring to know the Governor's sentiments with respect to the expedition against Cuttack. Is glad that His Excellency has so good a prospect of settling the affairs of Bhojpur.

Fears that the Marhattas will invade the country when they think they have a favourable opportunity. They now demand the chauth for three years, and His Excellency's not paying them is as good a pretence for them to enter Bengal, as if he took possession of Cuttack and restored it to this Subahship, of which it is properly a part. But if Cuttack is in His Excellency's possession, the Marhattas will not find it easy to make incursions into Bengal. Thinks that leaving them in possession of a neighbouring country, or paying them money, only makes them more capable of setting up further demands and invading the country. Advises His Excellency to resolve from this time to pay them no chauth, to dismiss their wakils in a civil manner, and repossess himself of the province of Cuttack without delay. Says that there is no great danger of Jānūjī making any considerable effort, but that if he does, the English forces joined with His Excellency's will be sufficient to repulse the attack. The English army has, in consequence of His Excellency's desire, been ready for some time to march to Cuttack with proper artillery and stores. Hopes His Excellency will immediately dispatch 1,500 or 2,000 horse and foot and also a Nāib to take up the management of the country. Requests that as by this acquisition a considerable revenue will be recovered for the Sarkār, orders may be given for discharging the expenses of the English army during that service as agreed upon.

1429. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's parwānah saying that His Excellency has made an assignment for the balance that remains due to the Company; that the Governor will receive it through Khwājah Petruse; that Rs. 10,000 is sufficient for Mir Ja'far's expenses; and that more will be improper. Says that when the money arrives, it will be taken into the treasury and a receipt given to the Khwājah. Some time ago, the Governor sent Mr. Hay an account of the balance due to the gentlemen of the Committee. Hopes His Excellency will make an assignment for it. Represents that the money allowed to Mir Ja'far will be expended on the house, etc., and that there will be left too little to enable him to act improperly. If Mir Ja'far is satisfied and his time rendered agreeable, His Excellency will gain a great name.

1432. To Pandit Rām. Some time ago, the Governor told him that one half of the Company's chunam had arrived safely but that the rest was much damaged, and directed him at the same time to inquire into the reason of it and repair the loss. Believes that a great quantity was spoiled when the water was taken out of the boats. Directs him to provide the chunam and then to advise Mr. Cartier of it. Directs him also to take from the said gentleman what boats he may want in future, and to act according to his orders in everything.

Represents that on this account the Company suffers; that it is contrary to custom; and that Mir Jafar gave the Company several formats directing their money to be retired. Requests His Excellency direct the said formats to settle without delay any money thus delivered by the Company.

Has received the Nawāb's letter saying that the King and the Wazīr have crossed the Jumna and arrived near Kalpi; that the business on that side has been settled; that Colonel Coote should not be dispatched; that His Excellency will return in a month or two and have the pleasure of seeing the Governor; and lastly that as the Governor is inclined to establish a lasting friendship between the Colonel and His Excellency, it is necessary that he should advise the Colonel. Is much rejoiced at the business on that side being settled, and at His Excellency having sent taḥsildārs to the several parganahs. Will never be backward in strengthening the friendship between His Excellency and the Colonel. Has deferred sending the latter as the affairs of the country have been settled, and as His Excellency is coming back. Has represented to the Colonel what His Excellency wrote concerning him. The Colonel appeared much pleased and the Governor was rejoiced to see the answer which he wrote. Hopes that, on its receipt, His Excellency will be convinced of the Colonel's loyalty and attachment.

Says that as it is fitting and right for him to obey His Majesty and His Excellency, orders were given on the 25th of ḡama lā II after prayers on Friday. Prays that this event may be fortunate to the well-wishers of His Majesty and His Excellency, and that the country may remain in tranquillity.

Has received through the Nākhudā the Royal farmān concerning the things that were stolen last year and for which his people gave a note on their departure, and saying that His Majesty stands indebted for the goods, and that his people have this year compromised the affair with the owners thereof. Intimates that the ship His Majesty sent with the goods, amber and sea cocoanut, has arrived. Has settled the business of His Majesty's Government agreeable to the Nākhudā's request. The latter purchased goods in Calcutta at his own discretion and departed in the beginning of the season. Hopes His Majesty will send vessels next year and continue to do so in future.

Intimates that Hari Narāyan Chaudhri, Zamīndār of Tajpur, hinders the puttan business and prevents the passing and repassing of boats belonging to the Company as well as those belonging to the Company's people. The Governor wrote to Mir Shēr 'Alī Khān on the subject and directed him to punish the said Zamīndār but the Khān did not comply with his desire. Some time ago, Mr. Hastings made a complaint to Jalādat Jang Bahādur, who imprisoned the Zamīndār in the city, but notwithstanding this, he does not relinquish his business. Represents that to retain him in his post would only tend to the detriment of the Company's business. Requests His Excellency to appoint a capable man in his place.

Regarding the money and the goods in question, replies that the papers must first be examined to ascertain what loss accrued to the Company and the zamīndārs by the ravages of his troops, and that then whatever may be due will be paid to him. In regard to the Burdwan money, says that Burdwan has been granted to the Company for the expenses of their troops by His Majesty and Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Is amazed that the addressee, knowing this, still writes again and again on the subject.

1451. To Daryā Khān. Has received his letter saying that he has arrived at Balasore, of which place he has been appointed Faujdār; that a gentleman may be sent there to transact the business of the factory; that he intends to come to Calcutta to visit the Governor and to see about trade; and that Bakhshī Rāo Mūdī, a servant of Rājā Jānūji's, has come to Calcutta to purchase goods and will proceed to Murshidabad; and desiring that he may be given a dastak and supplied with a sloop when he returns. Congratulates him on his appointment. Says that to send a gentleman to carry on business at Balasore will be a needless expense as the trade is transacted at Midnapur. Will act as shall tend to the Khān's benefit when any of his people come to Calcutta to trade. Is anxious to see him. Hopes that through the Doctor's advice and medicine he will speedily recover. Will give Bakhshī Rāo a dastak on his arrival and dispatch him on board a sloop.

1452. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's letter enclosing a paper and saying that the zamīndārs of Bhojpur have fled; that the affairs of the country have been settled; that His Excellency intends to leave Mirzā Muḥammad Mahdī at Bhojpur with two or three thousand horse and four or five thousand bargan-dāzes; and lastly that His Excellency will return to Bengal in two or three months. Is much rejoiced to hear that the zamīndārs have fled. Approves of his intentions in regard to Bhojpur. Says that the people on that side are full of wickedness and deceit and are always inclined to create disturbances, and that if an experienced and brave man does not remain there, they will never be obedient and faithful. Prays that His Excellency's "magnificent standard may speedily enlighten these parts." Encloses a paper containing his answers to the Nawāb's several questions.

1452. A. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. (1) In regard to His Majesty demanding the revenue of the sūbahs from the time His Excellency waited upon him and His Excellency intending to pay it from the time the khutbah was read and sikkahs were struck, says that His Excellency's intentions are very proper since His Majesty's reign commenced when sikkahs were struck and the khutbah was read. (2) As for His Majesty demanding the revenues of the jāgirs of Nawāb Zīnat Maḥal and others according to the former custom and His Excellency representing that the country has been ruined by the frequent incursions of the troops, says that the money cannot be paid according to a former adjustment. Advises His Excellency to pay it agreeable to the present produce of the country. (3) Regarding what His Excellency writes, namely, that he is under no apprehensions concerning Shujā'u-d-daulah and that he is ready either on the one hand to make war on the Wazīr, or else to pay regard to his dignity and behave in a friendly manner, says that the Wazīr is at a great distance from Behar and that therefore as long as he acts like a friend, it is proper that His Excellency should behave also in a friendly manner. But if he should attempt or be inclined to come into this country with a design to create a disturbance, His Excellency should engage him. (4) As to His Excellency's statement that he has appointed Mir Sayyid Muhammad Khān to the Nāibship of Murshidabad in the room of Sayyid Turāb 'Alī Khān and that the new Nāib will behave to the English in a friendly manner, says that though the said Khān spread a very improper report through the city, he is a great man and is His Excellency's relation and consequently deserves His Excellency's favour. (5) His Excellency also writes that agreeable to Mr. Ellis's representations, parwānahs have been sent to all the faujdārs on that side to assist the Company's trade; and desires that the faujdārs and managers on this side may be written to according to the remonstrances of the gumāshlahs belonging to the Company. Says that this has assured him of His Excellency's favour and friendship, and adds that the faujdārs and managers on this side act in accordance with their instructions, but that those of Purnea and Rangpur are very deficient. Hopes His Excellency will write expressly to them. (6) As to His Excellency writing that he has not yet received an answer from him concerning the dismissal of the Marhatta wakils, says that, some time ago, he wrote particularly concerning this affair. Approves of what His Excellency thought it advisable to do and advises him to act in that manner and make an excuse.

Feb. 23.

1453. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Says that last year he requested His Excellency to grant the Company a parwānah for purchasing all the saltpetre in the Purnea country, but that His Excellency excused himself from granting it, on the ground that the greater part or whole of it would be required for his own business. Is now certain that a large quantity over and above what is required by the Sarkār is sold to other merchants. If the Governor buys it from these merchants, it is a loss to the Company not only as regards the price but also as regards the quality, as it is not prepared with so much care as when the Company's gumāshlahs have the management. Besides, there is another inconvenience. The petre in Behar, of which the Company are the sole purchasers, is fraudulently conveyed to the other side and there passed and sold as Purnea petre, by which means the deceit passes undiscovered and the investment of saltpetre is diminished. Desires that in order to prevent such abuses, His Excellency will grant the Company a parwānah for preparing and purchasing all the saltpetre in the Purnea province, just as he has granted them one for Behar. The Sarkār will be paid by the Company and whatever quantity His Excellency may require shall be supplied to him either at Purnea or Behar according as he may write. Remarks that this will be an advantage to the Company and cause no loss or inconvenience to His Excellency.

Feb. 23.

1454. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Intimates that a gumāshṭah of the Company's was carrying a parcel of goods from the parganah of Mulky with a dastak from the Chief of Patna, when Khwājah Antoine told him that the Company's dastak was of no effect, copied it and returned it to him with another dastak under the seal of Syda Rām, Khwājah Gregory's Nāib. Complains that Khwājah Antoine is also concerned in conveying away privately five maunds of the Company's saltpetre. A nuniā on the other side having applied to him for the said quantity in the name of Khwājah Gregory, he sent for one of the Company's nuniās and made him bring it. He then sent one of his own people to see the nuniā safe over the river. One of the Company's gumāshṭahs wrote to Antoine on the subject, but the Khwājah insisted that he had a right to do what he had done. Intimates that, for these reasons, Mr. Ellis made him prisoner and sent him to Calcutta. In regard to the affair of the dastak, says that as His Excellency is sensible that by the Company's farmān, their dastak is to be regarded as a passport sufficient in all parts of the Moghal dominions, and as there would be a continual stoppage of their business if any other dastak was required, it is highly necessary that all amāldārs, chāukidārs, etc., should be convinced that the Company's dastak is sufficient. As to the saltpetre, says that it is not the quantity conveyed away that is to be considered, but the bad example by which others will be encouraged to do the same. Notwithstanding that Antoine has committed these faults against the Company, he is in the employ of one of His Excellency's servants. Thinks it most desirable that he should be punished in a proper manner. The Governor depending on His Excellency's justice did not detain the Khwājah, who confesses to all the charges, longer than one day in Calcutta, but sent him away after making inquiries of him. Transmits copies of the letter and the dastak written by him. Has directed Mr. Ellis in the case of any of the people of the Sarkār molesting or injuring the Company's business, to send them to His Excellency's court with an account of their behaviour, that after inquiry they may be punished according to their deserts.

Feb. 23.

1455. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Intimates that the whole amount of the balance due to the Company has been paid through Khwājah Petrusse. Agreeably to His Excellency's orders, has enclosed a receipt (for the whole amount) both in English and Persian with his own seal affixed thereto.

Feb. 26. 1459. To Turāb Āli Khān. Has received a parwānah from His Excellency with another for Sayyid Muḥammad Khān directing him to proceed to Cuttack with 1,500 horse. Encloses the said parwānah and requests him to deliver it to the Khān, and dispatch him after getting the people ready. Asks him to direct the Khān to proceed by way of Midnapur. The Company's troops are ready and will march on that road in three or four days.

1460. A receipt for Rs. 19,69,269- $\frac{1}{2}$ on account of Burdwan, the samindāri of Rājā Tilok Chand in part of the whole assignment to the English Company, commencing the 27th or 28th June 1761 and ending the 31st December of the said year. 1461. A receipt for Rs. 6,23,330-14-1 pice in part of the whole assignment to the English Company from Burdwan, the samindāri of Rājā Tilok Chand. Received into the treasury between the 27th January and the 16th June 1761.

Mar. 2. 1462. From Sheo Bhaṭ. Hopes that an arrangement will be made regarding Diā Rām's business. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 45.]

Mar. 2. 1463. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's letter concerning the Cuttack expedition and saying that as the Governor thinks it advisable to dispossess the Marhattas of that place, His Excellency has ordered Mīr Sayyid Muḥammad Khān with 1,500 horse to accompany the English troops, and that if any profit accrues from the district that may be conquered, His Excellency will assign one or two parganahs as a gratuity to the English troops. Replies that it was more for the benefit of the Sarkār than of the Company that he proposed the undertaking. His Excellency wrote at first that it was highly proper and that he would willingly pay all the expenses of restoring Cuttack to this sūbahship. Now as His Excellency seems to think otherwise and to be indifferent about it, the Governor will not put the Company to needless expense but will lay aside all thoughts of this expedition. Hereafter if His Excellency thinks it necessary to remove the Marhattas from the country and applies to the Governor for assistance, he will act according to His Excellency's desire, but as Cuttack has been separated from this sūbahship for a long time and given up entirely to the Marhattas, the Governor will look upon such an expedition as a new conquest. His Excellency therefore will have to pay all the expenses of the English troops that may be employed upon it.

1762.

The treaty between His Excellency and the Company does not include any new conquest. It only implies that His Excellency shall be assisted by the English troops in defending all the countries belonging to the Sarkār and reducing the rebellious zamīndārs to subjection. Has always faithfully complied with this and will do so in future.

Mar. 4.

1464. To Sheo Bhaṭ. Has received his letter saying that the money collected at Pataspur and the goods plundered by the Zamīndārs of Shahpur and Kutubpur must be returned. Replies that some time ago he sent him a letter on the subject through Ghulām Mustafā. Has now told what is fitting and necessary to Diā Rām, who will doubtless relate everything to him.

Mar. 5.

1465. To Turāb Ali Khān. Has received his letter concerningo, he dispatching of Sayyid Muḥammad Khān and enclosing a parwānah from His Excellency to the latter. The Khān has not yet arrived at Murshidabad. Has written again to His Excellency on this matter. The dispatching of Sayyid Muḥammad Khān has consequently been postponed. Requests him to defer the preparing of the troops. Will hereafter acquaint him with His Excellency's directions.

Mar. 7.

1467. To Ghulām Mustafā Munshī. Has dispatched a bundle of letters for the port of Madras. Desires him to send it away and acquaint him of its dispatch. Desires him also to deliver a letter he has written to Sheo Bhaṭ on this subject.

1468. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Upon the subject of Purnea saltpetre and the disgrace of one of his gumāshṭahs. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Mar. 11.

1469. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's letter acquainting him of the displeasure of the gentlemen at Patna and other matters. Understands what His Excellency writes about Monghyr fort and Khawājah Antoine, the Armenian. Some time ago, Mr. Ellis sent the latter to Calcutta and informed the Governor of the affair. He was detained one day and then sent to His Excellency's court, where he must have arrived by this time. Has been informed of the affair relating to Monghyr fort by Mr. Ellis, who writes that several Europeans having run away, he had intelligence that they were concealed in the fort. Thereupon he wrote to Rājballabh, procured a letter from him to the Qal'ahdār and sent a company of sepoys to inquire after them. When the sepoys arrived near the fort, Shujān Singh sent in a threatening manner to acquaint them that if they advanced any nearer, he would fire upon them and would not upon any consideration permit them to enter the fort. Mr. Ellis directed them not to quarrel with the people of the Sarkār, so they remained quiet and the Qal'ahdār ordered that they should be supplied with provisions. Asks His Excellency to consider how much difference there is between his account of the affair and that given by Mr. Ellis. Remarks that every business of importance appears like this to have two meanings. Thinks that both His Excellency and Mr. Ellis have disaffected people about them, who for their own advantage are desirous of creating an animosity between His Excellency and the commanders. It is necessary that His Excellency should endeavour to find out the person who is the instigator of these disputes and severely punish him. Has, in like manner, written to Mr. Ellis to inquire into the affair, and if he finds anyone guilty, to chastise him.

- Mar. 11. 1470. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's letter with one from Sheo Bhaṭ saying that His Excellency must settle the chauth through him. Some time ago, the Marhatta Chief wrote to the Governor to the same effect but he was told that settling the chauth between His Excellency and Jānūjī did not concern the Governor. His Excellency should send this answer if he thinks proper. Has enclosed the said letter.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 40, p. 27. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 23.]

- Mar. 11. 1471. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter saying that when he arrives at Monghyr fort, he will send for the Governor, Colonel Coote, and Mr. Hastings and meet them at Akbarnagar. Is much rejoiced to hear this. Will certainly arrive there on the day His Excellency appoints. As to what His Excellency writes about having been continually travelling and having had no rest for one year past, while the Governor has been happy, says that he also has not enjoyed the least diversion but has always been busy. Hopes to derive much pleasure from meeting His Excellency.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 41, pp. 27-28. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 23.]

- Mar. 12. 1472. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Encloses a letter which Colonel Coote has written in reply to His Excellency's. Has answered His Excellency's letter concerning the displeasure of the gentlemen at Patna. Some time ago, the Governor was informed of the affair relating to Monghyr fort by Mr. Ellis. Has received from the said gentleman another letter to the effect that he has several times received certain intelligence of the Europeans being in Monghyr fort but that Shujān Singh, the Qal'ahdār, would not permit them to be searched for. Requests His Excellency to send a parwānah to Shujān Singh directing him to let a sergeant go into the fort and make a search. The dispute will then be settled.

1762.

Mar. 12.

1473. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Learns from Mr. Ellis and Rājā Rājballabh that His Excellency, on Mr. Ellis's application, has directed the Rājā to shut up all the gates of Patna fort on account of the desertion of the English horse and to leave open the sally ports towards Ranipur. Requests His Excellency to order the old sally port towards the factory to be left open that the people of the factory may not be hindered in going backwards and forwards.

Mar. 12.

1474. To Rāmdhan Nāg. Has received his petition intimating the dispatch of the third qisṭ for January. The money has arrived according to the invoice. Is glad to learn that he is taking great pains. Tells him that his sending all the Company's money according to the qisṭbandī will give the Company much satisfaction and also tend to his own advantage.

Mar. 19.

1476. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Upon the subject of conquering Cuttack. Wishes to know what the expenses of the sepoys to effect this object would come to. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Mar. 19.

1477. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Says that the affair of the chaukis, which the Dutch at Chinsurah complain of, shall be remedied and the extortion prevented in future. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Mar. 20.

1478. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Requests a receipt for the money paid after Mīr Ja'far's management [?] or that the engagement may be returned to him. Intimates in a separate enclosure the capture of Bettia fort. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Mar. 24.

1479. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's parwānah and the letter which Mr. Ellis, Chief of Patna, wrote to His Excellency concerning the affair of the Europeans. As to His Excellency writing "who is Rājā Rājballabh that Mr. Ellis should write to him," says that the said Rājā is Nāib of the ṣarāḥ of Patna. It was because of this, that Mr. Ellis wrote to him in order to procure a letter to Shujān Singh, the Qal'ahdār of Monghyr. The said Rājā knowing himself to be the Nāib, wrote a letter to Shujān Singh, but the latter would not permit the sergeant to go into the fort and search for Europeans, and thus created a needless dispute for a small matter. On this account the Governor conjectured that the Europeans were concealed. Hopes His Excellency will send a parwānah to Shujān Singh directing him not to prevent the sergeant from searching the fort; and will chastise Shujān Singh should any Europeans be found there.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 45, pp. 29-30. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 23.]

Mar. 24. 1480. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Says that the prolongation of so small a matter as an inquiry after a few European deserters makes it appear as if it was the intention of some ill-designing people to create animosity between His Excellency and the Company. When His Excellency's people come to Calcutta on business, the Governor never hinders them in any respect. Observes that if Shujān Singh had permitted the sergeant to enter the fort and search for the Europeans, there would have been no dispute. Hopes His Excellency is sensible that he is firm to the treaty, and instead of paying regard to the stories of bad men will dismiss them.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 46, p. 30. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 23.]

Mar. 24. 1480A. A receipt for Rs. 3,90,559-4-1 pice, being the balance of 23 lākhs of rupees promised to the Committee by the Nawāb Mīr Jafar and paid by the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Dated the 22nd Sha'bān, the third year of the reign.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 46A, p. 30.]

Apl. 1. 1481. To Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Has received his letter. Is much rejoiced to hear of his having written to the zamīndārs to take care of the roads for the Company's horse which have been ordered from Patna to accompany the forces of the Sarkār to Cuttack. Intimates that the sending of troops to Cuttack has been deferred till another parwānah arrives from His Excellency. Requests him therefore to put off sending Khān Bahādur who has been appointed to go on the expedition. Will write to the addressee after a parwānah arrives from His Excellency.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 47, pp. 30-31. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 23.]

Apl. 2. 1482. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's parwānah concerning the Cuttack expedition together with the parwānah from Shujā'u-d-daulah and the letters from Mr. Ellis and Mr. Castiers. As to His Excellency's desire to know the expenses of the expedition, says that if His Excellency's troops take with them 1,000 Europeans, 2,000 tilangās, 10 pieces of cannon, and other necessities, the monthly expenses will amount to Rs. 1,50,000, and that it will take them three or four months to gain possession of the country, clear it of the disaffected, and strengthen the several redoubts. Imagines therefore that the whole expense will not amount to less than five or six lākhs of rupees. Hopes His Excellency will consider well whether he can settle the business this year or should defer it till next. Desires to be advised of His Excellency's determination. Understands what His Excellency writes concerning the affair of Monghyr fort. Thinks that the best and clearest way is to send two sergeants and several tilangās to inquire for the European deserters. The petitions of Mr. Castiers are reliable and the representations of the Zamindār and the Qal'ahdār are false and malicious. By these means they are desirous of making a breach in the friendship between His Excellency and the Company. Hopes His Excellency, who is master of the ṣūbah, will properly inquire into the matter. Returns the enclosures.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 48, pp. 31-32. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 24.]

Apl. 2.

1483. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's letter concerning the success against Bettia and Rohtasgarh and intimating that new sikkaḥs were struck on the 26th Ḥumādā II. Says that in consequence of His Excellency's orders, sikkaḥs of the third year of the reign were struck in the mint on Friday, the 1st Rajab. Is glad to hear that His Excellency's standard will, in a month's time, reach the bounds of Ākbarnagar. Will set out without delay on hearing of his arrival on that side. Mr. Hastings will start in two or three days.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 49, p. 32. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 24.]

Apl. 2.

1484. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's letter saying that in the receipt the Governor sent him Rs. 3,92,487-4 was not mentioned. Sends him a receipt for the said amount as well as a qisṭbandī which Mir Ja'far delivered to the Company. Says that from Mir Ja'far's arrival to January last it is sixteen months, and his expenses have been paid for eleven months. Has sent the receipt with the former one. Hopes His Excellency will dispatch the remaining five months' money or make an assignment. In consequence of His Excellency's orders, Sulaimān Bēg has paid Mir Ja'far's expenses due since August and will in future pay them monthly.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 50, pp. 32-33. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 24.]

Apl. 5.

1485. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Protests that he has not given refuge to Europeans in the fort of Monghyr and that the fact of the tilangās being sent to search for them will lessen his character. Declares that he expects the persons behaving in such manner towards him to be severely punished. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Apl. 8.

1486. To Sheo Bhaṭ. Has received his letter informing him of the battle between Rājā Jānūjī and Nizāmu-d-daulah. Is much rejoiced to hear the news. Believes that the said Rājā is not deficient in point of valour and that success goes before him in all his undertakings. Requests to be kept informed of the latest news.

1487. To Ragmānji Jāchak. Has received his two letters informing him of the battle between Nizāmu-d-daulah and Rājā Jānūji, of Rāo Govind's appointment to the zamindāri of Chitnan Berdah by His Majesty's Court, and of the said Rāo's son's appointment to the post of Chaudhri to the ṣubāh of Orissa. Is much rejoiced to hear of Jānūji's success. What the addressee writes about the Rājā's bravery is true. Is surprised at Rāo Govind's appointment to the zamindāri of Chitnan Berdah, for it belongs to Burdwan and Rājā Tilok Chand is still alive. Thinks that the sanad was procured through the addressee's representation. The Chaudhri of Midnapur has been dependant on the Company ever since Rājā Narāyan was appointed agreeable to His Majesty's farmān. Says that the Chaudhri of Orissa is not dependant on Midnapur, and that if Sheo Bhaṭ has put the Rāo's son in possession of the ṣubāh, he then must transact the business.

Apl. 8.

1488. To Mīr Shēr 'Alī Khān. Has received his letter concerning the inquiry into the affair relating to the goods detained by Mr. Gray and desiring that one of the Company's people may be sent to find out whether the Company's gumāshṭahs or His Excellency's managers acted improperly. Says that Mr. Gray is a capable and sensible man. Requests the Khān to write to him and Mr. Gray whenever the Company's gumāshṭahs act by force. If it is evident, they will get their deserts. Hopes that in like manner the Khān will chastise the managers of the Sarkār, if it is proved that they are in the wrong. The Khān must be sensible that the affairs of the Sarkār and of the Company are the same.

Apl. 8.

1489. To Mahindar Narāyan and Rām Narāyan Mustaufi. Has received their letter concerning the paotaki duties of the province of Burdwan. Says that the Company have had possession of the said province one year and that therefore the addressees must certainly receive one year's duties, but not the balance that was due before that time.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 54, p. 35. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 49.]

Apl. 8.

1490. To Parsautam Chaudhri. Has received his petition saying that he has been appointed to the post of Chaudhri of Orissa. Says that Orissa belongs to Sheo Bhaṭ and that therefore he can appoint whomever he likes Chaudhri of the ṣubāh. But the province of Midnapur and other places are in possession of the Sarkār of the Company and have been independent of Orissa ever since the Chaudhriship of the said chaklah was conferred on Rājā Narāyan agreeable to His Majesty's farmān.

Apl. 9.

1491. To Balwant Singh Bēnī Bahādur. Is glad to learn from the Court of Shujā'u-d-daulah that he has been appointed to the Nāibship of Ranipur. Has been informed by Mr. Ellis, Chief of Patna, that the addressee's managers demand the nagrānah from the Company's gumāshdahs who purchase saltpetre. Says that evidently this is a new custom. The Nawāb and the Company are such friends as not to mind the advantage arising from so small a sum as the nagrānah. Requests him to write to the managers of the saltpetre to relinquish their claim to it. Tells him to regard the affairs of the Nawāb and those of the Company as one and the same.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 56, pp. 35-36. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 75.]

Apl. 9.

1492. To Rājā Tilok Chand. Has received his letter saying that sickness is the occasion of his stay, and desiring that Mr. Graham may be informed of this. Prays for his speedy recovery. Says that as the year is now at an end and the adjustment of the coming year at hand, the sooner the Rājā can arrive at Burdwan, the better. Has already written to the said gentleman concerning the bridges and the proposal to give the money that will now be collected to the inhabitants. Asks him to write what he thinks concerning the adjustment.

Apl. 10.

1493. To Rāmdhan Nāg. Has received his petition saying that he has rented a village from Rājā Kishn Chand near Shamnagar and built a house, but that now the managers of the said Rājā require more money than was agreed upon, and desiring that the said Rājā's wakils may be written to. Has spoken to the Rājā's wakils. Doubtless they will act accordingly. Is extremely sorry for Rājā Tilok Chand's indisposition. Prays for his speedy recovery and return to Burdwan.

Apl. 10.

1494. To Rājā Rāj Narāyan. Has received his letter intimating the dispatch of all the qisṭ money. On examining the Company's papers, finds that there yet remains a large balance. This has not a good appearance. It is from the payment of the revenues that the samindārī subsists. Desires him to send the revenues without delay agreeable to the qisṭbandī. His wakils are now present. Will observe what they have to represent.

1762.

1497. To Mir Shēr 'Alī. Says that some large timbers are wanted for the fort and that, for want of wood, the business is at a standstill. Has sent a gentleman to purchase some timbers and forward them. Requests that his managers may be directed to supply him with what he may stand in need of.

Apl. 18.

1500. From Rājā Tilok Chand. Requests permission to depute a wakil to Calcutta. Requests also that a cutcherry may be allowed to be held in his house. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 38.]

Apl. 19.

1501. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Some time ago, the Governor wrote to His Excellency concerning Mr. Hastings' setting out. Has dispatched him to-day and mentioned many things to him which he will relate to His Excellency. Hopes His Excellency will regard what he says as the Governor's own words.

1503. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Intimates that Khwājah Antoine has been punished and dismissed and that all boats with the Company's dastak are allowed to pass. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 13.]

Apl. 23.

1504. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawab's parwānah saying that the English Company's gumāshṭahs have made several new houses at Dīnājpur. Represents that before the troubles, the English Company and their dependants trafficked everywhere. The country has for a long while been in a ruinous condition so that the Company's gumāshṭahs have not been able to carry on trade anywhere. Now through the increase of His Excellency's wealth, Bengal is clear on every side. On this account every European is desirous of trading at the several places, and thus the country will flourish and the inhabitants reap an advantage. In former times, Bengal flourished from the trade carried on by the merchants, and if the commerce increases, so much more will the country prosper.

It is by sending out gumāshlāhs that trade will flourish. Assures His Excellency that no one will have cause to complain of them. Should any of them relinquish their business and impede the business of the Sarkār or act by force, it will be proper and necessary to punish them. Requests that if anyone acts wickedly, His Excellency will let the writer know his name and crime.

Apl. 23.

 1505. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's parwānah saying that the Dutch will not pay the former customs and desiring that they should be written to. Asks His Excellency to send a parwānah to the Faujdār to receive the customs as formerly, and another to the Dutch Director to pay the duties to the Faujdār. Will write expressly to him. Is ready to assist the Faujdār if the Dutch make any evasions. PS.—Mr. Moore was sent to Rangpur before His Excellency's parwānah arrived.

Apl. 23.

 1506. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received the Nawāb's several parwānahs concerning the dispute about Monghyr fort, also the letter from Nawāb Sālār Jang Bahādur, the letter which Mr. Ellis wrote to Rājā Rājballabh and the said Rājā's petition. Says that whatever is mentioned in the city of Patna, is greatly exaggerated when it reaches the King's army. Mr. Ellis has not the power to write such a letter to the officers of the Court nor do the officers pay regard to Mr. Ellis's letter concerning the affair of Monghyr fort. Mr. Ellis writes that when he received news about the Europeans, he sent Ghulām Muhammad who reported that the Rājā had written to Shujān Singh. On this account, imagines that either Ghulām Muhammad or the Rājā spoke a falsehood. Now, in consequence of His Excellency's orders, has dispatched Mr. Hastings Jalādat Jang Bahādur and Mr. Ironside, the Major of the troops. On their way they will see Monghyr fort and afterwards wait on His Excellency and relate to him everything. Returns the enclosures.

Apl. 24.

1508. To Rājā Tilok Chand. Has received his letter saying that he will send Gokul Mujmū'ahdār and Nāg Sarkār to make the adjustment. The settling of the King's revenues depends on the produce of the country and therefore the parganahs must be rented. The computation of these things belongs to the district. Has therefore appointed Mr. Johnstone who will arrive there, inform himself of everything, compute the produce from the outcry of the parganahs and increase the allowance for the other articles. Desires him, when 1762.

Mr. Johnstone arrives there, to present the mutasaddis to him, and direct them to explain everything relating to the districts according to the papers, after the collection and adjustment has been made for the samindāri expenses and the Company's money.

May 1. 1511. To Rājā Tilok Chand. Has received his letter concerning the appointment of a Diwān. Replies that as the Rājā is well acquainted with his own affairs, he can appoint whom he thinks proper. Will relate to Mr. Johnstone everything necessary and fitting that on his arrival he may act as may tend to the advantage of the samindāri. Desires him to remain satisfied in every respect.

May 1. 1512. To Rājā Har Narāyan Diān. Has received his letter saying that Muḥammad Taqī Khān's troops will accompany him to Puchyt and then return, and asking for assistance. Has written to Mr. Graham to send him two companies of sepoys. Says that if the Khān's troops leave him without settling matters, he should detain one of the two companies of sepoys and collect the country people. Tells him to pay the tilangās according to the custom of the Sarkār. Has also written to Muḥammad Taqī Khān to direct his troops not to return till everything is settled. Desires him to inform the Khān what number of troops are requisite. Has sent Rām Sundar to collect the money promised by the addressee. Requests him to send it.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 70, p. 42. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 75.]

May 1. 1513. To Muḥammad Taqī Khān. Has ordered a company of sepoys to be sent to the Rājā's assistance.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762, no. 71, pp. 42-43. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 48.]

May 1. 1514. To Rām Sundar. Has appointed him to collect the money which Har Narāyan Diān consented to pay the Company on account of the monthly expenses of the troops that accompanied him.

1762.

Desires him to go and collect the money in conjunction with the said Rājā. Desires him also to send the Company's money to the Court according to the qistbandi.

May 2.

1515. To Muhammad Kati[?]. Has been informed that as some of the Company's cotton was being taken to their house at Null Dangah in the parganah of Muhammad Shay[?], Lāl Bihārī Chaudhri, the manager of that ghāt, extorted from the people of the Sarkār Rs. 40 notwithstanding that they had a dastak. Has therefore sent the addressee ten tilangās. Desires him to proceed there and bring the said Chaudhri to the Court.

May 8.

1517. To Rājā Tilok Chand. Has received his letter saying that the order for an outcry has frightened the inhabitants and made him also uneasy, and desiring that the outcry might be deferred and the mālguzārī fixed at 31 lākhs of rupees. Replies that the Company's intention is to settle the hast-o-būd according to the condition of the country. Should the produce amount to more than the computation, it is to be delivered to the Sarkār; and if less than that of last year, it will not be the Rājā's loss. Recommends therefore that an outcry of all the parganahs should be made. Tells him that the expenses of the samindārī will be deducted therefrom. Asks him to urge the mutasaddis to collect and forward the money.

Is glad to hear that he has a great friendship for the English, will give them a piece of ground to establish a factory on and will not take from them more than a reasonable custom. Is surprised to hear from Captain Alves that at the time he was at the Court, a subject of the Sarkār had a design to assassinate him. On the matter coming to the Captain's knowledge, he came away himself and left behind a considerable amount of jewels and other things. Has no doubt that this has been done without the King's knowledge. Hopes that His Majesty will chastise the offender according to his deserts and send articles in exchange for the jewels, etc., according to the agreement. On receipt of a reply to this letter, will decide in what manner trade can be carried on.

R., 1759-65, p. 14.*]

June 5. 1540. To Sayyid Muhammad Khān. Has been informed by Mr. Batson that the people of the Sarkār have surrounded the house of Mir Ja'far's Bēgam and the son-in-law of Naṣīru-l-mulk, and tell them that they must either go to Jahangirnagar or the other side of the Karamnassa. Says that this is the first instance of a European being thus disgraced by a faujdār. If any of the people belonging to the Sarkār behave ill in regard to the Company's business, the Governor does not chastise them, but sends them to His Excellency who punishes them according to their deserts. In like manner the said Firangi ought to have been sent to the Governor if he was really guilty of the crime. Mr. Batson replies that Biā Rām got them from Najmu-d-dīn Munshi, who says that he has got the originals and can produce them. - Sept. 3. 1600. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter saying that not one original can be found to answer the copies sent him; that the Governor kept them for four months and did not advise His Excellency of it, which makes the latter conjecture that a real and sincere friendship does not subsist between them; and lastly that His Excellency has written to Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to send the disaffected people to him. Has also received the accompanying four papers. Replies that had he first acquainted His Excellency of the affair and made it public, bad men would have blamed him for not punishing the offenders. Besides, all chance of getting the originals would have been lost. Has written to Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to send Najmu-d-dīn to Calcutta. On the arrival of the Munshi, will inform His Excellency of particulars. Biā Rām and Nand Kumār are now prisoners. The latter stands charged also with forwarding a letter from His Majesty to the French at Pondicherry, with forging Rām Chand's Royal seal and writing to Kāmgār Khān, and with engaging Ṣadru-d-dīn, his Munshi, in the affair for which he is now in confinement. Biā Rām has been imprisoned on account of the copies of the before-mentioned papers. He is one of Nand Kumār's people.

This is contrary to the Nawāb's intentions. Nov. 29. 1645. To Mīr Shēr 'Alī Khān. Has received his letter saying that the English gumāshṭahs trade with the merchants and rent-holders, lend to and borrow from them and are guilty of numberless violences and oppressions; that his respect for the Governor has hitherto restrained him from complaining of these matters, but that now, agreeably to the Nawāb's orders, he lays before the Governor a fair representation of all particulars. Replies that the writing of such a long and confused letter without coming to the point is certainly not the way to remove the disturbances he complains of. It is the custom of this country that one does not receive ready money for the goods one sells, but is paid for them according to the agreement one makes. Also if one wants to purchase any cloth or other merchandise, one must advance money five or six months beforehand. That being so, one must undoubtedly lend to the merchants and paikārs. If it is in the Khān's power to break off this old custom and make the paikārs and merchants give and receive ready money for the goods they buy and sell, the Governor will be obliged to him and it will be greatly to the advantage of all trading people. But until the Khān has established this new method, ordering no advances to be made to the paikārs is in effect putting a stop to trade. The merchants and paikārs are not rent-holders of the Government. The Nawāb's order and the Governor's is that the gumāshṭahs of the Company's factories and the English gentlemen should not lend to or borrow from the zamindārs or other officers of the Sarkār, and that in case any of the gumāshṭahs disobeys this order or interrupts the business of the Sarkār, the Khān should write to the Governor all the particulars of their proceedings, that they may be punished. Desires him to assist the Company's people in carrying on their trade, for such is the Nawāb's desire and the Governor's.

Dec. 26. 1646. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter. Will instruct the chiefs of the factories that they can issue dastaks in the case of shipping goods, but that as regards those bought and sold in the country, they must pay a duty of 9 per cent. Hopes His Excellency will direct his officers not to make unjust demands. Has already written to all the chiefs of the factories that they must not oppress the ryots and inhabitants of parganahs, nor protect His 1762.

Excellency's dependants, nor create any disturbances. Will write to them and the gumāshṭahs again to the same effect. Hopes His Excellency will order his officers to behave to the latter with truth and uprightness and act impartially if a dispute arises between a gumāshṭah and a subject of the Sarkār. Has written to the Chiefs of Chittagong and Lakhipur that they must not work the salt pans themselves, nor intercept the merchants and renters of salt pans. Encloses two letters for the said chiefs. Will direct the chiefs and gumāshṭahs of the factories that they must neither rent nor purchase land, nor lend money to, nor borrow it from the zamindārs and officers of the Sarkār, and will tell them to give back whatever ta'alluqs they may have purchased. Requests His Excellency to order the purchase money to be returned. Has received complaints that the officers of the Sarkār insist upon the former collections and beat, bind, and imprison the people. Asks His Excellency to direct them to desist from such proceedings. Will direct the chiefs and gumāshṭahs not to obstruct the dallāls and weavers of the Sarkār. Is afraid that the ṣarrāfs, on learning that His Excellency has forbidden the Company's money to be coined in the Patna and Dacca mints, will demand as much battah as they please. Hopes His Excellency will write to the Nāibs of Murshidabad, Patna and Dacca to punish the ṣarrāfs in case of their demanding more than what they are entitled to by the rate of the bāzār. Will direct the gumāshṭahs at Goalpara to carry on their business as formerly and not to trade direct with the mountaineers, but through the dāroghahs of the Sarkār. Hopes His Excellency will enjoin him to treat the English gumāshṭahs as he does other merchants.

Fan. 1.[?] 1647. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Requests the Governor to write to the chiefs of the factories that they must not give dastaks or permit English colours to be hoisted except to the extent conceded for the Company's shipping trade; that they must pay a duty of 9 per cent. on such goods as they buy and sell in this country, receive a dastak from the Sarkār and leave a copy of the same at every ghāt; that they must not use force in the purchase and sale of goods, nor take possession of houses belonging to the ryots and merchants, nor impede weavers and dallāls in the transaction of the business of the Sarkār for which money is advanced at the several arangs; that they must not use any force towards the ryots, nor protect any subjects of the Sarkār; that the Company's gumāshṭahs must not manufacture salt but purchase it from the malangīs at the bāzār price; that the gentlemen, mutasaddis, munshīs, etc., belonging to the Company must relinquish their ijārahs, ta'alluqahs, ganjs and golās and have their money refunded; and lastly that they must neither lend to nor borrow from the mutasaddis, managers, zamindārs, etc., of the Sarkār nor coin any money at the Murshidabad, Dacca or Patna mints.

Jan. 4.

1648. To Rājā Naubat Rāy. Has, as desired, directed Mr. Ellis to abolish Colonelganj. The merchants have been told not to bring their goods there any more. As it is necessary that some grain should be stored up for the Company, Mr. Ellis has been directed to build some golās in such places as the Rājā thinks suitable and to keep there about 20,000 maunds of grain. The merchants, after selling the said quantity to the Company, can dispose of the rest as they please. They are at liberty to serve the Company as before or to settle in any of the ganjs of the Sarkār. Orders have already been issued forbidding the Company's people to hold any ta'alluqahs and to lend to or borrow from the officers, zamindārs, etc. With reference to the Rājā's complaint that numbers of merchants carry away their goods for sale under the Company's protection, says that the Company grants them dastaks for which they pay; that this is no new custom, and that this is the only protection afforded them. As to the goods bought and sold in this country, the Governor and the Nawāb have agreed that the Company will pay a certain duty on the purchase price. When this regulation comes into force, no duties will be demanded on the road. Understands what the Rājā writes about shutting up the Berhanna wicket of the fort and about the intrenchment by the river. Though there does not appear to be any great necessity for it, and the consequent deviation of route will be an inconvenience to the people of the factory, yet since it is the Nawāb's order, it should be carried out. Zainu-l-'ābidin, 'Āmil of Behar, writes that a gumāshṭah of the factory has taken from one Dīā Chand, a merchant, an obligation to the effect that no one shall buy opium besides the English. The merchant showed the 'Āmil a copy of the obligation but did not leave it with him. It is uncertain whether the story is true, or whether the merchant was prompted by self-interest to impose upon the 'Āmil, that he might avoid paying the duties. Advises him to send for the merchant and inquire into the affair in the presence of Mr. Ellis, who has been directed to punish the gumāshṭah in case the complaint is proved. If not, the Rājā, on his part, should punish the merchant. With regard to the Sarkār's bill in the hands of Mir Ashraf, it appears from the account that he has disposed of only 25,396 maunds of salt. He says that he could not sell more because in many places there was salt belonging to the English gentlemen, and he was not authorised to stop the sale of their merchandise to dispose of that of the Sarkār; and because notwithstanding the obligation entered into by the merchants of the city, the officers of several of the neighbouring places did not put a stop to the business of other merchants. As the merchants of the city will be entirely ruined if their business continues to be stopped, the Rājā is advised to take back what salt of the Sarkār remains unsold and to dispose of it at the market price. Is sure that the Nawāb will by no means approve of injuring the merchants. Desires him to examine Mir Ashraf's account. Will inform the Nawāb of all particulars. As to the coining of the Company's money, tells him to direct the Dāroghah of the mint not to receive any money or bullion that may be brought by the servants of the factory to be coined, and to write to Mr. Ellis that money will be coined for him on the same terms as for other merchants or that he may exchange it at the bāsār price. Understands what the Rājā writes concerning the revenues of Birrumpur and the nagrānah for the saltpetre. Some thousand rupees were at different times paid by the Company to Rām Narāyan for the expenses of his army. Mr. Ellis has been directed to pay the balance into the Sarkār's treasury.

Jan. 6. 1649. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Reiterates the substance of the foregoing letter.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 3, pp. 8-9. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 25.]

Jan. 6. 1650. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Hopes His Excellency will inform faujdārs and collectors that all exports will be accompanied with a Company's dastak; that they are by no means to stop them or make demands on them; that they must take a duty of 9 per cent. upon goods for inland trade before they are dispatched and grant a dastak for same, after which they are not to make further demands anywhere in the country; and lastly that the chaukidārs are only to take a copy of the dastak. Recommends that these regulations should apply not only to the English gumāshthahs but to all other merchants. Hopes His Excellency will get the parwānahs ready, so that when the Governor sees him, he may take them with him.

Jan. 21. 1651. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has arrived safe at Calcutta.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 5, p. 10. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 25.]

Jan. 21. 1652. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. The Company are in need of ten thousand Patna rupees. Desires that His Excellency will direct his Nāib at Patna to coin the said sum as soon as it is sent him.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 6, p. 10.]

Jan. 22. 1653. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. When the Governor was at Murshidabad, Muṣṭafā Shēr, Collector of Bikrampur, complained to him that the gumāshthahs of the English Company would not pay any duty on cloth. Encloses a copy of his representation. Thinks the said Collector to be entirely ignorant of his business. The Company have never paid such duties. Complains that he has imprisoned Kishn Indar Stoota's [?] gumāshthahs and taken from him Rs. 6,700, notwithstanding that he has given up his ta'alluqah and the lands he rented. Jivan Kishn, a servant of the Company, held a small farm, and although he has given it up, yet Hājī Abdu-l-lāh has, by force, taken from his gumāshthahs Rs. 400, over and above the rent, and imprisoned his people. Complains also of the many acts of oppression committed by Kaisū Rāy, Diwān to the Zila'dār of Rajshahi. Desires His Excellency to inquire into these affairs. If such 'mischievous' men are employed, both His Excellency's business and that of the Company will be ruined. Has just learnt that a zila'dār has been posted to Khirpai, which belongs to Burdwan, and has been rented by Jagat Sēth. If His Excellency does not approve of the Sēth renting it, he will be ordered to give it up and its revenue will be collected along with those of Burdwan.

Jan. 24.

1654. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. The Governor made an agreement with His Excellency that the Company should pay a duty of 9 per cent. on salt, tobacco, betelnut and dried fish—articles bought and sold in this country. But the officers of the Sarkār do not observe the agreement, and demand duties on cloth contrary to custom. Complains that Shāikh Haibatu-l-lāh has put peons on Rām Kant, gumāshdah to Huzūri Mal. They take two maunds of kauris every day for their expenses, and though they have taken Rs. 110 from him by force, they have not yet been removed. Likewise Muhammad 'Alī Bēg has intercepted two bales of cloth belonging to the Governor and makes unreasonable and unheard-of demands upon the Company's cloth. Represents that if the officers of the Sarkār everywhere make such demands, the disputes between the Company's people and those of the Sarkār will be greater than before. Encloses copies of the complaints of Rām Kant, etc. Requests His Excellency to write to all his officers on the subject.

Jan. 25.

1655. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Encloses a translation of the complaint made by the Company's gumāshdahs at Bosdhum against the officers of the Sarkār. Does not see how the Company's business can be carried on unless those men are punished. Hopes His Excellency will direct them not to make any demands wherever a Company's dastak is produced. As this is the season for dispatching the ships, and the delay of a day is the delay of a year, some sepoys have been sent to Bosdhum to see that the business goes on as before till the officers receive His Excellency's orders.

Jan. 28.

1656. From Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Has received the Governor's letter saying that Khirpai is dependant on Burdwan and consequently belongs to the Company, and desiring that the zila'dār recently posted thereto may be recalled. Has made inquiries and finds that Khirpai was never dependant on Burdwan, and that when the latter was made over to the Company, Khirpai was left out of the gizbandi. Encloses a copy thereof. Has forwarded the Governor's letter to His Excellency.

Jan. 28.

1657. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter complaining that Mukrim Khān, Faujdar of Bhagalpur, has not yet settled the business of Mr. Lion's money. Forwards to the Governor Rs. 350 collected by the Khān. Has written to his officers to settle the business of the Company's gumāshṭahs with dispatch. The officers of the Sarkār have it not in their power to disobey His Excellency's orders. It is the Company's people who have not yet withheld their hands in spite of the Governor's letter to them. The Governor inquires into every little thing done by His Excellency's officers, but does not punish the English gumāshṭahs through whose proceedings His Excellency's affairs daily suffer. Forwards a copy of Mr. Ellis's reply to Rājā Naubat Rāy's letter concerning Colonelganj and the nagrānah, on saltpetre. Nothing but anger appears in the said gentleman's letters. Has therefore written to the Rājā to prevent boats going to and coming from Colonelganj, and to punish the merchants that they may not go there again. Has, for friendship's sake, paid all the Company's dues together with the baṭṭah. Formerly there was no trouble about the saltpetre nagrānah. The Governor gave Mr. Ellis a good character, but he acts quite differently. Will receive the nagrānah where it was formerly paid.

Jan. 29.

1658. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. His Excellency directed Sulaimān Bēg, Faujdar of Hooghly, to pay Mir Ja'far's allowance month by month from the beginning of Phāgan. Complains that a year has elapsed and only five months' allowance has been paid. Requests His Excellency to order the said Bēg or some other person to pay the balance without delay.

Jan. 29.

1659. To Shaiḫ Haibatu-l-lāh. Has been informed by the gumāshṭahs at Bosdhum that the Company's business there has been stopped by the oppression of his officers. Sends him a translation of the gumāshṭah's letters. As this is the season for dispatching the ships to Europe, the delay of a day is as the delay of a year. Has therefore sent to the said place a few sepoys to see that the Company's business goes on as before. Has written to the Nawāb on the subject.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 11, p. 14. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 85.]

Feb. 3.

1660. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received His Excellency's letter together with the petitions of Jasarat Khān and Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg. As to the latter saying that the Chief of Lakhipur has imprisoned the Sarkar's chobdār, killed one of the bargandāses and not delivered up Ghulām Aḥmad, the Governor has not yet heard a word of this matter. Will inquire into it and punish the Company's people in case of their being found guilty. Hopes that His Excellency too will punish such of his officers as create ill-feeling between the 1763.

Sarkār and the Company. Disapproves of His Excellency giving entire credit to Muhammad 'Alī Bēg's story, and writing to him to release his dependants. His Excellency is master of extensive dominions and therefore should not act hastily. As many English gumāshṭahs have, for the last five or six years, been carrying on their business in Dinajpur, Rangamati, etc., without paying anything, and as His Excellency's officers also have been taking from people whatever they can, the agreement concluded between His Excellency and the Governor cannot be enforced but by degrees. Haste will only ruin His Excellency's affairs. Has received from the Chief of Dacca a copy of His Excellency's parwānah saying that it was after a good deal of trouble that His Excellency made the Governor sign the agreement, and that if the English do not act conformably to it, His Excellency will drive them away. Such expressions are by no means agreeable to the friendship subsisting between the Sarkār and the Company, since they tend to bring the English nation into contempt. Muhammad 'Alī Bēg, considering himself lord and director of the Company's affairs, wants to put an entire stop to their trade, seizes the dallāls and weavers, demands duty on the Company's cloth and requires an account from them for the last five or six years. The Governor agreed to pay a duty of 9 per cent. on salt, tobacco, betel-nut and dried fish—articles bought and sold in the country. But Muhammad 'Alī Bēg wants to include cloth and other foreign goods as well in the list. Encloses the said Bēg's letter on the subject. Hopes His Excellency will write to the faujḍārs fully and particularly concerning every article.

Feb. 3.

1661. To Muhammad 'Alī Bēg. Recapitulates the substance of the foregoing letter and adds that by agreeing not to give protection to the servants and dependants of the Sarkār, the English have not given up their authority over the dallāls and weavers who supply the Company with cloth.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 13, pp. 16-17. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 50.]

Feb. 5.

1662. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter intimating his arrival at Bhagwan Gola and requesting that other merchants should be made to pay the same duties on salt as the English; that the duties should be taken before the goods are dispatched; and lastly that the ghāṭs should be removed. Has also received the memorial of several merchants on the subject. His Excellency agrees to the above as a great friendship subsists between him and the Governor, and as he places great confidence in the English. There are other foreign merchants in the country but none can be so much relied on as the English, who will, therefore, receive preferential treatment.

Feb. 5.

1663. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received His Excellency's letter, together with a letter from Mr. Ellis to Rājā Naubat Rāy on the subject of Colonelganj, the nagrānah for the saltpetre, and the ta'alluqah of Birrumpur. The Governor settled the affairs of Patna in the presence of Naubat Rāy and sent His Excellency a copy of the letter he wrote to the Rājā. In that letter it is written that the Rājā shall, first of all, appoint a place for erecting some golās, in which Mr. Ellis may keep 20,000 maunds of grain on the Company's account, and that the merchants shall be allowed as much time as may be required for emptying their golās. This is likewise Mr. Ellis's request in his answer to the Rājā's note. Consequently His Excellency's writing to the Rājā to stop all boats going to and coming from Colonelganj is contrary to justice. With regard to the rents of Birrumpur and the nagrānah for the saltpetre, the Governor wrote to the Rājā that some thousand rupees were at different times paid by the Company for the expenses of Rām Narāyan's army, of which the particulars were given in the Company's books, and that Mr. Ellis had been directed to prepare the account and, after deducting the above sum, to pay the balance into the Sarkār's treasury. The account has not yet arrived and fresh orders have been sent to Mr. Ellis about it. His Excellency writes that he has fully paid the Company's money together with the batṭah and that it is not difficult for him to realise the nagrānah for the saltpetre. Asks why His Excellency acts so rashly in this business and makes use of improper expressions. Requests him to peruse the aforesaid letter and to act agreeably to the regulations contained therein.

Feb. 7.

1664. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Intimates that some French ships have captured two sloops belonging to Balasore and plundered seven more, the property of the merchants there. Has written an account of this affair to Madras where there are some men-of-war. They will shortly arrive here. The enemy will be taken or killed if they stay any longer.

Feb. 10.

1665. To Shaiikh Quṭb 'Ālam. Has been informed that while some boats laden with salt and belonging to Messrs. Lushington and Amphlett were going to Patna, he stopped them near Rajmahal, notwithstanding that they were provided with the Company's dastak. Such a proceeding is improper and contrary to justice. Desires him to release them at once. In case of delay, what loss the gentlemen may suffer will be demanded from him.

Feb 10.

1666. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Transmits a translation of the account of the nagrānah money, the rents of Birrumpur and Rām 1763.

Narāyan's debt. It shows that a balance of Rs. 5,649 is due to the Company. Requests that His Excellency will either pay the money or have it deducted from the saltpetre nazrānah next year.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 17, p. 19.]

Feb. 10.. 1667. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Finds fault with his stopping some boats belonging to the Company. [Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 26.]

Feb. 10. 1668. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Informs him of the improper conduct of one of his 'āmils in stopping some saltpetre at Mangee. [Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 26.]

Feb. 12. 1669. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has been informed that while some saltpetre was being brought from Ghazipur on bullocks, His Excellency's 'āmil forcibly pulled it off from the bullocks' backs at Mangee, took away the bullocks and left the saltpetre there; that the Dāroghah of Seisun has stopped a boat belonging to the Company and taken the saltpetre out; that all the asāmis who supply the Company with saltpetre have run away through the oppressions of His Excellency's officers; and lastly that Qutb 'Ālam, Faujdar of Rajmahal, has stopped four boats laden with betelnuts, notwithstanding that they bore a dastak from the Chief of Dacca, and demands duties. As disturbances have at once arisen on every side and complaints are coming in from all parts against the oppressions of His Excellency's officers, it is evident that this cannot have happened without orders. If His Excellency is desirous of removing the Governor's suspicions, he should punish those responsible and cause recompense to be made. Complains that His Excellency's officers, instead of abiding by the agreement concluded between the Sarkār and the Company, devise orders on their own account and proclaim, by beat of drum, that the English must not be suffered to remain in the country and that nobody must have any dealings with them. Thus the agreement has been rendered null and void. It is necessary that a new agreement be drawn up, wherein it should be fully explained how the officers of the Sarkār and the English gumāshtahs are to act. The Chiefs of Cossimbazar, Dacca, Lakhipur and Burdwan have come to Calcutta to assist at the deliberations. Will hereafter inform His Excellency of whatever may be resolved on for the mutual benefit of the Sarkār and the Company. His Excellency lives at such a distance from Calcutta that an answer cannot be received in less than a month. Besides, none of the 'āmils in these parts are invested with sufficient authority to treat with the Governor. Has, therefore, written to Sayyid Muḥammad Khān at Murshidabad and Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg at Dacca that an elaborate agreement is being drawn up, that they must let the Company's business and that of private gentlemen go on as formerly till the arrival of the agreement, and that if any of the gila'dārs in the meantime obstruct it, some of the Company's people will be sent to remove the obstruction. Encloses copies of his letter to the gila'dārs. Requests His Excellency to write to them to the same effect.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 18, pp. 19-21. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 26.]

Feb. 13. 1670. To Muhammad 'Alī Bēg. To the same effect as the foregoing.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 19, pp. 21-22. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 50.]

Feb. 13. 1671. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has inquired into the complaint made by Muhammad 'Alī Bēg against the Chief of Lakhipur. The latter says that as soon as he saw His Excellency's and the Governor's letters, he released Ghulām Ahmad and sent him to His Excellency. It appears that Muhammad 'Alī Bēg oppresses the English and then writes to His Excellency the very reverse. His design is to create ill-feeling between the Sarkār and the Company. Desires His Excellency to punish him.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 20, p. 22. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 26.]

Feb. 14. 1672. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Encloses a copy of a letter from Muhammad 'Alī Bēg to Abdu-l-lāh, 'Amīl of Sundeep. The former cannot suffer a single Englishman to remain in this country and punishes whoever takes the name of an Englishman. Accordingly the Company's business and that of private gentlemen has everywhere been stopped, and the agreement concluded between the Sarkār and the Company for the removal of the disputes has been entirely broken off. It would have been proper for the Governor, on receiving the copy of the Bēg's letter, to have dispatched some of the Company's people to seize him and to have sent him to His Excellency. However, as he is a servant of the latter, the Governor has contented himself with merely representing the affair. Desires His Excellency to punish him and make him answerable for the losses caused by him. Otherwise the Governor cannot sit quiet and see the Company's business and that of private gentlemen go to ruin. Transmits a copy of a letter written to Muhammad 'Alī Bēg.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 21, pp. 22-23. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 26.]

Feb. 17. 1673. To Muhammad 'Alī Bēg and other officers of the Sarkār. Desires them to write to the zila'dārs under their jurisdiction to let the Company's business go on as formerly till the arrival of the new agreement, to return the muchalkahs, recall the orders and proclamations they have issued concerning the affairs of the English, and not only to desist from obstructing the gumāshṭahs in collecting the balances due, but to grant them all reasonable assistance. If these orders are not obeyed, some of the Company's people will be sent to carry on the business by whatever methods may be necessary. Has written to the Nawāb on the subject.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 22, pp. 23-24. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 50.]

Feb. 19. 1674. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has heard from the Chief of Patna that some sikkahs being much wanted for the Company's business, he sent some sannūts to the bāzār to be changed and that the ṣarrāf took 9½ per cent. as baṭṭah. As by this means an unjust loss falls upon the Company, His Excellency is requested to direct the Nāibs of Dacca and Patna to coin three lākhs of rupees in the Dacca and three in the Patna mint every year. The chief of the factory will write a note to the dāroghah whenever he wants any money to be coined.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 23, pp. 24-25. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 26.]

Feb. 20. 1675. From Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Has received his letter with two letters for the Court and a parwānah in Quṭb 'Ālam's name. Has perused the letters and forwarded them to the Court. Assures the Governor that the Company's business will be properly carried on. Is always receiving orders from the Court to act agreeably to the will of the Governor and other English gentlemen. Will not be deficient in transacting their business as soon as His Excellency's reply to the Governor's letters arrives. Has sent Mr. Hastings' and Major Adams' letters to the Court.

Feb. 22. 1676. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter saying that the Company's gumāshṭahs at Burdwan are being very much oppressed by the managers; that unless His Excellency threatens them with punishment, the Company's business cannot be carried on; and that as His Excellency's parwānah cannot reach them soon, some tilangās have been sent to have the business carried on as usual. Has also received a translation of the complaints of the gumāshṭahs at Santipur and Jahangirnagar. His Excellency understood that the tilangās were entertained in the Company's service to punish their common enemies. He did not imagine that they would be sent against him. The Governor's giving credit to the complaints of the gumāshṭahs, sending tilangās, and then forwarding His Excellency a translation of those complaints is "shameful."

Feb. 22. 1677. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter. The cause of the disputes is that the Governor purchases goods through the merchants whose names are entered in His Excellency's office and who always pay duties. The officers of the Sarkār do not know whether the goods belong to the Governor or the merchants. If the Governor traded through his own gumāshṭahs, no disputes could possibly arise. Encloses a parwānah he has written to the managers at Nuddea, Dacca, etc., ordering them not to intercept any goods belonging to the Company at any of their places of trade. But nothing can be done if the officers of the Sarkār are uncertain whether the goods belong to the Company, or the gentlemen, or the 1763.

English gumāshṭahs, and are not shown the Company's dastak. The gumāshṭahs belonging to the English do not show it out of pride. Desires the Governor to write to them on the subject.

Feb. 22. 1678. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter concerning Mir Ja'far's allowance. Encloses an assignment on Muḥammad 'Alī for the money due since the 1st of Rajab. Intends going to Rajmahal where he will make an account and then pay the balance to the Governor.

Feb. 22. 1679. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. It is amazing that not a single gentleman has approved of the agreement concluded between the Governor and His Excellency. The Chiefs of Patna and Dacca declare that they will follow the directions of the Council only. Cannot conceive why they are creating disturbances all over the country. His Excellency neither has negotiated nor will negotiate with anyone besides the Governor. Wishes to know if the Governor will make all the gentlemen abide by the agreement. Understands that a number of the gentlemen intend to set up another sūbahdār. It is of no consequence to His Excellency whoever succeeds him. Does not pay regard to matters of small importance. Encloses copies of letters from Mr. Ellis and Jasārat Khān. Has given 50 lākhs of rupees in land for the maintenance of tilangās. It is amazing that the gentlemen are collecting troops to ruin His Excellency's country. Says that it is evident to everyone that Europeans cannot be trusted.

Feb. 22. 1679A. Jasārat Khān to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has, in consequence of His Excellency's orders, shown the agreement to the Chief of Dacca and the English gumāshṭahs. They replied that the agreement would stop the Company's trade, and that they would not act agreeably thereto until they received a letter to that effect from the Governor signed by eight councillors.

Feb. 22. 1680. From Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Has received his letter with the letters from the Court and the copy of Kishn Rām's letter to his own gumāshṭah about Sahibganj. Kishn Rām denies having written the letter. Has sent it to the Nawāb. Assures him that His Excellency will inquire strictly into the matter and punish the offender.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 10, pp. 9-10.]

Feb. 22. 1681. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has heard from the Chief and Council of Patna that on account of the Berhanna wicket being shut, the servants of the factory are put to much inconvenience, and that by the extension of the intrenchment to the river, boats are prevented from getting up to the factory. Represents that the wicket has been in existence for the last eight years. It was by this way that the people of the factory came to the assistance of the town when it was besieged by the Shāhzādah. The inhabitants of the town are uneasy, and reports are in the air that there does not exist perfect harmony between His Excellency and the Company. These reports are prejudicial both to His Excellency's affairs and the Company's. Desires His Excellency to have the wicket opened, and the intrenchment so made that a passage may be left for the dāndis to approach the boats.

1682. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has been informed by Mr. Ellis that Rājā Naubat Rāy has imprisoned several of the merchants of Colonelganj, stopped some boats laden with grain and going with an English dastak to the factory, and proclaimed, by beat of drum, that no one must carry any grain to the English. As this is an open breach of all the rules of friendship, Mr. Ellis has been directed to send some of the Company's people to protect the business. If the Rājā has behaved in this manner in consequence of His Excellency's orders, it is necessary that they should be contradicted, for if complaints of the oppression of the officers of the Sarkār arrive daily from all parts of the country, ruin of His Excellency's affairs must be the consequence. In case the Rājā has acted without orders, he should be speedily punished that no one in future may be guilty of such proceedings. It was agreed that some grain should be stored up for the use of the English army and the factory, and that no duty was to be paid upon it. As the price will be lower at the factory's bāsār than in the town, the people of the town will go there to purchase grain. This is not desirable. Recommends that a certain number of merchants should be appointed to take what grain may be necessary to the town. A list of their names will be sent to the Rājā who will appoint a dāroghah to collect the usual duties of the Sarkār. Desires His Excellency to direct the Rājā to act agreeably to these rules and speedily to appoint a place for erecting golās, that the ganj may be abolished.

Feb. 22.

1683. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter. The gentlemen of the Council are desirous of assisting His Excellency in everything that may be necessary for the welfare of his Government. His Excellency, on his part, must prevent his officers from interrupting the Company's business and doing anything contrary to the privileges granted to the English by the King and former Nāzims and confirmed by His Excellency himself. It is with a view to making regulations for this purpose that the gentlemen are met together. The story that the English want to set up another Nāzim is a fabrication of designing men whose wish it is to create a disturbance in the country for their 1763.

the welfare of himself and the Nawāb, he would withhold his hands from stopping the Company's boats. A gumāshdah of the Company's has therefore set His Excellency's Nāib at defiance and yet the Governor will not punish him? If His Excellency had written to the Governor in these terms, what uneasiness it would have given him and what would he not have done and written! Laments that the Governor believes every idle tale that is related to him concerning His Excellency. The Governor promised to punish mischief-makers. Mr. Ellis is one. It is amazing that the Governor does not know it.

Feb. 26.

1688. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter. The Governor is ignorant of what the Chief of Lakhipur has done and is still doing. Desires him to send a person to inquire into the matter. In the parwānah sent by His Excellency to his officers, there was nothing incompatible with the agreement concluded between them. As to the Governor's taking exception to the expression "a great deal of pain and trouble," His Excellency says that the Governor knows that the settlement was arrived at after much discussion. His Excellency made use of this expression in order to prevent his officers locking upon this affair as a matter of small importance. Has sent them copies of the agreement, and directed them to act accordingly. It is amazing that the gentlemen and chiefs of the factories pay no regard to what the Governor writes to them. They require a letter signed by eight members of the Council. Has written to all the faujdārs not to impede foreign goods, and to take a duty of 9 per cent. on salt and other articles, produced and sold in the country. If the gentlemen think this duty to be too heavy, they can relinquish the trade. Formerly they did not trade in these articles.

Feb. 26.

1689. To Sayyid Jalāl Bukhārī. Has been informed by Mr. Senior that the addressee has stopped some boats laden with 400 maunds of salt and going from Dacca to Rangamati, and demands Rs. 3,250; notwithstanding that the said gentleman paid the duty at the Bakhshbandar and had a pass. The addressee's behaviour appears extremely culpable. Desires him to release the boats at once and not to stop any more passing that way with a dastak.

Feb. 26.

1690. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Reiterates the substance of the foregoing letter and requests His Excellency to punish severely such of his officers as obstruct the Company's business.

1763.

Feb. 28.

1691. From Muḥammad Taqī Khān. Has received his two letters saying that, through the bad conduct of Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg and other officers, the agreement concluded between the Sarkār and the Company has been rendered null and void; desiring the Khān to return the instrument whereby the gumāshṭahs of the factory bound themselves not to transact any business for the Company or the gentlemen; and asking him to send the revenues of Jamganwan according to the mālguzārī paid by Asad Zamān Khān. Is much surprised at what the Governor says concerning the instrument. Nothing was ever said to the gumāshṭahs relative thereto. They were only shown the copy of the agreement received from the Court and asked to act according to it. Immediately on receipt of the Governor's letter, the Khān wrote to them to carry on their business as usual. Directions have also been issued to the ta'alluqdārs not to interfere in the Company's business till the new agreement is made. Is not acquainted with the particulars of the mālguzārī of Jamganwan. Hopes the Governor will inform him thereof. By that time orders will have arrived from the Court.

Feb. 28.

1692. From Jagat Sēṭh Mahtāb Rāy. Learns that the wakīls of Burdwan have represented to the Governor that Khirpai and Radhanagar are not his ta'alluqahs but rented lands, and that they have been dependant on Burdwan for a long time. Replies that if it had been so, the receipt from the khālīṣah cutcherry would not have been in his possession. The fact is that Mānik Rām, deceased, purchased the land with money and hence it is called Manikpur. Rented villages are not called after the names of the renters. Encloses papers relating to the subject. Has written to His Excellency to get the ta'alluqahs released. Refers him to Rām Chand for particulars.

Feb. 28.

1693. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter about the French ships. Doubtless the enemy will be slain or taken prisoners on the arrival of men-of-war from Madras. Will act in conjunction with the Governor in this business agreeably to the agreement concluded between them.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 17, pp. 17-18. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 16.]

Mar. 3.

1694. From Rājā Tilok Chand. Dwells at length on the ruinous condition of Burdwan. Says that the Company's money has not been paid for three or four months; that the sepoys are clamouring for their pay; that the present is not the season for collecting the revenues; and lastly that there is no prospect of ijārahdārs being able to settle the Company's dues. Hopes the Governor will help him in his troubles.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 18, pp. 18-19. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 38.]

Mar.

1695. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letters. When His Excellency went to Behar, Bengal being left without a ruler, every village and district in that province was ruined through the oppression of the English, the subjects of the Sarkār were deprived of their daily bread, and the collection of the revenues was entirely stopped, so that His Excellency lost nearly a crore of rupees. On His Excellency representing the matter to the Governor again and again, the latter has been pleased to observe that it is not the Company's people but the officers of the Sarkār who are to blame. When the Governor was at Monghyr, he promised to settle all disputes between the Sarkār and the Company. But on his return to Calcutta, he sent troops to carry on the Company's business by force. His Excellency's officers are beaten and chastised if they dare speak a word. His Excellency has not, for these three years, received a single coin or article from the English, and yet fines and penalties are being levied upon the officers of the Sarkār. If any one of them refuses to pay, a storm of complaints is poured upon His Excellency's head. Has, agreeably to the Governor's desire, given the English the free use of the mint, and directed the wicket and the intrenchment at Patna to be opened. Has also stopped the collection of customs, etc., upon articles bought and sold in this country and removed all ghāts and chaukis. His Excellency's people and merchants are in great distress; his country is oppressed: his revenues have diminished by the amount of crores of rupees; he himself is exposed to daily insults and his officers and servants are ill-treated. Holds the Board responsible for all this. Is anxious to know if his life is safe or if there is anything else to be done.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 19, pp. 19-21.]

Mar. 5.

1696. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter. Cannot believe that the Council are desirous of coming to terms with him, since Mr. Ellis, a member of the Council, has for the last two years been endeavouring to injure His Excellency's affairs and make him look small in the eyes of the world. The English need not enter into a new agreement with His Excellency, when they have taken the law into their own hands and dispatched troops to chastise his officers. Treaties can never bind the stronger party. Complains that formerly the English paid a duty of Rs. 3-3-2 per maund on salt-petre, but that now they have forcibly fixed it at Rs. 1-12. Denies having evil-minded people in his service. Is at a loss how to act under present circumstances. Wants to be relieved of his duties and asks the Governor to appoint some one else in his place. Knows very well that the Council will condemn both His Excellency and the 1763.

Governor. The Council had better do what they like without delay. It does not become men to bring an unjust charge against any one with a view to concealing other designs.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 20, pp. 21-23. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 16.]

Mar. 6.

1697. To the Dirwān of Rangamati. Jalālu-d-dīn Bukhārī, Fauj-dār of Rangamati, has interrupted the trade of the English gentlemen and put an entire stop to their business. Has sent some sepoys to bring him to Calcutta. Desires the addressee to act as Faujdar till the arrival of the Nawāb's orders and to direct the officers of the country to let the Company's business be carried on as formerly.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1762-63, no. 30, p. 30. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 76.]

Mar. 7.

1698. From Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Has received his letter saying that while seven boats laden with rice and bearing the Company's dastaks were coming from Rajganj, the Dāroghah of Barah Ghurya Haut stopped them, and desiring the Khān to arrest him. Has sent some harkārahs to bring him to Murshidabad. Will punish him severely.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 21, p. 23. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 46.]

Mar. 7.

1699. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received the Governor's letter. Knows that the saltpetre, laden on bullocks, has not been stopped. Has, however, directed his officers to inquire into the affair. Quṭb Ālam writes that the Governor has released all but four boats. Contends that the former was justified in stopping the boats since he was not shown His Excellency's dastak. The Company's gumāshṭahs are believed implicitly, while his people are said to tell nothing but lies. The former are extolled when they are guilty of oppression, while the latter must be punished with death. His Excellency must make good to the Company their losses, but no one will indemnify him for his losses. It was to please the Governor that His Excellency concluded a treaty with him. Believes that the Council's rejecting it and wanting to have another treaty made is an imposition. Proposes three amendments to the former treaty. The first is that His Excellency will negotiate with the Governor but not with the rest of the Council. The second is that the Company's gumāshṭahs do refrain from engaging in inland trade and oppressing the subjects of the Sarkār. The third is that a stop be put to the dual rule prevailing in the provinces. Is heartily tired of all these disputes. The Governor need not send troops against his officers. He can order them to leave their districts and repair to His Excellency. Has given the Company Chittagong, Midnapur, and Burdwan and given up the right of catching elephants, etc. Will be surprised if justice is not done him.

Mar. 7.

1700. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Will punish Muḥammad Ali Bēg provided he is found guilty. Hopes that the Governor on his part will punish such of the Company's people as create ill-feeling between him and His Excellency. Has never had a word with an English gumāshṭah. It is the Governor who sends troops against his officers. Muḥammad Ali's violences cannot render the treaty null and void. Has never heard that a treaty between superiors is broken through the faults of their servants. The yasāwal, imprisoned by the Chief of Lakhipur, has arrived. He says that, on his arrival at Lakhipur, he was surrounded by two hundred men who ill-treated him very much and carried him off. They told him that His Excellency was a creature of theirs and that his dastak had no weight with them. It was after the Governor's letter reached the said chief, that the yasāwal was set at liberty. Appeals to the Governor's sense of justice and asks whether the English or the officers of the Sarkār are to blame. Complains that there are many fleets of boats in Patna, yet His Excellency cannot get a single boat. Those belonging to him have been carried away by the people of the factory.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 23, pp. 27-30. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 16.]

Mar. 7.

1701. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has been informed that Sayyid Jalāl Bukhārī stops the boats at every ghāṭ and demands as much duty as he pleases; that he seizes the mānjhis and dāndis and plunders them; that if they are suffered to proceed on their way after all this trouble, they fall into the hands of the next chaukidārs from whom they receive the same treatment; that his orders are so strict and positive that the gentlemen can scarcely get anything to eat; and that if any Englishman sends a peon with a letter to him for a dastak, he imprisons the latter for a week or so and then sends him back half-dead without an answer. Also he has published a copy of the Governor's letter and issued orders that no one must have any dealings with the English, and that as they have [little] power in the country at present, everyone must take from them as much as he pleases. Accordingly many English gentlemen have severely suffered through his violences and extortions. Will send His Excellency an account of their losses. The Āmil of Rangpur also demands duties on cloth, silk and all kinds of goods—foreign as well as native—and imprisons the dallāls and paikārs. At Sheoganj, where six English gumāshṭahs are settled, Rām Nāth Bhadri, the Nāib, has set a guard of ten bargandāzes over each of them, and taken money from them under pretence that they must contribute their share to the fund for the relief of the poor. Encloses a list of the gumāshṭahs' names and an account of the money extorted from them. Is not much concerned about the interruptions thrown in the way of the Company's business, as they will be entirely removed when His Excellency punishes the offenders. Is greatly surprised at a letter of His Excellency's to Mohan Lāl ordering him to levy a duty of 9 per cent. on opium. Agreeably thereto, the latter has sent a dastak summoning a certain gumāshṭah of Patna factory to attend him. Encloses a copy of His Excellency's letter and the dastak. Protests that opium is exported to foreign markets, and consequently a duty on it is highly improper and contrary to the agreement. The Chief of Dacca sent the Governor a copy of a letter written by His Excellency to Muhammad 'Alī Bēg. Therein the latter is strictly charged not to interrupt the gumāshṭahs employed in the Governor's trade and having the Governor's dastak or the Company's. Represents that the Governor's business and that of other gentlemen is one and the same. The distinction which His Excellency makes in the Governor's favour can only gain him an ill name. His Excellency lives at a great distance from Calcutta. Were the Governor to wait for his answer, the business of the English would be stopped and the gumāshṭahs would be almost dead for want of provisions. Has therefore been obliged to send some sepoys for Sayyid Jalāl Bukhārī. Will send him to Monghyr. Has written to the latter's Diwān to officiate for him till the arrival of His Excellency's orders. Hopes His Excellency will do whatever may be necessary for the removal of these disturbances.

aforesaid duty on salt, and guiding the conduct of the Company's gumāshṭahs and of the officers of the Sarkār, will be sent to His Excellency by Mr. Amyatt and Mr. Hay, who have been deputed by the Council to explain to His Excellency the justice of those rights and privileges. With regard to the complaints which have already been made, the Council insist upon punishment being given to such of His Excellency's officers as may be proved guilty of extortion and obstruction, and upon reparation being made for the losses occasioned thereby. On the other hand, the Company are willing to make amends for the acts of oppression committed by their agents. All the complaints made by His Excellency's officers against the latter have been referred to gentlemen of the factories. Admits that it has been customary for the Ṣūbahs of these provinces to negotiate with the Governor only, but says that it is the Council who decide everything and that the Governor is only their mouthpiece. The agreement concluded between His Excellency and the Governor cannot be enforced, since the Council do not approve of it. Desires His Excellency to inform his officers of the fact without delay, that they may cease obstructing the Company's business.

Mar. 9.

1703. From Shaiḫ Qutb Ālam. Has received the Governor's letter. Denies having stopped the Company's boats at Rajmahal. Has never deviated from the former treaty. Learns that the managers of Malda factory have taken possession of more land than they actually purchased, and cut down mangoe trees in the parganah of Bhulah Gopalpura. It was about this affair that he wrote to Mr. George Gray. Mr. Peacock, who has built boats for gentlemen at Nawabganj, sent some people to Mahdipur for carpenters. They plundered and ruined well cultivated villages. On the writer's addressing the said gentleman, the latter has made reparation for a few things only. Complains also of the violences of the Chief of Malda, and says that the latter sent to Buthdah [Purdah?] a number of ṭilangās who plundered the cutcherry and carried away Shaiḫ Haibatu-l-lāh and others. Requests the Governor to direct the gentlemen of Malda factory to release the said Shaiḫ and to return the money and things plundered. They may also be directed to report to the writer if any of the managers of the districts interrupt the Company's business. Will chastise the offenders.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 24, pp. 30-31. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 46.]

Mar. 10.

1704. To the Sēths. Has received their letter saying that the inhabitants of Baligokalpur, a ta'alluqah they have just purchased, have all run away on account of the violences committed by the people belonging to the Company. Has already issued orders that no dependant of the English should on any account oppress the ryots. Desires to be informed of the names of the offenders together with all particulars.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 32, pp. 33-34. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 85.]

Mar. 10.

1705. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has already informed His Excellency that the Council do not approve of the agreement concluded between them. Notwithstanding this, Naubat Rāy demands duties upon opium and disputes the Company's right to purchase it through their gumāshthas. This right is founded on the farmāns, hasbu-l-hukms, orders and sanads. The Council are determined to insist upon all the rights and privileges contained therein. The copies of all these documents will be sent to His Excellency, as already intimated, through Mr. Amyatt. In the meantime, the Company's business will be carried on without molestation. Insists upon His Excellency sending immediate orders to that effect to his officers and transmitting a copy thereof to the Governor. Wishes to know whether His Excellency will do this or not. If he refuses or neglects to do it, it will be the immediate cause of a rupture—an event which if it happens, will cause the Council much concern.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 34, pp. 37-38. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 27.]

Mar. 11.

1706. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Acknowledges receipt of his letter complaining of the officers of the Sarkār. Has forbidden the collection of the duties as well as the coining of any more money. Has also had the wicket of Patna opened and Muḥammad Āli Bēg though innocent, removed from Dacca. The Governor can now appoint a European to succeed him. It is not long since "Ellis" placed a guard upon His Excellency's house. The said gentleman has now sent sepoys to arrest his officers and is actually besieging Tajpur. Does not know the reason of all this. Will not put up with these insults.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 28, pp. 34-35. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 16.]

Mar. 14.

1707. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. It is only for friendship's sake that His Excellency has put up with everything. Now that he is being insulted by "servants and people of no character," his patience is quite exhausted. One may by all means be friendly to one man, but to be dependant upon ten people is beyond one's power. Has in no way violated the agreement. When His Excellency heard that Mr. Ellis had sent sepoys to Tajpur, Darbhanga, etc., and that Akbar Āli, Nāib of Tajpur, had been seized, he sent Muḥammad Amīn Khān to inquire into the affair. When the Khān approached the factory, the Company's people fired upon him without challenging him. He succeeded however in seizing the Company's gumāshthah in charge of the place, and bringing him to His Excellency. Inquiry shows that it is "Ellis", who owing to his hatred of His Excellency and impetuosity of temper, is creating these disturbances. The officers of the Sarkār, for the sake of their character, stand on the defensive only. Appeals to the Governor to help him out of these troubles. If the Governor is desirous of supporting Mr. Ellis, he had better make over the country to the latter. Is convinced that the Council will not put an end to these disputes. Will march towards Monghyr to-morrow.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 29, pp. 35-38. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 16.]

Mar. 15.

1708. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has yielded to the Governor in all matters and yet the latter sends sepoys to seize the officers of the Sarkār. His Excellency told the Governor face to face, and has written again, and again, that on account of the difference of disposition between him and the English, he is unfitted for the Nizāmat. They can make it over to whomsoever they think proper. It is unbecoming of the Governor to write His Excellency letters breathing nothing but friendship and at the same time to take steps towards a rupture. Asks the Governor to send Sayyid Jalāl Bukhārī back to his district. Will not answer the Governor's letters, if he is resolved to send sepoys against the officers of the Sarkār. Such tumults as the English have stirred up were never known up to the time of Mir Ja'far. It was then that they sent sepoys against the officers of the Sarkār. If the English gumāshthahs will carry on their trade like other merchants, well and good; if not, His Excellency has no remedy but to make use, like the Governor, of expressions savouring of disagreement. Holds honour and reputation dearer than life. Wants to know immediately if the Governor is inclined to break with him, that he may have nothing further to do with these things.

(N. B.—The last two paragraphs are in the Nawāb's own hand.)

Mar. 16.

1709. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter. Will recall the sepoys on condition that His Excellency directs his officers not to obstruct the Company's business. With regard to the saltpetre nazrānah, His Excellency gets Rs. 15,000 a year, the same amount as was paid to his predecessor. Hopes His Excellency will readily agree to what Mr. Amyatt represents. The latter is a man of understanding. Advises His Excellency to regard the said gentleman as his friend and to open to him his heart, for that will be the means of putting an end to all these disturbances. The Council have examined the farmāns, etc., and are of opinion that the English are entitled thereby to trade duty free in all kinds of goods — foreign as well as native. Mr. Amyatt will bring His Excellency copies of those documents. Desires His Excellency to peruse them and then to write his views fully. His letter will be forwarded to the Court of Directors, who will examine into the respective rights of the Company and the Nizāmat. Asks His Excellency to come to Rajnahal to settle all matters. Mr. Amyatt is in want of eight elephants. Has written to Sayyid Muḥammad Khān on the subject. In case there are no elephants at Murshidabad, His Excellency is requested to send some from Monghyr.

1710. To Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Requests him to supply Mr. Amyatt with eight elephants. Encloses letters for the Nawāb and Quṭb Ālam and desires him to forward them.

Mar. 16.

1711. To Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Some time ago, one Jugal, gumāshṭah of Tulsidhar Ṣarrāf, sent the Governor a petition complaining that Mr. Batson had taken Rs. 12,500 from his master by force. Mr. Chambers, who has inquired into the affair, says that Tulsidhar owed a large sum of money to another ṣarrāf, that the former had to pay the above amount, and that Mr. Chambers has seen the receipt with his own eyes. It appears that Tulsidhar has invented a lie and unjustly accused Mr. Batson of extortion. Has directed Mr. Chambers to explain the whole affair to the Khān. Desires the latter to send for the persons concerned and punish the offender.

Mar. 16.

1712. To Shaiḫ Quṭb Ālam. Has received his letter complaining the sepoys of Malda factory have seized the Collector and Zamindār of Hittiade parganah and plundered the revenues, and that Birjū Sarkār, Mr. Gray's gumāshṭah, has possessed himself of Rs. 8,302 out of the revenues of Goorhind parganah. Mr. Gray admits having the Collector and Zamindār arrested, but says that he did not insult them. He discharged them after enjoining them not to obstruct the Company's business. Has directed Mr. Gray to refund the money, in case the sepoys are guilty of plundering it. Will not send any sepoys if the addressee lets the Company's business go on as formerly. Cannot sit quiet and see it ruined. In regard to the revenues of Goorhind parganah, the Governor has received an account from which it appears that Birjū collected Rs. 5,857; that Mr. Gray lent Rs. 4,552 to Shāh Muḥammad, the former Zamindār of Goorhind, and Rs. 467 to the ryots, and that when the interest is added to the principal, no surplus remains in the mutasaddi's hands. Has directed Mr. Gray to send the account to the addressee. Shāh Muḥammad is accountable for whatever balance is due from the parganah.

Mar. 17.

1713. From Mir Raushan Āli. Has received his letter. Says that the gumāshṭahs have made a false complaint against him.

1763.

Denies having obstructed the Company's business. Has neither received a bond, nor issued any orders.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 25, pp. 31-32. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 32.]

Mar. 17.

1714. From Rām Nāth. To the same effect as the foregoing, adding that the Company's people own twenty-three factories in Dīnājpur, and have, by their violent proceedings, ruined the country, and asking that they may be written to.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 26, pp. 32-33. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 43.]

Mar. 17.

1715. From 'Abdu-l-'Alī Khān. To the same effect as the two foregoing letters.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 27, pp. 33-34. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 1.]

Mar. 17.

1716. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Does not believe in any of the charges laid against Mr. Ellis. Requires proofs of what His Excellency advances. The said gentleman parades and marches troops about in order to protect the Company's business. In regard to the saltpetre, the Company purchase it at the same price as they did in the past. Nay, now they pay even more. His Excellency's reference to the saltpetre as an instance of the Company's oppression is unjust, and is a proof of the fact that there are designing people about him. His Excellency has no right to complain of the English not paying customs when they have the Company's dastak. But if it can be proved that the gumāshṭahs have extorted money from the country people, the Governor is ready to have the offenders punished and the money refunded. To say that His Excellency's loss amounts to a crore of rupees is nothing but a baseless exaggeration. The Company will always be glad to support His Excellency if he ceases injuring their business. Encloses a copy of Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg's letter to Sayyid Badal Khān ordering him to seize Muḥammad Ghāzī. Mr. Billers has laid the letter before the Council. It appears therefrom that instead of seizing Muḥammad Ghāzī on account of the revenues, and denying that he is a servant of the English factory, the said Bēg acknowledges him to be such, and even gives that as a reason for seizing him. Cannot put up with the Bēg's insolent and improper behaviour any longer. Insists upon his being immediately dismissed from all his offices and obliged to make restitution for the losses he has been the occasion of.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 39, pp. 43-44. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 27.]

Mar. 20.

1717. From Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Is in receipt of the Governor's letter. Has forwarded the enclosures. Will be glad to furnish Mr. Amyatt with elephants. Has been informed that the Governor has sent sepoys to seize Sayyid Jalā Bukhārī, Faujdar of 1763.

Rangamati. This will hurt the affairs of the Sarkār. Business would be better conducted if a proper regard were paid to people's dignity.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 31, pp. 40-41. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 46.]

Mar. 20.

1718. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Is in receipt of the Governor's letter. Has sent for Muḥammad Āli Bēg. Will make him repay the money taken unjustly by him and punish him severely. His Excellency never gets anything by collecting duties. Moreover, they are the cause of endless disputes between him and the Company. Has therefore put an entire stop to collecting them. The English need not pay anything on tobacco at Dacca and Lakhipur. Is not ignorant of the nature of the farmāns and ḥasbū-l-ḥukms, as he has been in Bengal for about thirty years. But why go so far back. Even so recently as the time of Mir Ja'far, the English could not, in spite of those farmāns and ḥasbū-l-ḥukms, get ten or twenty timbers to build their houses with. Cannot let the disputes between the Company's people and the officers of the Sarkār be decided by the chiefs of the factories. The latter's idea of justice is to beat, insult, and carry away His Excellency's officers. Cannot make good the losses suffered by the Company's gumāshṭahs. Has not realised a single farthing on account of the customs while the rents have been paid to the sepoy. The person who is to be chosen as his successor will make good those losses. Encloses a copy of a parwānah His Excellency has written to his officers, also a sanad for the exemption of duties. Sends back the agreement recently concluded between the Governor and His Excellency. If the old treaty has not been of any use to him, a new one cannot. Will send the old treaty also if the Governor so desires.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 32, pp. 41-44. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 17.]

Mar. 22.

1719. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter of the 25th Sha'bān. Has not realised a single farthing on account of duties. The English have combined with some of His Excellency's people and taken penalties from others. Many merchants have carried their goods duty free on account of the protection afforded them by the English. Has therefore entirely given up the collection of duties, and removed all chaukis. As regards the Company's rights based upon Royal farmāns and sanads, up to the time of Mir Ja'far, the English traded in a few articles only. They could not get even ten or twenty timbers from Chittagong to build their houses with. It is needless for the Governor to say that a rupture will ensue in case of His Excellency delaying to send orders to his officers. Mr. Ellis is losing no opportunity of bringing about a rupture. It is the custom of the Europeans to change their chief every three years. His Excellency has been in office for nearly three years. The 1763.

English want to have a change now, and are creating these disturbances with a view of provoking His Excellency into some rash act, and so finding an excuse for deposing him.

Mar. 24. 1720. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received His Excellency's letters of the 11th, 14th and 15th instant. The Council's original orders to the gumāshṭahs were to apply to His Excellency and his officers for the redress of their complaints. But this was so often done without effect that the English were obliged to make use of force. What Mr. Ellis has done in Patna is agreeable to the orders of the Council. The said gentleman does not apply to His Excellency for redress, because the latter has refused to answer his letters. It appears that His Excellency has not yet sent orders to his officers directing them not to obstruct the Company's business. The English will not cease interfering in the affairs of the Sarkār unless such orders are issued. Has already informed him of the demands of the Council. They insist upon His Excellency's compliance with them on every point. They are ready to support him, but if he opposes the Company's people in the execution of the Council's orders, they will look upon such conduct as an open declaration of war. To show that the Council earnestly desire to prevent such an event happening, they are sending Mr. Amyatt and Mr. Hay to negotiate a new treaty with His Excellency. Refers to the expressions "servants" and "men of no character," made use of by His Excellency in one of his letters. Is unwilling to suppose that these unbecoming expressions are meant to be applied to the gentlemen of the Council; but they insist upon an explanation as they will by no means suffer themselves to be treated with disrespect.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 40, pp. 45-46. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 27.]

Apl. 1. 1721. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received His Excellency's letters of the 22nd instant. They are written in an improper style. This, and the events that have lately happened, fully justify the Council in declaring war. But to convince His Excellency how far such a proceeding is from their thoughts, and to show him that they have not the least intention of bringing about a change in the Government, they have deputed Messrs. Amyatt and Hay to treat with him and settle, beside the question of the duties, many other things tending to the welfare of both the Sarkār and the Company. His Excellency ought to regard this as the strongest mark of the Council's friendship for him and as a compliment paid him. The Council are willing to accede to his just demands. His Excellency's refusal to receive the said gentlemen will be regarded as a declaration of war on his side.

Apl. 1.

1722. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg is still at Dacca, though His Excellency says that he has been dismissed from his post and summoned to Monghyr. Encloses copies of some orders issued by the Bēg. The originals thereof have been produced before the Council by Sayyid Badal Khān and Āghā Nizām. The Bēg has ordered the factory at Lakhipur to be surrounded, the Company's chaukis to be seized and sent in irons to Dacca, and their letters to be intercepted. In short, the Bēg commits every act of insolence and open hostility, and treats Englishmen in the most opprobrious manner. Hopes His Excellency will punish him. If not, the English will take the law into their own hands and seize him.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 42, pp. 48-49. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 27.]

Apl. 2.

1723. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter of the 4th Ramaṣān. Some time ago, Mr. Ellis, accusing His Excellency of concealing Europeans, sent troops who surrounded Monghyr fort and created disturbances. But the gentleman, who came from Calcutta, searched the fort and did not find a single European. When Mr. Ellis was not punished for so great an offence, His Excellency cannot expect the Governor to punish him for the disturbances he is creating now. As to the saltpetre, the Governor should send a capable man to inquire into the affair. It is only to flatter His Excellency that the Governor agrees to make reparation for the money extorted by the Company's gumāshṭahs. Complains that the Governor gives employment to the defaulting dependants of the Sarkār. Has sent for Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg and will punish him if he is found guilty. Has taken away all chaukis and written to his officers not to take a single kauri on account of duties. It is known throughout India that the English are His Excellency's friends and supporters. But when they disgrace him and seize his officers, peace and order cannot be maintained. It is amazing the Governor is not sensible of this.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 32, pp. 47-48. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 17.]

Apl. 2.

1724. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter. His Excellency did not expect that, while he was in Behar, the English would send troops into Bengal. The Governor wrote that sepoys would be sent to protect the Company's business, but not to seize and carry away the officers of the Sarkār. His Excellency did not answer Mr. Ellis's letters, because the latter does not act in accordance with what he says. As to the affair of the saltpetre, he did not write to Rājā Nubar Kān at all. But sent talagat and seized the 'Amīl of Tagera. When the Rājā sent his chāḥ to inquire into the nature of the business at which the Alangā was going, Mr. Ellis replied that the Rājā would learn it after their return. Encloses a copy of the Rājā's present. Has already informed that he is coming to Rajmahal and will act according to the Sarkār's instructions. Has also removed all chaukis. And yet the Governor has sent people into the country and created disturbances. It appears that he is not willing to help His Excellency but wants to set up another Nawāb. As to mercantile affairs, His Excellency has relinquished everything, and there remains nothing for Mr. Amyatt to negotiate. The question of the revenues can be settled with His Excellency's successor. With regard to his calling the gentlemen of the Council "servants" and "men of low character," asks the Governor to consider whether such people as are sending sepoys to seize the officers of the Sarkār and creating disturbances, are of low character or not.

Apl. 7. 1725. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has been informed that His Excellency's people have removed the Company's dāk chauki at Dacca. Hopes His Excellency will inquire into the affair and punish the offender.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 43, p. 49. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 27.]

Apl. 9. 1726. Rājā Naubat Rāy to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received His Excellency's letter. Mr. Ellis says that Akbar 'Alī, Nāib of Shēr Zamān, has been seized and brought to Patna on account of his breaking the seals of the saltpetre and forbidding the makers of the article to sell it. When asked to release him, the said gentleman replied that he could not do anything until the arrival of orders from the Council. Mr. Ellis has now sent two more companies to Tirhut and Tikari, and says that the Rājā will learn the nature of their business after their return. Has, agreeably to His Excellency's orders, arranged for the security of the fort.

1727. Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to Mr. Amyatt. Is glad to learn that Mr. Amyatt and Mr. Hay have arrived at Plassey. Has sent Hājī Mūsā Rīzā to meet them. Refers them to the said Hājī for particulars.

Apl. 15. 1727A. From Turāb 'Alī Khān. Will act as directed with respect to the Rājā of Besseli and Dharrap Narāyan. Hopes for letters.

Apl. 15. 1728. Mr. Amyatt to Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Has received his letter through Hājī Mūsā Rīzā. Is sorry to learn that the Khān is making preparations for war. Hopes the Nawāb's orders are not to that effect, as they are needless and contrary to His Excellency's interest. Mr. Amyatt and Mr. Hay are coming to adjust all disputes. Has heard that orders have been issued for all the mulberry trees to be cut down. Desires to be informed of the truth of this report 1763.

Hopes the Khān will send a creditable person to go with one of Mr. Amyatt's people to the different cutcherries to inquire into the matter.

1729. Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to Mr. Amyatt. Has not heard anything about the mulberry trees. Does not know if the relations between the Sarkār and the Company are strained. Is sending a trusty person to meet him. The garden of Motijhil has been made ready.

Apl. 19. 1730. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter. It is surprising that the Governor does not see the faults of the Company's people. His Excellency pays the expenses of the Company's army, and the only favour shown him is that his officers are being seized and beaten. It is the English who are ready to make war on him. Has no objection to receiving Mr. Amyatt and Mr. Hay if they are accompanied by only one or two companies of sepoys. Remarks that on one side the Governor is taking violent measures; while on the other, he is sending a deputation to confer with His Excellency. A conference attended with such violences was never heard of in any country. As to the Governor's saying that *besides the articles of customs, the orders lately issued by His Excellency are not consistent with the Company's rights and privileges, His Excellency wants to know if he is an 'āmil, or a wa'dahdār, or a zamlndār, or a ḡumāshṭah, or a mutasaddi, that he cannot issue orders about anything excepting the customs.

Apl. 19. 1731. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has not yet been favoured with a reply to his letter. Imagines that His Excellency has not yet advised Sayyid Muḥammad Khān of his and Mr. Hay's visit. Will stay at Motijhil but is awaiting His Excellency's invitation.

1732. Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to Mr. Amyatt. Will meet him at Motijhil, and talk over all matters with him in private. Has given up the idea of sending a man to meet him.

1733. Mr. Amyatt to Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Will be glad to see him at Motijhil.

1734. Mr. Amyatt to Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Has proposed proceeding to Motijhil until he hears from His Excellency.

* There is a note in the margin saying that the word ḡumāshṭah stood the word "besides" in the sense of "except" in some words in the text.

1763.

1735. Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to Mr. Amyatt. The addressee will soon hear from the Nawāb. The garden has been made ready. He can come when he chooses.

Apl. 21.

1736. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to the Company. States his case as follows. Mir Ja'far could not by reason of old age bestow proper attention on the administration of affairs, especially after the death of his son by a stroke of lightning. Grief and affliction deprived him of the exercise of his reason and understanding. At that time, Prince Shāh 'Ālam arrived in Behar and caused great troubles there; and though the King wrote to Mir Ja'far to send the prince to Delhi, the latter remained where he was. The result was that the collection of the revenues was entirely stopped, and that the Company's business was very much impeded. The Nawāb's debt to the troops amounted to nearly two crores of rupees; besides which he owed large sums of money to the Company and the merchants. From his extreme negligence and want of authority, he could not discharge the smallest part of his debt and was reduced to such an extremity that the troops surrounded him and clamoured for their pay. They even went to the length of calling him names and raining stones and bricks on him. The demands of the Royal treasury were more pressing, while the Marhattas lay at a distance of five or six kos from Murshidabad. When the writer saw things come to this pass, he offered himself as security for the arrears due to the army, satisfied the people, and then informed the Governor of the state of affairs. The latter thought it highly advisable to invest the writer with the direction of the affairs of the country, came to Murshidabad with some of his colleagues, and advised Mir Ja'far to entrust all his affairs to the writer who would serve him with all his heart and soul and eventually restore order. Mir Ja'far went to live at Calcutta where he has been paid his expenses ever since his deposition. The writer then applied himself to the management of the affairs of the provinces. He assigned the Company lands yielding an income of fifty lākhs of rupees for their military expenses; assisted their troops with five lākhs of rupees when they were engaged in besieging Pondicherry, and paid all the money Mir Ja'far owed the Company. He then went to Behar to put an end to the troubles caused by Shāh 'Ālam. He agreed to pay His Majesty the sums due to the Imperial Sarkār on condition of the latter's returning to the capital, when several gentlemen and chiefs of the Company's forces interfered, and having conspired with some of the mutasaddis of the Court, took His Majesty to Patna, laid the writer under heavy expenses for six months and tried to throw all his affairs into confusion. Luckily Mr. Vansittart remained firm to the treaty and recalled several gentlemen to Calcutta, so that their designs proved abortive and the King was prevailed upon to return to Delhi. Notwithstanding that His Excellency has done so much for the Company, the English bind and carry away his officers, speak whatever comes into their mouths, and place guards upon his houses and forts. His Excellency does not take any duties on the Company's exports and imports. But they, not being satisfied with this privilege, carry on trade in dried fish, straw, bamboos, betelnuts, salt, tobacco, timber, etc.—articles which used to afford the means of subsistence to the poor and indigent in the country. On His Excellency's representing the matter to the Governor, the latter agreed to a small duty on goods bought and sold in the country. But the gentlemen of the Council do not abide by the agreement and are creating disturbances. Has faith in the justice and impartiality of the Company. Hopes they will befriend him and direct the chiefs of the army and the gentlemen to abide by the treaty and not to create disturbances. Requests an answer to this address.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 38, pp. 54-59. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 17.]

Apl. 21.

1737. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has repeatedly intimated that Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg has been sent for and will be punished. The Bēg has put off his departure for a few days, probably in order to prepare the accounts. It appears that the Council, on the one hand, usurp His Excellency's authority and on the other, write letters of peace and send people to negotiate. If the English bind and seize his officers, life will become bitter to His Excellency. Has faithfully observed every agreement made between the Sarkār and the Company. Has no remedy left, since the English make a quarrel with him for the folly and imprudence of some of his 'āmils. If His Excellency had not punished his guilty 'āmils, there would have been room to reproach him. To make a new treaty every year is contrary to rule, for "the treaties of men have lives."

(N. B.—The last paragraph was in the Nawāb's own hand.)

1738. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Will be glad to see him. Has heard that he is an influential member of the Council and is possessed of many good qualities and accomplishments. Learns that the Company's troops are proceeding this way by land and by water. Is surprised that on the one hand, he writes His Excellency friendly letters and is coming to visit him, while on the other, he is sending troops with warlike implements by every way. If he is desirous of settling affairs amicably, it is necessary that he should send the troops back. Otherwise His Excellency has no remedy. It is incumbent on every man to defend his honour.

1739. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Hay. Will be glad to see him. Learns that the Company's troops are proceeding this way by land and by water. This is very improper and unfriendly. Has written to the Governor and to Mr. Amyatt to recall the troops. If this is not done, it will be incumbent upon His Excellency to defend his honour. No friend ever went to visit a friend with great guns and small arms.

- Apl.* 21. 1740. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Hopes that all the disputes will be settled amicably. The English began to seize his officers only when their behaviour became intolerable. The story that the Company's troops are in motion is a false and malicious lie. Desires His Excellency not to give credit thereto. Learns that His Excellency is making preparation for war and has stationed troops at different places. If such is the case, His Excellency must have sent orders to the chaukis not to molest Mr. Amyatt and party, but to render them all necessary assistance. Busybodies will continually spread false reports while the Sarkār and the Company are in a manner deprived of a free intercourse. The Governor and the Council have therefore thought it advisable to appoint Mr. Amphlett to remain as Resident with His Excellency. Assures His Excellency that he is accompanied only by his attendants and that they are not so many as those who accompanied the Governor.

- Apl.* 23. 1741. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. His Excellency never suspected that the Governor would write friendly letters and at the same time send troops. Has repeatedly written to the Governor that he is not equal to the task of the Nigāmat. Has no objection to receiving Mr. Amyatt if the troops are recalled. If this is not done, His Excellency is without remedy. It is every man's duty to defend his honour.

- Apl.* 23. 1742. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter of the 15th instant. Desires His Excellency not to believe the groundless tales of news-mongers and mischievous busybodies. The Company's troops are not proceeding towards Monghyr. Only a company or two have gone with Mr. Amyatt and Mr. Hay to attend them on the road. Hopes everything will be properly settled by the said gentlemen.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 44, pp. 49-50. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 27.]

- Apl.* 23. 1743. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter saying that now that all chaukis have been removed, the Company's business cannot suffer; that if the English have a design against His Excellency, that is a different affair; that if Mr. Amyatt waits upon His Excellency purely for a visit, his house is ready; that His Excellency's troops are uneasy at the disturbances the Company's people have created by forcibly carrying away his officers and confining them; and lastly that if Mr. Amyatt is accompanied by a large body of troops, it is feared that disturbances will ensue. Professes friendship and attachment. It is not the Company's people but the officers of the Sarkār, who are to blame. Is accompanied by half as many attendants as were with the Governor when the latter last paid His Excellency a visit. Will soon have the pleasure of seeing His Excellency.

1744. Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to Mr. Amyatt. His Excellency has never written to a single officer to cut down mulberry trees nor has he ever once thought of such a thing. Desires to know the name of the person who cut down the trees or has informed Mr. Amyatt of the affair, that His Excellency may punish the offender.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763, no. 8, pp. 5-6.*]

Apl. 24.

1745. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has been informed that Muḥammad Taqī Khān has seized Jagat Sēth and Sarūp Chand and carried them to Hirajhil. The Sēths are men of high rank and the treatment meted out to them is extremely improper. It is, moreover, a violation of the agreement and reflects dishonour upon His Excellency and the Governor. The Sēths were never thus disgraced in the time of former Nāzims. Desires that Sayyid Muḥammad Khān may be directed to keep them in their own house that they may carry on their business in peace. Has written a similar letter to the Khān.

Apl. 24.

1746. To Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. To the same effect as the foregoing.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 47, pp. 52-53. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 84.]

Apl. 24.

1747. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. The Sēths are merchants and have never interfered in the business of the Sarkār. The story that they are in alliance with the English is utterly false. Hopes the Nawāb will refrain from injuring them.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 46, p. 52. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 27.]

Apl. 25.

1748. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has arrived at Sadiq Bagh. Complains that owing to the hostile attitude of the officers of the Sarkār, letters from Calcutta now reach His Excellency in about eight days, as against four in the past. Hopes the Nawāb will direct his officers to assist the Company's dāk chaukis as formerly.

Apl. 25.

1749. Mr. Amyatt to Sayyid Muhammad Khān. Has arrived at Sadiq Bagh. Learns that Muhammad Taqī Khān has imprisoned Khush-hāl, a harkārah of the Company. Requests him to inquire into the affair. Will write to the Nawāb about it. Is glad to hear that the mulberry trees have not been cut down. Mr. Chambers is inquiring into the matter and will let the addressee know the result of his inquiry.

[Trans. P. L. R., Apl.-June 1763, no. 5A., pp. 5-6.]

Apl. 26.

1750. To Sayyid Muhammad Khān. Learns that the Sēths have been sent to Monghyr and that consequently their families are very much frightened and their servants have run away. Desires the Khān to send for some of the servants and remove their apprehensions.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 48, p. 53. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 84.]

Apl. 28.

1751. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter. His Excellency's officers have not removed the dāk chauki at Jahangirā. The Governor can send his people to ascertain the truth.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 41, p. 61. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 18.]

Apl. 28.

1752. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has heard that the Sēths have been seized and carried away to Monghyr by His Excellency's orders. Represents that they are merchants and have never interfered in the business of the Sarkār. The story that they are in alliance with the English is false. Hopes His Excellency will let them return home.

1753. Sayyid Muhammad Khān to Mr. Amyatt. Has received his letter saying that Muhammad Taqī Khān's people molest the Company's qāsids. The said Khān says that he has no knowledge of the matter. Will make further inquiries.

Apl. 29.

1754. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter. It is the English who are responsible for the disturbances. Has no objection to receiving Mr. Amyatt and Mr. Hay, provided they come like the Governor. It appears that except the English nation, no one has any honour. Where a true friendship exists, the honour of either party affects both equally. If the Governor is inclined to continue to remain on friendly terms with His Excellency, the former will devise some means for stopping the disturbances.

(N. B.—The postscript was in the Nawāb's own hand.)

Apl. 29.

1755. Muhammad Sālīh to Muhammad 'Alī Bēg. Intimates that since the Bēg's departure for Calcutta, the collection of the revenues has been entirely stopped. Some of the zamīndārs have run away, while those that remain evade paying the money due to the Sarkār. Suggests that the Council may be requested to direct the gentlemen of Dacca to assist the writer. Has sent the former bill of exchange for two lākhs of rupees to the Court. No answer to the letter, which the addressee wrote to the Court, has yet arrived. The gentlemen of the factory demand Rs. 1,543 for the boats that accompanied the addressee. Has not yet paid the money. Is awaiting his instructions.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 43, pp. 63-65. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 32.]

Apl. 30.

1756. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter. Protests once more that it is not his people, but the Chiefs of Lakhimpur and Patna who are to blame. The English have seized Muhammad Ali Bēg, notwithstanding that His Excellency promised to punish him himself. Mr. Ellis, under the pretext that his horses have been seized, sent sepoy against the Zamīndār of Cussmer. The latter has run away but his property has been plundered and carried off. Mr. Ellis says that he has been authorised by the Council to seize the āmils of the Niḡāmat without giving notice to the Nāib. Encloses a copy of a letter written by the said gentleman to Muhammad Mahdī Khān on the subject. On the one hand Mr. Amyatt and Mr. Hay are coming to negotiate a treaty with His Excellency, while on the other his officers are being seized and the Company's troops are proceeding towards Monghyr and Patna. Does not know how to judge of the real designs of the English. Has faith in the Governor's friendship, otherwise His Excellency would have submitted to the will of the Almighty long ago. Will see what Mr. Amyatt has to propose. Wonders how the English will observe the new treaty since they have not abided by the old. Integrity is the most valuable quality in man. God forbid that any man should prove false and become a scorn to the world.

[Trans. P. L. R., Jan.-Sept. 1763, no. 43A, pp. 65-67. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 18.]

Apl. 30.

1757. Mr. Ellis to Muhammad Mahdī Khān. Has received his letter. Sepoys were sent against the Zamīndār of Cussmer for his seizing three horses belonging to the writer. Has been instructed by the Council to punish whosoever is guilty of such improper proceedings. No friendship now subsists between the Sarkār and the Company, else why is the Berhanna gate still shut and why is the Khān making preparations for war.

May 1.

1758. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Muhammad Ali Bēg, Faujdar of Hooghly, has, since Rajab, been paying Nawāb Mir Ja'far's allowance month by month. But as the Company have advanced seven months' allowance to the said Nawāb, it is desired that His Excellency will assign the money upon such place as may appear to him most proper. [Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 49, pp. 53-54. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 28.]

May 4. 1759. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter saying that the people of the Sarkār did not remove the dāk chaukis at Dacca, and complaining once again that the English sepoys go to all parts of the country raising disturbances and seizing his officers. As regards the dāk chaukis, Mr. Amyatt has been directed to inquire into the affair, and punish the head dāk man in case he is proved to have made a false statement. It was only to protect the Company's business, that the Governor sent some people to two or three places. Now they have all been recalled. Hopes His Excellency will strictly enjoin his officers not to obstruct the Company's business. [Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 50, pp. 54-55. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 28.]

1760. The Nawāb Mīr Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Has received his letter. It is long since His Excellency sent Mr. Amyatt an invitation and directed Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to wait on him at Motijhil. By this time the addressee will have graced that place with his presence. Will be glad to see him

1761. Sayyid Muḥammad Khān to Mr. Amyatt. Has directed Shaikh Quṭb Ālam and Sayyid Mukarram Khān, Nāib Faujdārs of Akbarnagar and Bhagalpur, respectively, to wait upon the addressee and see to his wants. Sends another trusty harkārah to attend him on the road.

1762. The Nawāb Mīr Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Is in receipt of his two letters. Has never delayed replying to his letters. His Excellency's letters have probably gone to Calcutta and from thence been dispatched to the addressee. Regards the English as his allies; but since they are acting so violently, he is without remedy. Is not preparing for war, but is simply recalling some people who have long been quartered at a certain place, and replacing them by others. Cannot conceive why a man of character such as Mr. Amphlett is coming to act as a wakil, when the Company's business is being transacted by means of sepoys. Has written to his officers to afford the addressee protection and to supply him with all necessities.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763, no. 12, pp. 8-10.]

1763. The Nawāb Mīr Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Has neither removed the dāk chaukis nor issued orders for their removal. Mr. Amyatt can inquire about it. Is surprised at Mr. Amyatt's saying that the English dāk chaukis have been in existence from ancient times 1763.

There is no mention of them in the treaties. It was only during the troubles with the Shāhzādah that the English were permitted to station chaukis between Patna and Calcutta. Has sent Mir Abdu-l-lāh and Ghulām Husain Khān to meet him.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763, no. 13, pp. 10-11.]

May 5.

1764. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter. Is glad to see Mir Abdu-l-lāh and Ghulām Husain Khān.

1765. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Has received his letter demanding the release of the Sēths. Contends that he is justified in having them seized. They were distrustful of him and looked upon him as an enemy, notwithstanding that he continually sent them invitations and khāl'ats. Moreover, they had entirely left off their mercantile work and withheld the assistance they agreed to afford him. The English are daily seizing his officers and violating the treaty openly, and yet it reflects no disgrace upon them; while he, in having his subjects brought to him, is said to have disgraced himself in the eyes of the world. It appears that the Sēths have some kind of connection with the English, otherwise it is difficult to account for the latter's uneasiness about an affair in which His Excellency has done nothing but right. Cannot comprehend whether the English mean to intercede on behalf of the Sēths, or whether they accuse him of a breach of faith on the ground that in the old treaty they are put down as English subjects.

May 6.

1766. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has given His Excellency sincere advice. It lies with him to accept or reject it. Has sent his letter to Calcutta. Has had nothing to do with the murder of Fakhru-t-tujjār.

1767. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Is glad to learn that Sayyid Muḥammad Khān received him in the most respectful and obliging manner, and that he has got as far as Dinapur. Has directed his officers at Ahberna to supply him with six elephants.

1768. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Has received his letter intimating his arrival at Ghurghat. Mir Abdu-l-lāh and Ghulām Husain Khān have arrived and delighted His Excellency with their account of his many good qualities. Has sent his brother Abū 'Alī Khān and Rājā Naubat Rāy to meet him. There being no good house at Monghyr, two or three straw bungalows have been erected at Shafiabad for his reception. The elephant has been caught and will be sent to him.

May 8.

1769. To Rājā Damodar Singh. Has, as desired, directed the gumāshṭahs of the factory not to give protection to any of the Rājā's dependants. The Rājā, on his part, must not seize any of the dependants of the factory, but should write to the gumāshṭahs if he has any business.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 51, p. 55. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 70.]

May 8.

1770. To Rājā Tilok Chand. Is glad to hear of his safe return home. Desires him to exert himself to collect the revenues.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 52, pp. 55-56. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 59.]

May 9.

1771. From the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter demanding the release of the Sēṭhs. Contends that he is justified in having them seized and brought to Monghyr. On His Excellency's accession to the masnad, they agreed to live with him and assist him in the affairs of the Nizāmat. But notwithstanding that he repeatedly sent them invitations, they refused to come, put a stop to their own business, threw the affairs of the Nizāmat into utter confusion, and treated him as an enemy. They have been brought to Monghyr, not because they were intriguing with the English but because their presence was required in connection with affairs of state. The English are sending troops to every part of the country and seizing his officers, and yet it reflects no disgrace upon them: while he in summoning his own subjects is said to have violated the treaty and disgraced himself in the sight of every one. Cannot understand whether the English mean to intercede on behalf of the Sēṭhs, or whether they accuse him of a breach of faith on the ground that in the old treaty they are put down as English subjects. If the English are resolved to misconstrue every rightful action of his, he is without remedy. PS.—The treaty does not allow the English to interfere on behalf of the dependants of the Sarkār and yet they do it.

(N.B.—The postscript was in the Nawāb's own hand.)

May 14.

1772. From the Diwān of Rangamati. Has received his letter. Sayyid Jalāl Bukhārī is with His Excellency and Mir Hayāt Ali has been appointed Nāib of Rangamati. Regards the Governor as his patron. No one has ever received a bond or issued any. Has directed all the managers in the districts not to obstruct the Company's business. Refers him to the gentleman at Goalparah for particulars. Hopes that orders will be issued for the release of the people carried away by the Company's tilangās. The mālguzārī of this place is very small and depends on the customs taken from the merchants. Hopes that the gentleman at Goalparah will be directed to take his share of the goods brought to Kundah, and to let the merchants and the writer have the rest.

May 15.

1773. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has received his letter. Absolute necessity obliged the Governor to send the sepoy into the country. They have been recalled now and the chiefs of the factories have been directed to apply to His Excellency's officers for the redress of their grievances. Hopes His Excellency, on his part, will order his officers to attend to the complaints of the Company's people without delay. Joyful news has arrived from Europe. Refers him to Mr. Amyatt for particulars.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 53, p. 56. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 28.]

May 16.

1774. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Intimates that two gentlemen on their way to Patna were turned back at Nawabganj by Ibrāhīm Khān's order. Regards this as the greatest insult to the English nation. Desires to know his reasons for permitting such an order to be issued.

1775. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Is in receipt of his letter. Has directed the Customs Master to take a copy of the dastak and let the boats go. Requests him to direct the boat people not to delay showing their dastak and giving a copy of it.

1776. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Has received his letter enclosing a translation of Mr. Helas's letter. Is surprised that the Company's people have quarrelled with his subjects about a matter so trifling as a little tyre, and even killed some of them. If a similar violence had been committed by one of His Excellency's people, the English gentlemen would have raised a storm. As to sending a capable man to bring His Excellency's sepoy and the muskets, says "May such men be collected and the muskets and other weapons procured." The English commit violences and, what is wonderful, throw the blame on His Excellency's subjects.

1777. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Has received his letter. The two gentlemen going to Patna were stopped, because they were without a dastak. As to the two of the Company's people who went into the city at night to have a brass pot mended, fell in with Gurgin Khān's sepoy, and were detained till 9 A.M., says that there is a great distance between the bāsār and the camp, and that the Company's people must have gone to pry into the condition of his army. Sends him a dastak for the two gentlemen stopped at Nawabganj.

May 23.

1778. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Sends him a list of demands. Hopes he will return a satisfactory reply that it may be sent to Calcutta to convince the Council that His Excellency's intentions are as peaceful as theirs, and that peace and order may once more reign in the country. It is necessary for a body of English troops to remain at Patna in order that they may be at hand for any service His Excellency may require of them. Moreover, Patna is a healthy place. The Council, however, will probably consent to their being removed to Monghyr, when His Excellency has built fit cantonments for their accommodation. The fact that troops are pouring into Patna, and that the communication between the factory and the city has been stopped when there is no enemy in the country, gives strong reason for suspicion that war is really going to break out. Desires it to be proclaimed that friendly negotiations are in progress between the Sarkār and the Company, in order that the alarm of the people may subside. Desires also that Mahdī Ali Khān may be directed to adopt a conciliatory attitude towards the English and to punish anyone who insults them. Mr. Ellis will punish the Company's people immediately on receipt of complaints against them.

1778A. List of demands delivered to the Nawāb by Messrs. Amyatt and Hay. (1) That His Excellency do annul the treaty he made with Mr. Vansittart and issue parwānahs informing his officers of its being void. (2) That réparation be made for the losses sustained by the English both before and after the said treaty was made. (3) That the sanad for the remission of all duties for the space of two years be immediately cancelled, as it deprives the English of the advantages to which the Royal farmān entitles them above other merchants, and as it is entirely repugnant to their interests and prejudicial to the harmony which ought to subsist between His Excellency and the English. (4) That disputes between the English and the dependants of the Sarkār be adjusted in the following manner:—At all the arangs adjacent to or under the management of the subordinate factories, a gumāshṭah shall, in the first instance, apply to the officer of the Sarkār residing on the spot. In case he does not receive immediate satisfaction, he shall send his complaint to the chief of the nearest factory. But in respect of weavers, paikārs, etc., who receive advances of money for goods to be supplied or are indebted for goods bought, the gumāshṭahs shall as usual retain their power to call such debtors to account. On the other hand, a subject of the Sarkār, complaining of an English gumāshṭah shall give the latter notice of the complaint in writing. In case the said gumāshṭah refuses to settle the dispute in such a manner as shall appear reasonable to the officer of the Sarkār, the latter shall transmit the case to the chief of the nearest factory. The gentlemen of the subordinate factories shall keep a register of such complaints, a copy whereof shall be forwarded monthly to Calcutta. (5) That a gentleman on the part of the English shall always reside at His Excellency's Darbār to transact all business between the Sarkār and the Company. (6) That jāgīri sanads be granted the Company for Burdwan, Midnapur, and Chittagong. (7) That the money coined in the Company's mint be declared current, and the English allowed to coin three lākhs of rupees annually in each of the mints of Dacca and Patna. (8) That the money spent by Muḥammad Rīzā Khān in the expedition to Tippera out of the revenues of Chittagong, after the latter was made over to the Company, be reimbursed. (9) That before the departure of Messrs. Amyatt and Hay from Monghyr, a public and exemplary punishment be inflicted on Lāl Shāh, who attacked a ṣūbahdār and 50 sepoys, declaring that he had the Nawāb's orders to cut every English sepoy to pieces wherever they were found. (10) That the Sēṭhs be released. (11) That His Excellency do give an explicit answer to the above demands and with all convenient expedition issue orders agreeably thereto.

1779. The Nawāb Mīr Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Will reply to the Company's demands in two or three days. Desires that in the meantime no unpleasant conversation should take place between them. Invites him to an entertainment arranged in his honour.

May 25.

1780. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Complains that while two soldiers, in charge of the boats laden with arms, were coming to see him, the guard at the landing place stopped them and told them to lay down their swords and clothing. Hopes that orders will be issued for the immediate release of the boats, that he may come to His Excellency's house with a light heart and have a greater relish for the repast. Is glad to learn that Mr. Ellis has ceased creating disturbances.

1781. The Nawāb Mīr Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Has been informed by Muḥammad Mahdī Khān that Mr. Ellis is daily creating disturbances. The public believes that the relations between the Sarkār and the Company are very much strained. Desires that the English troops stationed at Patna should either be recalled to Calcutta, to remain there till they are wanted, or transferred to Monghyr. If the English, under pretence of the rainy season, are resolved not to withdraw their troops from Patna and are wholly bent upon the ruin of his affairs, they should say so, that he may relinquish the Nizāmat.

1782. The Nawāb Mīr Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Is heartily desirous of retaining the friendship of the English. Mr. Amyatt is not sufficiently acquainted with the affairs of the Nizāmat. Desires him to inquire into them. Requests that a trusty person may be sent to Monghyr to build cantonments for the English troops. Mr. Amyatt can send for the troops from Patna if he likes. Has written to Calcutta on the subject. Muḥammad Mahdī Khān continually complains of 1763.

Mr. Ellis and says that if a reinforcement is not speedily sent him, he will relinquish his post. Declares most emphatically that if the troops are not removed from Patna, there is bound to be war between them. As to Mr. Amyatt's saying that Mr. Ellis keeps the troops merely for his own safety, His Excellency is much grieved that his sincerity is still doubted. Asks if he has ever beaten, bound, or killed a person belonging to the Company. The English killed twenty of his subjects for a trifle such as a little milk but he has not retaliated.

May 25.

1783. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. It is no business of the writer's to inquire into the conduct of the officers of the Nizāmat. They should by no means obstruct the Company's business. It is expected that they will answer for any injury they have done. The Company, on their part, will indemnify the Nawāb for the violences committed by their dependants. Thinks that in most cases the charges brought against the latter are absurd, for if they had been the aggressors, troops would not have been sent to assist them. Is not authorised to allow the removal of the troops to Monghyr. Will, however, represent the matter to the Governor and Council. The troops cannot be removed soon, for even if His Excellency's request is granted, a fit cantonment for their accommodation cannot be built in a day. Is surprised at His Excellency's defending the behaviour of his people who, in consequence of a little milk, beat, bound and carried away a servant of the English. On Mr. Helas's remonstrating with them and demanding the release of the prisoner, they called him most scandalous names and set up an affray. The English acted on the defensive only. It has been intimated to His Excellency again and again that there is nothing the English are more desirous of than the continuance of the alliance and the re-establishment of harmony between them. But this is impossible unless His Excellency complies with the Company's demands. Requests him to reply soon.

May 26.

1784. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim's reply to the Company's demands. (1) His Excellency never regarded the agreement. Has written to his officers to look upon it as null and void. (2) Is willing to indemnify the Company for their losses provided they indemnify him for his. (3) It is to retain the friendship of the English that he has chosen to lose lakhs of rupees and abolished all duties for two years. (4) Will not interrupt the weavers, paikārs, etc., dependant on the Company, provided his people are not molested. Objects strongly to the chiefs of the factories settling disputes between his people and those of the Company. The fact of there being two rulers in the same districts will ruin the country. (5) Whenever they have settled their differences to their mutual satisfaction, there will be no necessity for a Resident remaining at his Court. (6) Agrees to pay the expenses of the Company's troops. (7) Has never objected to receiving the revenues in sikkah rupees coined either at Murshidabad, Patna, or Calcutta.

Sarrāfs and merchants are no one's servants. Cannot compel them to accept or to refuse to accept a particular currency. (8) The money collected by Muḥammad Rīzā Khān at Chittagong has already been paid into the Company's treasury. (9) Will punish his people after the English punish theirs. (10) Will not release the Sēths. It has been customary for them to live wherever the Nāzim lives. (11) The English have broken the treaty but he has always been firm thereto. Consequently some concessions should be granted to him in the proposed agreement. Concludes by saying that if the English want him to retain the Nizāmat, they must withdraw their troops from Patna and other places.

1785. Messrs. Amyatt and Hay to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Are sorry to learn that His Excellency has not complied with a single demand of theirs. What they want is nothing more than the restoration of peace and order, and the establishment of friendship that they may carry on their trade, without which they cannot remain in the country. Their business is now at an end. Will wait on him the next day to take their leave.

1786. The Nawāb Mīr Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Asks to which article he has not returned a satisfactory answer. Has never impeded the Company's trade. Is ready to perform his agreement. But if the English make new demands every month and invent excuses for making war on him, he is without remedy. Even the meanest person would not choose to give his good name and honour to the winds. Mr. Amyatt has not yet listened to his grievances and is going away without settling anything. Approves of his sending a copy of His Excellency's answer to Calcutta. Has been indisposed for some days, but is better now. Requests the addressee to call on him the next day.

May 27. 1787. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Is glad to learn of his recovery. Will, as desired, wait on him the next day. Requests that orders may be issued for the release of the boats laden with muskets.

May 30. 1788. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. News has arrived that the French having been defeated in all parts of the world, have sued for peace which is about to be concluded. Has been indisposed for some days but is better now.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 54, p. 57. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 28.]

June 2.

1789. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. The Company's demands are unreasonable and contrary to former treaties. His Excellency did not expect to be involved in trouble whilst the Governor remained in India. Has been repeatedly informed by Muḥammad Mahdī Khān that Mr. Ellis continues to create disturbances. His Excellency's troops at Patna are greatly alarmed, and the public believes that the relations between the Company's Sarkār and His Excellency are very much strained. Encloses the said Khān's letter on the subject. Mr. Amyatt does not listen to his representations. Desires that the English troops at Patna may either be recalled to Calcutta or stationed at Monghyr, else he will relinquish the Nizāmat.

June 2.

1790. Muḥammad Mahdī Khān to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Mr. Ellis continues to make disturbances. The people are in a state of panic, and the collection of the revenues has been entirely stopped. Requests His Excellency to issue orders for the restoration of peace and order.

June 2.

1791. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. The sepoys have not yet been recalled. Desires that the gentlemen of the Council may be requested to recall them. Has written to his officers not to obstruct the Company's business. Congratulates him on the victories gained by the English over the French.

June 3.

1792. Rājā Satarām Rāj to the Colonel.* Has defeated Sheo Bhaṭ and Rājā Narāyan Deo, and is encamping on the frontiers of Cuttack. Wants to capture Barabati, the capital of Cuttack. Hopes the Colonel will assist him in the enterprise. The writer is an old friend of the English, while Sheo Bhaṭ has always given them trouble. Will pay an annual tribute to the Company.

1793. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Messrs. Amyatt and Hay refuse to listen to his representations. They say that instead of removing the troops from Patna, they will reinforce them, and that if the Nawāb wants war, the English are ready. Complains that the Governor has, contrary to the agreement, sent from Calcutta six boats laden with muskets. Has no objection to two or three hundred Englishmen remaining at Patna. The rest should either be recalled to Calcutta or stationed at Monghyr. Is desirous of coming to terms with the English, but cannot see his way thereto. His patience is almost exhausted. Encloses his reply to the list of demands.

1794. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Has been informed that Mr. Ellis has, to some extent, desisted from creating disturbances. Is convinced that this is entirely due to the addressee's writing to the said gentleman. Invites him to an entertainment.

June 6.

1795. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Requests that orders may be issued for the release of the four boats laden with grain and going to Patna with an English dastak. Complains that an Englishman's gumāstah, who went to the city to dispose of some salt, was, in consequence of a complaint from some coolies, forcibly carried away to the catcherry, where, without form or trial, he was tied up to a post, drubbed with his own shoe, fined four annas, and then turned about his business. Is surprised at the manner in which justice is dispensed by His Excellency's officers.

1796. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Replies that the grain belongs to a merchant who is a subject of the Sarkār and who says that the dastak was forced upon him. It is by no means proper for the chiefs of the factories to catch hold of his people and give them dastaks. Sends him the merchant in question. Complains that Mr. Ellis extorts money from the merchants of Colonganj. Is surprised to learn that there is an English salt gali at Monghyr. Asks by whose permission it has been set up.

June 8.

1797. To the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. It is surprising that His Excellency has not complied with a single demand of the English. Mr. Amyatt and the Governor never said that they would not send military stores. The only promise made was that the troops at Patna would not be reinforced. His Excellency's stopping the boats laden with arms, and seizing two thousand maunds of saltpetre, can only be regarded as acts of hostility. It appears from his letters that he is firmly resolved to make war on the English. If such is his desire, he should say so plainly that the Governor may no longer labour in vain to settle the disputes in an amicable manner. Tells him that if he refuses to release the boats, all hopes of peace and friendship are at an end.

June 9.

1798. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim. Has been informed that His Excellency's people have induced many of the Company's sepoys at Patna to desert, and that Muhammad Mahdī Khān has set a chauki on the house of Mir Ghulām Jilāni, a gumāstah of the Company. It is evident that His Excellency means war. The writer's business is now at an end and he begs leave to depart for Calcutta. Has, as desired, written to the Council about the Company's people interfering with his Amil at Sylhet.

1799. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Denies having induced the Company's sepoys to desert. Mr. Ellis brought the same charge against him last year. It is usual with soldiers to desert at the approach of war. It is prejudicial to his own interests to pay the expenses of an army which is kept to be employed against him. Wishes to know the meaning of the Governor's sending arms to Mr. Ellis, who is night and day making preparation for war. Is not inclined to quarrel with the English. The latter have done him much injury and yet his attitude has all along been friendly. Requests that his demands may be listened to. It is in the addressee's power to put an end to disputes or to increase them. Does not know if a guard has been placed on Ghulām Jilānī. Has, however, written to Muḥammad Maḥdī Khān on the subject. Ghulām Jilānī is by no means so great a man as Muhammad Ālī Bēg that the English should be so uneasy about him.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763, no. 26, pp. 29-30.]

1800. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mir Qasim. Complains that while three Englishmen were riding out for pleasure, they were stopped and in the most insolent manner ordered to turn back. On their refusal to comply with the command, His Excellency's people presented arms and said that they were acting under orders. The said Englishmen, on their way back, were further insulted by the latter who called out "chalo, chalo." Regards this as an insult of the most serious nature and demands satisfaction.

1801. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. It is not his guards, but the three Englishmen who are to blame. The latter went about His Excellency's quarters for their amusement, and when questioned by the guards, they returned no answer but brandished their swords and called them scandalous names. The word "chalo" is not insulting. Will not give any satisfaction for the so-called insult, since the English have never been deficient in bringing his Government and his people into contempt.

June 13.

1802. Mr. Amyatt to Rājā Naubat Rāy. Has written to the Governor and Council regarding Mr. Peacock having farmed the jungle of Morang, and English gumāshṭahs having been sent all over the Purnea country to buy up grain. Whatever is decided in the Council, will be communicated to the Company's people. The writer's words will carry no weight.

1803. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Mr. Amyatt. Insists on the removal of the troops from Patna, because Mr. Ellis, being his avowed enemy, has been creating disturbance for the past two years. Will, however, release the boats and consent to the troops continuing to remain at Patna, provided Mr. Ellis is removed therefrom and replaced either by Mr. Amyatt, Mr. McGuire, or Mr. Hastings. If the English want war, the addressee should say so plainly, that the dastaks and parwānahs may be sent him. Has not yet been asked to give him his dismissal.

June 17.

1804. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. The Governor and Council cannot consent to the removal of the troops from Patna. If His Excellency refuses to treat on other terms and to release the boats, the writer is ordered to demand his dismissal. Requests that a passport may be sent him as soon as possible. The Governor and Council have decided to release the āmils. It is hoped that His Excellency will not detain any of his party as a hostage. But if he does, Mr. Hay is willing to remain behind.

June 18.

1805. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has been ordered to leave his Court immediately. Hopes His Excellency will send him a passport and direct his officers not to molest him on the way.

June 19.

1806. Mr. Amyatt to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has repeatedly told His Excellency that Mr. Ellis cannot act against the 'people of the Sarkār without orders from Calcutta. The Council do not want war unless it is forced upon them. Has received orders to the effect that if His Excellency refuses to release the boats or to lay aside all thoughts of having the troops removed from Patna, he is immediately to depart for Calcutta. Cannot, in consequence of this order, treat with His Excellency on any other matter. As to his dismissal, the Council inform him of all their resolutions which he faithfully lays before His Excellency.

June 22.

1807. To Rājā Biji Rām [? Satarām]. Is glad to learn that he has defeated Shoe Bhat and Narāyan. Will send an army to his assistance after the rains are over.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 56, pp. 58-59. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 76.]

June 25.

1807A. From Turāb 'Alī Khan. Has written to the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far about the palanquin and horse which the writer was directed to send. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 23.]

June 26.

1808. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has received his letter. His reply to the demands of the English was conformable to treaty and justice. If he had known that the troops at Patna were kept not for his benefit but for the defence of the factory, he would not have demanded their withdrawal. Will release the boats and consent to the troops continuing to remain at Patna, provided Mr. Ellis, his avowed enemy, is replaced either by Mr. Amyatt, Mr. McGuire, or Mr. Hastings. Denies having seized the Company's saltpetre. Requests that the muskets may be sold to him. Wants them in order to intimidate his unruly subjects. Reiterates his complaint about the Company's people seizing his officers. Does not desire a war with the English. It is the latter who every year make fresh demands and drive him into corners. Mr. Ellis is ready to attack Muḥammad Mahdī Khān. Is without remedy. It is every man's duty to defend his honour. Will pay Mir Ja'far's allowance after the 'āmil's have gone to their districts and collected some money.

June 26. 1809. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Has, as desired, released the boats with the muskets. But Messrs. Amyatt and Hay have told His Excellency that the Council have decided not to remove the troops from Patna. Has just learnt that Mr. Ellis is about to assault the fort, and that he is preparing ladders and platforms and pulling down the houses of Bankipur in order to make entrenchments. Has forborne so long for the Governor's sake. His patience is now quite exhausted. Encloses letters regarding the state of affairs at Patna.

June 26. 1809A. Muḥammad Mahdī Khān to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Mr. Ellis has made platforms and ladders to scale the walls. One day he was ready to assault the fort, when a storm of wind and rain frustrated his design. Cannot sit inactive. Requests permission to fight.

June 26. 1809B. Muḥammad Mahdī Khān to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Encloses a paper of news.

June 26. 1809C. Paper of news. Mr. Ellis's sepoys come close to the fort, call the garrison names, and challenge them to fight. He has made ladders and platforms to scale the walls. One day he was ready to assault the fort, when a storm of wind and rain frustrated his design. The people of the city are in great distress, but Muḥammad Mahdī Khān will not fight without His Excellency's orders.

June 26. 1809D. Papers of news. Mr. McLeod pulled down some houses in order to make entrenchments, and turned out the tenants. The latter complained to Captain Castiers but received no answer.

June 26. 1809E. Mahsingh to the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Intimates that about 700 Europeans and tilangās after plundering the merchants and tenants at Chilmari, went to his cutcherry and killed and wounded fifteen of his peons. Owing to the repetition of such disturbances, the country has been ruined and the collection of the revenues entirely stopped.

1763.

June 28. 1810. To the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. The Company's troops at Patna and elsewhere are at His Excellency's disposal. It was at his desire that some of the Company's troops were stationed at Patna. Wishes to know what enemy has made his appearance at Monghyr that he has, on a sudden, sent for them. Mr. Ellis cannot do anything without orders. He makes a show of his forces through necessity. Rumours of war are abroad in the country because His Excellency has concentrated his troops at Patna. Muḥammad Taqī Khān and Shaiḥ Haibatu-l-lāh are with their troops at Katwa and declare that they are going to invade Burdwan. Has sent some forces there to remove the fears of the people. No one prevents His Excellency from sending his officers to their districts. If he does so, it may be a means of putting an end to the reports of a rupture between the Sarkār and the Company. Desires to know how many of the Company's demands he can comply with. Requests that Messrs. Amyatt and Hay may be allowed to leave, whenever they desire to do so.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 57, pp. 59-61. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 28.]

June 28. 1811. To Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. As Muḥammad Taqī Khān and Shaiḥ Haibatu-l-lāh have assembled their forces at Katwa and Budgaun and are going to invade Burdwan, and as the ryots are consequently very much frightened, some troops have been sent to remove their fears. Should any other report spread in the city, the Khān is asked to pay no regard thereto.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 58, pp. 61-62. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 84.]

July 3. 1812. To Shaiḥ Quṭb 'Ālam. Learns that the addressee has imprisoned the Company's dāk people stationed at Dacca, and that consequently the people belonging to the other chaukis have run away through fear. This cannot have been done without the Nawāb's orders. Desires to be supplied with a copy thereof.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1762-63, no. 59, pp. 62-63. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 29.]

July 7. 1813. From the Nawāb Mīr Qāsim. Mr. Ellis has turned out to be his sincere friend. The Governor would not part with two or three hundred muskets, but Mr. Ellis has supplied His Excellency with all the muskets and cannon in his possession; for he assaulted the fort like a night robber and plundered the city for hours together, but was at last defeated and captured with all his muskets and cannon.

1763.

Passes over his own losses, but will insist on the Company making reparation to the poor. The English concluded with him a treaty to which they pledged the name of Jesus Christ. They took from him Burdwan and other lands for the expenses of their army, with the condition that the troops would always serve him. In reality they were kept to be employed against him, as the recent events have clearly shown. Desires that the said lands may be restored to him together with therents for the past three years, and that he may be indemnified for all the violences committed by the English gumāshthahs.

July 7.

1814. Proclamation. The Nawāb Qāsim 'Alī, having committed acts openly hostile to the English, the Council declare war against him and recognise and proclaim Mīr Ja'far as the Ṣubahdār of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa. As the said Qāsim 'Alī has likewise committed acts of violence and oppression on the principal inhabitants and merchants of the country, all manner of persons are invited to repair to the standard of the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far and assist him in defeating the designs of the said Qāsim 'Alī.

July 9.

1815. To Sayyid Muḥammad Khān. Mr. Amyatt and the other English gentlemen have been treacherously murdered notwithstanding that they had a pass from Mīr Qāsim. Such an infernal action is contrary to the dictates of human nature. Hears that the Khān was not concerned in this horrible crime; still it is surprising to learn that others can be guilty of such wickedness within the limits of his jurisdiction. Desires that if any Englishman falls into his hands or those of his officers, he may be sent to Major Adams. In case Mīr Qāsim's orders prevent the Khān from doing this, he is requested to take all imaginable care of the man, and not to send him to Monghyr. In ten or twenty days, it will be known who is master of Murshidabad, and the murderers of Mr. Amyatt and the other English gentlemen will be dead.

July 10.

1816. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has sent Rājā Dūlab Rām to His Excellency. Hopes he will be reinstated in his posts.

July 12.

His Exce. y can get it signed by them there.
 [Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 6, pp. 2-3.]
- July 15. 1824. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Is glad to hear of His Excellency's arrival at Khulna. Has, as desired, ordered a large ship to lie off Hooghly and some sloops and boats off Nuddea. Has received his letter intimating that on the 19th instant, the enemy's commanders with 7 or 8 thousand horse and foot engaged the Company's troops, that Major Adams made an attack upon their rear and killed about 700 of them, and that the rest took to flight, leaving the victory in the hands of the English. Has already heard the news from Major Adams. Reports the capture of Dacca. His Excellency can appoint whomsoever he likes to the Nāibship of it. The sons of Sarfarāz Khān, deceased, and several other persons are confined in the fort. Will do with them whatever His Excellency directs. Encloses a letter from His Excellency's son Najmu-d-daulah. Has, as directed, dispatched a ship and some armed sloops.

Ja'far has been appointed Sūbahdār of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa and seated on the masnad of Murshidabad, the addressees are required to apply themselves with all quietness and diligence to the carrying on of the business of the Sarkār as usual, and on no account to harbour any fears in their minds.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 11, p. 7.]

July 27.

1833. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Requests that whenever His Excellency sends officers to the different parts of the country, the writer may be informed of it, that knowing who are His Excellency's friends and who his enemies, he may assist the former and punish the latter.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 13, p. 7.]

July 29.

1836. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter intimating Sayyid Muḥammad Khān's flight from the entrenchments of Motijhil and His Excellency's arrival at Murshidabad. Has already congratulated him on the happy event. Prays that the country may under his rule ever flourish.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 14, p. 8.]

Aug. 2.

1837. To Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdār of Hooghly. Has received his letter with another from Chānd Harḥārāh to Sukh Lāl. Desires that the contents of the last may be kept secret. Encloses a letter he has written to the Dutch Director insisting on his delivering up Shāikh Kamāl, Āqā 'Azīm, and others. The addressee should write a similar letter. Advises him not to come to the point abruptly but to write in a cautious and indirect manner. If the Director does not deliver up the said people but orders them to leave the place, a guard should be placed both by land and by water that they may be seized. The addressee is to manage this business coolly and carefully. As regards the parganah of Ursa, Mr. Johnstone has been directed to order his gumāshṭaks to act agreeably to the former custom.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 15, pp. 8-9.]

Aug. 2.

1838. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Agrees with His Excellency that Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg is not well disposed to their cause. Approves of 1763.

Muhammad Rizā Khān's appointment to the Nāibship of Dacca. The Khān is an old well-wisher of His Excellency's. Has, as desired, written to the Chiefs of Dacca and Chittagong to assist him.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 16, pp. 9-10.]

Aug. 7.

1839. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has already heard of the defeat of the enemy at Gheria and sent His Excellency a congratulatory letter. Hopes the enemy will soon be brought to shame and repentance. Has delivered the letter to his (the Governor's) brother Najmu-d-daulah. The Dutch Director has, as desired, turned the Hooghly officers out of Chinsurah. Shaiḡh Kamāl and Chānd Harkārah have been taken and the others also will meet with the same fate. The enemy's adherents at Kishangarh, Hidgely, etc., have run away. Requests His Excellency to send some officers to those places to quiet the minds of the inhabitants and collect the revenues.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 17, pp. 10-11.]

Aug. 11.

1840. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Learns from the Dāroghah of Bankibazar that all the ryots have run away on account of the oppression of the officers of the hospital. Requests that the officers may be written to on the subject.

Aug. 11.

1841. To Rājā Narāyan Deo. Has received his letter intimating that by stealth he has arrived at Sangant Gola in the province of Burdwan and asking for protection. Cannot help him at present on account of the war with Mir Qāsim. If the addressee has any good troops, he should go and join the Nawāb and the Company's army, or march to Monghyr by way of Jharkand. But if he is entirely alone, he should go to Mr. Johnstone. Afterwards he can come to Calcutta to see the Governor.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 18, pp. 11-12.]

Aug. 12.

1842. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed by Mr. Johnstone that the enemy's people have returned to Birbhūm and are collecting money. Has, therefore, directed him to send a person there to collect the revenues till the arrival of an āmil from His Excellency. Has appointed Aḡsanu-l-lāh Khān Collector of Kishangarh and Jessore. Requests that he may be confirmed in that post.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 19, p. 12.]

Aug. 14.

1842A. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Is in receipt of his letter. Will inform him as soon as Muhammad Rizā Khān sets out for Dacca. Thanks him for writing to the Chiefs of Dacca and Chittagong to 1763.

Suhrāb will soon be defeated and Khudā Yār Khān put in possession of Birbhum. Encloses the dastak, letters and accounts seized on the other side of Jellinghy, together with the Sylhet revenues in kaupis. Has sold the kaupis at the bāsār price. The troops which were sent to Kishangarh found in the cutcherry there about Rs. 25,000, which they seized together with the āmil of the place. The whole of the above amount has been used for the expenses of the troops. His Excellency will be credited for it, and an exact account will be forwarded to him later on.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 23, pp. 15-16.]

25. 1847. To Rājā Dalab Rām. Has received his letter saying that the enemy have entrenched themselves at Udanala and that the English army is encamped at a mile's distance from them. Hopes the enemy will soon be defeated. When that is done, the Rājā's business will be settled in a proper manner.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 24, pp. 16-17.]

- Aug. 26. 1848. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter together with a copy of a parwānah His Excellency has written to Rājā Narāyan Deo. Approves of His Excellency sending the Rājā a letter of invitation. Mr. Johnstone has forwarded him some money and also invited him. He says that the Rājā has mean and incapable people about him. However, it is well to have him for the sake of his name. Encloses a copy of the Rājā's letter together with the reply thereto.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 25, p. 17.]

- Aug. 27. 1849. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Encloses letters which the Wazīr has written to himself, the Governor, the Council and Mr. Ellis. Solicits advice as to what answer he should send. Has arrived at Pudkipur. Hopes to drive the enemy to Monghyr and thence to Patna. It is not advisable to invite the King and the Wazīr. The expenses of their army would be enormous. As the enemy is running away, the Wazīr may be requested to direct the Zamindār of Benares and the Faujdārs of Ghazipur and Zamania to seize him if he passes through their territory.

- [Aug. 27.] 1850. The Wazīr to the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Professes friendship. The King also is favourably disposed towards him. His Majesty had thoughts of marching towards Bengal, but was prevented from doing so on account of the rains. He has now been informed of the political situation in Bengal and was grieved to learn of the distress of that province. Therefore, notwithstanding the badness of the roads, he left Surajpur with his troops "numerous as the stars" and crossed the Ganges that he might speedily arrive and punish the iniquitous. Refers him to Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg for particulars. Requests a reply to this letter.

Aug. 27.

1851. From the Wazir. The Rohillas have been reduced to submission. Has heard of the disputes between the English and Mir Qāsim, and of the violences committed by the latter. According to the treaty which Colonel Coote and Major Carnac made with the writer, their interests are identical. Is surprised that the Governor has not informed him of the political situation in Bengal for a long time. It is His Majesty's most earnest desire that not even a single poor man should be oppressed or injured. Accordingly, asks how they can suffer the English to be treated with oppression or injustice. They have crossed the Ganges at Allahabad with the intention of coming to Bengal with all expedition. Hopes the Governor will send a letter of invitation that their intention may not be misunderstood.

Aug. 27.

1852. The Wazir to Mr. Ellis. To the same effect as the foregoing.

Aug. 28.

1853. To the Wazir. The English were obliged to enter into a war with Mir Qāsim on account of his stopping the Company's business, acting in an unfriendly and hostile manner and treacherously murdering Mr. Amyatt. Has dispatched against him an army under Major Adams, Major Carnac, and the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has also sent for some troops and men-of-war from Madras. The English troops are strong enough to punish the enemy. They have gained successive victories at Katwa, Murshidabad, and Gheria. Hopes that Monghyr will shortly be taken and the enemy captured or obliged to flee. Requests that the Zamindār of Benares and the Faujdhars of Ghazipur and Zamania may be directed to seize him if he passes through their territory. The Nawāb Mir Ja'far, who is loyal to the King, is engaged in regulating the affairs of the country. Hopes His Excellency's representations will be listened to.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 26, pp. 17-19.]

Aug. 28.

1854. To the King. To the same effect as the foregoing.

Aug. 28.

1855. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Approves of his reply to the Wazir's letter. Is entirely of opinion that the latter's coming to Bengal would mean a heavy expenditure, and expose the country to ruin and devastation. Encloses letters he has written to the King and the Wazir. Desires that they may be forwarded. The Wazir has always had a desire to get possession of Bengal. It will be proper to send a body of troops to the banks of the Karamnassa to prevent anyone entering the province.

1763.

Sept. 1.

1856. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Acknowledges receipt of his letter. Encloses a sanad confirming Ahsanu-l-lāh Khān in the Wa'dahdārship of Usufpur in Jessore. Requests that a muchalkah signed by the Khān may be forwarded to be entered in the books. Muḥammad Khudā Yār Khān has set out for Birbhum. Hopes that Suhrāb and others will soon come to grief. Approves of the Governor's selling the kauris and spending the Rs. 25,000 on the troops. Mīr 'Alī Yār Khān, Faujdār of Sylhet, is dead. Has appointed Sanjar 'Alī Khān to succeed him.

Se

1857. To Ahsanu-l-lāh Khān. Encloses a sanad from the Nawāb appointing him Wa'dahdār of Usufpur. Desires him to sign a muchalkah and send it to Calcutta that it may be forwarded to His Excellency. Advises him to apply himself with diligence to the collection of the revenues.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 29, p. 21.]

Sept. 1.

1858. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Captain Maclean will drive away Suhrāb and leave Khudā Yār Khān in possession of Birbhum. Is glad to hear of the enemy's repulse. Hopes that they will soon be brought to punishment. Has already written to the King and the Wazīr.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 30, p. 21.]

Sept 5.

1859. To Ahsanu-l-lāh Khān. Intimates that some men-of-war and a large number of troops have arrived at Hidgely from Madras. Though the army under Major Adams is sufficient to rout the enemy, the news may serve entirely to remove the apprehensions of the high and the low. (N.B.—The same was written to Muḥammad Yār Bēg Khān, Sayyid Badal Khān, Muḥammad Riṣā Khān and Muḥammad Ēraj Khān.)

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 31, pp. 21-22.]

Sept. 5.

1860. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has sent the sanad to Ahsanu-l-lāh Khān. Will forward the muchalkah as soon as it arrives. Approves of the appointment of Sanjar 'Alī Khān as Faujdār of Sylhet. A battle was fought at Suri on the 30th August. The enemy, unable to stand their ground, fled into the jungle. Many of them were killed and five or six pieces of cannon fell into the hands of Captain Maclean. Learns that Kāmgar Khān has collected a large number of troops in order to invade Birbhum. Has, therefore, sent a body of Europeans and sepoys to the assistance of the said Captain. It is highly necessary that every precaution should be taken for the security of the city of Murshidabad. Is afraid that the enemy, flying from Birbhum, may appear there. Does not know what force exists there, for Muḥammad Ēraj Khān has not written him a single letter since his appointment to the Nāibship. Requests that the Khān may be directed to be on his guard, and that some troops may be sent to Murshidabad if none are already there. The kauris have been sold to the merchants. Will send the account later on. Encloses particulars of the money. Some ships and troops have arrived at Hidgely from Madras. Will send a large army in two or three days.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 32, pp. 22-23.]

Sept. 6.

1861. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has already written to His Excellency that ships and troops have arrived from Madras, and that a large reinforcement will be sent to camp as soon as the necessities for their march are got ready. Requests that the Zamindār and Collector of Belkuchi may be directed to assist the gumāshdah of Harrial Factory.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 33, pp. 23-24.]

Sept. 6.

1862. To Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter saying that he has arrived at Dacca, that on account of Muḥammad 'Alī's conduct, the affairs of those parts are in a ruinous condition, and requesting that the gentlemen of Dacca and Lakhipur and Mr. Verelst, Chief of Chittagong, may be directed to assist him. Is glad to hear of his arrival at Dacca. Encloses the letters asked for. Has already informed the Khān that some ships and troops have arrived from Madras. Hopes the enemy will soon be driven away.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 34, pp. 24-25.]

Sept. 7.

1863. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter. Approves of his reply to Rājā Narāyan Deo. Learns that the enemy's people are carrying away the Rājā to Mōnghyr. Some ships and troops must have arrived from Madras. Desires that a reinforcement may be sent as some of the Europeans have fallen sick. Has received the letters for the King and the Wazīr. Will shortly forward the same.

[Trans. P. L. R., July-Dec. 1763, no. 14, p. 11. Also P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 28.]

Sept. 8.

1864. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. This morning about 4 or 5 hundred of the enemy's horse and foot appeared in the rear of the Company's army, but met with so warm a reception from the latter that being unable to stand their ground, they turned back. Fifty or sixty of them were killed and a great number wounded. One of their principal chiefs is among the dead. A body of the enemy's troops also attacked the left flank of the English, but was easily repulsed. In the front, there was a fierce cannonading and the gate of the enemy's entrenchments was broken down by the goodness of the fire.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 35, p. 25.]

Sept. 10.

1866. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has appointed Muhammad Rizā Khān Wa'dahdār of the pargana of Mysadul and Collector of Hidgely and Maljhata. Hopes the Governor will send the Khān, on his arrival at Calcutta, to the said pargana and assist him in his work.

[Trans. P. L. R., July-Dec. 1763, no. 16, p. 12. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 28.]

Sept. 10.

1867. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. This morning an hour and half before sunrise, Major Adams, Major Carnac, and all the other chiefs made a fierce attack on the enemy's entrenchments at Udanala. The battle lasted till 7 o'clock, when the English army got entire possession of the entrenchments and the enemy took to flight. Congratulates the Governor and the gentlemen of Council on the victory.

[Trans. P. L. R., July-Dec. 1763, no. 17, pp. 12-13. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 28.]

Sept. 10.

1868. From Sheo Bhaṭ. Has heard of the battle of Katwa. Is surprised that the Governor has not written him a word about it. Desires to act in conjunction with the English.

[Trans. P. L. R., July-Dec. 1763, no. 18, p. 13. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 45.]

Sept. 10.

1869. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Congratulates the Nawāb on the victory gained at Udanala. Has, as desired, directed Mr. Johnstone to assist Captain Maclean. The troops from Madras are preparing to march to the assistance of the said Captain. Hopes that Monghyr will be taken shortly.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 36, pp. 25-26.]

Sept. 10.

1870. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed that the Kings of England and France have concluded a treaty, whereby the French are to have factories in Bengal as formerly, but are not to bring any soldiers or necessities of war into this country, to enlist any troops here, or to take any cantons or villages. A Governor will shortly arrive on their part. Requests that orders may be issued for Chandarnagar, Saidabad, and Jugdea to be delivered to the French agents.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 37, pp. 26-27.]

Sept. 11.

1871. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. In the battle of Udanala 1,400 of the enemy's horse were killed and about 5,000 men drowned. Asadu-l-lāh Khān, Shādī Khān, and Himmat 'Alī Bakhshī are among the dead. The wounded are without number. Muḥammad Rizā Bēg, Sumroo, and Marcat, though wounded, made their escape. All the prisoners were set at liberty. Is encamped at Nagesar Bagh.

1763.

Sept. 12. 1872. The Nawāb Mir Qāsim to Major Adams. Asks by what authority he has been devastating the King's country for the last three months. If he is in possession of any Royal sanad for His Excellency's dismissal, it should be sent to him, that having seen it and shown it to his army, he may quit the country and repair to the Court. Mr. Ellis's violences led his people to believe that war had been declared, and that therefore it was their duty to kill any Englishman they came across. Thus it was that the 'āmī's of Murshidabad killed Mr. Amyatt. But it was by no means agreeable to His Excellency that that gentleman should be killed. If the Major is resolved to act on his own authority in this matter, he should know it for certain that His Excellency will cut off the heads of Mr. Ellis and the rest of the English chiefs and send them to him. Tells the Major not to exult at the success he has gained merely by treachery and night assaults in two or three places against a few zamīndārs. He shall see in what manner this shall be revenged.

Sept. 13. 1873. From Turāb 'Alī Khān. Is staying at Sarān Saran to adjust some of his affairs. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 28.]

Sept. 13. 1874. To Ghulām Muṣṭafā Munshī. Desires him to warn the Marhattas to abstain from all acts of hostility and against Shao Bhaṭ that if his people make any disturbance, interrupt the collection of the revenues, or injure and oppress the ryots, the friendship now subsisting between them will be broken off, the army which has just arrived from Madras will be sent against him, and the city of Cuttack will be taken from him. Hopes the present disturbances will not last long. The enemy's entrenchments at Uḍumār have been taken.

Sept. 16.

1876. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. His Excellency wanted to stay at Rajmahal for two or three days to regulate his affairs, but as Major Adams has reached Gunga Parsaud, he is obliged to set out with all speed. Khawājah Muhammad Āsim and others are creating a disturbance in Birbhum. Requests that Mr. Johnstone may be directed to take proper care to bring them to punishment. Khudā Yār Khān, and also the reinforcements from Calcutta, must have joined Captain Maclean by this time.

[Trans. P. L. R., July-Dec. 1763, no. 20, pp. 14-15. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 28.]

Sept. 16.

1877. To Ghulām Mustafā Munshi. Desires him to tell Sheo Bhat in plain and direct terms that if he sets foot within the borders of Jellalore, the troops which have just arrived from Madras will be sent against him and will drive him out of Cuttack.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 40, p. 30.]

Sept. 16.

1878. To Sheo Bhat. The English army has arrived near Monghyr, which will shortly be taken. It is not necessary to send the newly arrived troops to Major Adams, as the army under him is sufficient to drive away the enemy.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 41, p. 31.]

Sept. 16.

1879. To Rājā Tilok Chand. Has received his letter of congratulation and the nagr. The English army is encamped at Sakri. Hopes that Monghyr will soon be taken and the enemy driven away.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 42, pp. 31-32.]

Sept. 17.

1880. To Muhammad Ēraj Khān, Nāib of Murshidabad. Has received his letter. It is true that the Company's troops fought very bravely and that they have been successful. Has sent a strong detachment to Birbhum to drive away the enemy.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 43 p. 32.]

Sept. 17.

1881. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter. Approves of his proceeding to Patna. Has already sent a large force to the assistance of Khudā Yār Khān. Will not fail to attend to the affairs of the Sarkār. Encloses the obligation entered into by Aḥsanu-l-lāh Khān.

Sept. 17.

1882. To Mir Qāsim. Has received a copy of the letter he wrote to Major Adams. The addressee killed Mr. Amyatt, who was sent to him as ambassador—a title sacred among all nations; imprisoned Mr. Hay; plundered the factory at Cossimbazar; carried away the gentlemen of that place in the most disgraceful manner, and attacked the English agents who were carrying on their trade quietly. Yet he asks why Major Adams has been sent against him. As he declared that he would turn the English out of the country, and proceeded as far as he could towards it, it became necessary for the English to take measures for their defence. "Thanks be to God that success has attended our army thus far." Hopes that they will continue their triumphant march as far as the Karamnassa. Although the English are shocked, as people of every creed and race must be, at the revenge which he threatens to take upon the lives of the English chiefs, who have been taken prisoners by him, yet the honour of their nation and the interests of the Company will not be sacrificed to this consideration and the war will go on as before. To put prisoners of war to death is an act shocking not only to Christians and Mussalmans, but even to the most barbarous pagans. Such sentiments are nowhere to be met with but among the beasts of the forest. After the battle of Udanala, a thousand of his officers and men were captured, but Major Adams released them all without doing them the least injury. The addressee should reflect on this and think of his reputation both in this world and the next. He should remember also that if he had followed the Governor's advice, this war would not have taken place.

Approves of his sending a reinforcement to the Captain, who is opposing Kāmgar Khān in Birbhum. Has directed Muḥammad Ēraj Khān to inform the Governor of whatever happens in those parts. Mīr Rūhu-d-dīn Ḥusain Khān, who was with the enemy at Monghyr, having made his escape, repaired to Purnea where he got the Nāib in his power, issued a proclamation in His Excellency's name and quieted the fears of the people. He has also released the English gumāshṭahs and merchants imprisoned there and restored their goods to them. Has marched from Sonpur to Shahabad.

- Sept. 22. 1887. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letter. Pays more attention to the business of the Sarkār than to his own. Will assist Muḥammad Ēraj Khān whenever he applies. Is glad to hear of the capture of Furnea. The reinforcements sent to Captain Maclean have joined him. Kāmgār Khān will shortly be punished. Has sent Major Adams a copy of a letter which the Governor wrote to Mīr Qāsim. The addressee must have seen it. The deliverance of the gentlemen who are prisoners in the hands of the enemy is a matter of the greatest importance. Begs His Excellency to devise the most proper means to effect it. Advises him to write a letter of thanks to Commodore Tinker, the commander of the men-of-war which have arrived from Madras. Requests that Muḥammad Rizā Khān may be directed to advance what money may be wanted at the Dacca Factory.

Mr. George Gray who formerly carried on the Company's business at Malda, but came to Calcutta on the breaking out of the war, is now returning to his former work. Requests that strict orders may be issued to the officer there to assist him in all his affairs.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 52, pp. 39-40.]

- Oct. 1. 1891. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Is much concerned to hear of his indisposition. Will shortly send him the orders regarding the French factories. A portion of this money has been paid to the sepoys and the rest sent to camp. Requests that Muḥammad Rīzā Khān may be directed to re-pay it to the merchants. The above amount together with the Rs. 91,144-9 taken from the collections of Muḥammad Sālīh, as also the money advanced or to be advanced by Muḥammad Rīzā Khān, will be credited to His Excellency.

Has also intimated to His Excellency that the said money together with the Rs. 91,144-9 taken from Muḥammad Sālīh's collection, as also the money advanced or to be advanced by the addressee, will be credited to the Sarkār. With regard to the pargana of Sundeep, certainly the addressee cannot give it to the Company without the Nawāb's orders. Mr. Verelst should be told to apply to the Governor or to the Nawāb.

Oct. 8.

1895. From Sayyid Badal Khān. Reports that one Āqā 'Alivardī, who was arrested in connection with the plundering of Cossimbazar, says that though nothing has been proved against him, he is still kept in prison. Requests that the Chief of Cossimbazar may be directed to release him provided his statement is true.

Oct. 10.

1897. From the Wazir. The King and the writer have always desired to assist the English. They prevented the troops from passing over to Mir Qāsim, and are now proceeding towards Bengal. They are ready to perform what they wrote before. Is glad to hear of the capture of Murshidabad. Desires him to reply soon.

Oct. 10.

1898. From Mu'Inu-d-dīn Khān. Professes attachment. The Wazir is favourably disposed towards the English, and likes them very much for their amiable manners, integrity, and bravery. As soon as His Highness heard that some of the English, after being defeated, were coming to the borders of Ghazipur, he sent orders to Rājā Bēnī Bahādur to bring them to the Court. It happened that the Rājā found none except one or two people, who were treated in the most honourable manner. Mr. Lushington was sought for but no tidings of him could be got. Though Mir Qāsim has sent several arxīs to the Court, soliciting assistance, they have never been attended to. The sepoys and zamindārs, who were going towards Monghyr to join him, and had received letters of invitation with bills of exchange, were all intercepted. The ghāts of Benares and the other fords are being guarded so that no one can pass them. The King and the Wazir plainly declare that Mir Qāsim is false and a traitor to the English, who made him Lord of the three provinces of Bengal, Behar and Orissa. The King granted him sanads and conferred upon him the title of 'Ālijāh, but he has never remitted any money to the Court. His Majesty and the Wazir have heard with the greatest joy the news that Mir Ja'far is, by the assistance of the English, about to be reinstated in the Niṣāmat. They are encamped at Allahabad and are anxious to know if they can assist the English in any way. Encloses the Wazir's letters. Requests a speedy reply thereto.

Oct. 10.

1899. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has, as requested, issued orders for Chandarnagar, Saidabad, and Jugdea to be restored to the French. Requests him to settle with their agents the nagrānah to be paid to the Sarkār. Complains that the gentlemen of Dacca have taken Rs. 50,000 from the Nāib without waiting for an order from His Excellency. Disapproves of this and says that if they want anything in future, it is right that they should apply through the proper channel. The Chief of Chittagong has sent a number of shiqdārs to Sundeep, Homnabad, Patira, and the Chaklah of Raushanabad and is collecting the revenues there. Muḥammad Rizā Khān has written to the Chief several times, but has not received a single letter in reply. Hopes that the gentlemen at Chittagong will be directed to give up the said districts. Major Adams is preparing to attack the fort of Monghyr. Encloses a copy of a letter he has received from the Wazir. The parwānahs for the Governor and Council will be sent through the Major.

[Oct. 10.] 1900. The Wazir to the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Is glad to learn that he has been reinstated in the Nizāmat by the help of the English. Is encamped at Allahabad. Has written to the gentlemen also. Is ready to march with proper troops and stores. Professes friendship. Hopes that Mir Qāsim will soon be punished. Is awaiting a reply to this letter.

Oct. 12. 1901. To the Wazir Is glad to learn that he is friendly to the English. Has already informed him of the political situation in Bengal. Mir Qāsim has fled to Patna. The troops under Major Adams are more than sufficient to punish the enemy. Moreover some of His Majesty's men-of-war with a formidable army have arrived from Madras. The war is almost finished and the Nawāb Mir Ja'far, who is a loyal servant of the King, is engaged in regulating the affairs of the country. His Excellency with the assistance of the English army will, in a short time, be able to repulse whatever invaders may attempt to disturb the tranquillity of these provinces.

[Oct. 12.] 1902. To Mu'īnu-d-dīn Khān. To the same effect.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 56A, p. 44.]

Oct. 13. 1903. [To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far.]. The total amount advanced to the gentlemen at Dacca by the Nāib, the Sēṭhs and Bulāqī Dās is Rs. 3,91,449 which will be credited to His Excellency. Orders have been sent to the Chief of Dacca that in case he wants money in future, he should apply through the Governor. As more money is already wanted there, it is requested that an order for another lākh of rupees may be sent. The Chief of Chittagong sent some shiqdārs into the country at the beginning of the war and before the appointment of Muḥammad Rīzā Khān to the Nāibship of Dacca. Has now directed the Chief to recall them and deliver over the money that has been collected, together with the papers, to the officers of the said Khān. Encloses copies of the letter he has received from the Wazir and of his reply thereto. Requests that his packet may be forwarded to the Court. Encloses also a letter he has received from Asad Zamān Khān together with a copy of his reply thereto. Has been informed by Captain Maclean that Kāmgar Khān has retired towards the jungles, and that Muḥammad Khudā Yār Khān has begun to collect the revenues in Birbhum. Major Carnac will shortly proceed that way with a large force; and in case no one opposes him, he will march on and join Major Adams. Hopes His Excellency will not neglect to write Commodore Tinker a letter of thanks.

1763.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 57, pp. 44-47.]

- Oct. 15. 1904. To Sayyid Badal Khān. Some of the men-of-war which came with Commodore Tinker are lying at Kedgerie, where some straw bungalows are needed for the accommodation of the stores. Desires that Khawājah Muḥammad Nāṣir, Āmil of Hidgely, may be ordered to get them erected soon on a convenient site, and to supply the gentlemen of the ships with whatever necessities they may want.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 58, p. 47.]

- Oct. 15. 1905. To Khawājah Muḥammad Nāṣir, Faujdar of Hidgely. To the same effect.

- Oct. 16. 1906. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has already informed him that Mir Qāsim has sent Messrs. Ellis and Lushington to Patna. Is constantly thinking of means to effect their release. Has already sent him an order on Muḥammad Rizā Khān for a lākh of rupees and written Commodore Tinker a letter of thanks.

- Oct. 18. 1907. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Encloses a letter he has written to Commodore Tinker. Has received the muchalkah signed by Aḥsanu-l-lāh Khān and sent it to Murshidabad to be entered in the books. Whatever goods the enemy plundered at Cossimbazar were taken to Monghyr. The rest were carried off by the people of Murshidabad. When His Excellency arrived there, he ordered a strict inquiry to be made into the affair, and directed Muḥammad Ēraj Khān and the Dāroghah of the Sarkār at Murshidabad to collect the stolen goods. Encloses a list thereof. Complains that the Chief of Cossimbazar has arrested Muḥammad 'Alī, the Dāroghah, and Himmat Singh, the Diwān, on a charge of stealing the said goods, and does not consent to their being tried by Muḥammad Ēraj Khān. Asks how the city can flourish whilst such oppressions are committed. Is encouraging the ryots to settle but these disturbances make them run away. Hopes strict orders will be sent on the subject to the officers of the factory. Has been informed that the enemy have sent Messrs. Ellis and Lushington to Patna. Is always thinking of how to effect their release. Is glad to say that his brother Mir Kāzīm 'Alī Khān, having made his escape, arrived at camp on the 5th instant.

- Oct. 19. 1908. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. The strictest injunctions have been issued to the Chief of Cossimbazar to release Muḥammad 'Alī and Himmat Singh and to send the Governor a list of the property

Oct. 21.

1910. To Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdar of Hooghly. Learns that a guard has been placed on the house of Mirzā Mahdī, son of Sulaimān Bēg. Intimates that the Mirzā was carried away to Monghyr to settle the accounts, but having made his escape, he joined the Nawāb. Now he has returned to Hooghly and wants to pay the Governor a visit. Desires the addressee not to prevent his coming to Calcutta. If the former has any orders on the subject from the Nawāb, he should inform the Governor thereof.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 61, p. 48.]

Oct. 21.

1911. To Muḥammad Ēraj Khān, Nāib of Murshidabad. Has received his letter. It is true that Monghyr has been captured. The Company's troops must have arrived at Patna by this time. Has been informed by Captain Maclean that Kāmgar Khān has fled towards the jungles. Major Carnac will shortly proceed that way. Tells him not to be anxious with regard to Birbhum and Murshidabad.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 62, p. 49.]

Oct. 25.

1914. Kāmgar Khān to Major Adams. Mentions his former correspondence with Colonel Coote when the latter was at Ghyretty; relates how Mr. Qāsim used to ravage his lands in consequence of his friendship for the English, how on the breaking out of the war, he was summoned by the ex-Nawāb and sent to Burdwan, and lastly how he deserted and went to Birbhum, where he received friendly letters from the Nawāb Mir Ja'far and Nand Kumār. Has now arrived at Deogarh, and is desirous of joining the English army. If the Major is willing to secure his services, he should send him an agreement signed and sealed by himself and the other gentlemen.

Oct. 25.

1915. From Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdār of Hooghly. Has, as desired, ordered the release of the boats of cotton belonging to Sitā Rām Pāl. Does not know who stopped them at Chandarnagar. Bēlā Jama'dār has inquired into the affair and is now returning. Professes obedience. Requests that the Chief of Dacca and the Nawāb's Nāib there may be directed to show favour to Mīr Nazr Muḥammad, his brother.

Oct. 25.

1916. To Rājā Dūlab Rām. Has received his letter. The enemy have retired from Patna. The war will soon be over and the Nawāb firmly established in the Government. His Excellency will then doubtless reward his loyalty. Has already written to the Nawāb and Major Adams about him.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 63, pp. 49-50.]

Oct. 25.

1917. To Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdār of Hooghly. Learns that his people have again stopped some bales of cloth belonging to the Dances. This proceeding is entirely improper as the latter have, up to this time, paid Rs. 10,000 more than is customary. Desires him to release the bales. Does not choose to be daily troubled with these affairs, and has accordingly written to the Nawāb on the subject.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 64, pp. 50-51.]

Oct. 28.

1918. To Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdār of Hooghly. Learns that he has placed a guard over Khwājah Menis and demands from him duties on cloth purchased two years ago. Characterises his conduct as highly improper and desires him to release the said Khwājah, to return the money extorted from him, and to desist from such iniquitous practices. Has written to the Nawāb on the subject.

Oct. 29.

1919. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'tar. Has not heard from him for a long time. Attends to His Excellency's affairs, as requested. Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdār of Hooghly, demands illegal duties from the Dances and other people and stops their goods. Represents that as the said Khān is a good man, and as this oppression of the merchants has begun since the arrival at Hooghly of Lāhorī Mal, a nominee of Rājā Nand Kumār's, it is clear that it is all the Rājā's doing. The more favour he is shown, the more oppressive he will get. Hopes, therefore, that His Excellency will support the merchants. Requests that a person of understanding and consequence may be appointed to represent His Excellency at Calcutta. Jagat Chand, who delivers his letters to the Governor, is not fit for this business. He is a mere idler.

1763.

- Oct. 29. 1920. To Sheo Bhaṭ. Mir Qāsim has been driven out of Behar. He is no longer in a position to oppose the English troops. His only concern now is for his own safety. - Oct. 30. 1921. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed that Sumroo, a Frenchman, has, by order of the enemy, massacred Messrs. Ellis, Hay, Lushington, and the other English gentlemen together with the Sēths and the rest of the mutasaddis. The news has cast a gloom over Calcutta. Desires His Excellency to issue a proclamation enjoining all persons to seize Mir Qāsim, Sumroo, and the sepoys concerned in the massacre, and send them to the Governor or Major Adams. A handsome reward will be given to whomsoever seizes them. Encloses letters which he has written to the King and the Wazīr on the subject. Hopes His Excellency will also write to them.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 68, pp. 55-56.]

- Oct. 30. 1922. To the King. To the same effect, adding that Mir Ja'far is ready to perform the duties of a loyal subject.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 69, pp. 56-57.]

- Oct. 31. 1923. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter. Encloses an order on Muḥammad Rizā Khān for another lākh of rupees. Has directed in the order that the money, collected by the gentlemen at Dacca in Raushanabad, Sundeeep, and Homnabad, should be deducted from the above amount. Requests that they may be addressed on the subject. Has dispatched the Governor's letter together with his own to the Court. Is encamped at Barh. Returns Asad Zamān's letter.

- Nov. 1. 1925. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. The gentlemen of Dacca write to say that they have received two lākhs of rupees from Bulāqī Dās's factory, while according to Muḥammad Rizā Khān, the amount received by them is Rs. 2,30,000. Will inquire into the matter and let His Excellency know which account is correct. Will not fail to send him the gumāshṭah of the said factory. As Bulāqī Dās has an aptitude for business and is the only remaining merchant in the country, it is hoped that he will be shown favour and sent away in peace that he may apply himself to his business with confidence.

1927. Rājā Shitāb Rāy to Major Carnac.* Has not yet received a reply to his letter. Mirzā Shamsu-d-din, a wakil of Mir Qāsim's, having lately arrived at Court has agreed to give a nazrānah of 17 lākhs of rupees to the Wazīr and 10 lākhs to the King, and has prevailed upon them to move towards Bengal. They proceeded as far as Handia, while Rājā Bēnī advanced to Benares. But the writer, at no time guilty of negligence, told the Rājā that the English chiefs and the Nawāb [Mir Ja'far] were loyal to the Imperial Court and that the "tyrant" should not be assisted. The Rājā took him to the Wazīr and represented everything to the latter. Accordingly the army has halted at present and only 5,000 horse have been sent to assist the enemy. One day the Wazīr told the writer that it made him uneasy to think that, notwithstanding the importance of this war, he had received no addresses from the Nawāb and the English chiefs. The writer represented to him that the obstructions in the way had prevented the addresses from reaching him, but that he would receive some as soon as the disturbances were over. The Wazīr replied that the Nawāb and the English chiefs could always send letters in some way or other, but that they had been negligent and inattentive. Recommends that letters requesting sanads for the provinces should be sent to the Court; for when Mir Qā'im is deposed by His Majesty's sanads, he will be ruined without fighting and lose all his credit in the country. Is by no means negligent in this business, but with bare words on the one side and lākhs of rupees on the other, he has a difficult task on his hands. Requests him to reply soon.

Nov. 7.

1928. To Muḥammad Ēraj Khān, Nāib of Murshidabad. Has directed the Chief of Dacca to dispatch two or three companies to the assistance of Mir Muḥammad Qāsim, the newly appointed Faujdār of Rangpur. Desires him to write to the Faujdār on the subject. There is no need of sending another detachment from Cossimbazar.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 72, pp. 58-59.]

Nov. 8.

1929. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. The goods and kauris belonging to Sylhet have been sold for Rs. 20,772-14. Encloses the account.

Nov. 9.

1930. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed by the Chief of Cossimbazar that Mirzā Muḥammad Āli was not even sent for, much less imprisoned; that Himmat Singh, his Divān, was summoned because he was a servant of the enemy and was said to have plundered the Company's effects, but that he was sent back on Muḥammad Ēraj Khān's representing matters. It appears therefore that a groundless complaint has been made to His Excellency. As it has been agreed between the Company and the Sarkār that half the chunam and saltpetre produced at Sylhet and Purnea is to belong to the former and half to the latter, it is requested that the officers of the said places may be directed to grant all due assistance to the Company's gumāshṭahs.

Nov. 9.

1931. To Ghulām Muṣṭafā, Munshī [the Company's gumāshṭah] at Balasore. Sends a packet of letters and desires him to forward it to Madras without delay. It is surprising that the sepoys take two months to cover a journey which should be performed in one month. Directs him to issue strict orders on the subject.

1932. To Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdar of Hooghly. Has received his letter desiring that no one may interrupt his people in seizing the asāmīs belonging to Muḥammad 'Alī Bēg. The chobdārs, peons, etc., to the number of 17 persons came into the town and stayed seven or eight days without informing the Governor. Such a proceeding is highly improper. Desires him to inquire into the affair and inflict due punishment on them. Will cause search to be made for the asāmīs.

[Nov.]

1933. To Muhammad Ēraj Khān, Nāib of Murshidabad. Has been informed that some bales of goods belonging to the Guzerat and Armenian merchants are ready but that they cannot be brought down to Calcutta on account of the duties demanded by the Government officials. As this is the season for dispatching the ships, the Khān is desired to enjoin the Dāroghah of the pachotra to take what duties are customary and grant a dastak for the goods.

Nov. 17. 1945. To Muḥammad Ēraj Khān, Nāib of Murshidabad. Approves of the appointment of Mir Abu-l-Qāsim to the Faujdārship of Tippera. Encloses the letters asked for.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 83, pp. 63-64.]

Nov. 21. 1946. From Rājā Dūlab Rām. Gives an account of the capture of Patna. One day the enemy sallied out upon the trenches, but after a short engagement retreated into the fort. Again on the 4th instant Najab Khān, an officer of the enemy, came out an hour or two before sunset and attacked an advanced guard of horse. But numbers of his people being killed and wounded in the counter-attack, led by Captain Stables, he took to flight. This morning the English troops having filled up the ditch, planted scaling ladders against the walls and entered the fort "like so many tigers." They killed and wounded a great number of the enemy's horse and foot and took possession of the gates. Thus the town was taken and the Company's troops marched out of the western gate to the factory and Bankipur.

Nov. 22. 1947. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān, Nāib of Dacca. Congratulates him on the capture of Patna. Has sent a nagr.

Nov. 22. 1948. From Ghulām Muṣṭafā Munshi, [the Company's gumāshṭah] at Balasore. Sheo Bhat has received several letters from Mir Qāsim to the effect that he has destroyed the power of the English, and that if the Marhatta Chief has a mind to get the chauth of Bengal, he should act in conjunction with him. The Nawāb has also sent him sanads for Jellasure and Midnapur. In consequence, therefore, of Sheo Bhat's orders, Bhaskir Pandit and Būli Khān had resolved to march towards Jellasure on Thursday, when the writer with Āqā Muḥammad 'Alī, who is a principal man at Balasore and is always ready to serve the Company, went and dissuaded them from carrying the design into effect. At present Bhaskir Pandit is going towards Hārīharpur. Āqā Muḥammad 'Alī has written to the Governor on the subject. Hopes he will be favoured with such a reply as may increase his attachment to the Company.

Nov. 24. 1949. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has severely reprimanded Lāhori Mal for acting contrary to the Governor's wishes. Cannot at present dispense with the services of Jagat Chand as he cannot find a capable man to replace him. The late Nāzim has not left a single mutasaddi in Bengal. Will decide the question after settling at Murshidabad. Is encamped near Bankipur. Has appointed his brother Mir Muḥammad Kāzim Khān Nāib of Patna, and left Dhīraj Narāyan with him as his Diwān. Will march onwards in two or three days. The enemy have arrived at Sasaram. Returns Rājā Damur [? Damodar] Singh's letter. Approves of the Governor's reply thereto. Has examined the account of the goods and kauris, and forwarded to the King and the Wazir the Governor's letters on the subject of the Patna massacre.

Nov. 24. 1950. To Muḥammad Rizā Khān, Nāib of Dacca. Acknowledges receipt of his letter of congratulation. Learns that the Khān has been made uneasy by the insinuations of some designing men. Assures him that they cannot do him any harm. Is sincerely disposed to promote his interests.

Nov. 25. 1951. From Ghulām Mustafā Munshī, [the Company's gumāshdah] at Balasore. Some time ago. Sheo Bhaṭ, agreeably to Mir Qāsim's desire, intended to march to Jellasure, but was prevented from doing so on account of his quarrel with Rājā Bīrkishor Deo. Has, as directed, written to the Marhatta Chief that if he should make an attempt upon Jellasure, the English would attack Cuttack. The Marhatta officers at Balasore have now given up the idea of invading Bengal and are sending their forces against some petty Rājās. Encloses a letter from Sheo Bhaṭ. There being at present a disturbance near Sirsoonum, the letters have been delayed in coming and going.

Nov. 25. 1952. From Sheo Bhaṭ. Congratulates him on the conquest of Bengal and Behar. Demands, on behalf of Rājā Jānūji, the chauth and irdēsh mukhi of Bengal. Complains that they have not yet been paid through the evasions of short-sighted people. Requests permission to send a man to Calcutta in order to negotiate on the subject

Bhaskir Pandit has been directed to send Mrs. Sparks to Calcutta with a passport.

Nov. 26.

1953. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Money is wanted at Patna factory. Requests that orders may be issued for a lākh of rupees to be paid to Mr. Batson, Chief of the said factory.

Nov. 29.

1955. To 'Alī Rizā Khān, Commander of a troop of horse. Has received his letter relating how he escaped from the enemy's hands, how he was wounded at the battle of Gheria and placed under Dr. Anderson's treatment. Has already heard of his situation from Major Adams. Has written to the latter to take all possible care of him and show him every mark of friendship.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 86, p. 65.]

Dec. 7.

1956. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has crossed the Soan. The enemy are near the Karamnassa. Hopes to defeat them soon. Has been informed by Muḥammad Rizā Khān that the Chief of Chittagong has not yet recalled his people from Tippera, and that the officers of the Sarkār have not yet received charge of the several districts. Encloses two letters from the Khān on the subject. The expenses of his troops are daily increasing and he owes large sums of money to the Company, the King, and the Marhattas. In fact, his liabilities amount to upwards of a crore of rupees. Asks how he can raise so much money if his authority continues to be disregarded. Hopes that the Chief of Chittagong will be strictly enjoined to release the districts and to give an account of the money he has collected there.

[Trans. P. L. R., July-Dec. 1763, no. 51, pp. 41-42. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 27.]

[Dec. 7.]

1957. Muḥammad Rizā Khān to the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. The Chief of Chittagong has not yet withdrawn his people from Tippera. Dated 18th Oct.

[Dec. 7.]

1958. Muḥammad Rizā Khān to the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. The Chief of Chittagong has sent orders to every place except Tippera for the withdrawal of his people; but the officers of the Sarkār have not yet received charge of the districts.

1763.

Dec. 7.

1959. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Agrees to let the Company purchase half the chunam and saltpetre produced at Sylhet and Purnea respectively. Has written to Sanjar Khān and Rūhu-d-dīn Khān on the subject. Requests the Governor to issue orders to the effect that half the expenses of manufacturing the petre are to be borne by the Company and half by the Sarkār. Encloses copies of two letters he has received from the Wazīr together with one from the latter to the Governor.

[Trans. P. L. R., July-Dec. 1763, no. 52, p. 43. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 29.]

Dec. 7.

1960. The Wazīr to Major Adams. Has received his letter concerning Rājā Shitāb Rāy. The writer formerly kept the Rājā with him on account of his being a well-wisher of both the Company and the Court. The King and himself wish the Major success and glory. Hopes he will be steady in his loyalty. Refers for particulars to the letters of Rājā Shitāb Rāy and Rājā Bēnī who has been sent with some troops [towards Benares].

Dec. 7.

1961. The Wazīr to Major Adams. Has received his letter concerning the war. On hearing that a battle was going to be fought at Udānala, the writer marched to Handia Sarai, but when the news of the English victory arrived, he returned to Allahabad. As desired, he sent Rājā Bēnī towards Benares with strict injunctions to pass over with his army and not to suffer Mīr Qāsim to recruit himself, but to seize him wherever he might be found. Doubtless the Major must have heard of these particulars. Desires him to send an Englishman of distinction to be treated with on all affairs. Approves of Nand Kumār being appointed Diwān of Bengal. The latter is a man of understanding and knowledge; and has, since the time of Colonel Coote [? Clive], been well in touch with affairs of state. The writer formerly had a friendship for him and now sends him a seal with the title of Mahārājā. Refers to Ḥasan 'Alī Bēg Khān and 'Alī Bēg for particulars.

Dec. 7.

1962. Rājā Shitāb Rāy to Major Adams. Has written to him several times. Has long been attached to the English gentlemen. Colonel Coote was very kind to him and introduced him to the addressee at Ghyretty. The addressee must have heard from the Colonel and Major Carnac of his services in treating with the King. When he writer returned from the Patna province on account of the enmity of Mīr Qāsim, he went to the Royal army, where he remained eight months with the King and the Wazīr. Afterwards the latter sent him along with Rājā Bēnī, who is Nāib of the provinces and has authority over all the affairs of the Empire. As the writer was always desirous of obtaining the good-will of the English gentlemen, he forwarded all the letters which Messrs. Ellis and Lushington sent to the Court, and treated for them in a proper manner. Accordingly it is universally known that all the business of the English chiefs at the Imperial Court is carried on through the writer. When the affairs of the Patna factory were ruined, he made all possible search after the above-named gentlemen, and was daily thinking by what means they might be released from the hands of that "ungrateful tyrant," "but as no one can go beyond the will of God," all his endeavours proved ineffectual. Sends Sādū Rām, his diwān, who is a man worthy of trust and well acquainted with all the affairs of the Imperial Court. Hopes the Major will listen to his representations and deliver him what letters he may write to the Court, that the writer may transact the Company's business there as formerly in a proper manner. Mir Qāsim, notwithstanding so many defeats and his inability to oppose the English, does not desist from his wicked intentions. He has sent Mirzā Shamsu-d-dīn with bills for 17 *lākh*s of rupees for the Wazīr and 10 *lākh*s for the King, and has got 5,000 horse appointed for his assistance. Rājā Bēnī has gone to Benares for the money. The writer represented to the Wazīr that His Highness's sending troops to the assistance of a man who laid waste the country, ruined the people, and plundered the English factories, would be contrary to Justice. The Wazīr replied that he must first get money from Mir Qāsim, and then he would comply with whatever the English chiefs might desire. Has written the particulars of these affairs to Sādū Rām. It is advisable that the Major should write letters in the most friendly terms and request the King to grant sanads for the provinces. From procuring the sanads and taking care of the King's affairs, two advantages will result. In the first place, the King, the Wazīr, and Rājā Bēnī will give up the idea of assisting the enemy; and in the second place, when Mir Qāsim is dismissed by His Majesty, he will be disheartened and no one will place any confidence in him. States that Mir Qāsim has also sent bills and letters of recommendation from Munīru-d-daulah and Madāru-d-daulah to the Rohillas. Shāh Shākīr Khān, one of whose brothers has gone to invite the Rohillas, will write to the addressee and to the Nawāb Mir Ja'far, but is secretly acting the part of an enemy. Refers to Sādū Rām for particulars.

1763.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 3, pp. 3-7.]

Dec. 7.

1936. Rājā Shitāb Rāy to Major Adams. Has delivered his and the Nawāb's letters to the King and the Wazīr and forwarded the latter's reply to his previous communications. Mumtāzu-d-daulah, the Bakhshi of the Empire, who treated for the English gentlemen when His Majesty was at Patna, still acts as the Company's friend. He has written a letter to the Major, who is requested to answer in the most friendly terms. Refers to Sādū Rām for particulars.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 4, pp. 7-8.]

Dec. 7.

1964. Rājā Bēnī to Major Adams. Has received his letters through Rājā Shitāb Rāy and forwarded them to the Court. Has, as desired, written to the Wazīr in a proper manner. Hopes that the latter will be pleased to settle everything agreeably to his representations. The affairs of Bengal have never been regulated without the payment of ready money. Desires him, therefore, to send an agreement under the Nawāb's seal and his own sign-manual, agreeing to pay the King's peshkash and the Wazīr's nagrānah, and recognising the customary jāgirs. The sanads will then be sent.

1763.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 5, pp. 8-9.]

Dec. 7. 1965. Rājā Bēnī to Major Adams. The King and the Wazīr sent for his perusal the letters which the Major wrote them. They have been fully informed of his fidelity and obedience. The Wazīr is greatly concerned for his welfare, and his favour towards him has further increased by the writer's representations. Refers to Rājā Shitāb Rāy for particulars.

Dec. 7. 1966. Hasan 'Alī Bēg Khān to Major Adams. The King and the Wazīr are glad to hear of the victories of the English and their alliance with Mīr Ja'far. Nand Kumār has been favoured with the title of Mahārājā. The addressee will shortly receive a farmān from His Majesty.

Dec. 7. 1967. Shākīru-d-daulah [Shāh Shākīr Khān] to Major Adams. Has sent an address to him and the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far together with some letters from the Wazīr. The latter has a hearty friendship for the addressee. The padre [Windel] must have informed him that the Wazīr has closed all the ghāts and imprisoned every person for whom bills arrived from the enemy. Munīru-d-daulah Rīzā Qulī Khān, His Majesty's Khānsāmān, is also a well-wisher of the English and the Nawāb. Hopes that all their wishes will be complied with. Mīr Qāsim has sent Shamsu-d-dīn 'Alī with a large sum on account of the balances due to the King, and bills for procuring assistance. But the writer has so arranged matters that not a single horseman or footman can go to his assistance. As he regarded the fort of Rohtas as his place of security, orders have been sent to the zamīndārs of Bhojpur and the Wazīr's officers at Bijaigarh to drive him out. The English will be granted assistance as well as the customary sanads for the Sūbahdāri, the Diwāni, the Faujdāris and the jāgirs. Everything has been settled.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 8, pp. 12-14.]

Dec. 7. 1968. Shākīru-d-daulah to Major Adams. Has been granted the Bakhshigari and Waqāya'nigāri of Bengal and Behar with an allowance of Rs. 2,000 a month and a jāgīr of 80 lākhs of dāms. Hopes the Major will assist him in the settlement of his business.

1763.

Will not fail to serve the English and the Nawāb as best as he can. The addressee must have heard of the injury the writer received from Mīr Qāsim. The writer's uncle Muḥammad Mīr Khān and his cousin 'Izzat Khān kept him several months in prison and seized his office of Waḡāya'nigār as also his allowance and his jāgīr. The ex-Nāẓim acted very contrary to the Wazīr's inclinations also; and because the Wazīr, the English and the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far had a friendship for him, the ex-Nāẓim oppressed him.

Dec. 7.

1969. Shākīru-d-daulah to Major Adams. Has just received his letters and the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far's for the Wazīr and himself. Is glad to hear of his arrival at Patna. Hopes that it will soon be taken. Has settled everything with the King and the Wazīr. Is ready to serve the English and the Nawāb to the best of his abilities. The Major must have heard of the services which the writer formerly rendered in conjunction with Rām Narāyan and Nawāb Nāṣīru-l-mulk (the chhota Nawāb). His Majesty and the Wazīr marched towards Benares to the assistance of the English, but returned to punish the zamīndārs of Bundelkhand. Has delivered his letters and the Nawāb's to the King and the Wazīr, who have issued orders to the nāibs and faujdārs of the country to seize Mīr Qasīm wherever he may be found.

Dec. 7.

1970. The Wazīr to the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Is glad to hear of the chastisement received by Mīr Qāsim. The writer advanced as far as Handia to the addressee's assistance, but on hearing of his victory at Udanala returned [to Allahabad]. Has sent Rājā Bēnī to cross over with his army, and instructed him not to suffer Mīr Qāsim to bestir himself, but to seize him wherever he may be found. Hopes the addressee will be loyal to His Majesty, who will shortly honour him with a letter. Refers him to 'Alī Bēg and Ḥasan 'Alī Bēg Khān for particulars.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 11, pp. 16-17.]

Dec. 7.

1971. The Wazīr to the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Both His Majesty and himself approve of his appointing Nand Kumār as his Diwān. Desires that he should be made also the sole manager of all the affairs of the three provinces, as he will transact the business in the most capable and faithful manner.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 12, pp. 17-18.]

Dec. 7.

1972. From the Wazīr. Has received his letter relating how the English went to war with Mīr Qāsim and how they reinstated Mīr Ja'far. Has already written to him several times. The writer advanced as far as Handia to the assistance of the English, but returned to Allahabad on receiving the news of their victory at Udanala. Has sent Rājā Bēnī to cross over with his army, and has instructed him not to suffer Mīr Qāsim to recover himself, but to go and seize him wherever he may be found. Hopes the English will continue to remain loyal. Desires that an Englishman of rank may be sent to the Imperial Court to be treated with on all particulars. Approves of Nand Kumār's being appointed Dirān of Bengal. The latter is a man of understanding and knowledge and has, since the time of Colonel Clive, been always in touch with business. Also he is an old friend of the writer's. A seal will be sent him with the title of Mahārājā. Refers him to Ḥasan 'Alī Bēg Khān and 'Alī Bēg for particulars.

Dec. 8.

1773. Major Adams to the King. Has received his letter saying that he is fully convinced of the loyalty of the English, that he will comply with all their requests; and desiring that he may be informed of all their affairs through Rājā Bēnī, and that Rājā Shitāb Rāy may be sent to his presence with the Major's addresses, the Sēth's gumāshṭahs and the usual bond and papers of the revenues under the security of the English. Acknowledges also the receipt of a nīm-āstin with which His Majesty has himself been clothed. Has had the honour of putting it on. The news of Mīr Qāsim's wickedness must have reached His Majesty. The murder of an ambassador is by no religion held justifiable, yet Mīr Qāsim treacherously murdered Mr. Amyatt, who, with Mr. Hay, had gone to Monghyr to effect an accommodation; and massacred Messrs. Ellis, Lushington, and other gentlemen who were prisoners in his hands, to the number of about 200 persons. He also killed Jagat Sēth and his brother Sarūp Chand, Rājā Rām Narāyan, Ummid Rām, Rājā Rājballabh and his sons, Faṭh Singh, the Zamīndār of Buncary, and many other people, and laid waste the country. But the English troops having driven him out of Bengal and Behar, he has fled towards the borders of Allahabad. Hopes His Majesty will punish him, as every religion requires that a man should receive the punishment due to his actions. The Nawāb Mīr Ja'far has fallen deeply into debt on account of the expenses he has incurred in order to drive out that tyrant, who has carried away with him all the treasure of the country and of the English factories. On this account the Nawāb has been unable to send His Majesty's revenues and the bond, but will do so as soon as circumstances will permit. With regard to the security, it is not a customary thing. As Mīr Qāsim is rebellious against His Majesty, and the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far is steady in his loyalty, it is hoped that His Majesty will grant the latter the sanads for the provinces, which will give satisfaction to the English and be a means of rendering the country flourishing. The sons of Jagat Sēth are prisoners in the hands of the enemy. Requests that orders may be issued for their release. After their arrival in Bengal, their gumāshṭah will be sent to the Royal presence.

1763.

Dec. 9. 1974. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Encloses letters from Ḥasan 'Alī Bēg Khān and 'Alī Bēg to the Governor. Dated 26th Nov.

Dec. 9.

1975. From Ḥasan 'Alī Bēg Khān. The King and the Wazīr are pleased to hear of the victories of the English and of their alliance with the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. As the happiness of the people is the constant wish of His Majesty and the Wazīr, whatever the Governor wrote about the Nawāb and Nand Kumār was approved of. Accordingly the Wazīr has now written to the addressee and the Nawāb. Nand Kumār has been honoured with the title of Mahārājā from the Imperial Court. Intimates that the Governor will shortly be honoured with letters from His Majesty.

Dec. 9.

1976. From 'Alī Bēg. Mahārājā Nand Kumār well knows what a faithful servant the writer was to Messrs. Amyatt, Ellis, and Lushington. It was he who procured for Mr. Ellis a parwānah for the purchase of the saltpetre of Ghazipur. When the news of that tyrant, Mir Qāsim, having made war with the gentlemen of Patna factory arrived, he in conjunction with Ḥasan 'Alī Bēg Khān informed the Wazīr of it, and moved that Mir Qāsim should be punished. He represented matters also to His Majesty. Accordingly he had Rs. 40,000 given him for his expenses, and was sent with Miān Kallū towards the east. He proceeded as far as Ghazipur, where he heard that the tyrant, finding the gentlemen defenceless, had got them into his hands and kept them at Monghyr. He therefore returned helpless to the Wazīr. Afterwards when he heard of the march of the Nawāb Mir Ja'far, Major Adams and Major Carnac, and of the several English successes, he was most sincerely rejoiced, and fully acquainted His Majesty and the Wazīr with all particulars. Accordingly he procured letters from the Wazīr to the Nawāb, the Governor, and the Majors. Nand Kumār has long been in the King's favour, and the Wazīr also is his old friend. His Highness is very glad to hear that the business of the revenues and the country has been entrusted to him, and has favoured him with small and large seals and the title of Mahārājā. As the Mahārājā has always been a well-wisher of the English Company, it is hoped that the Governor will show him favour.

Dec. 10.

1977. Shākīru-d-daulah to Major Adams. Is expecting answers to his letters. Has received his favour accompanying his letter to the Wazīr, and perused the translation of his English letter to the padre. The Wazīr is very glad to hear that the English and the Nawāb Mir Ja'far are in full possession of Bengal and Behar and have taken all the forts there. Hopes that His Majesty and the Wazīr will settle everything agreeably to the Major's wishes. Will shortly procure and forward an answer to his letter. Has already intimated that Mir Qāsim sent a large sum of money to the Court and applied for assistance, but that it was refused through the good offices of Munīru-d-daulah and the writer. In consequence of the Major's representations and those of the Nawāb Mir Ja'far, His Majesty, the Wazīr and Munīru-d-daulah have given Mir Qāsim leave to come that way with a few attendants. Accordingly the latter has advanced to the Karamnassa. Whenever he arrives, the Major's desires will be complied with, and the death of Mr. Ellis and the rest of the gentlemen, Jagat Sēth and the other persons who were murdered by him, will be duly revenged. Mir Qāsim formerly sent about five lākhs of rupees to invite the Rohilla chiefs to his assistance. He has now sent Shaiḡh Haibatu-l-lāh, Faujdar of Nuddea, with bills for sixty lākhs of rupees, goods, and jewels, to solicit the assistance of the Rohilla Najibu-d-daulah and his two brothers. Of this the writer informed the Wazīr as also Munīru-d-daulah and Rājā Bēnī, and caused the said Shaiḡh to be put under a guard of His Majesty's and the Wazīr's harkārahs at Benares. Several of Mir Qāsim's commanders such as Raushan 'Alī, Muhammad Akbar, Mashāikh, the Nāib of Masnad 'Alī and Shaiḡh Ghulām Rasūl have arrived at Benares with household furniture, etc. If the Nawāb Mir Ja'far and the Major so desire, they shall be strictly charged to quit his service. On the 17th of November, the Wazīr marched from Sarai Begam to the parganah of Chail, and proposes to send Shujā' Qulī Khān, Mir Bāqir Khān Yamani, Fath 'Alī Khān Durrāni to join Rājā Himmat and call the Bundela zamīndārs to account. His Majesty is at Faunamoo [? Phaphamau] and will, in a day or two, proceed on towards Chail. Najibu-d-daulah is extremely ill. The five lākhs of rupees sent by Mir Qāsim to invite him to his assistance have been entirely plundered. Encloses a letter from the padre. Desires him to send congratulatory addresses to the King and the Wazīr together with a nagr for the former. Is sincerely attached to the English. The Major must have heard of this from Karāmat 'Alī Khān, son of Sultān 'Alī Khān. Requests that letters to the Court may be sent in future through his hands. Dated 20th Nov.

1763.

[Dec. 10.] 1978. Padre Windel to the Commander of the English army at Patna [Major Adams]. Is glad to hear of the English successes. Some time ago, he wrote a letter of congratulation to Major Carnac, not knowing that it was by the addressee's wise and valiant conduct that those surprising deeds were performed in so few days. The news has induced him to sing aloud the Te Deum "among these infidels as a thanksgiving for the defeat of those barbarians" from whom the English had everything to fear. On hearing of the massacre of M. Ellis and so many other gentlemen of the noble English nation, however, his joy turned into profound grief. "Is it possible" said he "that a man born in Europe, as it is reported that 1763.

that monster Sumroo was, can commit this crime." But it is done, and obliged as Christians are to love their enemies, and incumbent as it is upon the writer on account of his office to exhort others, he will not fail to use all possible means to effect what the addressee desires. Believes, moreover, that the divine vengeance will soon fall upon both Mir Qāsim and Sumroo, and that if they find means to escape from the pursuit of the English, they will fall into the pit which is dug before them. The barbarous homicide and his accomplice are about to arrive at the camp of Rājā Bēnī, who is at present at Benares with an army of four or five thousand horse in company with Muniru-d-daulah, the King's Khānsāmān. Mir Qāsim spares neither complaisance, money, nor promises to engage the Wazir and the King, as also the Pathān and Rohilla chiefs, to assist him or at least to let him pass to the Deccan. Does not himself believe that what the English have so much reason to demand can be attained. However, he is almost certain that if Mir Qāsim comes into the Wazir's dominions, they will strip him, and that they will show him great mercy, if after that they dismiss him. They have for a long time secretly wished him the fate he has met with. Is not in much doubt as regards the Wazir, and as for the King, he has no more authority than it is Shujā'u-d-daulah's good pleasure to allow him. It will be of little consequence whose part His Majesty may wish to take. It is true that the Pathān and Rohilla chiefs would be glad if the Wazir and the King interfered in the affairs of Mir Qāsim in order to get him out of the country and then to be masters of it themselves. Fears that if Shujā'u-d-daulah ever does engage himself more seriously, his conquests are at an end, and that he risks his country, since he has hardly sufficient force to protect himself. In all cases, the English have chiefly to deal with the Wazir and the King. The former is the most important neighbour whom the English need fear. Believes that he fears as much from them. Friendship and a reciprocal correspondence, which they may buy and maintain at the expense of others, will secure them easily from everything they may have to apprehend. Sooner or later, it will be to Shujā'u-d-daulah's interest to have the English for friends; for it is doubtful whether there are any chiefs now in India who would not be glad if the Wazir was less powerful, or indeed defeated. It appears indeed that the King and Shujā'u-d-daulah would have no difficulty in giving up the full possession to the English. The latter might easily fix the conditions to their satisfaction, since they are the masters, and the Moors give with a good grace what they cannot refuse. Maintains further that this would be the most advantageous method, and perhaps the only one the English nation can adopt. There is no use in setting up successive Nawābs. Asks if the father-in-law will be better than the son-in-law, and if he will never think more of the past. The English have been too long in this country not to know these "infidels." Advises them to retain the power that they have acquired, to make śūbahs more humble, less dangerous, and not stronger than is necessary for their preservation, and thus 1763.

remain always the masters they are at present. If the Company engage to pay the revenues to the King, grant the rights of the Wazir, and let private persons possess their jāgirs as far as it may not be to the prejudice of the people, no one will trouble them. Perhaps the Moors will tremble at the idea of Bengal being made over to the English; but that need not affect them. If the English want people to protect the country from innovations [? invasions], they should keep them themselves, and as many as are necessary to ensure security. They should also increase their forces especially on the frontiers. The country will furnish the wherewithal to maintain them. It is a practice with the chiefs of India to seize and keep the provinces of the Royal dominion after the fall of the Kings. The English have as much right as any of these chiefs,—even more. Will do his best to influence the Wazir favourably to their claims. Nawāb Shākīr-o-d-daulah, ex-wakil of Mir Qāsim has, for upwards of a year, been very assiduous in promoting the interest of the English Company at the Court, although he had no orders for it. Mir Qāsim took off Rs. 2,000 per mensem from his jāgirs in Behar, and caused his relations to be stopped at Monghyr. He hopes, nevertheless, under the protection of the English to be put again in possession of his revenues. If it is necessary for the English to have an agent at both Courts, he is preferable to many others, owing to the zeal which he has hitherto shown. It is by him that the writer caused to be represented to the Wazir the benefit the latter might receive from the friendship of the English. Advises the addressee to gain the friendship of those people in the Wazir's army whom Mir Qāsim from time to time thought to corrupt. The advantages which may accrue from this will be manifold. Is glad that his representations have not been altogether useless. Will again endeavour to explain to the people of the Court that the English can never forget to revenge the massacre of their countrymen, and that nothing agreeable can be expected while the least movement is made in favour of the routed and fugitive tyrant.

P.S.—Has written this letter in French, it being easier for him to express his thoughts in that language than in English. Wishes to know in which language he should write in future. Dated Lucknow, the 12th Nov.

- Dec. 10. 1779. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his favour with the letters from Ḥasan 'Alī Bēg Khān and 'Alī Bēg. Has written to them to the same effect as to the Wazir. Major Adams will acquaint His Excellency with the contents of the letters.

[Trans. P. L. I., July-Dec. 1763, no. 87, p. 66.]

- Dec. 10. 1780. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter. Is glad to hear that he is proceeding to Sasaram to destroy the enemy. Agreeably to His Excellency's desire, the Chief of Chittagong has been strictly enjoined to recall his people from the chaklah of Tippera, and orders have been sent to the gumāshtahs to take half the saltpetre and chunam and defray half the expenses. Encloses copies of the Wazir's letters. Has desired Major Adams to acquaint His Excellency with what has been written in reply thereto. The Company's business at the factories is at a standstill for want of money. Requests to be favoured with orders on Hooghly or Nuddea for the payment of five lāks of rupees at Calcutta, and on the māfts and ramindārs of the neighbourhood of the factories for the payment of five lāks at Cossimbazar, 5 at Dacca and 3 at Patna. As His Excellency's letter is dated the 5th year, it appears that the 5th year sikkahs have been coined in the mint of the Sarkār. Begs to be informed of the date of the said sikkahs that the 5th year sikkahs may be struck in the Calcutta mint also.

Dec. 10. 1981. Major Adams to Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Has left the command of the army to Major Knox and is proceeding to Calcutta. Has not yet answered the King's letter. Will do so after his arrival in Calcutta agreeably to what may be resolved upon in Council. Professes loyalty and attachment to His Majesty. Has ever looked upon the addressee as a true and sincere friend.

Dec. 10. 1982. To the Wazir. Has received his letter. Requests that he will do his best to seize that worst of tyrants Mir Qāsim, and send him to Calcutta. If he should attempt to create a disturbance in conjunction with the enemies of the Imperial Court, orders have been sent to Major Adams, in case the latter receives His Highness's commands, to dispatch an army to attend his service. A large army has arrived in Calcutta with ships of war and will, in case of necessity, march that way. Will, as desired, send an English envoy to the Court. Requests that a passport may be sent for him.

Dec. 10. 1983. To 'Alī Bēg. To the same effect as the foregoing, adding that he should represent matters to the Wazir and send Mir Qāsim with his treasure and effects to the Nawāb Mir Ja'far or to the writer.

Dec. 11. 1985. Rājā Shitāb Rāy to Major Adams. Has not yet received a reply to his letters. Has delivered the addresses to the King and the Wazir. Hopes all the requests will meet with their approbation. The Wazir has written letters in reply. Dresses are being prepared for the Major and the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Will bring them to camp as soon as they are ready. Requests that orders may be issued to the guards not to obstruct him. Will be accompanied by only 100 horsemen, and will return as soon as he has represented a great many particulars which it is not proper to write. Yesterday Mir Qāsim arrived at the Karamnassa. He proposes coming to the Royal presence. The writer represented that Mir Qāsim was an enemy of the English chiefs and should by no means be countenanced. The reply given was that if he went anywhere else with so much treasure and effects, it would cause great disturbance; that at present he should be allowed to come that they might get him into their hands, and that afterwards whatever might be represented, would be agreeable. The Wazir has passed over from Allahabad. "His Majesty is encamped on this side of the river." Dated 20th Nov.

Dec. 13.

1986. The King to Major Carnac. Has not heard from him for a long time. Refers to Mumtāzu-d-daulah Farzand Khān for particulars. Hopes the Major will act agreeably thereto. Desires him to send addresses through the Khān and not to place confidence in the writings of any other person.

Dec. 13.

1987. Mumtāzu-d-daulah Farzand Khān, Bakhshi, to Major Carnac. Has not heard from him for a long time. His Majesty is constantly inquiring about his not receiving any addresses from the Major. The latter must have heard that Mir Qāsim would not let the writer have a single farthing of his jāgirs, and injured him to the utmost. Notwithstanding the smallness of the charge and the short duration of his government, the ex-Nawāb is greatly in debt to the Royal Sarkār. His Majesty has long been displeased with him. Desires the Major to write to the King. All his requests will be complied with. There subsists a sincere friendship between the Wazir and the writer. Hence the Major need not be under any apprehensions from that quarter. Refers him to Muḥammad Yār Khān for particulars. Has sent Muḥammad Qulī to the addressee. Desires him to send letters through the latter.

Dec. 13.

1988. To Muḥammad Riṣā Khān, Nāib of Dacca. Has received his letter requesting that the gentlemen of the factories at Backergunge may be directed not to send peons into the neighbouring *pargana*s, but to apply to the Khān, whenever they have any business. Replies that there is no fit person at Backergunge to write to. There are only two or three low class men there for building boats and making chunam. Desires the Khān to send an officer of understanding and experience there and strictly to enjoin him, in case these men are guilty of oppressions, to inform the Governor of the particulars together with the names of the offenders. Will punish them without delay. The violence of the current having carried away the banks at Lakhipur, and endangered the factory, an entire stop has been put to the Company's business there. Half the goods have been removed to Dacca and half to Chittagong.

Dec. 17.

1991. To Rājā Shītāb Rāy. Learns that he has arrived at the English camp on the part of the Wazīr. Desires him to come to Calcutta to receive instructions. He should then return to the Imperial Court to negotiate with the King and the Wazīr.

Dec. 20.

1993. The King to the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has seen the Nawāb's letter to his "beloved brother" Wazīr Shujā'u-d-daulah, "the pillar of our Empire," professing loyalty and requesting to be appointed Sābahdār of those provinces and to be supplied with a copy of an obligation to be entered into by him. It is known throughout the world that whoever with truth and sincerity has been faithful and obedient to the Royal house of Timūr, has found it an eternal honour to him, and that whoever, in pride and haughtiness of heart, has acted in a contrary manner, has quickly suffered the consequences of his evil actions. As the subsistence of the Royal army and His Majesty's other necessary expenses depend upon the remittances from Bengal, it is hoped that the Nawāb will hold himself accountable for the customary revenues and peshkash. Desires him to dispatch to Court, along with Rājā Shītāb Rāy, some person of rank and consequence together with the Sēth's gumāshthahs, the stipulated peshkash, an 'arṣī and a bond. As soon as the bond and the peshkash arrive, a sanad for the provinces shall be granted. Directs him to transact his business with the Imperial Court through the Wazīr and Rājā Bēnī, and not to place confidence in any other person. Refers him to Rājā Shītāb Rāy for the rest of his commands and enjoins him to act accordingly.

Dec. 21.

1994. From Muḥammad Yār Bēg Khān. Complains that Rām Sundar, a Brahman tenant of the parganahs of Amirpur and Balanda in the samindāri of Rājā Kishn Chand, not only refuses to pay the balances due from him, but also does not suffer Lāl Chand, who has been sent to replace him, to collect the revenues. Hopes he will be compelled to pay the money and restrained from doing further violence. Encloses an account of the balances.

Dec. 22.

1995. The King to Major Adams. Has received his letter professing loyalty and requesting that the Nawāb Mir Ja'far may be granted the sanads. Is fully convinced of the attachment of the English. Will grant the sanads on condition of their being accountable for the usual revenues. Refers him for particulars to Mumtāzu-d-daulah and Rājā Shitāb Rāy who are true friends of the English. Desires that the Company's business at the Court should be transacted through them alone. Some time ago, Colonel Coote promised to attend in His Majesty's service. As the Colonel has now gone to Europe and the addressee has been appointed in his place, it is proper that he should come and serve in the Royal presence.

Dec. 22.

1996. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Is glad to hear of the favours bestowed upon the Nawāb by His Majesty.

Dec. 22.

1997. To Muḥammad Ēraj Khān, Nāib of Murshidabad. Has received his letter saying that the son of Āsmatu-l-lāh Khān wants to deprive the writer's brother, Asad 'Alī Khān, of the Qāziship of Barbakabad, and has gone to camp to procure the recommendation of Major Adams and Mr. Batson for that purpose. Replies that if his brother was appointed to the Qāziship by the Nawāb, the said officers would not interfere. Desires him to represent the circumstances of this affair to His Excellency, and to act agreeably to his commands. Is not neglectful of his business.

Dec. 24.

1999. From the King. Has seen his letters to the Wazir, in consequence of whose representations, he has made the Governor the object of his favours and has great reliance on his fidelity. All that the Wazir has represented to His Majesty concerning the English has met with his approbation. Desires him to receive from the Nawāb Mir Ja'far the papers of the tribute together with a bond, agreeably to the ancient custom, and send them to Court. As soon as they arrive, a sanad and a dress will be granted. Has bestowed upon the Governor a nim-āstin in which His Majesty has himself been dressed. Desires him to write to the Wazir through Rājā Bēnī and not to place confidence in any other person. Refers him to Rājā Shitāb Rāy for particulars. Desires the letter may be sent to Court with the Sēths' gunāshkahr and the address'd bond and papers.

2000. The Wazir to Major Adams. Intimates that he represented to His Majesty in a proper and effectual manner the satisfaction and obedience of the English, and procured for them a letter and other favours which Rājā Bēnī has sent the addresser through Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Is indefatigable in promoting the interests of the English. Rājā Bēnī must have written fully concerning this already.

Company's seal. The gentlemen should be prohibited from interfering in the affairs of the revenues and the country, as it weakens the authority of his officers. (2) Sepoys and harkārahs go into the country in the name of the Company and oppress the ryots. They should be given certificates under the seal of the Company's Councillors, and if they go into the country without such certificates and create disturbances, they should be punished. (3) The English gumāshṭahs should not take possession of any of the zamindāris or *mīlḥī lands, receive money† for protection, or hold any farms. Whosoever has taken possession of lands, should be made to relinquish them. Protection should not be granted to the dependants of the Sarkār. (4) Copies of dastaks should be left with chaukidārs according to custom. (5) As he has so many liabilities to discharge, he will pay the stipulated sum in three years. (6) The Chief of Chittagong should be directed to give up Tippera, Sundeeep, and other districts belonging to Dacca, and the money collected by him there should be credited to the Nawāb's account. (7) The Company's gumāshṭahs should not, on their private business only, send sepoy into the country, oppress the ryots and force them to purchase their goods. If a dispute arises, they should make it known to the officer of the Sarkār and have it settled by him.

Jan. 1.

2005. To the King. Has received his letter and the nim-āstin. As regards the agreement, the pēshkāsh papers etc., says that Mīr Qāsim has carried away with him the money due to the Imperial Court, together with all the riches of the country. Hopes and trusts that His Majesty will take from him the balances due to the Court. The Nawāb Mīr Ja'far is loyal to His Majesty, and so are the English who are the Nawāb's strict allies. But His Excellency is exhausted by the expenses of the present war; and the country is ruined by the violences and oppressions of Mīr Qāsim. Has seen His Majesty's letter desiring Major Adams, who has arrived in Calcutta, to attend in the Royal service. Looks upon this as an "eternal honour" to the English. As Mīr Qāsim has been guilty of such oppressions and has unjustly put to death so many English gentlemen, together with the Sēṭhs, Rājballabh, Rām Narāyan and other principal men of the country, and as he has now arrived in the Royal camp, the mind of the English army will not be at ease until His Majesty does justice in this affair. Hopes that the King will either himself punish Mīr Qāsim or deliver him into the hands of the English.

Jan. 1. 2007. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has perused the paper which he delivered to Major Adams. Desires that the business of the Sarkār and that of the Company may be carried on smoothly. Is glad to hear from Major Adams that His Excellency proposes to come to Calcutta in order to confer with the Council. Learns from Mr. Gray, who is at Malda, that one Sayyid Muḥammad Rafiq of Purnea interrupts the purchasing of saltpetre for the Company. Requests that he may be directed to desist from such proceedings.

Jan. 5. 2008. From Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdar of Hooghly. The writer previously mentioned at Ghyltety that some peons had arrived from Burdwan to summon Jiwan Kunwar, an inhabitant of Azimganj in Hooghly, and the Governor was pleased to direct his Munshi to write a letter to Mr. Johnstone on the subject. But by reason of his returning to Calcutta it was not done. As Jiwan Kunwar and his nephew Bichā Rām have long had the management of the business of the said ganj and as the utmost interruption has been caused therein by the arrival of the peons, it is requested that the writer may be favoured with a letter for Mīr. Johnstone directing the peons to be withdrawn.

Jan. 6. 2011. To Muḥammad Yār Bēg Khān, Collector of Nuddea. He has now arrived in Calcutta with letters from His Majesty, the Nawāb Najibu-d-daulah, the Nawāb Ghālib Jang, Bakhshi of the Empire, and Hāfiz Rahmat Khān. Encloses copies of the same. Desires him to punish the offenders, to restore the Khān his money, and send him back to Calcutta that he may leave for the Court with letters from the Governor.

Jan. 10.

2014. From Rājā Dūlab Rām. Though Nand Kumār has been managing the affair of the Khālīshah, not a fourth part of the amount of the last year's collections has yet been realised, although the year is nearly concluded. On the 26th of Aghan, the Nawāb gave the writer betel and invested him with the office of the Nizāmat, ordering a tent to be pitched to serve as his cutcherry. Has appointed five or six writers and entered upon his duties. Encloses a list of the offices, formerly annexed to the Nizāmat, but now held by Nand Kumār. This will give the Governor an insight into the state of affairs at Murshidabad. The business of the Nizāmat has begun in part to be settled. But all the affairs of Bengal depend on the Khālīshah, and so long as Nand Kumar continues to be at the head of it, there can be no improvement. The Nawāb has agreed to pay the Court 28 lākhs of rupees for the provinces. One half of this amount together with a naḡrānah of 5 lākhs is to be paid immediately. But the money cannot be procured. Consequently His Excellency is offended with Nand Kumār, and has for the last three or four days been most gracious to the writer, sending a chobdār twice a day to call him, and conferring with him upon all affairs. It remains to be seen what the end of all this will be.

Jan. 10. 2016. From the Wazir. Has received his letter through the hands of Shākīru-d-daulah. Is glad to learn that the English are now in firm possession of Bengal and Behar. Jan. 10. 2017. From Shākīru-d-daulah. Encloses a letter from the Wazir. Has obtained His Highness's consent to what the Governor has written to the French padre about seizing Mīr Qāsim and not letting him go anywhere else. The ex-Nawāb designed to march by the road of Magri Kahosa towards the Deccan, and then to proceed up to the country of the Rohillas and having obtained their assistance by means of his treasure, to create a disturbance in Bengal. But the Wazir, out of his regard for the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far and the English, did not approve of his going to the Rohillas, removed his fears by letters of kindness and encouragement, and invited him to Benares. Accordingly he has come this way and is now encamped on the other side of Benares on the banks of the Ganges, which he will cross in a day or two. The Wazir has invited him here as it was necessary to put an end to the present disturbance by some means or other. Professes attachment. Has, for the last twelve months, been promoting the interests of the English and the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Many of Mīr Qāsim's partisans are gaining him friends by means of bribes and are wanting to bring His Majesty and the Wazir over to their side. But the latter are firm in their friendship for the English. It is proper that the Nawāb and the Governor should at all times regard His Majesty's commands and the Wazir's pleasure as of greater consequence than anything else, in which case all their requests will be granted.

Jan. 10. 2018. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Intimates that 660 pieces of broadcloth and 600 maunds of lead belonging to Mīr Qāsim were seized at the beginning of the war. As these goods are now the property of the Nawāb, they have been sent to Muhammad Ēraj Khān at Murshidabad. Requests that the Khān may be directed to acknowledge receipt of them.

- Jan. 10. 2020. To Muhammad Ēraj Khān, Nāib of Murshidabad. Has been informed by Mr. Williamson at Cossimbazar factory that some time ago, while a hundred maunds of silk belonging to the Company were being taken from Rampur Bauleah to the said factory, they were stopped by Diā Rām, Zamindār of Rajshahi; and that now one Rādhā Kishn, an officer of the addressee's, has taken possession of them and has not yet sent them to the factory. This proceeding is extremely improper. Desires him to order the said officer to send the goods to the factory as soon as possible. Desires him also to take a receipt from Mr. Williamson and forward it to Calcutta. [Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 15, pp. 16-17. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 98.]

- Jan. 13. 2022. From the King. Is convinced of the loyalty of the English, and favourably disposed towards them. Will approve of whatever Shujā'u-d-daulah and Rājā Bēnī represent to His Majesty concerning Bengal. Desires him to send to the Court some English gentleman who has no connection with Mir Qāsim. [Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 39, p. 63. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 63.]
- Jan. 14. 2023. Shākīru-d-daulah to Mr. Batson. Has received his letter requesting that Mir Qāsim and Sumroo may be seized and delivered up. The King and the Wazir are friendly to the English and will comply with their wishes. Mir Qāsim wanted to go to the Rohillas and the Jāts, but His Majesty and the Wazir, out of their regard for the Nawāb Mir Ja'far and the English, invited him to the Court by artful encouragement. Now that he has arrived, it is certain that they will take from him a vast sum of money on account of the balances due from him to His Majesty and the jāgirdārs, as well as whatever remained due from former Nāzims, that he, being brought to shame and distress, may desist from creating a disturbance and may even retreat from the world, and in the end die through grief at seeing himself reduced to such a state of poverty and contempt. These designs of ruining the enemy will be carried into execution in order to please the Nawāb and the English gentlemen. Their addresses together with a nagr of 100 gold mohurs have been received at the Court. The Wazir presented them himself to His Majesty, who wrote on the paper requesting the sanads

"Let a farmān be written." His Highness will cause the sanāds to be drawn up in the usual form, and send them to Rājā Bēnī, by whom they will be forwarded to the Nawāb. Has been appointed Waqāya'nigār and Bakhshi, etc., of Bengal and Behar, and has sent Muḥammad Wāriṣ Khān and Rāy Sidā Mal to manage his affairs. Hopes the addressee will intercede with the Nawāb and cause his people to be put in possession of his jāgirs. Will serve His Excellency diligently. Mīr Sulaimān, Khānsāmān of Mīr Qāsim, came to His Majesty and the Wazīr to procure their assurances of protection. They have accordingly sent Mirzā Raḥīm Khān and 'Alī Bēg to receive him. After his arrival, the wishes of the English will be complied with. His Majesty and the Wazīr are encamped on the banks of the Jumna. Āghā Bāqir has been recalled from Bundelkhand. The country on the other side of the river has been committed to the charge of Anūp Ghīr Himmāt. The French padre Windel has not yet received a reply to his letters. Encloses another letter from him to Major Adams. Dated 24th Dec. 1763.

Jan. 14.

2024. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Is quite well now. Will shortly answer the letters forwarded by His Excellency. Requests him to supply Major Knox, who has now the command of the army in those parts, with whatever may be wanted for the troops.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 16, pp. 17-18. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 91.]

Jan. 17.

2025. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has paid Rs. 1,50,000 to Major Knox, and one lākh of rupees to Major Adams and ordered another lākh to be paid to Mr. Batson, notwithstanding that the country is in a desolate condition, and that he owes large sums of money to the Company, the army, the gentlemen, the King and his own troops. Requests that no further demands should be made upon him at present. Cannot describe the obstructions in the collection of the revenues, the interruption to which the business of his Nāib at Patna is exposed, and the contempt to which the latter and through him His Excellency himself is subjected. Complains that the forts of Patna and Monghyr have not yet been restored to him. Further, His Excellency sent some troops to arrest Rām Nidī of Sarkar Saran for having misappropriated the revenues and behaved ill to Messrs. Ellis and Lushington; but Mr. Batson's people carried him to the factory where he was treated kindly and presented with a khāl'at. The said gentleman has now dispatched some people for his goods and effects. Complains also that Mr. Feake [?] has seized a large number of elephants belonging to the Sarkār, and that although Major Adams wrote to Mr. Martindale [?] about it, they have not yet been released. Has written to Mr. Batson, Major Knox and Mr. Grant on the subject. Some time ago, Thākūr Dās, Doctor Fullarton's gumāshdah, complained to Ahmad Khān, Faujdar of Shahabad, that one Mir Waliu-l-lāh, formerly the enemy's collector in the parganah of Dinwar, had seized the Doctor's salt, and desired that he should be taken prisoner. Hearing of this, the accused ran away, but the said Khān succeeded in seizing some of his effects. Has now been informed that Mir Waliu-l-lāh, having made up matters with the Doctor and taken refuge in the factory, complained to Mr. Batson that Ahmad Khān had seized his effects and horses; that on this pretence, Thākur Dās sent some Europeans and sepoy to Daudnagar Ganj, where the accused was residing, and took possession of it; and that the Europeans proclaimed by beat of drum that the ganj belongs to the gentlemen. This is the state of the weakness of his authority. Regards the Company's business as of more importance than his own, and is ever ready to assist the gentlemen who are engaged in trade. If the latter then will not promote his interest, but will, on the contrary, do everything that is conducive to the ruin of his affairs, it belongs to the Governor to take the matter into consideration and apply a remedy thereto. Otherwise His Excellency sees nothing but contempt upon his Government and disturbance in his affairs. Asks how long he will be able to bear these daily insults and oppressions. Desires to know what the Governor thinks advisable. Mir Qāsim was an enemy of the English and yet they conciliated him; while His Excellency who is a true friend of the Company is treated in this manner. Justice is requisite. Has already written about several particulars. Major Adams must have informed him thereof. Dated 6th Jan.

Jan. 17. 2026. From Rājā Shitāb Rāy. When the writer was at Calcutta, the Governor gave him letters of recommendation to the Nawāb [Mir Qāsim], and told him that His Excellency would not hinder him from enjoying his post of Diwān, but that in case it should not be agreeable to His Excellency, he must not remain in this country. As the Nawāb was not pleased with him, he remained only a few days in Patna and then by the assistance of Mr. Ellis, he left the Bengal Provinces and repaired to Court. Ever since his arrival there, he has been representing to the King and the Wazir the loyalty of the English. It was he who procured the letters and the nīm-āstin for the Nawāb Mir Ja'far, Major Adams and the Governor. Requests, in consideration of his old friendship for the English, that their correspondence with the Court may be carried on through him. Requests also that he may be recommended to the gentleman who is coming to the Court. The envoy may be directed to send the writer word of his approach, that the King and the Wazir may be asked to give him a proper reception. He may also be directed to negotiate with the Court through him. Dated 30th Dec. 1763.

- Jan. 19. 2032. The Nawāb Mir Ja'far to the Governor and Council. Has received the Governor's several letters. Has already supplied Major Adams with a lākh of rupees and now Major Knox demands Rs. 1,50,000 for the expenses of the English troops. Is endeavouring to raise this sum by loan. The country is in a desolate condition; all the revenues have been carried away by Mir Qāsim, and large sums of money are wanted for the King, the English Company, and the troops. Does not know how he will discharge so many liabilities. Has appointed officers to collect the revenues; and the people, who had been dispersed, have begun to return to their houses and their occupations. But the Company's servants interfere in the affairs and obstruct the collection of the revenues. Complains that Mr. Batson, in consequence of the tales of some interested people, sent a company of sepoys to Sarkar Saran to reinstate the dismissed 'Āmil', Rām Nīdī, a man who fought on the enemy's side and was responsible for the capture of Messrs. Ellis and Lushington and the other gentlemen of Patna factory. Mr. Batson has likewise carried away Rāy Mohan Lāl, 'Āmil' of Bissara, to the factory of Patna and has imprisoned him there. He also attempted to arrest Suchit Rām, Faujdār of Sannaut in the dependency of Tikari, but the latter having made his escape, came to His Excellency alone and unattended. The affairs of those quarters have consequently been thrown into utter confusion. Similar is the condition of Tirra Sarkar, the Faujdār of which was debarred from taking possession of the fort for a long time, and where the Company's servants have not yet desisted from holding farms, assuming to themselves the office of kotwāls, etc., and impeding the collection of the revenues. While the Company's people are doing so much to injure the affairs of the Sarkār, His Excellency has given the strictest injunctions to his officers not to obstruct the business of the factories, but to inform him of all occurrences. Consequently, none of his officers are able to open their mouths before the agents of the factories on any occasion. Major Adams will inform the Governor of the orders His Excellency has already given him on Patna and Murshidabad. The ten lākhs of rupees, which he has consented to pay, are over and above the sum mentioned in the agreement. Will pay the whole, either from the revenues of the country or through loans. Desires that the gentlemen of Council should hold a consultation and thoroughly consider the state of the country and his situation. The sikkahs of the 5th year were struck in the mints of Patna and Murshidabad on the 1st of Ḥumādā 1. Dated 26th Dec. 1763.

Jan. 19.

2033. Rājā Tilok Chand to the Council. Has been acquainted with the contents of the English petition sent to the Council by Gokul, his late Majmā'ahidār. Has, as ordered, set him at liberty. The reason why he was imprisoned and treated with severity is that he was disobedient and faithless, and was defaulting in a large sum of money, which he delayed making good. Denies having seized all his goods and household effects. Everyone knows that Gokul removed them from his house two or three years ago, and that before his dismissal, he sent away all that remained together with his family to the border of Eirbhum. Asks how he can pay the Company's revenue if the Council do not allow him to punish his dishonest servants, and contends that if they are not called to account, the business of the zamindārī will be injured, other servants will have nothing to deter them from misbehaviour, and no one will place any confidence in him. Rāmdhan Nāg, Iltimāmdār of the land farmed by the doury*, has also misappropriated lākhs of rupees. Has, consequently, placed a guard over him and such of his relations as have been concerned under him, and taken the farm into his own hands. Trusts that he will be permitted to seize his property whenever it can be proved upon any one. Has, for the last two years, been discharging his duties diligently.

1764.

Feb. 17.

2062. To Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Has received his several letters. Dwells on the outrages perpetrated by Mir Qāsim and says that it is surprising that His Majesty has never thought of bringing him to justice or of taking from him the balances due to the Imperial Court. Had he not saved himself by flight, he would, by this time, have met with his deserts. Asks how he can make his escape to the country of the Rohillas, who are enemies of the Court, without His Majesty's permission. Expects that the King and the Wazīr will themselves punish him, in conformity with their regard for justice, or send him to Calcutta; and that they will seize all his money, which is in reality the money of the Imperial Court. In such case, a body of English troops under the Company's commanders will be ready to sacrifice their lives in His Majesty's service. But if justice is refused the English, their minds will not be at ease, and they will despair of ever obtaining that honour. Encloses letters for the King and the Wazīr. Desires him to return as soon as he has procured the sanads for the Nawāb. As His Excellency is coming to Calcutta, the addressee should accompany him if possible, that all affairs may be settled face to face.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 30, pp. 27-31. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 102.]

Feb. 17.

2063. To the King. Has been informed by Rājā Shitāb Rāy that His Majesty is favourably disposed towards the English. Professes attachment and offers thanks for His Majesty's giving orders for the sanads to be prepared. As regards His Majesty's desire that an army under an English commander may be sent to attend him, it has already been represented that unless justice is done and a suitable punishment inflicted on Mir Qāsim, the minds of the English, and also more particularly of the soldiers and sepoy, will not be at ease. But in case the ex-Nawāb gets his deserts, they will be ready to sacrifice their lives in His Majesty's service.

Approves of His Excellency's reply, for that is the kind of answer required at this time. No one can molest His Excellency so long as he is supported by the English troops. Returns Rājā Shitāb Rāy's letter.

2078. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter stating that although he paid Major Adams seven lākhs of rupees on account of the donation money, yet the Europeans and sepoys of the Company's army, having gathered together, sat down in the outer part of his tent and prevented him from setting out for Calcutta. Has already written to the Commanding Officer that seven lākhs of rupees are ready, and that the share of the troops in camp will be sent either in ready money or bills whenever he desires it. At this time orders have been sent to Major Carnac, who has been appointed to the command and has gone to camp, to pay the troops their proportion out of the Company's money, and to send down a receipt for it that it may be credited to the Company's account. The Major has also been directed to receive the donation money from His Excellency according to the gistbandi, and to give strict orders to the army on no account to prevent His Excellency from setting out. These disturbances among the troops will doubtless be removed on the Major's arrival. Ps.—Understands the particulars of the money His Excellency has paid the Company.

Mar. 8.

2093. To Rājā Balwant Singh [of Benares]. Understands that 150 men have run away from the English camp to his dominions. Their history is as follows. In the war between the English and the French, some of the French troops behaved in a cowardly manner and were taken prisoners by the English army. For a long time they remained in close confinement and frequently represented that as the English had given them their lives, they did not desire to go anywhere else, but would willingly enter the Company's service. This was not agreeable to the Governor, who, however, out of kindness to them at last complied with their desire, sent them to the English camp, and gave them money for their subsistence. Now they have fled to the Rājā's territories. Asks him to consider what crimes these men, who were faithless to their own master and who have now treacherously deserted the English, will not commit. The Commander of the English army wrote to him about sending them back. Is surprised that this has not yet been done. There cannot subsist any concord between the addressee and the English, if he affords an asylum to their dependants. Desires him to seize and send back those traitors, otherwise his dependants also will meet with the same encouragement in the Company's territory. Requests him to write a plain answer to this letter.

[Mar. 10.] 2097. Mīr Zainu-l-'ābidīn, the principal officer of the Wazīr's Diwān, to Mīr Bunyād Ālī. Intimates the arrival of many Rohillas under Ummid Khān and the Wazīr's intended march to Ghazipur. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 66.]

Mar. 11. 2099. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letters enclosing a letter from Rājā Shitāb Rāy to Mr. Stables, and copies of Mīr Zainu-l-'ābidīn's letters to Mīr Bunyād Ālī and the son of Ghiridā Mal; intimating his arrival at Daudnagar on the 26th February; stating that Rājā Shitāb Rāy and some of the Wazīr's people were dismissed and afterwards recalled, that the Wazīr is thinking of invading Bengal and proposes to cross over with his troops by way of Ghazipur; and requesting that Commodore Tinker may be dispatched with an army as soon as possible. Replies that Mīr Qāsim, having been driven out of the country, will undoubtedly give the English and the Nawāb all the trouble he can ; but that as the Wazīr has many enemies on all sides of his dominions, and as the English, who are ready to live in friendship with him, will be his most inveterate foes if he should march against these provinces, His Highness will not expose himself to ruin in consequence of Mīr Qāsim's representations. In case, however, he should venture on such an enterprise, it would be advisable to leave Bengal free from disturbance, to march the English army with all expedition towards Benares and carry the war into his dominions. Has already stopped the troops ordered to be sent to Madras, and prevailed upon Commodore Tinker to defer his departure. The latter has accordingly brought the men-of-war from Hidgely to Calcutta and has, as already intimated, got the English troops in readiness. Is not negligent in entertaining and getting ready more forces. Has, as desired, sent a proper reinforcement under the command of Captain Pemble, who will shortly join the army. As soon as Major Carnac arrives at camp, it is hoped that His Excellency will start for Calcutta that regulations may be made for the proper settlement of the affairs of both Governments. P.S.—Has, conformably to His Excellency's desire, written to the said Major about the enlisting of more troops. P.S.—Has been informed by Major Carnac that there is the greatest scarcity of provisions in camp. As this is an affair of the greatest consequence, His Excellency is requested strictly to enjoin the Nāib of Purnea and the officers of the adjacent districts to send a supply of grain, etc., with the utmost expedition to Patna that the army may by no means be in want.

1764.

Mar. 17.

2114. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter enclosing copies of Rājā Shitāb Rāy's letters; stating that Major Carnac has arrived with him at Daudnagar, that the army is now encamped at Sasaram, and that His Excellency is not in favour of its marching beyond the frontiers of Behar; and requesting that Commodore Tinker may speedily be sent with a proper reinforcement. It appears from Rājā Shitāb Rāy's letters that Shujā'u-d-daulah designs to march towards Behar. Is, therefore, employed in collecting fresh forces and military stores. Captain Pemble has already been dispatched with a body of Europeans and sepoys, and now some of the English troops belonging to Commodore Tinker are assembled at Ghyretty Garden with guns, artillery-men and proper stores, and will march in two or three days. If Shujā'u-d-daulah commits hostilities against the English and the Nawāb, it would be advisable to carry the war into his dominions and leave Bengal and Behar free from disturbance. Still, whatever may be decided upon by the joint counsels of His Excellency and Major Carnac, who are upon this spot, will be right and proper. With regard to sending the Commodore, he is most heartily ready to assist in His Excellency's affairs. He will dispatch as many of his forces as may be necessary and will himself remain with the ships according to the custom of the navy. Returns Rājā Shitāb Rāy's letters.

2115. To Khudā Yār Khān, Collector of Birbhum. Requests him to release the Dallāl immediately on receipt of this letter and to desist from molesting the weavers.

2116. To Muḥammad Yār Bēg Khān, Āmil of Nuddea. Has been informed that while the Company's gumāshṭah belonging to Roorun was loading some cloth on bullocks, one of them went astray with a bale of cloth, and subsequently returned without it. 2117. To Muḥammad Ēraj Khān, Nā'ib of Murshidabad. As it is necessary for the affairs of the Government that some more sepoys should be entertained, Captain Goddard and two officers have been sent to Murshidabad for that purpose. Desires him to give the Captain every assistance in his power.

Mar. 21. 2120. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Intimates the probability of war with the Marathas and the Wazir; mentions the route by which they are advancing with their armies and urges the necessity of stationing a force to impede them. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 56.]

Mar. 21. 2121. Rājā Shitāb Rāy to his brother Sādū Rām. Intimates the Wazir's junction with Mir Qāsim and the necessity of collecting a strong force. Has obtained the sanads and khal'at which he will submit. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 75.]

Mar. 21. 2122. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his several letters stating that he has determined to set out with the Major for Buxar, that the enemies intend marching towards Behar by three different roads, i.e., by way of Benares to the Karamnassa, by way of Ghazipur to Buxar and by way of Sarkar Saran towards Chapra, and that a proper force should be stationed at each place; and complaining that the gumāshtahs of the Company and of English gentlemen, who are found in every district, give protection to the defaulting zamindārs and other officers of the Government. Replies that whatever His Excellency and Major Carnac may determine on by their joint counsels will be right and proper, but that the stationing of troops at three different places would weaken the army too much. Thinks it advisable to gather all the troops together and march into the enemies' dominions in order to lay waste their country, and in order that a report of the largeness of the English force may spread through their army. His Excellency cannot be more vexed than the Governor at the daily disturbances of the English gumāshtahs. It was in order to remove these disturbances and to settle the affairs of the Sarkār that His Excellency was so often asked to come to Calcutta. Now that he has been detained by the news of the troubles in the west, the Governor is without remedy. Returns Rājā Shitāb Rāy's letter to Sādū Rām.

Mar. 28. 2124. From Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Communicates a conversation that took place between Mir Qāsim and the Wazīr, and the latter's indecision as to which party he should uphold. - Mar. 30. 2135. From the King. Will return to his capital if the Governor defrays the expenses of his journey. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 64.]
- Mar. 30. 2136. To the Wazlr. Reminds him of his promise to punish Mir Qāsim, and says that it is reported that he has taken the ex-Nawāb into his friendship and is marching towards Bengal in order to support his cause. The Governor cannot give credit to this report when he considers the former connections subsisting between His Highness and the chiefs of the Company. Is persuaded that he has the utmost regard for justice and that he will not act in an unquitable manner. If, however, his intentions are in reality hostile, the English will not neglect to do what is necessary on their part, and such a flame of war shall be lighted up as will not easily be extinguished. It is well known that those who have been most firm in their attachment, are hardest to be reconciled after they are once injured. Assures His Highness that in case he commences hostilities against the English, it is their resolution to keep Bengal and Behar free from troubles, to carry the war into his dominions, and to desolate his country.

- Mar. 30. 2137. To Qāsim 'Alī Khān, Faujdar of Rangpur. Has received his letter intimating his arrival at Rangpur. Has been informed that he has made restitution to the English gentlemen's gumāsh'tahs who were in those parts, for whatever losses they sustained during the late troubles. It is surprising that he has never mentioned this affair to the Governor. Desires to be informed how much he has collected, how much of it he has paid into the Sarkār's treasury and how much to the English gumāshṭahs. Hopes that through his diligence and good management the district, which has been desolated by the oppressions of the enemy, will be restored to a flourishing condition, and that the inhabitants will live in peace and prosperity.

Mar. 31.

2138. To Sayyid Badal Khān, Faujdar of Hooghly. The wife of a European has complained to the Governor that her husband has been plundered and murdered at Bugdoor, a place near Kaunti in the zamīndārī of Lakkhi Narāyan. Encloses a separate account of the affair. Desires him speedily to seize the murderers with the goods and send them to Calcutta. It appears that the European's sarkār is concerned in the murder since it took place the very night after he set out for Kaunti, and since he remains in hiding. Requests him to order the zamīndār to catch him. Has dispatched two peons from Calcutta for that purpose.

2143. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letter stating that he is encamped with Major Carnac and the other commanders at Buxar, that the enemy are at a small distance, and that the reinforcements have not yet arrived. Replies that the first detachment under Captain Pemble must have arrived near camp by this time, and the second, which consists of troops belonging to Commodore Tinker, near Murshidabad. Will send as many more troops as may be necessary. A fresh army with cannon and military stores is in readiness.

2145. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter enclosing copies of some letters from the King and the Wazir and mentioning that Rājā Bēnī arrived at Benares with Mir Qāsim on the 20th of last month. The letters which the Governor received from the Court are exactly conformable to the copies sent by His Excellency. It appears that the King has no manner of authority, but is entirely under the power of the Wazir, who carries him about wherever he pleases. His Highness's views seem to be merely to get some money. Does not believe that he will ever come to an engagement with the English army. If he does, he will be punished and will ruin and desolate his dominions. Is by no means negligent in raising fresh forces.

2257. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter together with the enclosures. Approves of his reply to the Wazir and Rājā Bēnī, but says that from the contents of their letters it appears that all their professions of friendship are insincere and deceitful. Advises him not to suffer himself to be lulled to sleep by their soft and soothing words but to pursue the most vigorous measures and duly chastise them. Is by no means negligent in sending troops and military stores. Has just dispatched a detachment under the command of Captain Grant with some cannon and all necessities to the pass of Tiliagarhi in order to prevent the enemy from coming that way. May 27.

2267. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letter mentioning that he formerly enclosed copies of letters from the Wazīr and Rājā Bēnī concerning the appointment of the Wazīr's son to the Governorship of the three provinces, and that now the said Rājā and Asad 'Alī Khān, in consequence of His Highness's directions, have written to the Nawāb to give up only the province of Patna; and requesting the Governor's advice on the subject. Asks what kind of demand this is that the Wazīr makes. Having entered into an alliance with Mīr Qāsim and marched to his assistance, he has plundered and ravaged the country to the utmost of his power; but now that he finds it difficult to make a safe retreat, he has thought it proper to open negotiations with His Excellency. If he has a mind to settle matters in an amicable manner, he should deliver into the hands of the English Mīr Qāsim, Sumroo and the European deserters whom he received into his camp, and make full and ample restitution for the ravages he has committed and the mischief he has done in the country.

May 29.

2269. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Mr. Watts, who was appointed to reside at His Excellency's court and was going there, has returned to Calcutta on account of the roads being obstructed. As Major Carnac must frequently be away from His Excellency for the regulation and management of the army, it is necessary that some person of rank should always be attending him; that everything may be transacted with his advice. Orders have therefore been sent to Mr. Batson to reside at His Excellency's court. Hopes that His Excellency will open to him the secrets of his heart and consult him on all occasions.

2270. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letter intimating that the disturbances of the enemy have put an entire stop to the collection of the revenues of the Patna district, and that Rām Nidī, who was formerly a servant of Mīr Qāsim's, and who has now been appointed by the Wazīr to the Faujdarī of Sarkar Saran, was defeated by Captain Morgan on the 18th instant. The Wazīr's remaining in Behar and Bengal cannot but be attended with daily injury to His Excellency's affairs and the stoppage of his revenues. But His Highness can be routed whenever he is attacked. Thinks that there is no necessity for the Nawāb's remaining with the army during the rainy season. The affairs of Bengal are going to ruin in consequence of His Excellency's absence, and the Company's business also awaits his arrival. Advises him to come down to Calcutta, leaving some person of rank to command the troops that are with Major Carnac.

Desires him to pay Rs. 2,45,000 to the Chief of Cossimbazar, to take a receipt from him and send it to Calcutta. Has certain information that there is money ready in the treasury. Asks what can be thought of it, if he again sends an evasive answer.

Their retreat will restore tranquillity to Bengal and Behar. June 12. 2298. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter mentioning that a stop has been put to the business of the merchants of Chilmari by reason of the trade of several Englishmen, and that the making of khedās for elephants has been entirely interrupted by the ravages of the Bhutias; and desiring that the Chiefs of Rangamati and Chilmari may be directed to desist from interfering in the arangs of those parts and to assist Muḥammad Taqī Khān, the Faujdār. Replies that there is no factory of the Company in Rangamati or Chilmari. There are only two or three English gentlemen there, who carry on their trade without obstructing other merchants. The gentlemen of the Council say that when His Excellency comes to Calcutta, he may acquaint them with everything face to face, and that proper measures will then be taken for the prevention of such disturbances. With regard to the Bhutias, some sepoy will, if His Excellency thinks proper, be sent to put a stop to their ravages.

Approves of His Excellency's reply, and says that it is advisable to write in plain terms to the enemy. It was doubtless in consequence of the plain answers sent them that they have returned in despair to their own country: otherwise it is impossible to know how long they would have remained carrying on their faithless negotiations and spreading ruin and desolation over Behar and Bengal.

June 12.

2300. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letter relating the state of affairs in the districts on the other side of the Karamnassa, in Sarkar Saran and in the districts of Murshidabad; mentioning that a stop has been put to the collection of the revenues on this side of the said river by the appointment of officers on the part of the enemy, that his monthly expenses amount to five lākhs of rupees, that he was desirous of disbanding his troops on account of his inability to pay them, but that Major Carnac forbade him to do so; and requesting the Governor to advise His Excellency on the subject. Now that the enemy have retreated, Major Carnac will pursue them, and the whole country as far as the Karamnassa will be freed from troubles; whilst the zamīndārs of those districts, being brought to shame and repentance, will soon be ready to obey his commands. During the one or two months that the enemy have been in possession of those parts, they cannot have collected any money. The districts of Murshidabad are in His Excellency's possession. No one has rebelled against his Government, nor is it in the power of anyone to do so. When His Excellency returns to Bengal and employs himself in the regulation of its affairs, he will receive the usual revenues together with the balances that are due. The gentlemen of the Council desire that His Excellency should select from among his army such troops as are good and trustworthy, leave them with Major Carnac and discharge the rest. They further desire him to give the Major a tan^{kh}wāh for two lākhs of rupees for the expenses of the English army and to come down to Calcutta during the rains, that all affairs may be properly settled agreeably to his pleasure.

2305. To Rājā Dūlab Rām. Has received his letter enclosing copies of His Majesty's letters and his reply, and mentioning that Shujā'u-d-daulah is marching towards Maner, whereby the fears of the inhabitants have been dispelled. Approves of his reply to His Majesty's letter, but says that if the enemy were to get overthrown, they would return to their own country, and never more think of troubling the Nawāb and the English. Is glad, however, that the Encloses an account of the money received from Muḥammad Yār Bēg Khān, and Sayyid Badal Khān, from which it appears that there is a balance of Rs. 15,243 still due. Acknowledges receipt of the two lākhs paid by the addressee. Finds that the rupees are of different kinds, and that 5 per cent. must be deducted in order to bring them into sikkahs. The deduction will amount to about Rs. 10,000, which together with the aforesaid balance will make in all about Rs. 25,000. This will be paid by Sayyid Badal Khān. Has directed the Chief of Cossimbazar to deliver the tanḳhwāh to the addressee after having written upon the back of it a receipt for two lākhs of rupees specifying the different kinds they are of.

- July 3. 2321. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letter. Some English troops have arrived from Bombay and Madras. Major Munro, who is a commander of high rank, has also arrived, and will proceed with them to join the army in two or three days. Has been informed by Major Carnac that the donation to the army has not yet been paid. As it is advisable to keep the troops in good humour, His Excellency is requested speedily to pay the balance to the Major, who has been ordered to satisfy them and pursue the enemy. It is a difficult matter to free the country from the disturbances without a body of cavalry. The Major has therefore been directed to entertain in the Company's service and take with him as many good horsemen as he can get. The troops of this country are not proficient in the art of war. If they are under the Major's orders, they will learn to fight according to the English manner. Requests His Excellency to dismiss such of his cavalry as are unfit and put the rest under the Major's command. Requests also that His Excellency will consider this whole body of horse as his servants and pay them their wages through the Major's hands. This will lead to the destruction of the enemy and will also lighten His Excellency's expenses.

Replies that the English forces are sufficient to bring the enemy to punishment. Shujā'u-d-daulah, finding himself unable to contend with the English, has returned towards his own country. Looks upon the Rājā's troops as his own. But there is no advantage in their coming into the Company's lands without necessity. If the addressee wants any assistance for the management of his affairs, a body of troops will be sent him from Calcutta. Refers him for other particulars to the English gentlemen residing at Cuttack.

2334. To Muḥammad Taqī Khān, Faujdār of Rangamati. Learns that he has represented to His Excellency that the collection of duties is interrupted by reason of the merchants withholding their hands on account of the trade of the English. The two or three English gentlemen who carry on trade in those parts do not obstruct other merchants. Besides, as they are provided with the Company's dastaks, it would be entirely improper and contrary to custom to demand duties from them. They should be demanded from such merchants only as have not the Company's dastak. Desires to be informed by what ways and on what goods the duties of those parts did formerly and do now arise.

Will send them a bond under the Company's seal and grant them a tanẖhwāh on Burdwan. In case they cannot furnish the whole sum from their own factory, they can borrow from two or three merchants enough to make up the deficiency. This will be a beginning of business between the Company and the Sēṭhs' factory, and in future larger concerns will be carried on between them.

The Wazīr having ravaged the country and possessed himself of Bhojpur is now collecting an army in order to renew the war. Desires the Rājā to write to His Highness that there can be no negotiations between him and the English unless and until he delivers up Mir Qāsim, Sumroo and the European deserters. 2352. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter enclosing a blank paper for the amount of the restitution money and the stated times of payment. The merchants' accounts are being made ready. Will shortly have them adjusted and written upon the said paper which will then be sent to His Excellency. In the meantime, as the merchants' business will be stopped by delays, it is requested that a tanẖwāh for 20 lākhs of rupees may be sent to be paid to them. As soon as the amount of the restitution money is settled, His Excellency will be informed of the balance and an account of the particulars will be sent him.

July 25.

2353. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter enclosing an account of the present state of his debt to the Company and the army, and mentioning that the enemy were brought to punishment by the Europeans and sepoys and not by any cavalry, and that it is a very difficult matter to provide for such expenses out of half the province of Bengal. As the Nawāb Shujā'ud-daulah has not yet desisted from hostilities, but has possessed himself of the country belonging to His Excellency from the Soan to the Karamnassa, and is preparing to prosecute the war afresh, it is necessary that the English should be prepared. Major Carnac and all the officers represent that it is a matter of great importance that there should be a body of cavalry to act in conjunction with the English army by collecting provisions and pursuing the enemy after a defeat. If, therefore, His Excellency does not choose to keep any cavalry on the footing recommended by the Governor, he should at least entertain some in his own service. The Company's expenses have been doubled in this war. What with the troops from Europe, the newly raised troops and military stores, they cannot be less than seven lākhs of rupees a month. The revenues of Burdwan and the other lands, which have been made over to the Company, may amount to about fifty lākhs a year, so that their disbursements are three lākhs of rupees a month in excess of their income. As the Nawāb's military expenses have decreased in proportion as those of the Company have increased, and as the freeing of the country from the enemy rests entirely upon the English, it is requested that they may be furnished with the aforesaid three lākhs of rupees over and above the amount agreed upon. As to His Excellency's saying that it is difficult to provide for these expenses out of half the province of Bengal, it is contended that the lands, which have been made over to the Company, yield fifty lākhs, while the revenues of the remainder of the province can scarcely be less than two crores. Last year the army was much distressed for want of provisions. Desires him therefore to direct all his officers to dispatch grain to Patna and Monghyr. Refers him to Mr. Billers for particulars. PS.—Is surprised to learn that Doctor Mirzā 'Alī Naqī and Bābū Jagat Chand have written to His Excellency that the Governor said with anger "Some captains shall go and take the donation money for the Navy." Protests that he never uttered such words. As the above-named persons deny that they wrote the letters containing this information, His Excellency is requested to send the originals for the Governor's information. With regard to the donation, it has already been written to His Excellency that, like the army, the navy also deserves something but that it depends on his favour. P.S.—Requests that Mr. Billers, Chief of Patna factory, may be paid the balance due to the Company, which according to the account enclosed in His Excellency's letter is Rs. 7,12, 687-15-6.

2354. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letter of the 15th instant. Learns from Rājā Shitāb Rāy that the Wazīr has possessed himself of Bhojpur and is using his utmost endeavours to collect fresh forces, and prepare himself for the renewal of the war. It is therefore necessary for the Nawāb and the Company to be firm and resolute. While the enemy haughtily talk of war, any proposals of peace from the English would only serve to increase their arrogance, and confirm them in their hostile intentions. Desires him to tell the Wazīr that without Mīr Qāsim and Sumroo and the European deserters being delivered up, there can be no negotiations. A very large army has been dispatched from Europe to Calcutta. Hopes His Excellency on his part will not be negligent in raising some good cavalry, and forming an alliance with the Nawāb Aḥmad Khān Bangash, the Nawāb Najibu-d-daulah, Hāfiz Raḥmat Khān, Dandī Khān, Najaf Khān, the Marhattas and the Bundēlās. If the Wazīr does not desist from his evil intentions, he will be the cause of his own ruin. The English do not wish to involve the country in a needless war, but it is the duty of every man to pursue the necessary measures for the preservation of his own honour and the tranquillity and benefit of the public. Asks His Excellency to consider that Shujā'u d-daulah having entered into an alliance with that murderer Mīr Qāsim, has ravaged Behar and occasioned a loss of lākhs of rupees in the revenues of the Sarkār, and yet he will not listen to the applications of the English for justice, but even demands money to be paid him, that he may therewith raise fresh troops and be the better able to prosecute the war.

It is true that the climate not having agreed with the Governor, he intends to go to Europe, and is preparing for that purpose. But he will not move till he has had the honour of seeing His Excellency. Assures him that everything will be settled in such a manner as may be conducive to the stability of his government and the success of his affairs. Hopes that His Excellency will speedily come. PS.—Has just received letters from the Chiefs of the Company in Europe directing him not to stir from Calcutta till he has settled the affairs of the provinces in concert with His Excellency. The news of his coming to Calcutta has therefore given the Governor the greatest pleasure. Has written these few lines with his own hand "out of the purity of his heart."

- Sept. 5. 2402. Representation of the Board to the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Through the sedition of the sepoys and the coming on of the rains Shujā'u-d-daulah is still in possession of Bhojpur. It will therefore be reported throughout Hindustan that he has been successful in the war. The English have now brought their army into a state of obedience and good order. Moreover, they have received new supplies of men from Bombay and Madras, and are in daily expectation of large reinforcements from England. They can depend on no treaties with any of the chiefs of the Empire further than the latter may find their own profit in the obedience of them; and any money given or concession made to Shujā'u-d-daulah, besides the ignominy attending such a measure, would but strengthen his hands against the English. For these reasons, they are firmly resolved to prosecute the war against him with the utmost vigour, and will not listen to any proposals while he remains on this side of the Karamnassa. Their only difficulty is, that the number of their forces being so greatly augmented, the Company's revenues are not sufficient to defray half the expenses of the war. His Excellency therefore is requested to assist them by granting them an assignment for five lākhs of rupees a month, until the enemy are driven away and the country is restored to a state of security. His Excellency has frequently declared that he cannot place any reliance on his own troops. Assures him that it will be most advantageous for him to depend solely on those of the Company. He will be saved the expense of keeping a force of his own; and the money assigned will be a trust in the hands of the English for His Excellency's service and the protection of the provinces. The amount of the losses sustained by the merchants in the war will be about forty lākhs of rupees. They are much distressed by the long delay that has occurred in the payment of this money. It is hoped that His Excellency will readily comply with these necessary regulations. The Board, on their part, will be ready to do whatever lies in their power for the good of the country and the establishment of his government and authority on the most secure footing.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 186, pp. 163-165. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 104.]

Sept. 7.

2403. The Nawāb's reply to the representation of the Board. It is due to the rainy season and the swelling of the Soan and not to any sedition among the English troops that the two armies are still lying inactive. As the English are persuaded that the chiefs of Hindustan will pay no further regard to their treaties than they find profitable, so they, it is probable, entertain the same opinion of the English. Now that the Board are resolved to prosecute the war against Shujā'u-d-daulah, His Excellency will by no means dissent from their advice and proposals. Is persuaded that through the blessing of God and their warlike preparation, the English would be victorious. But it is not to be expected that one battle will entirely disperse the King's forces, secure the country from devastation and enable the Nawāb to carry on the affairs of his government in peace and quietness. The Board should therefore duly consider the evils of war and the advantages of peace, and act in such a manner as may be most advisable. As to the Board's request for an assignment on his territories to defray the additional expenses of the war, says that they know very well the state of his finances. The province of Behar has been entirely laid waste and ruined, and the affairs of Bengal also have been greatly injured. Forty lākhs of rupees have been claimed by the Company by way of gratuity and indemnification for the losses they sustained at the hands of Mīr Qāsim. Twenty-five lākhs have been granted to the troops and the King, besides the restitution money to the English merchants and other dependants of the Company. These different articles amount to so considerable a sum that it is very difficult for him to discharge it from the revenues of such parts of Bengal as are in his possession, considering that his own necessary expenses and the various charges of the government are to be provided for out of these revenues. It is written in the treaty made between him and the Company at the time of his appointment to the Sūbahdāri that, besides the assigned lands, they will not make any other demands for the expense of their army, and that they will furnish him with as many troops as may be wanted. Colonel Clive, when he marched against the Shāhādah with an English army, made no demands over and above the sum agreed upon. Only a small allowance was paid to him by way of batṭah. It is necessary that the Board should in this matter consider the agreement and the former custom. Complains that numbers of Englishmen interfere in the affairs of the country and from grain to wood purchase all kinds of merchandise, which brings no advantage to the Company, but interrupts his business and exposes his government to contempt. Hopes that all this will be stopped as is just. His Excellency hoped to get possession of Mīr Qāsim's effects, but not a single dām has fallen into his hands. Has not therefore been able to discharge his liabilities, and has deferred making provision for the māhimarātib, the top-khānah, etc. However, if the Company are put to an extraordinary expense, he will afford them all the assistance he can, as he is unwilling to have them suffer any loss. Agrees to pay the restitution money, but says that the terms of payment should be such as may be convenient to him. Desires to be furnished with an account thereof. Urges the necessity for peace, and wishes to know if the Board is in favour of it, that he may endeavour to bring it about.

2404. The Nawāb Mīr Ja'far's reply to the representation of the Board. With regard to their demand for five lākhs of rupees per month on account of the additional expenses of the army, says that although this is not the season for large collections, and the country is in a desolate condition and he himself is so much in arrears, yet he will for the space of three or four months endeavour to supply them with four lākhs of rupees per month. But when the war is over, he will deduct therefrom what money may be due from him to the Company, and receive back the balance out of the revenues of Burdwan. With regard to the forty lākhs of rupees demanded by the Board as restitution to the English merchants and other dependants of the Company, says that in Colonel Clive's time, when the English merchants and other inhabitants of Calcutta delivered in the accounts of the losses sustained by them at the hands of Sirājū-d-daulah, the Colonel deducted half the amount of their claims and caused the other half to be paid. Hopes that the Board will, in like manner, examine the account of each person, deduct half the amount and settle the payment of the remaining half on such terms as may be convenient to him.

Sept. 7.

2405. From the King. It is proper for, nay incumbent on the faithful servants of the Imperial Court to do their utmost for the benefit of the people and the prosperity of the country. As the "Royal breast" is ever solicitous for the promotion of these objects, the "trusty and well-beloved" Rājā Shitāb Rāy has been directed to repair to Calcutta, and charged with some terms of peace perfectly suitable to His Majesty's friendship for the English and conducive to their prosperity and the welfare of the people. Desires the Governor to listen to the Rājā's representations with the "ears of understanding" and act agreeably to His Majesty's gracious commands. Desires him also to write to the English chiefs who are in Behar, to be sincerely obedient to the Imperial Court. In case of the Governor's compliance with the Royal command, everything that may be conducive to the welfare and prosperity of the English will be done.

(N.B. A similar letter was received by the Council.)

Sept. 7.

2407. The Wazir to the Council. Now that His Majesty has inflicted due punishment on Mir Qāsim, the English have no pretence left, and should therefore desist from all hostilities and be firm in their obedience. Should they now make an attempt inconsistent with the duties of loyalty, neither God, nor the world, nor their masters will approve their behaviour. The servants of the Imperial Court, who have always had the good of the people in view, have done what they thought was proper. Asks the Board to think of His Majesty's unlimited kindness to them, to be steady in their ancient dutifulness and place their hopes upon the Royal favours, with which they have at all times been abundantly honoured and which will be daily increasing. In case of their refusal, there is no remedy. It will not be in the writer's power to say a word for them to His Majesty in future. Delays will be attended with evil consequences. Has written plainly and without exaggeration. Attentive ears and observant eyes are requisite. As for the rest, whatever is the will of God will be done.

Sept. 12.

2408. To the King. Has received his letter. Rājā Shitāb Rāy has arrived and communicated to him the Royal commands. As His Majesty's armies are still ravaging Bengal and Behar, and as he has taken Sumroo, who is a base murderer, under his protection, the Governor cannot at present send any Englishman to wait on him. But he will do so as soon as His Majesty sets the minds of the English at ease.

Sept. 12.

2409. To the Wazir. Has received his letter. As his armies are still ravaging Bengal and Behar, as Mir Qāsim has not been punished in the manner requested, and as Sumroo and the Europeans who deserted from the English army are still under his protection, and have even been entertained in his service, the Governor's mind is by no means at ease. Will not send an Englishman to wait upon His Highness unless he withdraws his troops from these provinces and delivers Sumroo and the Europeans into the hands of the English chiefs that they may be punished according to European laws.

Backergunge, etc., force tobacco and other goods upon the ta'aluqdārs and ryots, whereby the country is desolated and a very heavy loss falls upon the Sarkār. Desires that a stop may be everywhere put to this oppression. (7) There are people on the part of the English in the forts of Patna, Monghyr, etc., whereby His Excellency's authority is greatly impaired. Desires that the forts may be evacuated. (8) The agents of several Englishmen everywhere buy and sell rice and other grain in the ganjs and golās of Bengal, whereby the faujdārs and other officers are prevented from sending grain to the army. Requests that this may be stopped. (9) In Patna about forty houses designed for the reception of strangers are in possession of several English gentlemen, so that His Excellency cannot have them for himself, his family and dependants. Requests that they may be vacated. (10) The wood farm belonging to Purnea, which has hitherto paid a tribute of Rs. 50,000 a year is now in the hands of the English, and His Excellency does not receive a single kaufi from it. Requests that they may cease from interfering in that farm. (11) Requests that orders may be issued prohibiting the English from protecting the dependants and servants of the Sarkār. (12) The sepoys, who are sent from the factories into different parts of the country to hear complaints, desolate the villages, and put the ryots to flight by their oppressions, whereby His Excellency's revenues are greatly injured. Requests that no sepoys may be sent into the country without previous notice to him or his officers. (13) The poor of the country, who used always to deal in salt, betelnut, tobacco, etc., have now been deprived of their daily bread by the trade of the Europeans.

2411. To the King. Has received his letter directing inquiry to be made concerning Shāistah Khān's money. The 'Āmil' of the place, where the robbery was committed, has inquired into the matter and supplied Sāhibdād Khān, son of the aforesaid Khān, with an account thereof. Sāhibdād Khān will wait upon His Majesty and acquaint him with everything.

2412. Major Munro to Najaf Khān. The Khān's intention of entering into an alliance with the English Company and making war upon Shujā'u-d-daulah has been made known to the writer through Major Carnac. If it is true, the Company will pay the expenses of his troops. Has been authorised to give him any assistance he may want and to support him in whatever claims he may have upon the Wazir or his dominions. The Khān will hardly get so good an opportunity again. Now is the time to attack the Wazir on both sides. Desires him to write speedily, fully, and plainly, that there may be no occasion for any further negotiations.

Sept. 22.

2413. Major Munro to Muḥammad Bāqir Khān. Has received his letter saying that on account of the Wazir's treachery, he desires to enter into an alliance with the English Company. Although the writer has full authority in the matter, yet as the Khān requires an agreement under the seal of the Council, a draft of the same has been prepared and forwarded to Calcutta. As soon as it is received back, it will be sent to him. The writer had determined to march, but now he will wait a few days on account of this affair. In case an immediate march is decided upon, an agreement under the seals of the writer and the chiefs of the army will be sent to him. Tells him to be ready to join the Company with a confident and quiet mind, and to look upon their service as a happiness to him.

Sept. 22.

2414. Major Munro to Rājā Jugal Kishor of Bettia. Is doubtful whether he is a friend to the English Company or to Shujā'ud-daulah. Wants to have this matter cleared up. Has therefore sent some armed boats to his territories by way of the river Gandak to collect all the boats which are in those parts and bring them towards camp. As soon as the writer's mind is set at ease, they will be returned. Desires him to obstruct the Wazir's passage over the Gandak. If he does so, the writer and all the English gentlemen will be convinced of his friendship. If not, his enmity will be evident, and as soon as the English are victorious, he will be the first object of their resentment.

Sept. 22.

2415. Major Munro to Muḥammad Bāqir Khān. Has received his letter and the letters of the other commanders of horse. There is no time to wait for replies to the letters forwarded to Calcutta. Assures him that the Council will consent to the terms which may be agreed upon between the addressee and the writer. Desires him to bring to the English camp Mir Qāsim or Sumroo or forty or fifty of the European deserters, or to perform some other agreeable service before leaving the Wazir's army so as to convince the writer of his loyalty and sincerity towards the English. Should he be able to bring the Wazir himself, he may depend upon being made Governor of one of his provinces.

1764.
Sept. 22.

2416. Zainu-l-'ābidīn Khān to Major Munro. Has received through Asad Khān his letter desiring the writer to join the English army with as many able-bodied and well-mounted Moghals, Tūrānīs, etc., as possible. Although it is dishonourable for all men, particularly for men of family, to desert the service they are engaged in and go over to their master's enemies, yet there are several reasons which justify such conduct in the Moghals. First, the Wazīr, notwithstanding his oath upon the Qurān, murdered the Nawāb Muḥammad Qulī Khān, who was the glory of the Moghals, and who to the writer was dearer than a father or a brother. Secondly, the Wazīr's behaviour to the Nawāb Mir Qāsim, who is a descendant of the Prophet, has been very shameful. It is not allowed by any religion that a person, who flees to another for protection with his family and effects, even if he be a person of low rank, should meet with treatment other than friendly. "Why then has he in violation of his oath and agreement behaved in such a manner as to incur universal censure and reflect disgrace upon the Moghal name?" Thirdly, he has never failed to break every engagement he has entered into and every oath he has taken. Fourthly, neither he nor his ministers pay any regard to his own sign-manual. Fifthly, with regard to the Moghals, who are strangers in this country, and who, having nothing to depend upon but their monthly pay, are brought to distress whenever that is stopped, he thinks of nothing but how to oppress and ruin them. Moreover, he takes no notice of men of family, but places all his confidence in low and worthless people. Sixthly, he by no means makes a proper distinction between his friends and his enemies, but makes a practice of countenancing the latter and ill-treating the former. The assisting and supporting of such an oppressor is neither conformable to reason, nor to the Qurān, nor to the rules of any religion, and the quitting of his service can reflect no dishonour upon anyone either in the sight of God or man. Therefore if the English, who are celebrated for their justice and good faith, are desirous of an alliance with the Moghals, and are willing to agree to their just demands and to swear to the observance of the agreement by the names of Jesus and Mary, and if the gentlemen of the Council put their seals to it and speedily forward it, a great number of Moghals and Tūrānīs will without delay join the English army. Praises 'Alī Rizā Khān and desires the Major to invite him back to the English service. Assures him that the said Khān was carried away to the Wazīr's camp, contrary to his own inclinations, by his troop of horse and the people of Tikari, that in spite of His Highness's solicitations, he has refused to enter his service, that he has been greatly oppressed on account of his connection with the English, and that he is sincerely attached to them. Refers him to Mirzā Iwaz Bēg for particulars.

Sept. 22.

2417. Zainu-l-'ābidīn Khān to Doctor Fullarton. Although the writer has not the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with him, yet 1764.

he has heard of his numberless virtues from Mirzā 'Iwaz Bēg. Is therefore extremely desirous of making his friendship. Hopes that the Doctor will assist him in the case of 'Alī Rizā Khān, who is a near relation and an intimate friend of his. Refers him to the said Bēg for particulars.

Sept. 22.

2418. Zainu-l-'ābidīn Khān to Asad Khān. Has received his letter together with Major Munro's letters for the writer and Muḥammad Bāqir Khān. The Moghals, who have all been informed of the addressee's commands, met and unanimously resolved to draw up a treaty and send it to him for his approval and for transmission to the gentlemen of the English Council, that they may set their seals to it and swear to the observance of it upon the Bible and "in the name of the Prophet Jesus and the Prophet Mary" "God forbid" that in the service of the English, the Moghals should meet with the same treatment as in that of the Wazir, and that when their business is done, they should be turned away, remote as they are from their native country and brought to shame and distress. The addressee is a chief of the Moghals and a man of family and understanding. He should settle matters to his satisfaction. Whatever satisfies him, will satisfy the writer. And whatever satisfies the writer, will satisfy all the Moghals. The merit or demerit of whatever may be done will be attributed to the writer, and the writer, before God, the Prophet, and the common father of the Moghals, will attribute it all to the addressee. Desires that the territory by the Ganges and the Jumna may be made over to the Moghals rent free. Mirzā Taqī Khān, Muḥammad Bāqir Khān, 'Alī Rizā Khān, Rustam Bēg, Bābā Bēg Khān, Muḥammad Taqī Khān, Muḥammad Tāhīr Bēg, Ma'sūm 'Alī Bēg and all the other chiefs have empowered the writer to act for them. Mirzā Muḥammad Ḥasan is also ready to join in the conspiracy. Has heartily engaged himself in this dangerous business, which may be the cause of much bloodshed. 'Alī Rizā Khān has refused to enter the Wazir's service, although His Highness has offered him Rs. 1,000 a month besides a present of Rs. 2,000, which is more than he gives to any of his officers. Requests the addressee to prevail upon the English to invite him back to their army. Requests him also not to invite Mirzā Mahdī 'Alī Khān to join the Moghals, lest he should take the first place. Will rejoice at the addressee's elevation to the Niṣāmat of Oudh, irrespective of whether he is favourable to the writer or not, as it will conduce to the happiness of thousands of people, and as the interest of one individual must not be put in competition with that of the public. He is a man of understanding, but as the writer is more advanced in years, he takes the liberty of advising him that he should not do anything that may lessen him in the estimation of the English, who are men of penetration and foresight, and whose undertakings are conducted with wisdom. Requests to be favoured with a speedy reply. Refers him to Mirzā 'Iwaz Bēg for other particulars. P.S.—Requests him to procure as soon as possible a line or two from Major Munro to Rustam Bēg Afshār and Bābā Bēg Khān, who are both men of consideration among the Moghals.

1764.

Sept. 22. 2422. Muḥammad Bāqir Khān to Asad Khān. Has received his letter together with that of the Major. What the addressee says is true; but as no one is acquainted with the future, it would be wrong to engage in such an enterprise without having first received proper satisfaction. Hopes that he will pay attention to Zainu-l-'ābidīn Khān's letter and the proposed treaty. Requests him speedily to get it ratified by the English chiefs and send it back. Will join him with a number of friends as soon as his mind is set at ease. Refers him to Mirzā 'Iwāz Bēg for particulars.

Sept. 22. 2423. Paper of articles sent by the Moghals to Major Munro. (1) The Company should in every respect regard as its own the honour and reputation of the Moghals, who are strangers in this country, and make them its confederates in every business. (2) They should be granted a proper place in the country for the habitation of their families and dependants. (3) Whereas sixty rupees a month have been fixed for all but ḡama'dārs, Hawāldārs, and Dafa'hdārs, there are several privates who have always been distinguished and have received from one to three hundred rupees a month. These men should be allowed something more than what they receive in the Wazīr's army. (4) Whatever Moghals, whether Irānīs or Tūrānīs come to offer their services, they should be received on the aforesaid terms. Moreover, a present of Rs. 100 per head should be immediately given them and a month's pay advanced them. (5) At present there should not be raised any difficulties as to the size of horses. (6) Whenever a Moghal is killed in battle or dies a natural death, his son or relation should be received in his place. (7) As several men are in debt, a small sum of money should be sent to enable them to discharge their debt. (8) Should anyone be desirous of returning to his own country, his arrears should be immediately paid and he should be discharged in peace.

Sept. 22.

2424. Shāh Mal, Qal'adār of Rohtas, to Major Munro. Has answered his several letters. Remains firm in the hope of his favour and protection. Mir Sulaimān has arrived at Batein (?) fort in Akbarpur, idly relying upon His Highness's deceitful promises of kindness and reward. But he has been plainly told that the people of Rohtas fort will by no means submit to the Wazīr, whose behaviour to the Nawāb 'Alī Jāh (Mir Qāsim) has not been such as to make them believe that it will be for their interest to do so. Hopes that the Major will send some assistance as soon as possible. Numbers of the enemy's troops are coming towards Rohtas. Some have already arrived at Tillot, while others are stationed at Sasaram. If he is not speedily supported, he has no expectations but of becoming a sacrifice. Has already sent a paper of requests. Desires that an agreement properly executed and assuring him of protection may be sent. Desires also that some money may be granted to the people of the fort. They are now the Company's servants, and any disgrace that they may suffer, will fall upon the English.

2424A. Shāh Mal, Qal'adār of Rohtas, to Major Munro. Has received his letter agreeing to set his hand to the writer's paper of requests, but saying that Mir Asad 'Alī, the bearer of it, has not yet arrived. Encloses another paper. Although he is fully satisfied with what the Major has said in his letter, yet in compliance with the custom of the world, he requests that the paper will be properly signed, sealed and speedily sent to Rohtas together with some money and a body of troops. The enemy's troops, which were at Tillot, have scattered themselves on every side. Should they surround the fort, the garrison will be greatly distressed for want of provisions. Makes repeated appeals for help. Refers him to Mir Asad 'Alī and Dr. Fullarton for particulars.

2425. From Rājā Jānūjī Bhonslā. The uprightness and honesty of the English in commercial affairs and their bravery and might in war have long been celebrated. In the present war they have given a fresh proof of their valour. Is extremely desirous of the friendship of such people. Mir Qāsim several times wrote to him requesting assistance and also sent a person of distinction with promises of money. But no alliance with such a perfidious man could be pleasing to him. The negotiations were therefore protracted and in the meantime Ragunāth Pandit, a person of the greatest secrecy and wisdom, was sent to Bengal. Hopes that the chauth together with the balances will be paid.

- Oct. 5. 2429. From Bhawānī Pandit, Diwān of Cuttack. Has just received a letter from Rājā Jānūjī saying that negotiations concerning the chauth have never been brought to an issue without the assistance of an army, and requiring him to march to Bengal, and with the advice of the Governor and the Nawāb to settle matters and drive out the enemy. Has also received an invitation from His Excellency and Rājā Dūlab Rām. Is consequently coming with all his troops. Hopes that the affairs of both Governments will be properly settled and that the writer will have the happiness of re-establishing tranquillity in the country. Has already dispatched to Calcutta Amīnu-d-dīn 'Alī, who will acquaint the Governor with all circumstances. Requests every particular to be answered, as his troops are daily creating a disturbance.

- Oct. 12. 2431. From Bhawānī Pandit. Has just learnt from the Nawāb and Rājā Dūlāb Rām that the former will shortly arrive in Calcutta, and after consulting with the Governor will dispatch bills to Nagpur, pay the expenses of the writer's troops and send for him. Now that His Excellency is in Calcutta, the Governor is requested to use his endeavours in such a manner that the question of the charth, etc., may be settled. Will exert himself in their service.

- Oct. 12. 2433. To Bhawānī Pandit. Has received his letter. Ragunāth Pandit has arrived at Calcutta with letters for His Excellency and the Governor from Rājā Jānūjī Bhonslā, and is negotiating with them concerning the latter's business. There is no manner of occasion for the addressee to trouble himself on the subject. The English are strong enough to drive out the enemy. Accordingly Rohtas has fallen into their hands. His coming is at present unnecessary. Whenever there is an occasion for it, notice will be given him. Amīnu-d-dīn Ali has not yet arrived. When he comes, due attention will be paid to his representations.

- Oct. 12. 2434. To Rājā Jānūjī Bhonslā. As the country is in a ruinous condition by reason of the war, the question of the chauth must be deferred for the present. Bhawānī Pandit need not come to the assistance of the English, since they are strong enough to drive out the enemy.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 194, pp. 173-174. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 101.]

- Oct. 12. 2435. To the Nawāb Najibu-d-daulah, Chief of the Rohillas. Has perused his letter to the Nawāb Shujā'u-l-mulk [Mir Ja'far] and thus has come to know of his virtues and good disposition. Recapitulates the course of recent events. The Wazir is endeavouring to exterminate the power of the other chiefs and nobles of the Empire. The English forces will therefore march against him as soon as the rains are over. The strictest harmony subsists between Mir Ja'far and the English, who are always faithful to their treaties. Advises him to enter into an association with the chiefs of the Empire, who are offended at the injuries they have received from the Wazir. Hopes that the country will soon be freed from disturbances and that the affairs of the Empire, being regulated by the addressee's wisdom and foresight, will prosper more and more.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 195, pp. 175-177. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, pp. 101-102.]

- Oct. 14. 2436. To Bhawānī Pandit. Has received his letter. The question of the chauth will be settled with all possible dispatch. Refers him to the letters of the Nawāb and Ragunāth Pandit for particulars.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 197, p. 179. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 90.]

- Oct. 16. 2438. From the Sēths Khush-hāl Chand and Udey Chand. Intimate the arrival of their brothers Sēth Gulāb Chand and Bābū Mahīr Chand at Murshidabad, and thank the Governor for bringing about their release. Have sent a nagr.

- Oct. 17. 2439. From Muhammad Rīzā Khān, Nāib of Dacca. Has come to Murshidabad with the utmost speed with his officers and accounts. As His Excellency did not give him any instructions about leaving a Nāib of rank at Dacca, he has only left a person with a few assistants to take care of the fort. Now by reason of the absence of the officers and the want of a Nāib of rank, the collections and business of those parts are in the greatest confusion, and are daily growing worse. The season for collecting the revenues is passing away. Sees no prospect of his being able to make up in future for the losses which are now happening, nor will it be an easy matter for him to give a satisfactory answer. Is therefore in the greatest distress. Hopes that he will be sent for to Calcutta or helped in some other manner.

- Oct. 18. 2440. To Muhammad Rīzā Khān, Nāib of Dacca. Has received his letter. His Excellency has at this time given orders that all the officers should be dismissed to their respective posts. He is well disposed towards the Khān and will shortly let him depart. Desires him in the meantime to send away his officers to collect the revenues.

2441. To the Sēths Khush-hāl Chand and Udey Chand Is glad to hear of the safe arrival of their brothers [at Murshidabad.]

Oct. 20.

2442. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. The gentlemen of the Council have agreed to only two out of the twelve articles contained in his paper of requests. Cannot understand why the others have been rejected. His Excellency represented matters to the Council with the sole object that the country might flourish, that the inhabitants and merchants, living in security and peace, might ever pray for the Company's prosperity, and that his revenues might not be obstructed, nor his authority condemned. But these considerations have not been attended to. Protests that if the dual rule continues, complaints will arrive from every part, and he will be under the necessity of constantly troubling the Council in every affair. Hopes that the Governor, who is possessed of much wisdom and understanding, will do whatever may be conducive to the welfare and prosperity of the country, wherein in effect consist both His Excellency's interest and the interest and honour of the Company.

Oct. 20.

2443. The Wazir to the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed by Rājā Shitāb Rāy that the Nawāb is friendly to the writer, but his heart cannot be perfectly at ease till he hears from His Excellency himself. Has written fully to the English chiefs and commissioned the said Rājā to acquaint them with everything by word of mouth. But they have not listened to his proposals which have been made solely with a view to further their interest and the welfare of the country. If they will relinquish Patna, remain at Murshidabad, and faithfully remit the Royal revenues, matters will be settled. Otherwise whatever is the will of God will be done.

Oct. 20.

2444. Rājā Bēnī to the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. The Wazir is heartily desirous of promoting the affairs of the Saltanat, but is without remedy by reason of the disagreeable events that have happened. As everything depends on God, whatever is His pleasure will be done. Refers him to Rājā Shitāb Rāy for particulars.

Oct. 22.

2445. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has done whatever was desired of him with regard to the restitution money and the expenses of the troops; but the Council on their part have rejected most of his requests. Will leave Calcutta on the 28th Oct., no other lucky day being nearer. Requests that all his proposals may be granted, that he may set out for Murshidabad at the appointed time and there apply himself to the collection of the revenues and the payment of the heavy sums which are due from him. It is useless for him to be sitting in Calcutta. The revenues cannot be collected with strictness and vigilance without his going to Murshidabad. His Excellency forgot to mention these particulars when the Governor visited him.

1764.

Oct. 22.

2446. From the King. Has received his letter. Asks how he can be desirous of ravaging and plundering Bengal, when the English "walk with steadiness in the path of obedience." It is contrary to the Royal will and pleasure that some of the grandees of the Court entertain hostile intentions against them. Refers him to Rājā Shitāb Rāy for particulars. Hopes that the Governor will act according to the latter's representations. In such case His Majesty will march towards the capital of the Empire.

Oct. 22.

2447. From the Wazir. Has received his letter professing loyalty to the King. As Mir Qāsim has been duly punished, there is no pretence left for the English. Desires them to relinquish Patna and to remit the usual revenues to the Imperial Court. They should regard this accommodation as a very great blessing and offer up their praise to the Almighty. Otherwise they may act as they think proper. Whatever is the will of God will be done.

Oct. 23.

which he gave to Colonel Clive. The gumāshṭah of Damdama will be sent to Calcutta that the matter may be inquired into. With regard to Jamgaon, it will be made over to the Company, if it appears from the papers to be dependant nōt on Birbhum but Burdwan. Although the merchants and the poor of the country will be distressed by the English trading in salt and betelnut at Dacca, Murshidabad, and Patna, yet His Excellency consents to it on condition of their paying a duty of 2½ per cent. and agreeing not to deal in any other article. Will withdraw the parwānahs which have been granted to several English gentlemen. As soon as the war with the Wazīr is finished, all the forts should be delivered up to his officers and all the new ganjs abolished. No English merchants should trade in grain. The bringing of rice as usual to Calcutta does not matter. The Company's troops, who have gone to fight the enemy, have left people and effects in all the houses at Patna. His Excellency did not apply for the latter before on account of the rainy season. Desires that they may now be evacuated. Desires also that after the war the troops to be stationed in the Patna province may be quartered outside the city. Is entirely satisfied with the Governor's resolution concerning the wood farm. Will not trouble any of his dependants and servants, who have lived under the Company's protection, except about the affairs of the Sarkār. The sepoys' going into the country about the Company's money is of no consequence. But no one should be sent in any other case except that of murder or robbery, that the collection of his revenues may not be interrupted.

Nov. 1.

2449. To Muḥammad Rizā Khān, Nāib of Dacca. Approves of his sending Ismā'īl Khān and Rām Shankar Rāy to Dacca. As the largest collections are made in this season, it is very necessary to take care of the country.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 200, p. 182. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 100.]

Nov. 6.

2450. From Bhawānī Pandit. Is receiving the greatest trouble from the demands of his troops. Has therefore sent Mīr Amīnu-d-dīn 'Alī to wait on the Governor. If the Nawāb is in Calcutta, so much the better; if not, he is requested either to write to His Excellency about the chauth and dispatch the said Mīr to Murshidabad, or to take whatever measures may be deemed most conducive to the accomplishment of the writer's wishes.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 263, pp. 513-514. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 50.]

Nov. 7.

2451. To Muḥammad Rizā Khān, Nāib of Dacca. Thanks him for the congratulatory letter and nāẓr sent by him on the occasion of the English victory at Buxar. As regards the tanḳh wāḥs, his request cannot be complied with, since they have already been obtained on Patna and Allahabad, those places being near the theatre of war. Tells him not to look upon this as a matter of any consequence.

1764.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 201, pp. 182-183. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 100.]

Nov. 9.

2452. From Bhawānī Pandit. Has incurred a heavy expense on account of his being detained by the rains. It is with difficulty that he has kept his troops quiet so long. Will depart on the 2nd of October. Is awaiting the Governor's reply. Hopes he will assist the writer in realising the chauth.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 264, pp. 514-515. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 50.]

Nov. 9.

2453. To Bhawānī Pandit. Major Munro, the Commander of the English troops, having marched from Patna to the Soan and crossed that river, proceeded direct to Buxar, where the Wazir with an army of about 60 or 70 thousand men was posted. A battle was fought there on the 23rd of October. The enemy did not fail to exert themselves, but numbers of them having been destroyed by the fire of the English artillery, they at last took to flight. Four or five thousand of them, through fear, threw themselves into the river and were drowned. The survivors fled towards their own country and the Wazir himself made his escape on a Durrānī horse. One hundred and fifty pieces of cannon with many tents, horses, camels, elephants, and military stores belonging to the enemy, fell into the hands of the Major, who encamped at Buxar. The Wazir has now no power left to stand another engagement.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 202, pp. 183-184. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 89.]

Nov. 9.

2454. To Muhammad Rizā Khān. Advises him to remain at Murshidabad as his coming to Calcutta might be displeasing to the Nawāb. The friendship between the Khān and the Governor is not so weakly grounded that it should depend upon a personal interview, the purposes of which may in a great measure be answered by a friendly interchange of letters. Tells him to set his mind at ease. His Excellency will shortly send him back to Dacca.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 203, p. 185. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 100.]

Nov. 10.

2455. The Nawāb's reply to the representation made to him from the Board by Mr. Middleton. At the time of his departure from Calcutta in order to drive out the enemy, the Board demanded of him at Chitpur Garden ten lākhs of rupees on account of the money and goods plundered from the merchants by Mir Qāsim in Bengal and Behar. In consideration of the largeness of the sum, he then withheld his consent in hopes that some abatement might be made. But when he returned from Patna, they told him that they had fixed the amount of the losses at forty lakhs of Ely [Hālī] rupees, although it was a little more than that. And now they have raised the amount to 48 lakhs of rupees—twenty lakhs to be paid in ready money and the remainder to be discharged by four payments in a twelve-month's time. Will without fail make one payment more; but the sum total and the terms of payment should be left to be settled on Lord Clive's arrival. Will give his assent to whatever the latas with the advice of the Board may determine upon. With regard to the money that is to be paid for the expenses of the troops within a month after its becoming due, positive orders have been sent on the subject to Murshidabad and Patna. If these orders have not been effectual to procure the regular payment of the said money, fresh ones will be sent to the Board for that purpose. Desires to know what sum is due from the sambadars and malangis to the English gumastahs on account of the tozish, that it may be ordered to be paid, and the tozish received from the English gumastahs. Has already written to the Shah of Dacca on the subject. With regard to the management of the business of the Djoud and Bakshigars, will act according to his own judgment. This will doubtless be agreeable to Lord Clive and will also meet with the approbation of the gentlemen of the Council.

to the Nawāb, Mr. Vansittart, and Major Carnac. The writer and Sādū Rām have been asked to deliver the said presents, of which a particular account will be written later on. The King has separated from the Wazīr, and is now at Benares.

2457. News from Delhi brought by a gāsid who arrived at Patna in sixteen days. Najibu-d-daulah and his son are with their troops at Delhi. Jawāhir Singh, who with 40,000 horse and 50,000 foot is encamped within two or three kos of the city, has just been joined by Malhār Rāo with 30,000 Marhattas. Jawāhir Singh has sent word to Najibu-d-daulah that it is unworthy of a man of courage to shut himself up within the walls of the city, and that he should march out to the distance of four or five kos and thence come to an engagement that the city may not be plundered.

2458. From Suchit Rām at Benares to Rājā Shitāb Rāy. On the Major's approach, Shujā'u-d-daulah's advanced guard retired to Buxar, near which an entrenchment had been thrown up by Sumroo; and on the armies being within half a kos from each other, a cannonading was kept up the whole night. On the morning of the 23rd, the Wazīr drew up his army with the intention of attacking the English on every side. Rājā Bēnī Bāhādūr was near the river with Sumroo in a line with him. A little further off Miān 'Isā was posted. M. Madoc and M. Gentil were in the centre, while the Wazīr himself with his Moghals and Durrānīs and his 500 field pieces was in the rear. The English troops were drawn up in a body near the river. The Wazīr's army kept up a brisk cannonading on every side till about 11 o'clock. About noon the English advanced and came to an engagement with small arms. Miān 'Isā was killed by a musket ball, as were also Mir Murtazā, a Risāldār of the Moghals, Ghulām Qādir Khān with his brothers, 'Alī Akbar Khān, and Muḥammad Riṣā, a Moghal of much humour and pleasantry. Jahāngir Khān was wounded by a cannon ball and Sumroo by a musket shot. In short in every corps of the Wazīr's troops two or three commanders were either killed or wounded. In all 2,000 horse were killed and many wounded. At length His Highness's troops, being unable to stand their ground, took to flight, followed by their commanders, who left all their bāzār, baggage, tents and artillery behind them. "Thus has the Almighty punished Shujā'u-d-daulah for his perfidy and wickedness." His Highness and Rājā Bēnī having arrived at the ghāṭ of Bahadurpur opposite Benares, the writer waited upon the latter and asked him what he thought of the situation. He replied that if the Wazīr and his advisers had listened to himself and Rājā Shitāb Rāy, they would never have seen this day. When asked what he was going to do, he immediately went to His Highness with whom he found the authors of all these calamities gathered together and saying to him "you should invite the Marhattas, call in the Rohillas, etc., etc." But Rājā Bēnī said in plain terms "It is by these counsels that things are brought to their present state. If they are still agreeable, it is well." Upon this the Wazīr asked the Rājā what his opinion was. The latter replied that His Highness, instead of entering into an alliance with the Rohillas and the Marhattas, should secure the friendship of the English, that by their assistance he might reduce the said peoples to submission. The Wazīr approved of this and invested the Rājā with full authority to negotiate peace with the English. Having made His Highness swear to the observance of this promise, the Rājā told him that he might go to Allahabad and that he himself would do his best to bring the negotiations to a successful issue. Has been directed by the Rājā to wait upon the Major and to write to the addressee to come up to Patna with two gentlemen of the Council that there may be no occasion to wait for orders from Calcutta. Encloses the letters which the Rājā and his Diwān have written to the addressee on the subject. As the English gentlemen are possessed of understanding and foresight, it is hoped that they will act in a proper manner. But these matters cannot be brought to a happy conclusion without the addressee's coming to Patna. The Rājā has drawn much reproach upon himself by his conduct in the late transactions. Now is the time for exalting his credit and bringing his enemies to shame. The writer saw His Majesty at Zamania and represented to him that he should not go any further. His Majesty said that it was his intention to proceed to Benares and from thence to go and reside at Mirzapur. He further said that he was ready to enter into an alliance with the English, if they granted him an allowance. Munīru-d-daulah, who is at Benares, is desirous of sending the writer to the English camp with a letter from His Majesty to the Major. Has written to Sādū Rām to repair there also, that the latter may learn what is the pleasure of the English gentlemen, and give notice thereof. If they propose to take possession of the country, it is necessary that they should do so through the intervention of some person of distinction. In any case it is advisable for the addressee to come to Patna. Dated Oct. 28.

✓ 2459. Khālī Rām to Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Najibu-d-daulah, who is in Delhi, has made a bridge at Rajghat and sent away all his baggage to Sakarnaul. Jawāhir Singh, who is at Faridabad, has sent a message to Najibu-d-daulah, saying that he has a quarrel with the latter for his father's death, remonstrating with him for ravaging the country and challenging him to come out of the city and fight him on a plain. Malhār Rāo, who has arrived at Bahadurgarh, has also sent Najibu-d-daulah a message desiring him to restore all the effects he has seized and to pay the stipulated money for the past three years. Malhār Rāo has also written to Zinat Mahal accusing her of ingratitude and requiring her to send him the effects of the Marhattas which have been seized in the fort; otherwise he will take them by every means in his power. Najibu-d-daulah has thrown up an entrenchment in the city and shut the gates. But his design is to take all the principal people with him and go to Sakarnaul. Rājā Balwant Singh in conformity with his engagements did not take part in the battle, but remained on the other side of the river under pretence of sickness. The Rājā, who was extremely thankful for the letter which the addressee wrote some time ago with his own hand, wrote letters to the latter and Mr. Vansittart; but the qāšids, to whom they were entrusted, were too afraid to undertake the journey. The Rājā will now send the addressee another letter together with a congratulatory nazr by another pair of qāšids. Sayyid Nuru-l-hasan Khān is also extremely thankful for the addressee's letter to the Rājā, because he looks upon the latter's prosperity as his own. The Khān desires that, in case the English propose to take possession of the country, the affairs of Benares, Azamgarh, Ghazipur and Kunda may be committed to the Rājā's management. As the Khān is very high in Balwant Singh's favour, the addressee is requested to promote his business. Hopes that everything will be managed according to the addressee's desire, for the King will not act contrary to his inclination, and the Wazīr leaves everything at his disposal.

2460. Rājā Bēni to Rājā Shitāb Rāy. It was because he was sure of defeat that he formerly made overtures of peace and dispatched the addressee to Bengal. But men void of understanding interfered and their advice was accepted, by which means things have been brought to such a pass. Hopes that he will do his utmost to bring about a reconciliation honourable to both parties. Desires him to come to Patna without delay. Refers him to Suchit Rām for particulars. "As for the rest, a word to the wise is sufficient."

2461. Disambar Pandit, Rājā Bēni's Diwān, to Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Refers to the Wazīr's defeat at Buxar, and says that such has been the conclusion of the enterprise which the addressee and Rājā Bēni dreaded and laboured to prevent, and which was brought about by the evil counsels of short-sighted people. The English can either take possession of the country in the Wazīr's name or remain on the frontiers and enter into an alliance with him. Rājā Bēni has been vested with full power in this business. As the English gentlemen are men of understanding and foresight, it is hoped that they will act in a proper manner. But these matters cannot be brought to a happy conclusion in the addressee's absence. The Rājā, therefore, desires him to come to Patna without delay and to bring, if possible, two gentlemen of the Council with him, that there may be no occasion to wait for answers from Calcutta. Refers him for particulars to Suchit Rām, whom the Rājā is going to send to the English commanders.

2462. The Nawāb Mir Ja'far to the Governor and Council. Has complied with all that the Council demanded of him, but they have postponed the settlement of every question contained in his paper of requests till Lord Clive's arrival. Has paid one instalment of the restitution and the money which has been dispatched from Murshidabad will shortly arrive. As the months of Agan and Pūs are the season when the largest collections are made, His Excellency's not going to Murshidabad cannot but be attended with a loss in the collections; and any loss to him is in effect a loss to the Company. It is two months and a half since he arrived in Calcutta. Will depart on the 17th of November, there being no luckier day in the month. Will, however, come back as soon as he receives advice of Lord Clive's arrival.

2463. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed that on the 6th instant, one Rām Chand Sēn, who has been lately appointed 'Amī. of Kishannagar, sent into the Company's factory at Santipur about fifty peons, sepoy, etc., who forcibly seized and carried away the gumāshtah of Suti belonging to the said factory and put him under confinement. Encloses the petitions he has received on the subject. In case the complaint is true, it is requested that due punishment will be inflicted on Rām Chand Sēn.

2464. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has already told His Excellency that while Mr. Rose, an English gentleman, was travelling in a boat with some money and goods, the boat people, having murdered him near Backergunge, carried away the money and goods and took shelter in the samindāri of Sītā Rām. An Englishman was sent to inquire into the affair, but the said Zamindār would not pay him attention. Encloses an account of the money and goods plundered. Requests that the Nāib of Dacca may be directed to make the Zamindār refund them and to inflict due punishment on him. The number of murderers and robbers in the neighbourhood of Backergunge is daily increasing, so that trading people are afraid to travel. Requests that the Nāib of Dacca may be directed also to send some of the factory sepoy along with some of his own people to apprehend the offenders, which will be very serviceable to traders.

2465. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. The English gentleman in charge of the mint at Calcutta reports that the Calcutta silver is so much finer than that of Murshidabad as to occasion a difference of one rupee in a thousand. Requests to be informed of the views of His Excellency's chaukasī on the subject.

2466. The Nawāb Mir Ja'far's reply to the representation of the Board. With regard to 48 lākhs of rupees demanded of him on account of restitution, requests that the merchants may be directed to send him an account of the money and effects plundered. Requests also to be furnished with an account of such goods as were left un-pillaged in the different factories, and of such as remained in the hands of the traders and inhabitants. Is using his endeavours to pay the restitution money, but requests more favourable terms of payment. With regard to the expenses of the English troops, has been informed that at Murshidabad the whole sum due up to the end of Rabi' I has been paid, and that at Patna Rs. 50,000 have already been paid and the remainder will be paid shortly. Sends positive orders on this subject in every letter. Hopes that the stipulated allowances will be paid in due time. Looks upon the Company's business as of greater consequence than his own. Has therefore determined to take upon himself the management thereof and not to leave it to mutasaddis. At the time of his arrival at Murshidabad en route for camp, there was a scarcity of men, Mir Qāsim having cut off all the principal mutasaddis. His Excellency therefore appointed whomsoever he could find to manage the affairs of the Sarkār without scrutinising their abilities and knowledge of business. And as on his return from Patna he did not stay above three days at Murshidabad, he had no time to make himself acquainted with the merits and demerits of anyone. Is himself sensible that many of his officers neglect their duty; and this is a reason why he is desirous of going to Murshidabad. Has been constantly moving about. As soon as he is permitted to depart and is settled quietly at Murshidabad, he will manage the business of the revenues and the country in such a manner that the Council will be perfectly satisfied. As it is uncertain when Lord Clive will arrive in India, the settlement of the outstanding questions should not be postponed till that time. Has neither neglected nor will ever neglect to do his utmost for the payment of the money of the Company and the merchants, but as he has so many different demands upon him, it is necessary that the Council should pay attention to these circumstances.

2467. From the King. "God be praised" that Shujā'u-d-daulah has been defeated and has received the recompense of his actions. As this victory has been brought about through the secret aid of Heaven and the valour of the English troops, His Majesty regards it as his own and congratulates the Governor most heartily thereupon. Being displeased with the Wazir, he intended to march towards Delhi; but now agreeably to the request of Rājā Shitāb Rāy's gumāshthahs he has decided to remain in the neighbourhood of Benares, till he hears from the Governor. Will do whatever may be requisite for the interest of the Company and the English nation. Hopes that the business of the Royal Sarkār will be settled according to former agreements. Refers him to Rājā Shitāb Rāy for particulars. Has sent some presents through the hands of Suchit Rām and Khiali Rām.

2468. From Rājā Balwant Singh. Professes loyalty. Will approve of whatever agreement Rājā Shitāb Rāy may make with the English relative to the writer. Has sent a congratulatory nazr of eleven gold mohurs. Hopes that it will be accepted. Refers him to Rājā Shitāb Rāy for particulars.

2471. Rājā Bēnī to Major Munro. The success and failure of the affairs of this world depend upon God, and whichever side He favours, the same will prosper. But to expatiate on this subject would be teaching wisdom to Luqmān.* Refers him to Suchit Rām for particulars. Whatever is proper will doubtless be done.

2472. Rājā Balwant Singh to Major Munro. Congratulates him on the victory. Has already performed the duties of obedience. Refers him to Suchit Rām for particulars. Has sent a congratulatory nazr of eleven gold mohurs. Hopes that it will be accepted.

Nov. 16.

2473. Munīru-d-daulah to Major Munro. As His Majesty is convinced of the loyalty of the Major and the English gentlemen and regards them as the support of his Empire, Suchīt Rām has been dispatched to him with a shuqqah and several presents. Hopes that the Major will obey the Royal commands, which will be a means of satisfaction to His Majesty, of happiness to the people, and of honour to him and the other noble chiefs of the English nation, and it is for the sake of honour that they wield their swords and spend their treasures. "Thanks be to Heaven" that God and the "Prophet" Jesus have imparted to the Major an illustrious name and a spirit of obedience to His Majesty. Now is the time for him to give such effectual proofs of the sincerity of his attachment as shall render it famous till the destruction of the universe. It shall be known throughout the world that the English chiefs seated the King of Hindustan upon the throne of his Empire. Is a well-wisher of the English. Desires him to send back Suchīt Rām with a reply to His Majesty's shuqqah.

Nov. 16.

2474. Proposal from the King and Munīru-d-daulah* to Major Munro. If the English intend to take possession of the country, they should pay the Royal revenues month by month. In the case of their conquering other territories, they should assign a part of the revenues thereof to the Royal Sarkār, attend in His Majesty's service, and regulate the whole Empire. If, on the other hand, it is not their intention to take possession of the country, he may be allowed to depart for the capital and the stipulated revenues of Bengal paid to him month by month. Is ready to act in whatever manner may be most agreeable to the English chiefs. Desires to know whether he should come to the English camp or remain where he is.

Nov. 16.

2474A. Major Munro to the King. Will write to the gentlemen of the Council and act agreeably to their directions. By the blessing of God, the English will put His Majesty in possession of the throne of Hindustan. Desires him to remain at Benares. The English chiefs will come there and pay their respects to him.

Nov. 16.

2475. Rājā Bēnī to Major Munro. If the English design to take possession of the country, they may enter into an alliance with the Wazīr and conquer as much territory as they can. His Highness will accompany them. They may keep a part of the revenues for themselves and assign a part to the Royal Sarkār. If on the other hand, they do not design to take possession of the country, they may enter into an alliance with the Wazīr and

Nov. 16.

2475 A. Major Munro to Rājā Bēnī. The English will not make peace with the Wazīr, unless Sumroo, Mīr Qāsim, and the Frenchmen are delivered up. Desires him to separate himself from His Highness. In consideration of his friendship for the English he shall be established in the Ṣūbahdāri in place of the Wazīr according to custom.

Nov. 16.

2476. Rājā Balwant Singh to Major Munro. Desires that if the English choose to possess themselves of the Wazīr's country, the sarkārs of Benares, Ghazipur, Jaunpur, and Bijaigarh may be leased out to him on the customary terms. Has commissioned Rājā Shitāb Rāy to settle this matter for him. Desires also to take upon himself the management of Azamgarh and two or three other districts. Requests the grant of the sanads. Hopes that Sartanja Danda [?] will be given to him rent-free as usual.

2476A. Major Munro to Rājā Balwant Singh. The sanads will be granted to him and he may hold the territories in question till the conclusion of the negotiations with the Wazīr.

Nov. 16.

2477. From Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Rājā Balwant Singh desires to hold Benares, Ghazipur, etc., which have long been under his jurisdiction and the revenues of which amount to 24 lākhs of rupees a year, on paying the customary rent, i.e., Rs. 1,70,000 per mensem. He likewise desires that in case the English should march onwards to conquer the country, Azamgarh and Kunda, which are close to Benares, may be added to his jurisdiction. The Rājā is a man who adheres to his engagements and pays his rents regularly. Hopes that his case will be favourably considered.

Nov. 18.

2478. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has written an order to Muḥammad Rīzā Khān on the subject of Mr. Rose's murder. Encloses it for the Governor's perusal and requests him to forward it.

1764.

Nov. 18.

2479. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed that His Excellency's mutasaddis behave with greater vigour and severity to Aḥsanu-l-lah Khān 'Āmil of Jessore, than to any other of the officers that have accounts to settle. For this there can be conceived no other reason than his being a nominee of the Governor. Desires that Nand Kumār may be sent to Calcutta with the said Khān's accounts. During the troubles, the Khān was directed to raise some troops for the protection of the country and to deliver the plundered goods to the gumāshdah of the Company's factory. Those circumstances were mentioned to His Excellency's mutasaddi, who promised to bring the account to Calcutta, but has not yet done so.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 207, pp. 189-190. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 95.]

Nov. 18.

2480. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Rām Chand Sēn says that he carried away the gumāshdah of Santipur factory because of a balance that was due from him on account of the rents. But it appears that he did not say a word before about rents, but sent the people into the factory on pretence that two *asāmīs had taken shelter there. Contends that even if his allegations were true, he was not justified in invading the factory and disturbing the Company's business. Hopes that His Excellency will inflict due punishment on him.

Nov. 24.

2481. From Bhawānī Pandit. Congratulates him on the English victory at Buxar. The Zamīndārs of Betagarh and Rampur have already been reduced to submission. Has crossed the Mahanaddi, and will shortly march to root out the rebellious Zamīndārs of Hariharpur, etc. Ragunāth Pandit must by this time have represented Rājā Jānūjī's desires to the Governor, who will have acted agreeably to the dictates of reason. Dated 16th November.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 286, pp. 560-562. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 50.]

Nov. 25.

2482. To the King. Has received his letter congratulating him on the victory gained by the English at Buxar. Approves of his remaining in the neighbourhood of Benares. Requests him to admit the English chiefs without apprehension into his presence. Will not be negligent in promoting to the utmost of his power the prosperity of His Majesty's affairs, the destruction of his enemies, and the welfare of the country. Thanks him for the presents. P.S.—Rājā Shitāb Rāy, who is in Calcutta, daily informs the Governor of the state of affairs in those parts.

1764.

Nov. 25.

2483. To Rājā Balwant Singh, Zamīndār of Ghazipur, etc. Is in receipt of his congratulatory letter and nagr. Has been informed of all particulars by Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Doubtless Major Munro will act in a manner suitable to the addressee's attachment to the English.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 210, pp. 193-194. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 103.]

Dec. 2.

2484. From Bhawānī Pandit. Has received his letter. At the time of Sheo Bhaṭ's dismissal, the Zamīndār of the fort of Dinganaul, which is near Cuttack, murdered Būli Khān, an adopted son of the said chief, and seized his horses and effects. Intends to encamp in the neighbourhood of Dinganaul in order to punish that villainous Zamīndār. The Governor must have heard how at the aforesaid time the Zamīndārs of Mourbhanj and Nilgiri plundered the inhabitants of some of the districts of Balasore and entered into a confederacy with Bhaskir Pandit, the late Faujdar of that place, who was greatly in arrears, and carried him away with his effects. The said Pandit is still at Nilgiri and has neglected paying the Government's revenues for the past two years. Thinks it necessary to call these people to account.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 287, pp. 563-564. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 50.]

Dec. 3.

2485. From the King. Although His Majesty, the Nawāb Mir Ja'far and the English tried to dissuade the Wazir from invading Azimabad, yet he would not listen. At length the Almighty chastised him, and "he saw what he saw with his own eyes." At Benares His Majesty separated from him and remained in the city. Major Munro and Captain Stables were admitted to the Presence and made happy by the Royal favours. This is not a time for delay. God has graciously bestowed another country on His Majesty and on the English, the well-wishers of his power. Desires that the Nawāb Mir Ja'far, Major Carnac, and Rājā Shitāb Rāy may speedily be sent to him with a powerful force. PS.—Tells the Governor not to let the opportunity slip out of his hands. If he delays, great evils will ensue. The treacherous enemy will again recover strength and be well prepared to revenge themselves.

(N.B.—The postscript was in the King's own hand.)

- Dec. 8. 2490. To the King. Mr. Vansittart having departed for Europe, the charge of Government has been left in the writer's hands. The English have always been loyal to the throne of Hindustan: and how much they are so to His Majesty's Royal person in particular will be perceived by the orders that have been given to Major Munro. The latter has full authority to treat with His Majesty on behalf of the English. Hopes that his representations will be attended to. Has been informed of His Majesty's commands by the Nawāb and Rājā Shitāb Rāy, who is about to return to the Presence. The Council heartily join with the writer in the above sentiments.

- Dec. 15. 2493. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has arrived at Augardip and will start for Daudpur the next day. Intends to enter the gal'ah on Friday, the 19th of Ḥumādā II, after prayers in an auspicious manner. Encloses a paper of news from the army. Requests that a thousand firelocks may be sent to him.
- Dec. 15. 2494. Bhawānī Pandit to Mr. Vansittart. Has received his letter. Will not proceed any further with his army. Intends to punish the Zamīndārs of Hariharpur and Nilgiri. Although there is no difference between the English and Rājā Jānūjī, yet as the frontiers of Hariharpur join those of Jellasure, it is probable that the inhabitants of 1764.

those parts may make false representations to the Governor and cause him to be displeased with the writer. Has therefore informed him of this repeatedly.

Dec. 15.

2495. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Refers to the dispute between Joseph White and Caur Lowāz [sic] about a jāgīr, and requests that it may be equitably settled. The former attends His Excellency at the city as desired.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 214, pp. 196-197. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 96.]

Dec. 16.

2496. To Muhammad Rizā Khān. Has spoken in his behalf to the Nawāb, who has promised to treat him kindly. Mr. Middleton, who now proceeds to the Darbār, will also protect him. Encloses a letter that has been written to the said gentleman on the subject.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 215, p. 197. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 100.]

Dec. 16.

2497. To Bhawānī Pandit. Has received his two letters to Mr. Vansittart. Will write to the Nawāb, who is at Maqsdabad, all the particulars mentioned in the addressee's letter. Has no doubt that His Excellency will take the necessary steps. Wishes him success in his task of reducing the rebellious zamindārs to submission. As those territories are so near those of the English, it is hoped that he will issue orders in the strongest terms to the effect that none of his straggling parties enter the districts of the English, as that would tend to diminish the harmony subsisting between the Marhattas and the English especially, as the writer is sending guns and forces that way. The affairs of the Company are in a flourishing condition. The Wazīr has been defeated and the King has come over to the camp of the English, who are now acting under his auspices. Has communicated this news to the addressee out of friendship. "Our fortune is certainly great and we are thankful to the Almighty for it."

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 216, pp. 197-198. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 89.]

Dec. 17.

2498. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Bhawānī Pandit, who is near Balasore, has an unusually large number of people with him. This naturally causes many alarming rumours to prevail. Whatever may be their designs, there can be no harm in preparing to prevent them doing mischief. This the writer is doing in Midnapur and Burdwan. Requests His Excellency to send 1,000 of his horse to Birbhum and to direct them to co-operate with the Company's army.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 217, p. 199. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65 p. 96.]

1764:

Dec. 18.

2499. To Bhawānī Pandit. Has heard that his forces are approaching English territory with the intention of entering it. The addressee knows that this is bound to cause a rupture between the Marhattas and the English. Does not therefore pay regard to the rumour. Desires him to take such measures as may give the lie thereto.

Dec. 18.

2500. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received the letter which His Excellency wrote from Motijhil. Refers him to Nob Kishn Munshi for particulars.

Dec. 20.

2501. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has arrived at Murshidabad. Will keep him informed of whatever may happen in the country.

Dec. 20.

2502. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Learns that Shāh Mal has dispossessed 'Arab 'Alī Khān of the parganahs of Serris and Kotambah and has been the occasion of disturbance and hurt to the samindāri. If in this manner the Sarkār is to be deprived of the collection of these valuable parganahs, His Excellency is at a loss how to discharge his debt amounting to more than a crore of rupees, and from whence will his brother the Nawāb Ihtirāmu-d-daulah furnish the monthly allowance of 2 lākhs for the use of the army. That allowance must now be received from Shāh Mal. Desires that Major Munro may be directed to dismiss the latter and to re-establish the 'āmil's of the Sarkār in their authority as before. Is amazed that the Major has not answered his letter nor the letters of his said brother. Encloses a copy of a letter from Shāh Mal to Sonāth Singh.

Dec. 20.

2502A. Shāh Mal to Sonāth Singh. Has received his letter. It is plain that the addressee has employed himself to some purpose in sending for the Nawāb's parwānah regarding the parganahs of Chainpur and Sasaram, and creating a disturbance. Has nothing to do with the Nawāb. It is the Major who has appointed the writer to his present office. Tells him upon the receipt of this letter to relinquish his post, otherwise he will incur the highest displeasure of the Major. The latter has dismissed the Faujdar of Chainpur and Sasaram from his presence with a khal'at. Warns him not to meddle with the parganah. "Observe I give you notice."

Dec. 20.

2503. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has ordered "the high in station" Mahārājā Nand Kumār to manage the business of the country and revenues, and to sit in the cutcherry of the khālīshah sharīfah. Accordingly the said Mahārājā on Sunday, the 21st of Ḥumādā II, sat in the above cutcherry, "and inspecting the papers of every district gave positive orders to each of his dependants to collect the money," whereof a large sum is due. As regards the restitution money, one lākh has been got ready and another will be in readiness soon. Will forward these two lākhs to Calcutta within four days.

Dec. 22.

2504. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Is glad to hear of his arrival at Maqṣudabad. Sends him by the hands of Nob Kishn a letter that has been written to Major Munro on the subject of Shāh Mal's mad proceedings. Hopes that this will set matters right; if not, other measures will be taken. Is pleased to hear that Nand Kumār has been appointed to attend to the accounts of the provinces. The speedy adjustment of them will soon enable His Excellency to discharge all his liabilities. It is attention to these points that can make the provinces flourish and His Excellency happy.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 220, pp. 200-201. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 96.]

Dec. 22.

2505. To Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Is glad to learn of his arrival at the city. The English army is at Benares. Expects every hour an account of an engagement. As soon as he hears of one, His Excellency will be informed of it. Hopes for letters.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1763-64, no. 221, pp. 201-202. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 102.]

Dec. 22.

2506. To the Wa'dahdār of Alipur. Understands from the representations of Mr. Galloway, the agent of the English gentlemen, that they are greatly imposed upon in their business particularly with regard to a contract for opium; and that although applications have been repeatedly made to the addressee for satisfaction, they have had no effect. This is so contrary to his duty to the Nawāb and to what the English have a right to expect, that if the Governor is not advised that full satisfaction is given, and that immediately, he will take such measures as the nature of the case may require.

Dec. 22.

2507. To Ṣadru-l-ḥaḳ Khān, Faujdār of Dinajpur. The gentlemen engaged in trade in the district of Dinajpur represent that their trade lies under impositions and that they are unable to procure the satisfaction which is their due. Complaints of this sort are neither to his credit nor to that of the writer. Hopes that strict justice will be done to the English gentlemen and those employed by them, without delay.

Dec. 23.

2508. From Bhawānī Pandit. The Nawāb and Rājā Dūlab Rām wrote to him that after their arrival at Calcutta, they would send bills to Mahārājā Jānūji for a sum and give the writer also something for the expenses of his army. Has also heard from the Mahārājā that everything has been settled through the means of Ragunāth Pandit, and that accordingly a part of the sum due together with some articles of value from Bengal will come by way of Cuttack; and the writer has been directed to forward them with all expedition to Nagpur. The Mahārājā could not have received this letter without the approbation of the Nawāb and the said Rājā, nor would they have sent it without the advice of the gentlemen of the Council. The steady adherence of Christians to their agreements is as manifest as the sun, nevertheless they have neglected to perform their promise in this respect. Hopes that the Governor will take such measures as may conduce to strengthen anew the bonds of the friendship which has so long subsisted between the Mahārājā and the Company. Is groaning under the burden of the expenses of the army.

Dec. 24.

2509. To the Faujdar of Katwa. Has been informed by Mr. Downes that the addressee has stopped a large quantity of salt and does not suffer the gumāshṭah employed to sell it without paying duty, notwithstanding the Company's dastak. This is so great an affront to the English that the Governor demands of him not only immediate observance of the dastak, but satisfaction to those concerned. If the addressee makes any hesitation in this respect, he will answer for the consequences, for such behaviour cannot be suffered to pass unnoticed.

Dec. 26.

2510. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Rājā Dūlab Rām has not yet come to Murshidabad. Understands that he is desirous of sending a writer there. As the payment of the cavalry, topkhānah, and the officers of His Excellency's household wholly depends on the accounts of the said Rājā, his not coming to Murshidabad will occasion loss and trouble to the Sarkār. It is impossible to entrust the management of these affairs to a writer. Hopes that the Rājā will be directed to return to Murshidabad and take care of his accounts. Requests to know if he makes any excuses, that some other expedient may be thought of.

Dec. 26.

2511. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his two letters together with a copy of his arzdashṭ to the King. Has dispatched on a boat two lākhs of rupees on account of the restitution money.

Dec. 26.

2512. From Nand Kumār. Has been attending to affairs of state since his arrival at Murshidabad with His Excellency. Has dispatched on a boat two lākhs of rupees on account of the restitution money. Hopes that it will reach Calcutta in five or six days. A list of the different kinds of rupees has been sent to Nob Kishn Munshi, who will deliver the same to the Governor. Is entirely devoted to the service of the Sarkār and the Company. For a long time, has had no opportunity even to inspect the affairs of the country for a week or ten days. Therefore if in any business relative to the Sarkār or the Company he should be two or three days behindhand, it is not to be helped. Now that he is employed in the management of affairs, the Governor will be convinced of his attachment to the Sarkār and friendship for the Company.

Dec. 27.

2513. From Bhawānī Pandit. Refers to the letters of the Nawāb and Rājā Dulab Rām to the effect that the mulezaddis of the Sarkār have settled matters with Ragunāth Pandit. Has come to those parts only to punish the rebellious zamindārs. Asks him to tell the officers of Jellasore and Midnapur not to be under any apprehensions. Has commanded his troops not to enter these chaklahs.

Dec. 29.

2517. Rājā Bēnī to Major Carnac. Has been invested by the Wazīr with full powers to negotiate a treaty with the English. As war and peace between great men are common all over the world, and as the Major has always been friendly, it is hoped that he will endeavour to lay the foundations of concord so strongly that it may be never disturbed and that the advantages arising therefrom may be daily apparent. Has the greatest confidence in his friendship. Refers him to Rājā Shitāb Rāy for particulars.

Dec. 30.

2518. From the Wazīr. Is glad to hear of his appointment to the Government of Calcutta. Has heard of his good qualities from Rājā Shitāb Rāy. However contrary it was to his inclination to make war on the English, yet by the will of Heaven and the treachery of "Qāsim" it has happened. Now that he is Governor of Calcutta, such a treaty may be established between the addressee and the English that like the "wall of Sikandar" it may remain immovable. Places the greatest confidence in his wisdom. Declares that if a treaty is concluded, he will not depart therefrom to the end of his life. Refers him for particulars to the letters of the Rājās Bēnī and Shitāb Rāy.

Dec. 30.

2519. From Rājā Bēnī. Is glad to hear of his appointment to the Government of Calcutta. Observes that in all places and at all times chiefs of renown, though they have esteemed friendship and a good understanding with other chiefs as the best of things, have nevertheless sometimes made wars and sometimes maintained peace, suffering amity to prevail over the desire for revenge. Hopes that the Governor agreeably to his friendly and benevolent disposition will think it good to establish a friendship with the Wazīr. Refers him to Rājā Shitāb Rāy for particulars.

Dec. 30.

2520. From Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Encloses letters from the Wazīr and Rājā Bēnī. Hopes that the Governor will return a suitable answer and that the present dispute will be put an end to by whatever means may be possible. Requests to be informed of the views of the Council on the subject. Will start for the Royal camp in three or four days. Professes attachment and hopes for letters.

Dec. 30.

2521. The Wazir to the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Whatever has come to pass through the evil influence of the stars, it is unnecessary to repeat. Has heard of his friendly disposition and sincerity of heart from Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Hopes that His Excellency will show a conciliatory spirit, that all contention may be removed and the foundations of friendship laid so strongly that no dispute may arise in future. Has long been in expectation of his letters.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 310, p. 591. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 83.]

Dec. 30.

2522. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. On examining the papers relating to Dacca, His Excellency finds that in the time of Mir Qāsim, Mirzā Muḥammad 'Alī agreed to pay for the chaklah of Dacca Rs. 38,86,242, of which only Rs. 29,63,181 were received. Now Muḥammad Rizā Khān is desirous of paying as the revenue of the above chaklah only Rs. 26,19,178 i.e., Rs. 12,67,064 less than the sum originally agreed upon. In all he has paid Rs. 3,82,105 and is indebted to the Sarkār for the remainder. The year is about to come to an end. Asks when this large sum will be paid. When the affairs of the revenue are so badly regulated in rich districts, very great sums will obviously be lost in other parts. Perhaps some one at Calcutta has made the said Khān easy by telling him that no one will trouble him about the balances; and that is why he has been so remiss in the payment thereof. If he settles matters with His Excellency, it is well; otherwise whatever may be conducive to the realisation of the money will be done.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1763-64, no. 311, pp. 592-593. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 62.]

Dec. 30.

2523. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. The Nawāb has after a long conversation consented to receive in payment about Rs. 27,60,000. Represents that the country has been entirely ruined by famine and that for the last six months during which he has been detained at Murshidabad, the affairs of Dacca have been in a state of confusion. The Nawāb is displeased with him. Although His Excellency says that of this large sum if two or three lakhs of rupees remain unpaid, they will be accounted for by the Sarkār in the next year's payment and not demanded of him now, yet he cannot put any trust in this promise. Will wait on His Excellency at Muradbagh and deliver him the Governor's letter.

Dec. 31.

2524. From the King. Has been made acquainted with his journey through the 'arṣi of Shujā'u-l-mulk [Mir Jafar]. Thanks God that his kingdom is in a flourishing condition through the efforts of men sincerely attached to him. Orders that the title "Munawwaru-l-mulk Muḥammad-ṣ-ṣanīyah (the Splendid Sultan of Bengal)" and sends him a khalkat through Tamiz Subah.

2524A. Intelligence from Femut [sic] Rām, Rājā Shitāb Rāy's wakil. The Wazīr invited the Marhattas by bribes to his assistance, but they refused to listen to him. His Highness is consequently uneasy. [Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 63.]

Jan. 1.

2525. To the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter saying that Major Munro and Mr. Billers are endeavouring to procure jāgirs in these provinces from the King. Assures him that there is not the least truth in such reports. These gentlemen will not take a step of this sort without informing the Governor of it; and His Excellency's revenues will not be lessened by such grants. Muḥammad Rīzā Khān has always been represented to the Governor as one attached to the Nawāb's family and to the English also. He gave proof of it by accepting service for the general good in such distracted times. Is persuaded that he will not reckon improperly on any influence, but will behave to His Excellency as a dutiful servant. Hopes that he will be shown all reasonable favours. Has written to Mr. Middleton fully on the subject. Thanks him for sending the letters he has received from Shujā'u-d-daulah. The Governor has also heard from the latter and Rājā Bēnī. It is strange that the Wazīr has not made overtures to the Council through Major Munro, though Rājā Bēnī was instructed to that effect. The Rājā was also acquainted with the chief demand of the English, i.e. the delivering up of Mīr Qāsim, Sumroo, and the deserters. But in the letters received from the Wazīr and the Rājā not the least notice has been taken of this. Moreover, His Highness is again ready for war. Defers therefore writing to them till he hears from His Excellency. Is writing to Rājā Shitāb Rāy to the same effect. Encloses a copy of a letter received from the King.

Jan. 3.

2526. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed that the family of Munīru-d-daulah has arrived at Patna and that the King's family is proceeding there. Accordingly Mr. Billers is procuring houses for their accommodation, and has fixed upon the residence of Rājā Rām Narāyan for the reception of the King's family. Does not think it proper that they should stay in the city. In the first place the latter will go out of His Excellency's hands; and in the second place it will occasion numberless inconveniences. Requests that Mr. Billers may be directed to get ready a place for the reception of the King's family in some garden outside the city. Has written to his brother Ihtirāmu-d-daulah to the same effect. Has left all his goods and effects in the house of Rājā Rām Narāyan. But Mr. Billers is bent upon having it vacated.

quickly and attend to the accounts of the cavalry, top khānah, and shāgirdpēshah, which are in great confusion. In case he delays and is not inclined to obedience, there is no help for it.

Jan. 5.

2528. From the King. Has received his letter enclosing a nāzr of 101 gold mohurs. Expresses pleasure at his appointment to manage the Company's affairs. Will agree to whatever Major Munro represents. Is glad to learn that Rājā Shitāb Rāy has been dispatched to the Presence. Believes that the gentlemen of the Council are, like the Governor himself, steady in affection and respect.

Jan. 5.

2529. To Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Has received the letters he enclosed from Shujā'u-d daulah and Rājā Bēnī. Asks how he can return a satisfactory answer when they have not taken the least notice of the demands of the English. Moreover, it is difficult to reconcile the Wazir's professions with his actions. On the one hand, he says that he is desirous of peace; while on the other hand, he has come back with his army, though without doing himself any good. Has written to His Excellency on this head and is awaiting his answer.

Jan. 8.

2530. The Wazir to Major Munro. Has learnt everything from the representations of Mīr Muḥammad Raḥīm Khān. Has long been convinced of the Major's friendly disposition towards the writer. Desires that Captain Stables, who is a man of knowledge and foresight, may be sent to treat with him. Refers him to the said Khān for particulars.

Jan. 8.

2531. Major Munro to the Wazir. If Mīr Qāsim, Sumroo, and the Frenchmen are delivered up, Captain Stables will be sent to him; if not, the Major will not desist from this pursuit as long as one Englishman is left alive. Tells him that if he does not agree to the above condition, he should not write any more letters, for they will not be replied to.

Jan. 9.

2532. From the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. With regard to the sum of two lākhs of rupees to be paid at Patna for the use of the English army, Mr. Billers insists on being paid in sikkah rupees. As the collection of the revenues is made in the coins of different reigns, inquires how he can be paid in sikkah rupees and how His Excellency's loss in the ḥaṭṭah is to be made good. Requests that the said gentleman may be written to on the subject.

1765.

Jan. 9. 2533. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed by Nawāb Ihtirāmu-d-daulah that the insurrection of Rām Nidī in the sarkār of Saran is at a great height and that the zamīndārs there too are in alliance with him. Accordingly it is reported that he has with him nearly 7 or 8 thousand horse and foot. Has written to the said Nawāb to reconcile the zamīndārs and to send Himmat 'Alī, who is at Patna, back to Saran. Requests that Major Munro may also be ordered to dispatch speedily a body of Europeans and sepoys to that sarkār to put down the insurrection.

[Jan. 9.] 2533A. News from Delhi. Najibu-d-daulah has been defeated by Jawāhir Singh, and has retired into the fort. The city has fallen into the hands of Jawāhir Singh. Najibu-d-daulah is desirous of going to his own country through the assistance of the Marhattas, who together with a few Sikhs are stationed round the army of Jawāhir Singh.

Jan. 10. 2534. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Has written to Rām Charan Rāy explaining how he was confined in the fort, how a guard of harkārahs was stationed at his house, and how at last he was released through the favour of Mr. Middleton. The said Rāy will inform the Governor of everything. Mr. Middleton shows the writer the greatest kindness. On Wednesday last, he sent for Mahārājā Nand Kumār and himself to Muradbagh with a view to the adjustment of his affairs. It was settled that Rs. 26,86,000 should be paid on account of the present year and Rs. 1,30,000 as the arrears of last year. The Mahārājā in the presence of the said gentleman said that if 2 or 3 lākhs remained due at the end of the year, they would be received with the revenues of the ensuing year. Represents that as the present [Fasli] year is nearly over, it will be difficult for him to pay so large a sum unless he is given two or three months' time in the next year. It is now six months since he was first unjustly detained at Murshidabad. Accordingly the collection of the revenues has been stopped and the proper opportunity lost. The Mahārājā has told Mr. Middleton that he will inform the Nawāb of this and make out the papers of the agreement. Hopes for protection.

Jan. 10. 2535. From Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Has received his letter. The Wazir and Rājā Bēnī write to say that they cannot deliver up the enemies—Mir Qāsim, because it would be inconsistent with humanity, he being their guest; the Frenchmen, because during the engagement they withdrew themselves and went away; and Sumroo, because he is now out of their power. They promise, however, to expel him from the country. If the English can forgo their demand for the said persons, and have in view the happiness of the people, they should come to terms with the Wazir that their reputation may be established to the end of the world. For the rest, whatever seems most advisable to the Governor and the Nawāb is best. Is proceeding to the Royal camp, where he hopes to see Major Munro Will act according to the latter's instructions. Requests to be mentioned again to the Major in a private letter.

Jan. 10.

2536. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has received his letter. Agrees with the Governor that under the circumstances, peace cannot be made with the Wazir. Requests to be favoured with a copy of what the Governor will write to the latter, that His Excellency also may write to him to the same effect. The English letter written by the Governor to Mr. Billers directing him to accommodate the King's family outside the city and not in the house of Rājā Rām Narāyan, has been received and forwarded to Patna. Hopes that that gentleman will act according to the instructions contained therein. As to Muḥammad Rizā Khān, the Governor must have heard everything from Mr. Middleton. The Khān has paid only about Rs. 3,82,000 and is in arrears to the amount of 17 lākhs of rupees owing to his carelessness and inattention to the collection of the revenues. Moreover, from the beginning of Pūs to the end of the year, there is a demand on him for another sum. Accordingly one day His Excellency was urgent with him for the payment of his arrears. But since that day the Khān has not been much troubled about them. He is at his ease in his own house; and if anything to the contrary has been reported to the Governor, it is utterly false. Hopes that such talk will not be given credit to, for His Excellency has no desire beyond promoting the good and welfare of his friends. As the above Khān is one of his dependants and an old friend, asks how he can think of doing anything to his prejudice. This was the custom of that "vile wretch Qāsim." Hopes that no such suspicions will be entertained with regard to himself.

Jan. 12.

2537. To Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter together with a nagrānah of 9 gold rupees. Is glad to learn that his affairs have been settled, as it will tend to the benefit of the country, the Nawāb, and the English.

Jan. 12.

2538. To Muhammad Rizā Khān. Is glad to learn that everything has been settled in a satisfactory manner. Advises him to exert himself to the utmost in the business of the country. By doing so he will not only please and oblige the Nawāb, but will also continue to deserve the friendship of the English. He may always rely on the 1765.

Governor for support as far as is consistent with honour and justice. Hopes that this will not make a man of his understanding forget the respect that is due to the Nawāb as prince of the country.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 4, p. 4. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 112.]

- Jan. 12. 2539. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. On receipt of His Excellency's letter, the Governor sent for Rājā Dūlab Rām and represented to him the inconveniences that might arise by his not returning to Murshidabad. Accordingly the Rājā now sends all the people of his office together with his brother Rājā Bindrāban; and he himself will follow as soon as he is able, as His Excellency will learn from the enclosed letters. The Rājā assures the Governor that he is ready to perform all the duties of a faithful servant to the Sarkār, and requests him to represent the same to His Excellency. He mentions his being in advance for some considerable disbursements on the Government, which he has been told to lay before the Nawāb. Hopes that the measures that have now been taken will prevent the inconveniences His Excellency was afraid of. Requests to be informed of his sentiments regarding this affair.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 5, pp. 4-5. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 109.]

- Jan. 14. 2540. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has received his letter regarding the coming of the King and his family to Patna, and expressing anxiety thereat. Replies that there are many reasons why His Majesty cannot come this way. Besides, the Governor has not received any advice of it from the army. Tells him not to be uneasy on this account. Has written to Mr. Billers on the subject.

- Jan. 14. 2541. To the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. Has written to the gentlemen at Patna and the officers of the army. Hopes that the necessary attention will without fail be paid to the affairs at Saran. Major Carnac must by this time have reached Murshidabad. His Excellency can speak to him about this business, as he is going up to take the command of the army. As to the baṭṭāh on the rupees paid at Patna, Mr. Billers has been instructed not to dispute about this matter there, but to leave it to be settled between His Excellency and the Board at Calcutta. Is glad to learn that His Excellency looks upon Muḥammad Rizā Khān in so favourable a light. The English believe him to be a well-wisher of the Sarkār, otherwise he would not have received any support from them. Has been informed by Mr. Middleton of everything, with which the Governor is satisfied. Hopes that His Excellency will receive benefit from the Khān's services at Dacca. Has written to him that if he expects any friendship from the English, he should show himself a faithful and diligent servant to the Sarkār. Has been informed of His Excellency's friendly sentiments regarding himself by Rājā Nand Kumār and Nob K. shn Munshi.

2542. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has been informed that a battle took place in the sarkār of Saran between the Nāib of Himmat 'Alī on the one side and Rām Nidī and Barkat 'Alī on the other, and that the said Nāib was slain. Encloses a copy of a letter he has received from the Nawāb Ihtirāmu-d-daulah together with a paper of news from Murlidhar Harkārah on the subject. Requests that the Chief of Patna and the officers of the army may be directed to take care of the sarkār of Saran. As His Excellency has, in compliance with the desire of the Council, dismissed most of his troops, he is not in a position to put down the disturbance. Is alarmed at the thought of what may happen.

2543. Ihtirāmu-d-daulah to the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Encloses a paper of news containing an account of a battle fought between the Nāib of Himmat 'Alī and Rām Nidī, and resulting in the death of the Nāib. Requests His Excellency to address the Governor and Mr. Billers on the subject. The writer himself is going to represent this matter to the said gentleman. Will inform His Excellency of whatever is agreed upon.

Jan. 20.

2543A. Paper of news from Murlidhar Harkārah. A battle was fought on the 7th of January at the village of Haswa which is at a distance of three kos from the town [? Saran]; 300 men were slain on either side. The writer heard this news from other harkārahs who were not [?] eye-witnesses of the fact.

Jan. 26.

2544. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has forwarded the several English letters written by the Governor to Mr. Billers and Major Munro. Hopes that they will act according to the instructions contained therein. Understands that the Nawāb Ihtirāmu-d-daulah, his brother, has put the body of horse and foot that were with him, under the command of Mīr Murād 'Alī and enjoined the zamīndārs everywhere to come to his assistance and join his forces by the river Gandak. The said Nawāb has also discoursed with Mr. Billers and Major Munro, who is now at Patna, about sending a body of Europeans and sepoys, but whether they are to be sent or not, nothing has yet been resolved on. Learns that Major Munro is bringing with him Asadu-l-lāh [Asad] Khān, brother to Mīr Muḥammadī Khān, who has been nominated by the King for the government of Purnea, and encourages him with hopes. Represents that if such people are put into power and have the management of affairs, it cannot fail to be prejudicial to His Excellency's business. Hopes that the Governor will not agree to this. Approves of his sending a letter of advice to Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. God grant that he exert himself in complying with the gistbandi which he has agreed to. As to Rājā Dūlab Rām, he may look upon His Excellency's house as his own. There is no one to contradict him. But if he will not come, His Excellency is without remedy. Has repeatedly written that in case he delayed in coming, the business dependant on him must be greatly prejudiced. Consequently the sooner he arrives, the better. The difference between his transacting the business himself and its being left to the management of another is most evident. As to his saying that he has made some disbursements on account of the Sarkār, so far as His Excellency knows, he has not expended a single kauri. The wages of the men with him have been paid by the Sarkār, and the pay of those men is entirely at his disposal whether he keeps them with him or not. Requests that the Rājā may be pressed to return to Murshidabad. As regards the Dutch, Nob Kishn has been written to. He will inform the Governor of everything. Asks him not to entertain any doubts.

Jan. 26.

2545. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. The khal'ats and other favours which His Majesty has been graciously pleased to confer on the writer, the General [Carnac], and the Governor arrived at Murshidabad under the care of Khwājah I'timād Khān. On Tuesday, the 29th of Rajab between the hours of 4 and 5 in the afternoon, His Excellency and the General put on their khal'ats. Hopes that the Governor will also dress himself in his khal'at according to custom. The General is awaiting the arrival of Major Munro, who is now at Mincoot. It is not yet known whether he will proceed by this road to Calcutta or by way of Jellingy. It appears that the Major is bringing with him the Nawāb Asadu-l-lāh Khān [Asad] and Shāh Mal, to whom he has promised jāgirs and offices. Represents that if they obtain their desires, it will be the means of injuring His Excellency's affairs.

Jan. 27.

2546. From Rājā Shitāb Rāy. The writer took his leave of His Excellency on the 12th of Rajab and arrived at Patna, where he had the pleasure of seeing Major Munro. The particulars of the conference which Captain Stables has had with Shujā'u-d-daulah must have been made known to the Governor by this time. The Wazīr, now ashamed of his actions, sues for peace in a suppliant manner. He says that Mir Qāsim being his guest, he cannot give that man up, but promises to expel him from his country and to make away with him by some means or other. If these terms are agreeable to the English, they should take a firm covenant from him and make peace, that their renown may spread throughout the countries of Hindustan and that the prayers of multitudes may be offered up for them. As for the rest, whatever appears most advisable to the Governor is best. Has no other business but to act for the satisfaction of the English and the happiness of the people; and it is entirely from these motives that he has written this. Hopes that the Governor will now think of replying to the letters of the Wazir and Rājā Bēnī. Is going to the King; and as the Wazir will be very near, he will naturally expect the writer to give him some account of affairs. Requests therefore to be acquainted with the Governor's pleasure.

Jan. 27. 2547.* From the King. Has received his *'arṣdāsh*t and nagr. Is glad to learn that the Governor is so faithfully attached to the Royal service. Will grant whatever requests he may make. Sends him a horse and a sarpech set with jewels.

Jan. 29. 2548. From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Major Munro and Captain Stables paid him a visit on the 26th January and brought Asadu-l-lāh [Asad] Khān with them. Hopes that the Khān will not be granted any jāgir or post in Bengal. General Carnac has set out for Patna.

Feb. 7. 2549.† From the Nawāb Mir Ja'far. Has already informed the Governor of the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah having taken his seat on the masnad and put on the khāl'at. Mr Middleton also must have written to the Governor about this. Has been ill for some days and his disorder daily increases. Consequently sees no hope of recovery. If he should recover his health, he will acquaint the Governor fully with his affairs; but if it should happen otherwise, he commits the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah, the Nawāb Najābat 'Alī Khān, the Nawāb Mubāraku-d-daulah and the rest of his family together with Rājā Nand Kumār to the care and protection of the Governor and the gentlemen of the Council. Hopes that the said persons will receive the same kindness as they were used to during His Excellency's lifetime. PS.—Requests that this letter may be answered soon. "Your servant" Rājā Nand Kumār is ready in obedience and attachment. PS.—It is hoped that "we" shall receive the same kindness from the Governor and the gentlemen of the Council as "we" did from the Nawāb.

* Enclosed in Rājā Shitāb Rāy's letter.

† This is the last letter from the Nawāb Mir Ja'far, as he died on the 6th Feb. 1765

1765.

Feb. 7.

2551. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Intimates that the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far, his father, breathed his last on Tuesday, the 14th of Sha'bān at a quarter past one in the afternoon. Immediately on hearing the news, Mr. Middleton, Mr. George Gray, Mr. Stables, Mr. Droze, etc., came to condole with the writer, who by their advice and counsel took his seat on the masnad and caused this to be proclaimed throughout the city. As he considers it his duty to promote the interest of the people and the prosperity of the country, he will set about this work with great eagerness. Hopes for protection. Remains firm to the agreement made by the late Nawāb with the English.

(N.B.—The Nawāb wrote a similar letter to the Council.)

Feb. 7.

2552. From Rājā Nand Kumār. On the 7th of Sha'bān His Excellency the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far by reason of the severity of his illness left off the management of affairs and wrote to the Governor of his having seated his son the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah in his place on the masnad. From that time His Excellency's malady daily increased and he grew more and more feeble. This morning, the 14th of Sha'bān, he called for the writer and placing him by his side, rested his head on his lap and spoke very much about his affairs. The particulars thereof are too tedious to admit of a repetition, but the substance of them was that the writer should get a letter written and dispatched to the Governor recommending his son Najmu-d-daulah and the rest of his family together with the writer. By the time this business was ended it was 12 o'clock. Then His Excellency's countenance denoted impossibility of recovery and within three gharis he "departed from this perishable world to one that is everlasting." "To relate the excess of our grief and affliction on this occasion would require volumes." Mr. Middleton, Mr. George Gray, Mr. Droze, and other gentlemen hastened to comfort the children of His Excellency and were unanimous in advising Najmu-d-daulah not to give way to sorrow and lamentation, but to administer consolation to others. Accordingly, the young Nawāb sat on the masnad. He hopes for the support of the Governor to whom he has written a letter containing an account of these particulars. "By the grace of God" he will in no wise be remiss in the business of the Company and in endeavouring to please the Governor and promote the welfare of the people. He will manifest even a greater affection for the English than did the late Nawāb. In performing the duties of a well-wisher, the writer will also do more than he did before. And as the late Nawāb before he died recommended the writer to the care of the English, it is hoped that he too will be favoured and supported.

Feb. 10.

2553. From the King. Has been informed that some malevolent person has written to the Governor and the gentlemen at Calcutta things to the prejudice of "our beloved and worthy servant" Asad Khān. Declares that what has been written is a scandalous falsehood, and that the said Khān is an affectionate servant who has never acted but in conformity with the Royal pleasure and the good and happiness of His Majesty's subjects. Now he is proceeding to Calcutta with Major Munro and will pay the Governor a visit. As the ancestors of the said Khān have, in the service of the Royal family, been honoured with posts of importance, and as he has been firm in loyalty and attachment to "our sacred person," it is hoped that the Governor will treat him in a proper and becoming manner.

Feb. 11.

2554. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. It is with much concern that he has heard of the demise of his valued friend the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far. His grief is more than he can express. But as grief is ineffectual, the will of God on these occasions must be submitted to with patience. The friendship that subsisted between the Company and the late Nawāb induces the English to support his family. Consequently the Governor and the gentlemen of the Council are considering measures most conducive to the welfare of that family and the good of the country. As soon as a decision is arrived at, the addressee will be informed thereof. Offers condolences to the rest of the family.

Feb. 13.

2555. The King to Major Fletcher. Has received his letter. Is glad to hear of his victory. Rājā Balwant Singh, who is at Lattigarh, has been summoned to the Presence. Upon his arrival, what the Major has written will be done. Will either set out himself or send Bairam Khān. The Captain has not yet arrived. Desires that he may be dispatched soon, that he may be there by the time of the Rājā's arrival.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 23, p. 21. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 95.]

Feb. 13.

2556. The King to Major Fletcher. Has received his letter. Is about to proceed towards Chunargarh. As regards Rājā Balwant Singh, he will not come to the Presence without the attainment of his desires and the completion of his business. Accordingly a list of his demands has been sent to the Major through Suchīt Rām. Desires him to write what he thinks of them. Desires him also to write to Najaf Khān, who is near the English camp. His Majesty will do the same. Agreeably to the Major's request, instructions have been sent to Ghulām Husain Khān, Qal'ahdār of Allahabad. Requests him to get the fort well prepared for His Majesty's reception immediately on taking possession of the same.

1765.

Feb. 13.

2557. Fath 'Ali Khān to Major Fletcher. Refers him to Tāhir Bēg Khān as to how he came into India and stayed with Aḥmad Shāh Durrānī. The writer was never remiss in his duty towards the Wazīr Shujā'ū-d-daulah. He attended His Highness as long as the latter remained in Oudh and left him only when he proposed going over to the Pathāns. The reason why the writer could not follow him to Rohilkhand can be learnt from the said Tāhir Bēg Khān. Had thought of proceeding towards the Deccan, when Ja'far Khān came and advised him to enter the service of the English. Desires that if they agree to treat him on the same footing with the English officers, some Englishman may be sent to satisfy him on this point and conduct him to the English camp, that he may serve the Company all his life. Otherwise he will go wherever he can get his living.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 25, p. 22. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 90.]

Feb. 13.

2558. Ja'far Khān to Major Fletcher. Fath 'Ali Khān is the son of a European officer. At first he was with Aḥmad Shāh Durrānī, who esteemed him highly. But when his enemies conspired against his life, he left the Shāh and joined Shujā'ū-d-daulah whom he served faithfully. He was thinking of proceeding towards the Deccan with 2,000 horse and 1,000 foot, when the writer saw him and advised him to enter the service of the English. He has promised to stay until the arrival of a reply to this letter. It is expedient for the English to secure the services of such an officer as this. Hopes that his demands will be agreed to and that he will be invited to the English camp.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 26, p. 23. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 92.]

Feb. 13.

2559. The Qal'ahdār of Chunargarh to Major Fletcher. Has received his letter saying that a battle has taken place between the Mussalman and English armies and that the fort [Jaunpur] has been delivered up to the English. If this is true, the writer will be acquainted with it in a few days. Desires him to enjoin the English army to remain where it is, till the writer receives this news from other sources. After it has arrived, whatever is the will of God will be done. The Major knows well that wherever the writer has been and whomsoever he has served, it has been his chief object to act as a faithful servant. There may indeed be some of his countrymen in the English army, but asks what reliance can be placed on them. There is no money in the fort. Generals of all nations are desirous of getting possession of the country and of making the usual collections therein.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 27, pp. 23-24. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 97.]

Feb. 13.

2560. Bairam Khān to Major Fletcher. The King has written to Nazr 'Ali Khān, Faujdar of Oudh and Faizabad, directing him to quiet the apprehensions of the zamīndārs and ryots there and to possess himself of the districts dependant on the said places. Requests the Major to write him a letter of encouragement. Has written this in obedience to the order of the King. Encloses a copy of His Majesty's letter to the said Khān.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 28, p. 24. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 89.]

Feb. 13.

2561. The King to Nazr 'Alī Khān. Desires him to manage the affairs of Oudh and Faizabad properly. He can keep as many troops as he may require for this purpose. The sanad will be sent to him on application. At present he should consider this letter as good as a sanad.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 29, pp. 24-25. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 89.]

Feb. 13.

2562. The Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah to the Council. Has sent Bābū Jagat Chand to Calcutta. Hopes that favourable attention will be paid to whatever the said person may represent and that the words of His Excellency's enemies will not be suffered to prevail. Solicits support and protection.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 30, p. 25. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 92.]

Feb. 13.

2563. From Muhammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter desiring him to attend to the management of his affairs and to behave properly to the Nawāb. Declares that his chief object is to please the Nawāb and act conformably to the wishes of the English gentlemen. Day and night he is thinking of how to increase his reputation.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 31, pp. 25-26. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 98.]

Feb. 16.

2564. The Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah to the Council. Is anxious to hear from the Council. Solicits support. Is applying himself diligently to the business of the Nizāmat. "If it please God" things will be managed more properly now than before. Refers them to Bābū Jagat Chand for particulars. Hopes that his representations will receive favourable consideration.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 32, p. 26. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 92.]

Feb. 20.

2565. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Mr. Johnstone and Mr. Leicester, two members of the Council, are proceeding to the city [Murshidabad]. They jointly with Messrs. Senior and Middleton will communicate to His Excellency fully the sentiments of the Governor and Council. Has no doubt that His Excellency will enter into the necessary engagements with the English. By so doing he may be sure of their firm support.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 9, p. 7. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 109.]

2566. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter saying that he is determined to support His Excellency in the 1765.

Subahdāri under engagements which will be communicated to him by some gentlemen of the Council, that those gentlemen will accordingly set out for Murshidabad immediately and place him on the masnad in due form, that afterwards he will be proclaimed at Dacca, Patna, and at the camp, that the Council are of opinion that Muḥammad Rīzā Khān will be of service to His Excellency, that therefore the Governor has written and sent His Excellency enclosed a letter for the said Khān directing him to repair to Murshidabad, and that a duplicate of this letter has been sent to the Khān at Dacca; assuring His Excellency of the firm resolution of the Council to defend him against his enemies; and desiring him to see that for the present the business is carried on by the persons who are entrusted therewith, and that for the future they make it their principal concern to prevent the least impediment from happening in the collection of the revenues and in the payment of the expenses of the army and the restitution money. Protests against Muḥammad Rīzā Khān being summoned to Murshidabad. The Khān has paid only 6 lākhs of rupees and a large sum is still due from him. If he leaves Dacca, the realisation of the money will be considerably delayed, in which case His Excellency will not be able to discharge his debt to the Company, etc., and this will be attributed to his ignorance. With the help of Mr. Middleton and others the business of the Nizāmat is being conducted in the most proper manner. Hitherto no such difficulties have arisen as to make His Excellency feel the want of other advisers. But supposing that any difficulty should arise, the Governor is not far off and His Excellency can get instructions from him. Under the circumstances, does not think it expedient to forward the Governor's letter to Muḥammad Rīzā Khān, but returns it to Calcutta. There remain only two months to complete the year. Requests that the summoning of the Khān to Murshidabad may be deferred until the expiration of that time, that it may be out of his power to make any excuse about the payment of the money due from him.

Feb. 21.

2567. The Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah to Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Mr. Spencer, Governor of Calcutta, wants him to come to Murshidabad. Is sure that he will execute every business so as to give His Excellency satisfaction; but as the Khān is in arrears, his coming to Murshidabad will certainly occasion a delay in the payment thereof. There now remain only two months to complete the year. Desires him to finish collecting the money within this time. Afterwards whatever is the Governor's pleasure will be done.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 34, pp. 29-30. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 92.]

Feb. 22.

2567A. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Rājā Dūlab Rām is now proceeding to Murshidabad. Hopes that he will serve the Nawāb faithfully.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 10, p. 7. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 109.]

1765.

Feb. 23.

2568. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter together with one from His Excellency to Muḥammad Rīzā Khān, and the other which the Governor asked him to forward to the Khān. Is surprised that His Excellency did not directly send on the letter to the said Khān. Expects that in consequence of the Governor's writing to the Khān in confidence to the effect that His Excellency will not in the least object to his coming to Murshidabad, he must have set out by this time. Consequently returns the two aforesaid enclosures and desires him to send the Khān the Governor's letter together with one from himself, summoning him to Murshidabad. The collection of the revenues cannot be delayed. The Khān will not act otherwise than as a faithful servant. Whenever he ceases to be so, he loses the friendship of the English. Tells His Excellency to hearken only to the advice of the Governor and Council on these occasions and to believe that they are firmly attached to him. Refers him for particulars to the two gentlemen of the Council, who have set out for Murshidabad and who will settle everything with him in a satisfactory manner.

Feb. 28.

2569. Major Fletcher to the King. A battle has been fought at Jalalpur. The enemy's forces, being unable to resist the English arms, fled towards Oudh. The English troops are encamped a little beyond Jaunpur, through which city they passed in pursuit of the enemy. Requests His Majesty to march to Chunargarh, whither Captain Galliez will accompany him, and where the English army will shortly arrive. In case His Majesty is not inclined to march himself to that place, he may be pleased to order the Nawāb Bairam Khān to proceed there with the said Captain. Requests him also to direct the Commander of Chunargarh to surrender the fort on the arrival of the English troops, and in such case to assure him of the Royal favour. Dated 20th Jan.

Feb. 28.

2570. Major Fletcher to Najaf Khān. The English army marched from Benares to Jalalpur, where Shujā'u-d-daulah and Sumroo were encamped. There a battle was fought. The enemy being unable to resist the English arms fled towards Oudh and part of their baggage fell into the hands of the English. The English army pursued them to Jaunpur, drove them from thence and took possession of the fort. Will remain there a day or two to settle the affairs of those parts, and then proceed with all expedition to Allahabad. Desires the Khān to hasten thither immediately and collect all the boats that he can get for the English army to cross the river. Will arrive speedily and put him in possession of the fort. Has not yet received any answer to his last letter. Desires to be informed of the progress he has made. Dated 22nd Jan.

1765.

Feb. 28.

2571. Major Fletcher to the Qal'ahdār of Chunargarh. Intimates that the Wazir has been defeated and that Jaunpur has fallen into the hands of the English. A portion of the English troops will now proceed to Chunargarh. Desires him to deliver up the fort. If he does so, he will be favoured equally by His Majesty and the Company; if not, the fort will be taken by force and he and his people will be put to the sword. Dated 22nd Jan.

2572. Major Fletcher to Rājā Bēnī. By the blessing of God, the Rājā has himself seen how powerless Shujā'u-d-daulah is to oppose the English arms. Now that the English troops are victorious and the fort of Jaunpur has fallen into their hands, it is proper that the Rājā should without fear join them. In such case he will be equally favoured by His Majesty and the Company. The sooner he comes over, the better. Dated 22nd Jan.

Feb. 28.

2573. Major Fletcher to the King. Will march towards Allahabad the next day. His Majesty can proceed there if he likes. Major Stibbert has been sent with some forces to besiege Chunargarh. Has written to Rājā Balwant Singh to proceed with his troops to Allahabad and there join the English. Requests that His Majesty also may write to him to the same effect. 2582. Major Fletcher to the King. As Najaf Khān is a faithful servant of the Imperial Court, and is ready to pay whatever māl-guzāri His Majesty may be pleased to fix, and as several of the zamīndārs of Oudh have made their submission to him, and lastly as Aḥmad Khān has been of no manner of service to His Majesty, it is requested that he may be granted the sanads for the province of 1765.

Oudh. If the sanads are granted to Ahmad Khān, he and Najaf Khān will always be quarrelling about their respective parganahs which Shujā'u-d-daulah separated from one province and annexed to the other. Moreover, if the two provinces are given to one and the same person, he will have it in his power to render His Majesty effectual service, whenever the Imperial standards are moved towards the capital. Encloses an address which Najaf Khān has written His Majesty on this subject. Hopes that the proposal will meet with his Royal approbation. Dated 5th Feb.

Requests that it may be signed and sealed by Major Fletcher Mustai'd Jang, Mr. Marriott Sarfarāzu-d-daulah, and Mr. George Hoshyār Jang, and dispatched with all expedition, that the Rājā being satisfied may be ready in attendance on His Majesty. Feb. 28.

2585. Rājā Balwant Singh to Major Fletcher. As desired, has sent Bābū Samīr Singh, his brother's son, to the Royal presence and to the addressee with an army. Those in the fort are much afraid of the English army. Hopes that the fort will soon be taken. Has already written to the Major that the zamindārs of Ghazipur have stopped the public roads, and that until some troops are dispatched to punish them, no regulations can be made. The country around Benares is in a ruinous condition, and several places about Jaunpur have been taken possession of by a seditious rabble. As the year is nearly over, the writer is desirous of collecting in time what remains due of the revenues of the Sarkār. "The country is your own and by your favour it will be settled." Requests that the treaty sent to the addressee by the King may be signed and sealed, and soon returned to the writer that he may wait on the officers commanding the fort and acquaint them fully with the state of his affairs. Since his interview with Major Munro and Captain Stables, he looks upon the English Company as his only protector.

Feb. 28.

2586. Major Fletcher to Rājā Balwant Singh. Has received his several letters. Agreeably to his request, the company of sepoy's that was at Buxar has been ordered to go to Ghazipur and assist him. Has accordingly written an order to the Sūbahdār at Buxar and directed Mr. Marriott to forward it to the addressee. The paper of articles of which the latter writes, has not yet arrived. But the agreement forwarded by His Majesty has been sent back to him after having been signed and sealed by Mr. Marriott and himself. Tells him to attend in His Majesty's service without fear. If he surrenders the fort, he will be allowed to march out with his troops, dependants and servants together with their private effects. The English troops will conduct him wheresoever he may be desirous of going. While he and his people remain with the writer, no one will injure them. Promises to make peace between him and Najaf Khān. Dated 7th Feb.

Feb. 28.

2588. Rahīm Khān to Major Fletcher. When the writer after having negotiated with the English, returned to the Wazīr, he advised His Highness to make peace with them by accepting their condition, but to no effect. The more he was spoken to on the subject, the more angry he grew, saying that the writer had become a friend to the English. The Wazīr is now at Lucknow, and the writer has separated himself from His Highness and remains at Faizabad with 1765.

3,000 Moghals and the same number of Indian horse and foot. His Highness daily writes to summon him to Lucknow, but he delays going there on account of the expectations he has of the alliance and friendship of the English. Desires to know if they are willing to receive him into their favour and protection. In such case Mr. George Vansittart may be directed to meet him at some place near Akbarpur, that a treaty may be drawn up and that he may at once join the English army with his troops. If the English treat him with esteem and affection, everyone will covet their protection and other Moghals will desert Shujā'u-d-daulah and come over to them.

Feb. 28. 2589. Major Fletcher to Rahīm Khān. Has received his letter. Looks upon him as a person of great worth and would be glad of his alliance, but such a force is not wanted in the Company's service. Desires him to come and join Najaf Khān, who has himself written to him on the subject. Dated 8th Feb.

Accordingly Khwājah Karīm-u-d-dīn Ali, Muḥammad Pannā Khān, and Muḥammad Bakhs̄h, brothers of the said Khān, will arrive at Allahabad soon. Hopes that they will be established in the above offices.

Feb. 28. 2592. The King to Major Fletcher. Has received his letter recommending Najaf Khān for the Sūbahdārship of Oudh. Replies that, after his arrival at Allahabad, whatever may appear advisable with regard to the said Khān will be done.

Feb. 28. 2593. Major Fletcher to the King. Has received his letter regarding Najaf Khān. It was for His Majesty's interest that the writer recommended him for the Sūbahdārship of Oudh. He exerted himself in a proper manner during the siège of Allahabad; and in case of any troops now marching to Lucknow, there would be no time lost in settling the country, as he is ready to accompany them. However the writer is ready to act as may be most agreeable to His Majesty's pleasure. The apartments in the fort are now being got ready for His Majesty's reception. Dated 13th Feb.

Feb. 28.

2594. Rājā Shitāb Rāy to Major Fletcher. Has been informed of his victory over Shujā'u-d-daulah. There is no doubt about the valour and intrepidity of the English, but as the enemy have long been accustomed to wily and deceitful acts, it is necessary that he should act with a little consideration and forethought. God forbid that in that strange country the enemy should intercept the provisions of the English army. It is not therefore advisable to leave Benares at a distance. Has said so much out of the sincerity of his heart. To say anything more would be teaching wisdom to Luqmān.* Nawāb Ihtirāmu-d-daulah has also written to the Major on the subject. Hopes to have the happiness of embracing him soon.

2595. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter promising support and recommending Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Has thrice written to the latter summoning him to Murshidabad, but he has not yet arrived. Hopes that the new measures will prove beneficial to the people and promote the prosperity of the country. The gentlemen of the Council, who have visited him, have informed him of all particulars. Has signed the old treaty together with the several articles that have been newly added thereto.

Mar. 5.

2596. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Intimates that Meßrs. Johnstone and Leycester have placed a guard over his servants and the officers of the khālīṣah sharīfah, and seized on the papers of the present and past years. As he is quite ready to discharge his debt to the Company, the merchants, etc., and is doing as much as lies in his power, he cannot imagine from whence this slighting treatment can proceed. Requests the Governor to write to the said gentlemen what he judges proper. On the 8th of Ramāzān, His Excellency received a visit from Muḥammad Rīzā Khān and Rājā Dūlab Rām.

treated him with the greatest kindness. Cannot make a return for the favours conferred upon him. Is bound to serve the Governor with his heart and soul.

Mar. 6.

2598. From Rājā Dūlab Rām. He started from Calcutta on the 2nd of Ramāṣān and reached Motijhil on the 7th. The next day, agreeably to Mr. Johnstone's directions, he first waited upon the Nawāb, who treated him with great kindness. Afterwards he went to see Mr. Johnstone and the other gentlemen. Muḥammad Rīzā Khān has also arrived at Murshidabad and seen His Excellency and the gentlemen of the Council.

Mar. 6.

2599. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. This day, being Sunday, the 10th of Ramāṣān, His Excellency sat in the public cutcherry on the masnad at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and gave Messrs. Johnstone, Leycester, Senior, and Middleton each a khāl'at consisting of five pieces, a sarpēch set with jewels, a tēghah, a sword, a male elephant and a title. He also appointed Muḥammad Rīzā Khān to the Nāibship of the sābak and conferred upon him the above-mentioned presents, together with the title of Mu'īnu-d-daulah Muzaffar Jang. Has conferred khāl'ats, etc., also upon his brothers and friends. Refers him to the said gentlemen for particulars. (N.B.—The Nawab wrote a similar letter to the Council.)

2601. To Ihtirāmu-d-daulah. Directs him to observe the treaty made with Shāh Mal, when he delivered up the fort of Rohtas to Major Munro. Explains how necessary it is to be true to one's engagements. Has also written to the Nawāb on the subject.

Mar. 14.

2603. From Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Has not heard from him for a long time. The Governor must have been informed of his departure from Murshidabad to the Presence. On arriving at the King's camp, he waited on His Majesty together with General Carnac and wa honoured with a Khāl'at, a sword, a horse and an elephant. Afterwards conformably to the directions of the General and Mr. Marriott, he went to Rājā Balwant Singh, removed all his doubts and brought him back to the English army. At present, the writer is with the General at Allahabad and is ready and active in the transaction of the Company's affairs. The kindness with which the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah has been treated by the English, reflects great credit on them. Professes attachment.

Mar. 16. 2604. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter. Congratulates him on his accession to the masnad. Assures him that if he gives every proof of his attachment and good-will to the English, they on their part will be steady in conforming to the treaty made with him.

Mar. 17. 2605. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter. Muhammad Rīzā Khān is managing the business in a proper manner. Hopes that now it will be done better than formerly. Is resolved to remain firm to the treaty.

Mar. 17. 2606. From Muhammad Rīzā Khān. Has perused his letters to the Nawāb, which were conducive to the good of affairs in general. His Excellency has replied to these letters. Is firm in his respect and affection for the Nawāb and heartily ready to carry on the business of the Government and the Company.

Mar. 17. 2607. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. It is the duty of every man who wishes well to his friend to give information and advice of everything that relates to him. Is sorry to be under the necessity of communicating to him that which gives the writer pain and must also be very disagreeable to His Excellency. But love for the preservation of His Excellency's family and possessions, and anxiety for the protection of the Company's interests oblige him to do so. Has got some papers relative to Nand Kumār's correspondence with Balwant Singh, by which Nand Kumar's character appears to be so suspicious that it will be dangerous for His Excellency to keep that man about him till he has cleared himself from such imputations as are laid to his charge. As the proofs and witnesses are to be in Calcutta, His Excellency is requested to send him down. A fair and candid inquiry into his conduct; will be made by the gentlemen of the Board and a particular account thereof will be sent to His Excellency. Desires that he may not be considered persuaded of Nand Kumār's guilt beforehand. On the contrary, he sincerely wishes and hopes that the man will prove guiltless. But the writer's mind is uneasy, whilst such a charge is laid against a person, who has so much authority and rank in the country. Does not doubt that His Excellency will contribute all in his power to make him easy by sending Nand Kumār without delay. The gentlemen of the deputation have the orders of the Board to represent this affair to His Excellency. Hopes that he will remain perfectly satisfied with what they mention.

Mar. 19.

2608. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. States that it was the insinuations of selfish persons that led him to believe that Mr. Johnstone sent for the papers of the khālīṣah shārīfah with some evil design. Is now convinced that he did so solely with a view to promoting His Excellency's interests.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 70, p. 50. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 93.]

Mar. 20.

2609. General Carnac to Najību-d-daulah and the other chiefs of the Empire. Relates at considerable length how the English came to hostilities with Shujā'u-d-daulah and Mīr Qāsim, and eventually succeeded in overthrowing them. It is not the custom of the English to make war on anyone willingly or to interfere in the affairs of the country gratuitously. Only necessity obliges them to endeavour to defeat the designs of those who unjustly intend them evil. Accordingly Sirāju-d-daulah, Mīr Qāsim, and Shujā'u-d-daulah, who advanced against them with malicious designs, have all met with their deserts. Agreeably to the commands of the King of Britain and the Company, the English are ready and willing to obey Shāh Ālam and will heartily exert themselves in his service. Hopes that the addressees too will do the same and repair to the Presence, that they and the English in concert may regulate the affairs of the Empire. Whosoever is a loyal and affectionate subject to His Majesty, the same is a friend to the English and to the addressees; and whosoever fails in respect to the Imperial court, it shall be with him according to the saying of the sage Shaiḵh Sa'dī of Shiraz:—*“Whosoever turneth away his face from the presence of the Deity, whithersoever he goeth, will meet disgrace.” Dated 4th Mar.

Mar. 21.

2610. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Requests that letters of encouragement may be sent by the Governor and the Council to his uncle Nawāb Ihtirāmud-d-daulah Mīr Muḥammad Kāzīm Khān Bahādur Zafar Jang, and that Mr. Billers, Chief of Patna, may be directed to assist him in the management of the business there.

1765.

Mar. 21. 2611. From Rājā Dūlab Rām. Has received his letter saying that the writer will soon obtain his heart's desire and asking him to wait with patience and to act agreeably to what the Governor told him by word of mouth. Offers thanks. Will obey his commands, but asks what he should say about the behaviour of evil-minded people at Murshidabad. As the Governor is the protector of both the writer and the Nawāb Mu'īnu-d-daulah [Muhammad Rīzā Khān], it is requested that he will take such measures as may prevent any disturbance taking place. The more expedition is used in this affair, the better. Refers him to Rām Charan Rāy for particulars. P.S. The evil-minded people at Murshidabad, thinking that they have been disgraced and dishonoured by the appointment of Muhammad Rīzā Khān to the Nāibship and by the writer being vested with so much authority, have resolved to induce Qāim Bēg, Commander of the troops, to set on foot a disturbance under the pretence of arrears and take measures for cutting them off. These designing people are of opinion that if the English endeavour to assist the Nāib and the writer, the Commander's brother will be able to cope with the few troops that are at Murshidabad; and that as there is no great force in Calcutta which could call them to account, and as the army that is operating in the west cannot stir from thence, the conspirators will contrive to secure themselves by some means or other, when their business has been done. Qāim Bēg has consented to lend his support to the movement. Accordingly he is diligently getting in readiness guns, muskets and other implements of war, and is making a pretence about arrears. Muhammad Rīzā Khān has given the strictest orders to the mutasaddis of his troops to pay the arrears that are due. It remains to be seen what devices the said Bēg will adopt next. Muhammad Rīzā Khān also has written to the Governor on the subject.

2614. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. It gives him much concern of see that His Excellency should make the least hesitation in respect of Nand Kumār's coming to Calcutta to clear up a point that so nearly affects the English. The writer expected that His Excellency would show more confidence in him and the Council than he has done on the present occasion. It would give them all uneasiness to see His Excellency begin his Government almost by supporting a man accused so strongly of a crime that, if proved, renders him unworthy not only of their confidence but also of that of His Excellency. Desires him therefore to send the accused to Calcutta. Had it only concerned the affairs of His Excellency's Government, the English would have contented themselves with laying the case before him, leaving it to him to take such measures as might be necessary. But when Nand Kumār's delinquency strikes principally at them, they can have no confidence in a man so accused and suspected till the point is cleared up. His Excellency ought to consider it extremely necessary to increase the harmony subsisting between him and the English by sending down the accused immediately on receipt of this letter. He will have a fair and candid hearing and His Excellency will be apprised of everything. The trial cannot take place at the city, but only at Calcutta. It would be better if His Excellency were present thereat, but at such a juncture as the present, his absence from the city would throw his affairs into the utmost confusion. Therefore happy as the Governor would be at any other time to be honoured with a visit from him, the present time is so improper, that he must be requested not to think of such a thing, but to continue by his presence at the city to give currency to the affairs of the Government. Repeats strenuously his desire that Nand Kumār should be sent down without delay.

2615. From the King. In consideration of the strong and hearty attachment and affection, which the late Shujā'u-l-mulk [Mir Ja'far] showed for His Majesty, the latter was pleased to confer on him and his sons after him the Sūbahdārī of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa. Now that Mir Ja'far is dead, his eldest son Najmu-d-daulah is consequently appointed Sūbahdār. Is glad to learn that the English have already acknowledged him as such, an act which reflects great credit on them. Will soon send His Excellency the sanads with other Royal favours. As Mir Ja'far in his lifetime recommended to the Governor's care his son Najmu-d-daulah and the rest of his family and dependants, it is proper that he should, in consideration of his friendship for the late Nawāb and with a view to pleasing His Majesty, treat the son with a greater degree of regard and kindness.

than he did the father, looking upon the young Nawāb as a brother to himself, a sincere friend to all the English, and an affectionate subject to His Majesty.

Mar. 25.

2616. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. On the 19th instant in the evening, he told Rājā Nand Kumār that as many people went to Motijhil and spoke things to Mr. Johnstone in prejudice of them both and as the Rājā for want of leisure went but seldom there, thus causing that gentleman to entertain an ill opinion of him, he should go to Motijhil and pay a visit to the gentlemen there. Accordingly the next day in the morning the Rājā went from his own house direct to Motijhil and saw Messrs. Johnstone, Senior, Middleton, and Leycester. Having presented to them His Excellency's compliments and good wishes agreeably to their respective ranks, he sat down. Those gentlemen were just then preparing to come to His Excellency. The Rājā was desirous of accompanying them, but they told him to remain there as they would soon be back. Accordingly they left him under a guard and came to His Excellency with the Governor's letter of the 17th instant concerning the Rājā. On perusing it, finds that the charge against him now is the same as was preferred against him by Mir Ashraf at Buxar a twelve-month ago. The fact of the matter was that the Rājā had refused him sanads for a certain grant for Bibi Raushan, his sister, and for a jāgir yielding a revenue of Rs. 32,000. In consequence of this refusal, he conceived a great enmity against the Rājā, and brought before General Carnac, then a Major, one Din Dial Missar together with two or three more suborned witnesses. Din Dial Missar is an old gumāstah of his own, whom he had before introduced to His Excellency the late Nawāb Mir Ja'far as a wakil of Balwant Singh. General Carnac together with Messrs. Swinton, Stables, Pearson and other gentlemen made full inquiry into the affair. Again, after the return of the army from Buxar, the gentlemen called together Mir Ashraf's suborned witnesses, and a second inquiry, wherein their falseness plainly appeared, was held. A third time the General, Mr. Swinton and other gentlemen called Mir Ashraf before them at Patna. The Mir represented that Din Dial Missar had notice of the treasonable letter written by Nand Kumār to Rājā Balwant Singh. Upon this, Din Dial Missar was summoned and examined. He replied that Nand Kumār did not give him any letter or message, and that only one letter (of which the cover was open) under his seal was shown to him by Mir Ashraf. In fine, the latter was convicted of falsehood in the presence of the late Nawāb and the aforesaid gentlemen. Accordingly Major Carnac and Mr. Swinton repeatedly wrote the Council a full account of their inquiries into this affair. Begs that the Governor will take out those papers and peruse them. When the late Nawāb went down to Calcutta, Mr. Vansittart Shamsu-d-daulah resided at the Nawāb's and the allegations appeared to be entirely false, having given the General a memoranda.

1765.

of Kābra Manirur, Balwant Singh must have been much offended thereat. And now that Mīr Ashraf, who is of old a liar and a child of selfishness, has been to Benares, it is not surprising if he has induced Balwant Singh to act in concert with him. Selfish people in order to gain their private ends, spare no pains to ruin a faithful friend of His Excellency's and a well-wisher of the Company's. "Understanding is requisite to those who hear." Asks the Governor to consider, at the time when Shujā'u-d-daulah's forces were advancing, how earnestly and repeatedly Nand Kumār pressed the late Nawāb to dismiss him to Rānī-kā-tālāb where the English army was encamped; with what speed he hastened to join it; how he supplied the army with grain which was not procurable there; and how numbers of his people were plundered, killed or wounded in passing backwards and forwards. Also in the wars at Patna what pains did he not take, and what services did he not perform? Asks to what this behaviour could be attributed but to his attachment to the English Company and the late Nawāb. It is very improper, therefore, that His Excellency should entertain any thoughts of enmity against such a well-wisher of the Company's and such a faithful friend of himself. There was no necessity for sending him to Motijhil to see the gentlemen of the Council, who regardless of his rank and station would not suffer him to come away again. Moreover, when His Excellency sent them a note by the hands of Muẓaffar 'Alī Khān, Dāroghah of the Diwān Khānuah, desiring them to release him, they would not consent to it. Through necessity he went himself this day to Motijhil and begged and entreated the gentlemen of the Council in the most suppliant manner to release Nand Kumār. At length, they gave in after having made His Excellency give them under his hand whatsoever they desired. Cannot describe the contempt to which his Government has been exposed by these proceedings. Has written this for the Governor's information. Is awaiting his reply. If it is necessary that Nand Kumār should come to Calcutta, he will doubtless be sent. His Excellency, who has the utmost desire to see the Governor, will likewise come with his household and servants and realise that desire. Dated 21st Mar.

Mar. 25.

2617. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Two days ago, the Governor wrote His Excellency his sentiments regarding Nand Kumār so clearly that it was hoped that His Excellency would have immediately sent the accused to Calcutta to stand his trial. Has received his letter, but says that he cannot think of altering his decision. The thing has become so expedient for the credit of both His Excellency and the Company, that he must insist upon Nand Kumār being sent immediately to Calcutta, escorted by some of the Nizāmat's and the Company's people. This it will be for His Excellency's credit to do. But if some ill advisers have such weight with him as to induce him to do otherwise, it will give the Governor much concern, more especially as positive orders have already been given to the gentlemen at Murshidabad to oblige the accused to come down at all events. Hopes, therefore, that His Excellency will take such a resolution on this occasion, as may increase the friendship subsisting between him and the English. The Council did not give these positive orders at first, not having the least doubt of His Excellency's readiness to oblige them in what was so much for his own interest as well as theirs. Can only say that they are sorry to be obliged to resort to such extreme measures. Assures him they are his firm friends and have only his interest and that of the Company at heart. If any people persuade him to the contrary, they are his enemies and do it from selfish motives. Requests him not to think of coming to Calcutta. His doing so will be most disagreeable to the Governor and the Council. In fact it will not be allowed.

Mar. 28. 2618. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received the letters written by the Governor to Ihtirāmu-d-daulah and Mr. Billers, and forwarded them to Patna. Is very much pleased with Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Dated 25th Mar.

Apr. 1. 2619. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter. Has also heard from the gentlemen at Murshidabad. Is glad to learn that His Excellency has consented to send Nand Kumār to Calcutta, Lest the country should suffer and the affairs of the Nizāmat be prejudiced by delays in the collections, the gentlemen at Murshidabad have been directed to lay before His Excellency certain measures allotting the business to different mutasaddis. Hopes that he will readily acquiesce in these measures. Till this is done and a proper currency given to the affairs of the provinces, the Governor must deprive himself of the pleasure of a personal interview with him. The late Nawāb was always loth to leave the city as by his absence therefrom his affairs were much hurt. Much more must they be so in the beginning of a Government.

Apr. 3. 2620. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter. As he is at all times and in all cases ready to comply with the inclination of the Governor and the Council and in nothing defeats the least thereof; and as there is no difference between the Nizāmat and the Company; and as he is sure that the Governor will do nothing but whatever is just, he has made up his mind to send Rājā Nand Kumār to Calcutta. His departure has been fixed for Sunday, the 9th instant. His Excellency's desire to see the Governor was sometimes; but as he has been told to remain at Murshidabad, he has postponed his visit to Calcutta. In case it is agreeable to the Governor and the Council, he will wait on them ten or fifteen days after the Rājā sets out. Dated 27th Mar.

2621. From Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Has already replied to his letter. Up to this time, all is well here. Five times a day, he employs himself in supplication for the prolongation of the shadow of the Governor's friendship and for the perpetuity of his life. PS.—Some time ago, His Excellency, in consequence of the Council's directions, sent orders to all parts that the sikkahs of the 5th year should be current and that the issuing of those of the 6th year should be deferred. This was accordingly done at Dacca and other places but not at Patna. Upon being informed of this by Ihtirāmu-d-daulah, the writer addressed Mr. Billers on the subject. Encloses for the Governor's information a copy of the reply received from the said gentleman. Whatsoever may be directed by the Governor in this matter will be done.

2621A. Mr. Billers to Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Has received his letter. The establishing of the currency of the fifth year and the deferring of the issue of that of the sixth year have been attended with a great loss to the Company. He therefore issued the currency of the sixth year. If the Khān has received any letter on this subject from the Council, it may be sent to the writer that he may act conformably thereto, as far as in him lies. Avoids doing anything that may occasion a loss to the Company.

Apl. 9.

2622. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Nand Kumār has arrived at Calcutta. The matter, of which he is accused, will be examined in a proper manner as soon as the evidence is collected. Though the English have so much reason to be dissatisfied with his conduct in general, yet their friendship for His Excellency prompts them to act as tenderly as is consistent with the justice due to his Government and that of the Company. His Excellency must be convinced that the English gentlemen at Murshidabad only consulted his interest in their transactions with him on this account. Certainly, as they represented the Company and were vested with the powers they had from the Governor and Council, they could not well act otherwise than they did; nor could it be in any way derogatory to His Excellency's credit, that Nand Kumār should attend them whenever the nature of the service they were engaged in required it. On their consenting to his remaining in His Excellency's charge till the Governor was acquainted with the circumstances, the paper which His 1765.

Excellency passed to them for his appearance when called on, was no more than was absolutely necessary for their justification to the Council, and did not deserve the appellation that His Excellency has been advised to give it. However, as His Excellency has been since so well convinced of the propriety of those measures, the Governor need not have taken notice of this matter. He did so only to clear up to His Excellency some parts of his letter which seem to impute harsh conduct to the gentlemen at Murshidabad. The English always intend good-will and friendship. Does not doubt that he will soon find himself properly supporting the measures taken, and that his Government will prosper and flourish and he himself become rich and happy, which will always give the Governor, as his sincere friend, infinite satisfaction.

Apl. 9.

2623. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Is no stranger to the regard which the late Nawāb had for Rājā Dūlab Rām. Indeed he deserved it, for he was a faithful servant to him from the beginning. He has besides all along shown an uncommon attachment to the Company. It would therefore be proper to keep his past services in remembrance and not to be influenced by the people who speak ill of him. He is acting under the recommendation of the Council, who are of opinion that not the least inconvenience can result therefrom to His Excellency or his affairs. His Excellency makes mention of a letter received by the Rājā from Shujā'u-d-daulah, but says nothing of its particulars. Contends that a letter from the Wazīr unless corroborated by circumstances of a glaring nature does not incriminate him. Hopes therefore that His Excellency will appoint him to the post for which he has been recommended by the Council.

Apl. 21.

2624. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has been informed that many interested people of the city of Patna go to Mr. Billers and make such representations to him as tend to create a confusion in the affairs of this country. Accordingly at this time Sayyid Muḥammad Khān, grandson of Murtaẓawī Khān, deceased, has applied through Mr. Billers for the parganaḥ of Titlaur, notwithstanding that he already holds the parganaḥs of Ratta and Karrond jointly with the son of Mir 'Abdu-l-lāh; and the Nawāb Ihtirāmu-d-daulah for fear of offending the said gentleman has granted the Sayyid's application without His Excellency's knowledge. Ghulām Riẓā Khān also is applying for the parganaḥ of Bissara. Requests that Mr. Billers may again be written to in a proper manner concerning these matters. When everybody obstructs the business of the Niẓāmat in such a manner, how can His Excellency procure the money he wants for the payment of the English troops and for defraying his own expenses? Dated 17th Apl.

Apl. 21.

2625. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter. It is true that in former times Rājā Dūlab Rām had authority over all the affairs of the country and the revenues, but afterwards the utmost enmity broke out between him and the late Nawāb. The Rājā always violated the engagements he entered into with the latter. Asks how he can then be depended upon. The employing of such a person will be a means of 'throwing the affairs of the Nizāmat into disorder. Nevertheless what is the Governor's pleasure will be done, as he has only His Excellency's interests in view. The words of friendship, which His Excellency wrote in a former letter with regard to the Rājā, were ironical. There has been a mistake in the translating of them.* Requests that that letter may be given another perusal. The Wazir's letter to the Rājā has been delivered to Mr. Johnstone who will acquaint the Governor with the particulars thereof. Requests that it may be returned when done with. PS.—Encloses two other letters from the Wazir that the Governor may compare the hand and seal. Dated 17th Apl.

Apl. 21.

2626. From Muhammad Rīzā Khān. Intimates that Mr. Johnstone and himself made the strongest representations to the Nawāb concerning Rājā Dūlab Rām, but His Excellency said that he would by no means have any friendship with the Rājā or consent to his being put in office. Refers him to the Nawāb's letter for particulars.

Apl. 21.

2627. From Rājā Dūlab Rām. Has received his letter which comforted him and set his mind at ease. Mr. Johnstone presented the Governor's letter to the Nawāb, and spoke to him about the writer's business, but His Excellency would not give way. Is greatly surprised that interested people should act in this manner and endeavour to compass their own desires in preference to the recommendations of the Council and the Governor, for His Excellency himself is not otherwise inclined. Accordingly he called the writer in private and gave him much comfort by swearing to him. But from the advice of others, His Excellency is helpless. Whatever they tell him, he acts according thereto. As the Rājā's business is of the Governor's appointment, and as he has come to Murshidabad by his order, now that people are devising means to frustrate the Governor's intentions, he will do nothing but depend entirely upon his favour. Request that after proper inquiry, positive orders may be sent, that there may be no room for interested people or for His Excellency to set them aside, that the gentlemen being heartily in the affair may procure him a khāl'at and establish him in his office in order that his desire being so fulfilled, he may show his attachment as long as he lives.

* There is a footnote in the volume saying that the literal translation of the paragraph in question of the Nawāb's letter of the 5th Apl. is as follows:—"As it is well-known what sincerity of friendship there was between my deceased father and the aforesaid Mahārājā, the same friendship I likewise have for him. Nevertheless a letter to him, etc., etc."; and adding that the word lāqā which is rendered nevertheless is sometimes though rarely and improperly used in the sense of moreover.

Apl. 24.

2628. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. The consideration of Rājā Dūlab Rām's former services to the late Nawāb, and the writer's opinion of his abilities and experience in business induced him to recommend him as a capable servant for a share in the collection of the revenues. Has not changed his opinion of the Rājā, for he does not consider the letter from Shujā'u-d-daulah, even if it be genuine, a proof of his carrying on a treacherous correspondence with His Highness. The writer rather thinks it a stratagem of the Wazīr. It would be for the latter's interest to create in the minds of the Nawāb and the English suspicion of those, who are in charge of the administration of the country. He may have naturally believed that a letter from him to Rājā Dūlab Rām so conducted as to fall into his master's hands, would have the desired effect. It is more probable that this was the case, since there is no letter from him to Shujā'u-d-daulah so that the correspondence does not appear at all on his side. What man is there that can help what an enemy may write to him? But the writer wishes the point to be fairly cleared up before the Resident at Murshidabad, and for this purpose the letters are returned to His Excellency. However, since the addressee does not like Rājā Dūlab Rām, this matter respecting the collections is entirely left to him. It is desired that he will dispose of the branch of employment proposed for the Rājā in such a manner as will be most beneficial to the Sarkār. Has agreed to this for His Excellency's satisfaction alone, and to show that he is inclined to comply with His Excellency's wishes. Desires that it may be esteemed as a strong mark of friendship for His Excellency.

Apl. 24.

2629. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. For the more speedy termination of the war, it is necessary to have as many troops as possible in the province of Oudh. This will necessitate the drawing away of most of those stationed at Patna. But as it would be improper to leave that city without a sufficient garrison, His Excellency is requested to send up a battalion of his sepoy's thither, and to direct the Nawāb Ihtirāmu-d-daulah to put them under the orders of the English commanding officer, whenever there should happen any occasion for their service. As desired, Mr. Billers, Chief of Patna, has been directed once more not to interfere in the business of the Nizāmat.

- [Apl. 24.] 2630. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has already written to him concerning Rājā Dūlab Rām. If the business of the collection is not entrusted to the latter, it is hoped that it will be given to such men as will be faithful and punctual, and work in due subordination to His Excellency and Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. As the puniā is settled, it will behove His Excellency to give the strictest orders regarding the above matter. Desires him never to hearken to the counsels of low men. The people who ought to have his ear and countenance should be trustworthy, such as Muḥammad Rīzā Khān in whom the English repose a great confidence. Has no doubt that as His Excellency transacts the business with him and through him, he will find him more and more acceptable. His Excellency's convincing him that he is confided in, will make him do his work cheerfully. It is the Nāib's duty to keep the 'āmil's and faujdār's to their duty and to report to His Excellency those who fail therein. It is hoped that he will punish the delinquents and support the Khān in all the regulations necessary for benefiting the affairs of the Sarkār. Has directed him to exert himself in such a manner that both His Excellency and the English may be satisfied with his services.

- Apl. 28. 2631. From Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Has received his letter saying that Mr. Billers has been directed to defer coining the sikkahs of the sixth year and to keep up the currency of the fifth year, that like orders have been sent to Dacca factory, and that the writer will later on be acquainted with whatsoever may be advisable on this subject. The above orders have already been observed at Dacca; and now in conformity with the Governor's commands, Ihtirāmu-d-daulah and Mr. Billers have been directed to see that the same is done at Patna. PS.—Understands that Lāhori Mal has not gone to Calcutta, and that the Sarkār's people are bringing him hither. As to Kamālu-d-dīn Khān, who has gone to Nand Kumār and who has not paid a single dām from his revenues, it is hoped that, as requested, he has not been countenanced or protected in Calcutta.

- Apl. 28. 2632. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Refers to the donation to the navy and desires him to send the first instalment of it, which has been due for a considerable time. Desires him also to pay the salt balances due to the gentlemen of Dacca and Chittagong—a matter to which his attention has been drawn frequently but to no effect.

(N. B.—The Governor wrote a similar letter to Muḥammad Rīzā Khān but in stronger terms.)

2633. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has been informed that Rādhā Charan Mittar, son of Ragunāth Mittar, has been condemned to punishment by the decree of the grand jury on account of a present of Rs. 6,000, which he is alleged to have received from Khwājah Sulaimān of Constantinople. In consideration of Ragunāth Mittar's ancient attachment to the late Nawāb and himself, requests that the accused, even if he has been guilty of a fault through his youth and ignorance, may be forgiven and sent to Murshidabad. This will be conferring a great favour upon His Excellency. Date 27th Mar. [? Apl.]

2634. The Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah to Mr. Spencer. Has received his letter. As to sending a battalion of his sepoys to Patna, is ready to act according to the Governor's pleasure, but the fact is that the sepoys who are in his service, are not well disciplined. Besides, many of them have been sent into the country, and many are appointed to look after different offices. The few who are here are necessary for the dignity of the Government and also for his sawāri. Nevertheless, if it is the Governor's pleasure, about 1,000 horse and foot will be sent to Patna. 2635. The Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah to Mr. Spencer. Has received his letter. The Wazir's letter, which has been sent back by the Governor, has not yet arrived. With regard to what the Governor has written concerning these matters, it appears that he can distinguish good from evil and is apt in the discovery of hidden things difficult to understand. What has proceeded from the pen of his munshis may possibly be the case. Thanks him for ceasing to insist on Rājā Dūlab Rām's being appointed to the collection of the revenues. Of the seven shares of the collection, six have already been distributed. The Rājā's share has been divided into five parts. One of them has been given to Gopāl Kishn, a son of Rājā Rājballabh's and the remaining four have been allotted to Hir Lāl and others. Dated 2nd May.

2636. The Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah to Mr. Spencer. Is in receipt of his letter. Has already written to him that by the advice of the gentlemen and Muḥammad Rīzā Khān, the share of Rājā Dūlab has been divided among five persons. Whatever His Excellency does in the affairs of the country and the revenues is entirely in concert with the said Khān. Cannot hearken to low people. As the whole business is entirely under the Khān's management, and as His Excellency has even greater confidence in him than the English have, it is hoped that the business of the Nizāmat will flourish more and more. The persons, who have been entrusted with the care of the collections, are diligent. As to punishing such *‘āmil*s as are negligent in their duty, will act by the advice of the said Khān, who day and night exerts himself with unwearied attention in the service of the Sarkār and the Company, and with whom His Excellency consequently is extremely pleased. Dated 2nd May.

May 5. 2637. Muḥammad Rīzā Khān to [Mr. Spencer]. Three letters have been written and sent in answer to those which His Excellency received from the addressee. Has spoken to His Excellency about sending some sepoy to Patna. As he is averse to this measure, it cannot be helped. Refers him to His Excellency's parwānah for particulars.

May 5. 2638. Muḥammad Rīzā Khān to [Mr. Spencer]. Has received his letter saying that as the season for making collections has now commenced, some trusty person may be appointed to the business formerly designed for Rājā Dūlāb Rām, and adding that the Nawāb also has been written to to the same effect. Replies that the Rājā's share in the collections has been divided into five parts. One of them has been given to Gopāl Kishn and the remaining four have been allotted in proper proportion to the mutasaddis, who were before employed. As to the addressee's desiring him to appoint trusty men, says that the mutasaddis, who have been appointed, have it not in their power to be in the least dishonest. Refers him to Mr. Johnstone for particulars.

May 10. 2639. From the Sēths Khush-hāl Chand and Udey Chand. The news of his* safe arrival in Calcutta filled them with such joy and gladness as it is utterly impossible for them to express. "A thousand praises be to the Almighty that, through his favour, the flower of our wishes is blossomed in the garden of hope." Think it needless to trouble him with any long relation of their misfortunes but will only represent to him what is requisite. The tyrant Mīr Qāsim causelessly called their respective fathers from Murshidabad in the most disgraceful manner, treated them with such violence and oppression as perhaps never before happened to anyone even in a dream or in imagination, and then unjustly put them to death. He also plundered all the effects they had with them, and carried away the writer's younger brothers Sēth Gulāb Chand and Bābū Mahīr Chand, whom he delivered into the hands of the mutasaddis of the Imperial Court in lieu of a large sum of money. For a long time, they were kept prisoners and used with the greatest severity. At length a very large sum was extorted from them, which they were obliged partly to borrow and partly to raise by pawning jewels, and they were released. Part of this money the writers have paid off by coining or selling their household utensils and jewels. Cannot describe the difficulties and perplexities they are involved in. His Lordship must have heard thereof by report. When they have the honour of paying their respects to him in person, they will inform him of the particulars. He is their ancient master and protector. On the news of his arrival, they saw the times favourable to them, and the heavens propitious to them. Through the abundance of their joy, they grew and increased in size so that their clothes could not contain them. In their deserted and forlorn condition, who but His Lordship can support them and restore prosperity to their desolate house? Hope that by some means or other, they will now be recompensed for their past misfortunes. Send a congratulatory naṣr of 5 gold mohurs and beg that it will be accepted.

2640. Draft of a letter from Lord Clive to the Sēṭhs Khushhāl Chand and Udey Chand. "I have received your letter. When the news of the death of your fathers reached my ears, I was grieved beyond expression. You know very well the great esteem I had for them. I always endeavoured to support their dignity and to obtain for them that respect from the world to which by their many virtues they were entitled. Their names I will never forget. The cruelty of the tyrant Qāsim will also remain in my memory whilst I live. Let me see you and let me be informed of any matters wherein I can serve you. Be assured that as I loved your fathers, so I will always exert myself in supporting the dignity and welfare of their children."

2641. From Rājā Dūlab Rām. Is rejoiced to hear of His Lordship's arrival in Calcutta. As the parched earth is refreshed by the blessing of rain, and as the budding flower after the hard weather recovers its beauty and fragrance by the sweet breeze of spring, so has this news afforded relief to his anxious mind. Sends a congratulatory naṣr of 2 gold mohurs. Refers him to Rām Charan Rāy for particulars.

2644. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Is glad to hear of his arrival in Calcutta. Sends a congratulatory nagr of 11 gold mohurs. P.S.—His Lordship must have heard of the writer's having been appointed Nāib of the provinces of Bengal, Behar and Orissa. 2645. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. On the 8th instant, His Excellency set out for Calcutta to have an interview with His Lordship. The writer was extremely solicitous of accompanying him, but was not permitted to do so. Requests leave to come to Calcutta and pay his respects to His Lordship.

2646. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter promising support and protection, expressing a desire to see him in Calcutta, and enclosing an 'arḡi from Rājā Nand Kumār. The late Nawāb regarded His Lordship as the Nawāb Nāṣir-ul-mulk (the Chhota Nawāb) and the writer looks upon him as his brother and the strength of his arm. If then His Lordship will not befriend him, who will? Has arrived at Mankarra. Will soon reach Calcutta and have the pleasure of seeing him.

2647. The King to Mr. Spencer. Of the jāgirs, possessed by Rājā Shitāb Rāy, there are some amounting to the sum of 6 lākhs of dāms in the province of Behar. It appears now that out of the above sum, Mir Ashraf lays claim to 3 lākhs of dāms arising from the districts of Kunwar Jiwan Mal, etc., under pretence of its belonging to the *altamghah of his sister Raushan. As jāgirs and altamghahs have never been conferred on brokers and as His Majesty never granted one to the Mir, the farmān for the altamghah which he produces must be a forgery. The said Rājā being heartily ready to perform the duties of a faithful and affectionate servant, it is desired that Mir Ashraf may be brought to punishment, that in future no one may be guilty of forging sanads in this manner. It is also desired that the Nāib of the province of Behar may be addressed on the above subject.

* An altamghah differs from a jāgir in that it is hereditary and pays a smaller rent

1765.

May 16.

2648. Rājā Shitāb Rāy to Mr. Spencer. His Excellency the Nawāb Shujā'u-l-mulk [Mīr Ja'far] out of regard for him, and through the Governor's endeavours in his behalf, allowed him a jāgīr of 40 lākhs of dāms for his maintenance. The Nawāb Shamsu-d-daulah (Mr. Vansittart) and the addressee wrote to the Chief of Patna always to grant him assistance. Now since His Excellency's decease, the writer being with General Carnac at the Imperial Court, Mīr Ashraf has seized his opportunity, and forcibly caused Ihtirāmu-d-daulah to allow him 3 lākhs of dāms in the parganah of Kasmar (which belongs to the writer's jāgīr) under pretence of its being an altamghah of his sister. On representing matters to His Majesty and making inquiry of the Royal mutasaddis, finds that no altamghah has been granted to the Mīr by His Majesty and that he must have made a false sanad. Encloses a shuqqah, which His Majesty has been graciously pleased to write to the Governor on the subject. But the writer does not place any dependence upon His Majesty's sanads. The English gentlemen out of their friendship for him granted him this jāgīr for his maintenance, and Mīr Ashraf's turning him out occasions the greatest disorder in his jāgīr and exposes him to contempt. There is the whole province of Behar. Let the Mīr take it to himself for a jāgīr or altamghah, he will not be obstructed. But he must not deprive the writer of his jāgīr. Requests to be favoured with one letter to Ihtirāmu-d-daulah according to the enclosed draft and one to Mr. Billers directing him to make Mīr Ashraf withdraw his hand from the jāgīr. The zeal and diligence, which the writer shows in the duties of attachment to the Company, must doubtless have been reported to the Governor. There is no occasion for him to set forth his own praises again and again. Hopes that he will be heartily assisted in this affair. PS.—Encloses a parwānah, which the Governor is requested to return after having signed and sealed it.

2648A. Draft of a letter to Ihtirāmu-d-daulah. Repeats the substance of the foregoing letter, and says that it has been proved that His Majesty did not grant Mīr Ashraf an altamghah and that he has produced a forged sanad. Has received a shuqqah from His Majesty to this purport. Desires him therefore not to allow the Mīr's gumāshṭah to hold possession of the altamghah, but to leave the Rājā's people on the ancient footing. If Mīr Ashraf is in want of an altamghah, there is the whole province of Behar. Let him take one somewhere else and not obstruct the Rājā's jāgīr.

2648B. Draft of the parwānah to the 'āmilis, chaudhris, qānūngoos of the parganahs of Bisswang, etc. Whereas in conformity with His Majesty's sanads, the late Nawāb allowed Rājā Shitāb Rāy for his maintenance a jāgīr of 40,15,405 dāms from the parganahs of Bisswang, etc., if anyone should pretend to have got sanads from His Majesty or should say that the jāgīr has been changed or altered, the addressees should not think such representations worthy of credit, but should always regard the said jāgīr as the Rājā's tankhwāh. Whosoever declares it to be changed or altered, shall be guilty of an offence against the Council.

May 16.

2649. From Rājā Tilok Chand. Is glad to hear of his arrival in Calcutta. Professes attachment and obedience. 2650. From Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Recapitulates the substance of his last letter. Has sent Mirzā Muḥammad Kāzīm Khān along with His Excellency to wait on His Lordship, and remains himself disconsolate at having been deprived of that happiness. Requests once more to be allowed to come to Calcutta.

May 18.

2651. From Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Has received his letter desiring him to repair to Calcutta with all expedition, and telling him that he should have done so along with the Nawāb. Has already five or six times addressed the Governor on the subject. Does not know why His Lordship has not yet received his letters. Has set out in all haste and will soon reach Calcutta.

May 18.

2653. From Bibī Shāh Khānum. Is glad to hear of his arrival in India. As she has called him her son, so he is to be considered as brother to her son Šādiq 'Alī Khān, deceased. The latter has left two sons i.e., Mīr Saidū and Sūpan, and two daughters. Šādiq 'Alī Khān in his lifetime proposed marrying his eldest daughter to Sultān Dāūd Mirzā, who has been sent to wait on His Lordship, but it was the will of God that her son should die. The Nawāb Mīr Ja'far also was inclined to conclude this marriage, but death likewise did not permit him. The long-deferred marriage, however, was at last consummated on the 19th of Shawwāl in the sixth year of the reign. No one shows any regard or concern for these children, who have been deprived of their rights. They have no patron or protector left save God and His Lordship. The writer was desirous of coming to Calcutta herself, and of bringing with her Mīr Saidū and Sultān Dāūd Mirzā, that she might recommend them to His Lordship's favour as they are in a manner his own children, but not having strength to move by reason of a severe illness, she was unable to come. Prays God that his arrival at Murshidabad may be speedy that she may have the pleasure of an interview with him and of saying to him in person whatever she may have to say. Asks him not to let the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah see this letter or receive information of it, as it will make him the mortal enemy of her children.

1765.

May 18.

2654. To the King. Although formerly he never had the honour of appearing personally in His Majesty's gracious presence, yet he always bore His Majesty a firm and hearty attachment. Now that agreeably to the Company's urgent injunctions he has again arrived in this country with the command of the forces and direction of the affairs of Bengal, he is heartily ready to show forth the duties of a sincere obedience and attachment. As he is extremely anxious to have the honour of paying his respects to His Majesty in person, he will set out for Allahabad and be made happy by the accomplishment of his wishes.

May 20.

2655. From Rājā Dūlab Rām. Has already sent a congratulatory address together with a naṣr. When His Excellency was preparing to start for Calcutta, the writer asked to be allowed to accompany him. His Excellency said it was well; and Muḥammad Rīzā Khān also consented. The writer accordingly moved from his house. Afterwards when His Excellency set out, he ordered the writer to act agreeably to the Khān's directions. On his going to take leave of the latter, he was told that the Khān himself was to remain at Murshidabad and that the writer should do so also. As he has no business in charge to detain him at Murshidabad, it is requested that he may be permitted to proceed to Calcutta and pay his respects to His Lordship.

May 25.

2656. From Rājā Tilok Chand. Has received his letter comforting and encouraging him, and strictly enjoining him to send the present revenues and the balances. Is at all times firm and steady in his obedience to the English Company, and has neither been nor will be deficient in the payment of the revenues. His happiness consists in the collection of the balances that are due to the Company. But since the end of the Bengal year 1177 a very large balance has become due from the renters, who according to the orders of the 1765.

Council of Calcutta have relinquished their farms, and also from several of those who continue to hold them. Requests therefore that orders may be sent to Mr. Johnstone and other gentlemen at Burdwan to collect and forward whatsoever may appear from the accounts to be due from the different renters, that the writer may be freed from the Company's balances. Whatever has been collected has been transmitted to Calcutta by the gentlemen. The papers relating thereto have also been forwarded. His Lordship will doubtless see them. Professes attachment, and hopes for support and protection.

May 28.

2657. The King to General Carnac. "God be praised" that through his incessant labours this important victory has been obtained. Is convinced that in this manner every evil-wisher of His Majesty's affairs will meet with due punishment, and be brought to shame by the General who is the strength of the arm of the Empire. As by his means and the orders of the Council, these provinces have fallen into the possession of the Royal Sarkār, it is not advisable to place the management thereof in the hands of persons who have a near affinity with Shujā'u-d-daulah and are in their hearts his well-wishers. Accordingly, the conduct which Najaf Khān voluntarily observed towards the Wazir is well known. Whereas he has now returned and expects the Ṣubahdāri of Allahabad and Kora, this is very improper. Seeing the enemy strong, at first he went off to them, settled his business with them under their oaths and got a tanḳhwāh appointed to him. Afterwards when the English approached, and he found that the enemy were unable to stand their ground, he came back. Thus did he keep fair with both parties. To entertain such persons is by no means advisable. Moreover the General will know what the Khān has paid out of his 32 lākhs of rupees. In future also there is no hope of his paying a single dām. Of the courtiers who have exerted themselves in concert with His Majesty, there are many who are capable of this business. Requests permission to send a person to the General to be appointed to the management thereof. Najaf Khān by means of money has made himself many friends and supporters, whom he will get to use every argument in his favour. Desires him not to listen to the representations of any one on this subject, but to tell the Khān plainly that he may go back to Shujā'u-d-daulah and that His Majesty does not want any such faithless servants. In case the Khān continues to remain in his office, let these provinces be separated from the Royal Sarkār, for His Majesty is not satisfied with him. Received by the General on the 14th of May.

June 5.

2658. From Budh Sēn. Is glad to hear of his arrival in Calcutta. Has sent a congratulatory naẓr of 1 gold mohur and 5 rupees, and begs that it will be accepted. Has been attached to the Company for a long time. When the late Nawāb, at the beginning of his Government, was on his way to Patna, the writer had the honour of waiting upon him at Pialapur on the part of 'Alī Qulī Khān and provided him with garāwals whom he had ordered for hunting. In consideration of his friendship with 'Alī Qulī Khān, whom His Excellency subsequently nominated to the Nāibship of Patna, and to whose son Mirzā Kalb 'Alī he gave the care of Sarang, he was appointed to the management of Bhagalpur, Kolgong, etc. Since then he has never deviated from the duties of attachment and fidelity, but has paid the revenues more regularly than others. Yet notwithstanding this, the management of these districts has now been taken out of his hands and given to Mirzā Dāūd. Accordingly on the 6th of May, a letter arrived from the Mirzā to the zamindār ordering him not to pay the collections into the writer's hands. Requests that the papers of Bhagalpur and those of any other parganah may be called for and the payments compared. What is his fault that, in spite of his attachment, these districts have been taken from him? Two months are wanting to complete the year, and the balances in the country will in consequence of the removal of the *'āmil*s remain uncollected. If any agreement has been made and the revenues of these districts are fixed at a certain sum, he will pay five or seven thousand rupees more than what has been agreed upon. And if the revenues are to be collected on the Sarkār's account, he will manage them more for the Sarkār's advantage than any other person will do. It is not customary with the English to turn out servants that are guiltless. Has therefore represented these circumstances to the Governor. Whatever is his pleasure may be done.

1765.

June 6.

2659. From Ihtirāmu-d-daulah. Is glad to hear of his arrival at Calcutta. Places the greatest hopes on his favour. The late Nawāb was pleased to confer upon him the Shubahdāri of Behar. Now that he is no more, the Nawāb Shujā'u-l-mulk Hisāmu-d-daulah Bahādur Mahābat Jang and the writer are dependent on the Governor, and the prosperity of their family is in his hands. Mr. Fullarton must have represented everything to him fully. Has sent a congratulatory nazr of 10 gold mohurs and 20 rupees in a sealed purse through Shāh Fazl 'Alī. Hopes that favourable attention will be bestowed upon the latter's representations.

June 9.

2660. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter saying that there is a very large sum due to the merchants on account of restitution; that the monthly payments to the Company are several lākhs behindhand; that therefore both the merchants and the Company are in great distress; and that there is a very large sum ready in the treasury; and desiring His Excellency to send 6 lākhs of rupees speedily. It is not unknown to the Governor how little His Excellency is at this time acquainted with the collections of the country. If there is a large sum ready in the public treasury, he knows nothing about it. With regard to the money which is in his house in Calcutta and which the Governor has heard of, the late Nawāb at the time of his death gave 5 lākhs to the writer and the rest to the Bēgam. His Lordship is a man of justice and is as it were his elder brother. He may do whatsoever he pleases.

1765.

June 10.

2661. To the Wazīr. Has learnt from General Carnac that His Highness has done him the honour of paying him a visit in the English camp. Has learnt also the other particulars of His Highness's situation, which give His Lordship the greatest concern. To be unfortunate in war at times has been the fate of almost every great man ever since the world began. To grow proud and insolent upon success is not the characteristic of the English, since they themselves have often been in distress. Great men become still greater by suffering adversity, since, when their days of prosperity return and success attends their arms, they know how to make use of it with moderation. His Highness will soon be convinced that the writer holds the reputation of so great and good a man as he in the same light as his own, and matters will be settled in such a manner that the closest union and friendship will subsist between them. And when Shujā'u-d-daulah and the English are united by the ties of friendship, if not of ambition, what power or powers can prevail against them?

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 29, pp. 20-21. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 114.]

June 12.

2662. From the King. Has long been in expectation of his "faithful servant." "God be praised" that he has now arrived in Calcutta, whereby His Majesty's heart has been gladdened and perfectly set at ease. As he bears a sincere attachment to His Majesty and is regarded as the strength of the arm of the Empire, it gave His Majesty the greatest pleasure to hear that he has been vested with full powers by the King of England, and purposes coming to the enlightened Presence. By the blessing of God and His Lordship's labours, the affairs of the Empire of the Royal race of Tīmūr, which have been so long in confusion, will be properly settled. What attachment and hearty services "our faithful servant" Manṣūru-l-mulk Ruknu-d-daulah General Carnac Bahadur Jang has shown are evident and need not be described. It is but rarely that His Majesty meets with servants so firmly attached and devoted to him. Formerly, at the time when the Royal standards were fixed at Patna, he showed His Majesty the greatest attachment and gave him perfect satisfaction; and now repeated victories have been won through his vigilance and intrepidity. Hopes that a thousand victories more will attend His Majesty's arms and the arms of His Lordship and the English chiefs. Purposes sending Rājā Shitāb Rāy to wait on His Lordship with a dress in which His Majesty himself has been clothed. The Rājā will acquaint him fully with the Royal commands, which it is hoped will be duly obeyed. The late Nawab Mir Jaffer had a hearty attachment to His Majesty and a sincere friendship for the English, and was perfectly acquainted with the customs of the Empire. He never deviated from the duties of obedience, but carried on the affairs of the provinces through the orders and by the sanads of the Court, for which reason His Majesty was well pleased with him. Whereas upon his decease Najmu-d-daulah Sayyid Najmu-d-dīn 'Alī Khān Bahādur was established in the Gabakhari, this was a means of much satisfaction to His Majesty and of great reputation to the Company throughout the Empire. On the receipt of argis from Najmu-d-daulah agreeing to the business of the Court on the former terms, His Majesty was pleased to favour him and the Comptroller with a Royal ahmad ordering him to the Costaband.

2664. To the King. Has received his letter. His impatience to have the happiness of paying his respects to His Majesty in person increases day by day. Will set out therefore in three or four days notwithstanding the difficulty of travelling in this rainy season, and make the best of his way to the Presence. With regard to the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah's applying for sanads in the customary manner, will take care that he does so agreeably to His Majesty's commands. As to the revenues and business of the Imperial Court, everything will be properly settled when the writer has the honour of a personal interview with His Majesty.

June 23.

2665. From Bhawānī Paṇḍit. It is a year since his master sent him with a proper force to regulate matters in Orissa and to settle the affair of the chauth of Bengal. Since then he has received several letters from Rājā Jānūjī saying that a firm friendship subsists between the gentlemen of Calcutta, the Nāzim of Bengal, and the Rājā, and that he prays that the Marhatta army may not be obliged to advance into Bengal and that friendship dissolved; and desiring the writer to apply himself properly to the settling of this business. Represents that notwithstanding that he has been put to a very great expense by coming to Orissa and is importuned by the demands of his troops, he, in conformity with the Rājā's inclinations and with a view to the increase of the friendship subsisting between the English and the Marhattas, has not invaded Bengal, but has employed himself in punishing the rebellious zamīndārs of these parts; and having made collections from them according to their several circumstances, he has therewith quieted his troops. Requests that the stipulated sum may be sent through Ragunāth Paṇḍit, who is at Calcutta. This will strengthen the foundation of the friendship subsisting between the Rājā and the Company. Tells him not to listen to the advice of interested people. At this time Muḥammad Yār Khān, a confederate of Mirzā Muḥammad Šālīḥ, who is a confidant of Rāo Malhārjī Hulkar, has sent a letter to the writer. As the contents thereof are contrary to the friendship subsisting between the Rājā and the English, and as it is desirable that there should be a strict intimacy between them, the writer does not choose to have any correspondence with such treacherous people. Has sent the letter for the Governor's perusal. Providence has endowed him with every perfection. He can judge what a state of confusion affairs will be thrown into by the influence of such men. In this case it is necessary to guard against their counsels.

[June 23.]

2666. Muḥammad Yār Khān to Bhawānī Paṇḍit. When the writer was at Shahjahanabad, he contracted an intimate acquaintance with Parsautam Paṇḍit, brother to Rājā Bābojī Mahādeo, who was wakīl at the Royal Court on the part of Paṇḍit Pardhān [the Pēshwā]. On account of that consideration, he received letters from the 1765.

Ṣūbahdār Rāo Malhārjī Hulkar desiring him to give the latter constant information of the secret proceedings of those parts, and to act with such caution that he might succeed in his aims. Accordingly the aforesaid Ṣūbahdār having joined the Nawāb Wazīr of the realm is encamped with a large force in the districts of Farrukhabad. The English have retreated, and must have come probably as far as Benares by this time. As the writer has been in the service of Rājā Jānūjī for these eight wars [? years] and is always heartily attached to his interest, he therefore writes to say that unless the English are expelled, the chauth money can never be paid. Some time ago Maru-d-dīn [sic] 'Alī Khān came to Calcutta from the addressee and they refused to give him anything. In like manner Ragunāth Pandit is here, and no one pays him anything. Is rejoiced to learn that the addressee has arrived at Cuttack with a considerable force. There is not the slightest difference between Rājā Jānūjī and the Ṣūbahdār Malhārjī Hulkar, and the affairs of each of them are the same. When the affairs of the Government are settled, the addressee can obtain the chauth money by the assistance of the Ṣūbahdār. Therefore if he holds it necessary to unite with the latter, he should march from Cuttack to Balasore with his troops. The people here will be struck with a panic. In this case if the Wazīr gives him intelligence of it, he will possess himself of Jellasore and even Midnapur. It will be a difficult matter for the English to make head against the Marhattas on both sides. Will write to the Ṣūbahdār and procure from him letters of encouragement to the addressee. Everyone at Calcutta is acquainted with the writer, since in the time of Mahābat Jang, he in conjunction with Mirzā Šālīḥ came first and settled everything. Now also the Mirzā having received a khāl'at and an elephant from the Wazīr, had set out for Nyaspur with bills in order to fetch troops, but died on the road. In case the Wazīr's army remains this year where it is, it is requisite that the addressee should canton his troops at Balasore. Whenever after the rains the armies of the Wazīr and Hulkar advance this side of Benares, the addressee likewise at that time will march to possess himself of the country hereabouts. It is proper that he should write a letter to the Ṣūbahdār. The Rājā will be much obliged to him for his assiduity in cultivating a correspondence with the Wazīr and the Ṣūbahdār, and perhaps it may be a means of his rising to a high rank. Has written fully what is prudent and advisable. Will set out for the Ṣūbahdār's court, as soon as the addressee's answers arrive. It is not advisable to send qāšids or harkārahs, on account of the regulations of the English. Has therefore dispatched this letter by a faqir. The addressee also should send his letters by any of the faqirs who come this way, mentioning the reward to be given him. Five or ten rupees is not so great a sum considering the importance of the business on which it is spent. It is very desirable for the addressee to cultivate this correspondence by any means whatsoever.

1765.

June 26.

2667. From Muhammad Rīzā Khān. Has received his letter saying that the account the writer gave of the money received by the gentlemen from the Nawāb and himself has been laid before the Council; that now all the gentlemen say that the Nawāb made them presents of his own free will; and that Mr. Senior intimates that Mr. Johnstone received Rs. 1,37,500, while Mr. Middleton, Mr. Leycester and himself each received Rs. 1,12,500, and that the money was distributed by the writer; and desiring to be informed whether the distribution was made by the Nawāb of his own free will, or by him, or by the direction of some other persons. Has already represented everything. Mr. Johnstone sent him a message by Motī Rām that the gentlemen wanted money and that he should procure them some from His Excellency. As he perceived that if he did not represent this matter to His Excellency, the gentlemen would be offended with him, he was obliged to do it. For some days he treated with Motī Rām on the subject. Mr. Johnstone at first demanded a very large sum, but after a good deal of discussion, His Excellency gave under his hand and seal one note for Rs. 4,75,000 to be divided equally among Messrs. Johnstone, Senior, Middleton, Leycester, and Mr. Johnstone's brother, and two more notes for Rs. 1,00,000 and Rs. 50,000 to be paid to Mr. Johnstone and his brother respectively. At that time no distribution of the money had been settled. It was done so afterwards in His Excellency's presence agreeably to Mr. Johnstone's directions concerning it. The writer gave all the three notes into His Excellency's hands and acquainted him that it was Mr. Johnstone's pleasure that Rs. 1,00,000 for himself and Rs. 50,000 for his brother should be paid secretly. As to the note for Rs. 4,75,000 His Excellency delivered it in presence of all the four gentlemen to Mr. Johnstone, who at first refused it, but afterwards accepted it saying "What shall the gentlemen do with a bare note." His Excellency then delivered the note to the writer and directed him to pay all that money, which was accordingly done. With regard to the gentlemen's assertion that the Nawāb gave the money of his own free will, asks why in that case His Excellency complained to the Governor that the writer took away the money belonging to his house and distributed it among the gentlemen. The writer did nothing but obey the orders of both sides. His representations to His Excellency were in consequence of the gentlemen's orders, and His Excellency himself also directed him to do whatever was their pleasure. With regard to the notes the writer gave on his own account, Motī Rām came to him and told him to make some presents to Mr. Johnstone and the other gentlemen from himself also. The writer sent an answer suitable to his circumstances. But Motī Rām returned and said that the gentlemen were not satisfied, but were even offended with him. Agreeably to their pleasure, therefore, the writer gave two notes for Rs. 4,75,000—one for Rs. 4,00,000 to be divided equally among Messrs. Johnstone, Senior, Middleton, and Leycester, and one (which the other gentlemen knew nothing of) for Rs. 75,000 to be divided between Mr. Johnstone and his brother in the proportion of 2 to 1. Of the above sum Rs. 2,25,000 have been paid—

Rs. 1,75,000 by five bills which the Governor has seen, and Rs. 50,000 in cash. There is still a balance of Rs. 2,50,000 to be paid. Rs. 1,00,000 are due to Mr. Middleton and Rs. 50,000 each to Messrs. Johnstone, Leycester, and Senior. Encloses copies of the Nawāb's three notes. The writer's own two notes were taken by Moti Rām to Mr. Johnstone, in whose hands perhaps they still are. The Governor can demand them from him and peruse them. What the writer formerly represented and now again represents does not deviate a hair's breadth from the truth. Has written similarly to the Committee. P.S.—Has arrived at Daudpur. Will set out this night for Murshidabad and have the honour of waiting upon His Excellency the next day. Dated 23rd June.

June 26. 2668. From the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter intimating that Mr. Johnstone has been dismissed from the service. Has already informed the Governor of his arrival at Murshidabad. It is clearer than the sun that it was entirely through His Lordship's favour that the late Nawāb obtained the Niṣāmat of these provinces; and it is known to all the world that the present prosperity of His Excellency is likewise solely due to his favour. Hopes that in future also he will be shown brotherly friendship in whatsoever may be conducive to his interest and welfare. Dated 24th June.

July 5. 2669. From Sayyid Rūhu-d-dīn Husain Khān. Has already sent him an arṣi acquainting him with the state of affairs at Purnea. During the uncertainty of the times he retired to a silent corner. But as soon as Mīr Qāsim's Government ceased and the English troops arrived as far as Udanala, he, previous to the victory that was gained there, seized the brother of Shēr 'Alī Khān, who was Nāib to the Faujdar, notwithstanding that there were ten thousand of Mīr Qāsim's troops in the neighbourhood of Purnea; proclaimed the English Company; and caused the orders of the Sarkār to be observed. In reward for his services, he was honoured with the management of that province. As the country was so much ruined under the Government of Mīr Qāsim, Diwān Hākim Chand came from the aforesaid Khān and fixed the revenue at 12 lākhs of rupees. But even that was not to be collected. The writer appointed an experienced Diwān of his own and was desirous of advancing the ryots' money that they might improve their lands and that the Sarkār might benefit in the long run. As this circumstance did not meet with the approbation of the men in power, they appointed a Diwān and other officers from Murshidabad. The writer could not refuse to comply with the orders of the Nawāb. These men had the management of affairs both in and out of Purnea, and they did whatever their avarice suggested to them. The writer only got an ill name with the Nawāb. For these reasons he represents to the Governor the state of his affairs. The high God has overspread the whole world with His Lordship's shadow for the welfare of mankind. Requests that the affairs at Purnea may be properly regulated in order that the revenues of the Sarkār may always be paid, that the country may flourish, and that His Excellency may be satisfied with his conduct.

July 6.

2670. From Ihtirāmu-d-daulah. Has received his letter saying that there is a balance of Rs. 3,05,006 due on account of the tankhwāh of the English troops, and desiring him to pay it to Mr. Billers, who will give him a receipt, and in future to discharge the tankhwāh money regularly month by month. Since the day of his appointment to the Nāibship of Behar, notwithstanding the disturbances caused by the Royal troops and the desolation of the country, he has never been negligent in paying what was due to the troops of the Sarkār as well as those of the English. Accordingly the whole tankhwāh to the end of the month of Shawwāl has been paid. In future likewise he will not be negligent in discharging the money. As the late Nawāb had the utmost dependence upon the Governor, so does the writer place his hopes on his friendship in the observance whereof His Lordship cannot be paralleled. May the Almighty preserve the shadow of his friendship. Requests that Mr. Billers may be directed to receive the monthly allowance for the English troops with leniency.

July 6.

2671. To the Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah. When His Excellency was in Calcutta, His Lordship and the gentlemen of the Committee after mature consideration judged it to be for his interest and the welfare of the country that Muḥammad Rizā Khān, Rājā Dūlab Rām, and Jagat Sēth should be appointed under him to carry on the affairs of the Government. The reasons for these appointments His Lordship explained to him fully in Calcutta and they met with his approbation. He had frequently heard that Qāim Bēg had at different times been making use of menacing expressions with regard to the aforesaid persons; and what His Lordship saw upon his arrival here convinces him of the truth of this information; for Muḥammad Rizā Khān and Jagat Sēth, through the apprehension of their lives being in danger, were so much frightened that they were unable to apply themselves to the management of the business committed to their charge. Has therefore been under the necessity of removing the said Bēg and purposes sending him immediately to Calcutta. Hopes that His Excellency will set his mind entirely at ease. Assures him that he looks upon His Excellency's person as sacred and acts with a view to his interest. The removing of such a dangerous man from his presence is absolutely necessary both for his welfare and that of the Company, and is what the English have a right to do by the terms of the treaty subsisting between the Sarkār and the Company. Other things concerning this matter will be fully explained to him by Mr. Middleton, who will wait on him for that purpose.

July 12.

2672. To the Wazir. Has written His Highness several letters, but has not yet received a reply. This has been an occasion of much surprise to him as His Highness must certainly know that the regulation of the Company's affairs belongs chiefly to the writer. Perhaps His Highness's letters have miscarried; if not, he cannot but think that considering the present situation of affairs, His Highness has been deficient in the duties of friendship to him. His Lordship set out from Calcutta on the 25th June, and has now arrived at Rajmahal. Will proceed to Patna with all expedition, and hopes very soon to have the pleasure of an interview with him.

July 12.

2673. To the King. He had the honour of writing to His Majesty from Murshidabad, but it is long since he has been favoured with any letters. As he is impatient to hear of His Majesty's health, and as it is necessary that he should be acquainted with the occurrences of those parts, it is requested that he may be favoured with letters from time to time. Has matters of the utmost consequence to settle with His Majesty. In this rainy season when the river runs with surprising rapidity, his proceeding to Allahabad will be attended with great delays and difficulties. If therefore His Majesty would be pleased to come this way, it would be a means of bringing the business to a speedy conclusion, and His Lordship would esteem it a particular favour. This day which is Friday the 12th July he arrived near Rajmahal. Will proceed to Patna with all expedition, and hopes very shortly to have the honour of paying his respects to His Majesty.

July 18.

2674. From the Wazir. Has received his letter. God be praised that a true and sincere friendship has taken place between the English and himself. His desire to have a meeting with the addressee is greater than can be expressed. May the Almighty speedily remove the curtain from between them and bring about that consummation. Has already written to His Lordship. Hopes that the friendship between them will be such as may serve as an example to the world. In this case no one can speak a hostile word against them. Is sure that everything will be settled according to their heart's desire.

July 18.

2675. To the Wazir. Has received his letter. Is glad to learn that he has already written to His Lordship and that his not having received any letters from His Highness has been solely due to their having miscarried. As he has been informed by General Carnac that His Highness is desirous of being put in immediate possession of part of the province of Oudh upon paying down a portion of the money which he is to give in consideration thereof to the Company, the General, who, in conjunction with him, is vested with full power, has been directed to comply with His Highness's desire, if the latter thinks such a step necessary before His Lordship's arrival, in order to convince him of the sincerity of his friendship and his real desire that a hearty union should be established between him and the English. Has arrived at Monghyr, and purposes, notwithstanding the inconvenience of travelling in this rainy season, to make the best of his way by land to Benares or any other place that may be most convenient to His Majesty and His Highness, that he may have the happiness of seeing them as soon as possible, and that everything may be settled in such a manner as to give His Highness satisfaction and convince him of the honour of the English nation.

July 19.

2676. The Nawāb Najmu-d-daulah to [Mr. Sumner]. Has received his letter intimating that he has been restored to health. Could not write earlier by reason of the arrival of Lord Clive and of his departure for Patna. Now that he has set out, His Excellency will no longer be remiss in his correspondence with the addressee. Mr. Sykes has not yet arrived at the city. As soon as he does, the addressee will be informed thereof.

July 20.

2677. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter saying that he has not heard from the writer for a long time; intimating his having sent a letter together with an account of the assay made of the tankhwāh money; and desiring him to send the balance with all expedition. Has already sent him a letter inquiring after his health and welfare. Hopes that that letter will have reached Calcutta by this time. Has not received the Governor's letter enclosing an account of the assay, otherwise he would not have failed to answer it. The writer was informed of the particulars of the assay some time ago by a letter from Kāl Chand Khazānchi, who has now arrived at Murshidabad. Will send the balance of the tankhwāh on a boat the next day.

July 23.

2679. From Muhammad Rizā Khān. Intimates that on the 1st of Safar (19th July), he sent by Lāl Singh Khasānchi a bill for the sum of Rs. 34,967 on account of the tanḵhwāh for 6 lāḵhs of rupees.

July 23.

2680. From Najaf Khān. Has been made extremely happy to learn of his fame and reputation from General Carnac. His Lordship must have heard of the particulars of his alliance with the English and of the part he has played in settling the country as well as in chastising the enemy. As he is firm in his friendship and true in his obedience to the English gentlemen who are so entirely devoted to the service of their Sarkār, he looks upon His Lordship's coming this way as a favourable circumstance. May Providence soon make this place the rival of Paradise by his propitious arrival. Hopes that he will esteem the writer his slave and honour him with his favours.

July 24.

2681. From Munīru-d-daulah. Has received His Lordship's letters, by the sight of which his eyes were enlightened. "What apology shall I make to the Qasā'id except that I will say :—*A thousand lives would I sacrifice to every step you take." On learning the news of his welfare, he offered up his praises to the Giver of all good things. Is glad to hear of his safe arrival at Murshidabad and of his intention of proceeding on in a few days to kiss the threshold of His Majesty's Heaven-like Court. His desire to see His Lordship is stronger than can be written or spoken. Will come with General Carnac, the Nawāb Shujā'u-d-daulah, and Rājā Shitāb Rāy to meet him and have the happiness of an interview with him. His Majesty, the Nāib of the all-gracious God and equal in dignity to Solomon, also is much rejoiced at His Lordship's coming to his enlightened Presence; and his mind is perfectly at ease in full conviction that the affairs of the Salṭanat will be settled in a proper manner. His eyes that oversee the world await His Lordship's arrival night and day. In short he regards His Lordship as his sincere well-wisher, the strength of his arm, and the support of his glory. P.S.—Writes without exaggeration that if heaps of jewels and crores of rupees and gold mohurs were brought into His Majesty's treasury, it would not give him so much pleasure as His Lordship's coming to his presence. Night and day His Majesty is talking of his greatness and wisdom. He is also much pleased with General Carnac's labour and attachment. It is true that the General has gained the English great honour. By His Lordship's coming to the enlightened

Presence, the affairs of the Empire of the Royal house of Timūr, which have been in confusion for these fifty years, will be happily settled and his reputation will remain recorded in the annals of time till the dissolution of the world. As the General has gained honour to His Lordship, so will the latter gain honour to the English King and the Company; and in Firang, Rum, Iran, Turan, and Hindustan, as long as the world lasts, his name will be celebrated. People will say that it was the Nawāb Salābat Jang Bahādur who seated His Majesty Shāh 'Ālam on the throne of Delhi and established him in his Empire. His Lordship's reputation is the reputation of the English chiefs and of the writer. The preservation of this country now depends upon the preservation of the addressee and the English chiefs. His Lordship is the only well-wisher His Majesty has to trust to in the Empire of Hindustan. The Almighty has displayed His power to the nobles of Hindustan by sending him to His Majesty's service, and he has been exalted to greatness by God and the "Prophet" Jesus. Hopes that His Lordship will conquer all Hindustan in His Majesty's auspicious service, and that all the chiefs and nobles of the Empire will put the collar of obedience on their necks and submit themselves to his command. To such honour has the Almighty destined him.

2682. From the King. At a time when his senses were delighted with the fragrance of odoriferous zephyrs infusing perpetual joy, and the servants of his Court were exhilarated with the shouts of victory and the cheerful voice of justice, he received His Lordship's pleasing 'arḡdāshkt'. Is happy to learn that he is coming to the Presence. His wisdom and attachment are engraved on the Royal breast. Assures him that howsoever earnest be his desire to have the happiness of appearing in the Presence, His Majesty's desire is still more earnest. Asks him therefore to come with the utmost expedition and at an auspicious time. Howsoever much speed he makes, His Majesty will think his arrival late. Hopes that after His Lordship has the happiness of appearing in the Royal Presence, everything will be settled in a proper manner.

2683. To Jugal Kishor, Zamīndār of Bettia. In the time of Mīr Qāsim, he used to pay into the treasury 6 or 7 lakhs of rupees out of the revenues of his samīndārī. Has been informed that at present he gives nothing but a few timbers. Desires him therefore to send without delay the balance which he owes the Sārḡār and to give security for the regular payment of his revenues in future. If he neglects this advice, an English army will march against him after the rains and settle his business.

2684. From Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. As he was afraid that the sending of the money by water might cause some delay, he has sent the Governor a bill for Rs. 34,967 on the Sēṭhs payable at their factory. Requests that a receipt for the whole amount of the tankhwāh may be given to Lāl Singh, treasurer of the Sarkār.

Accordingly the bill is forwarded to Calcutta by Huzūrī Mal enclosed in a letter of Muḥammad Rīzā Khān's. Requests the Governor to credit 3 lākhs for the expenses of the army and 3 for the losses of the merchants and consequently to send two receipts for the tankhwāh.

2686. From the Wazīr. Has received his letter complaining of His Highness's not having replied to his several letters. A friendly reproof is indeed proper, but this surprises him much as he has already sent three letters. If they have not reached His Lordship, there is no help for it. Doubtless they must have been lost on the way. When he heard of the Governor's virtues, his desire to see His Lordship was not to be described. Looks upon his life, fortune, and reputation as his own. Assures His Lordship that he will behave with the greatest sincerity. Has delivered over to the English everything that he possessed, and will abide by whatever His Lordship determines upon. Has deferred his business so far in order that whatever is done may be done by His Lordship. It was his desire to have met the Governor at Patna, but as His Lordship is now coming to Benares, he will remain at the latter place.

2687. From the King. Has three requests to make. First, that all matters of business relative to Bengal may be settled by Rājā Shitāb Rāy, as was the case in the time of the late Nawāb Mir Jafar, and that the qirāṭ may be paid every month. Secondly, that the province of Allahabad and the chaklāḥ of Kora, which have been assigned for the Royal expenses, may not be at the disposal of Najaf Khān, as he has not paid the tribute money, nor will he in future pay a single dān, and as he is unfit for business. Let His Majesty have possession of the said places, and he will bestow it upon some capable man who will pay the tribute money. Thirdly, that as after the rains His Majesty will transport his high standard to the capital in order to settle those parts, an English chief with a considerable force may be appointed to accompany him. Has related all these matters to General Carnac and sent Muniru-d-daulah and Rājā Shitāb Rāy to communicate them to the Governor. It is necessary that His Lordship should listen to their representations and act accordingly. Has invested the Rājā with full powers to manage His Majesty's affairs respecting Bengal and to negotiate matters between the Court and the Company.

Aug. 11.

2688. From the King. Major Munro made a promise to His Majesty that after defeating Shujā'u-d-daulah, he would attend the Royal stirrup to Shahjahanabad. In the interim he returned to Calcutta and "our ancient and sincere well-wisher" General Carnac came to the enlightened Presence. He also agreed that after the rains he would accompany His Majesty to Shahjahanabad. But when the Governor, "the strength of our arm" came to the enlightened Presence, His Majesty's mind was perfectly set at ease from a conviction that an expedition to Shahjahanabad was fully determined on; that the Empire would be settled and he firmly seated on the throne; and that by His Lordship's labour and valour his enemies would meet with the punishment due to their actions. Understands from Muniru-d-daulah that His Lordship does not purpose attending the Royal stirrup to Shahjahanabad this year, but will do so next year. With regard to this twelve months' delay, represents that Malhār, who, being defeated by the General, fled in disgrace, is still in the Bundelkhand country preparing for war. He has sent for his troops from every part of the Deccan, and has hostile schemes in view. If after his forces are assembled, he marches from Bundelkhand towards Dega and Cummeer and brings with him the zamīndārs and rājās of those parts together with Jawāhir Singh, and if the Sikhs also are invited to join them, Najibu-d-daulah will be under the necessity of entering into the same alliance, as his country and family are in the neighbourhood of Shahjahanabad. And if these people, agreeable to their intentions, place upon the throne some one of the princes of the Royal family and march with their united forces towards Allahabad, the Rohillas and Ahmad Khān will also join them, and such a disturbance will be raised as it will be difficult to put down. His Majesty's safety depends at present upon the safety of the Governor, the General, and the English chiefs. Has written to His Lordship after considering the advantages and evils of every measure. Tells him not to regard these matters as trifles. Since His Lordship will not proceed to Shahjahanabad this year, it is necessary that during the two remaining months of the army [rainy] season, Najibu-d-daulah, Mu'tamadu-d-daulah, and Ahmad Khān should be invited to the Presence and an alliance entered into with them. The mind of Malhār likewise should be so satisfied that no disturbance may be raised at least during the present year, and that His Majesty may pass his time at Allahabad and the Governor at Murshidabad or Calcutta in tranquillity and quiet. If the forming of an alliance is neglected and things are left in their present state, "we" shall hereafter have cause to repent. Mirzā 1765.

Najaf Khān was formerly a jama'dār in Shujā'u-d-daulah's service. He is entirely unacquainted with the mālguzārī business. If Allahabad and Kora are left to his management, His Majesty has no hope of receiving a single rupee and the country will be ruined and desolated. The said places should therefore be entirely at His Majesty's disposal that he may grant them to some one who will pay the revenue. As to the Khān, he will be entertained in the Royal service, and paid year by year whatever allowance the Governor may fix. Munīru-d-daulah and Rājā Shitāb Rāy will acquaint His Lordship with His Majesty's commands concerning the province of Bengal, the peshkash of Behar, the jāgirs and some other matters. Hopes that he will act conformably thereto. Asks him not to return to Calcutta until all these matters are properly settled, and His Majesty's heart is set at ease, and when he does return, to leave General Carnac to attend His Majesty.

2689. From Hāfiz Rahmat Khān. The firm union which has been established between the English and the writer will be fully represented to the Governor by General Carnac. Is glad to learn that His Lordship is coming this way. Has a great desire to see him. Hopes for letters.

Aug. 13.

2692. From Nizāmu-l-mulk Ghāziu-d-dīn Khān. His Lordship's coming will make the writer's affairs flourish. "My songs are daily of you." His friendship for His Lordship is so great that it is impossible to give a just description of it. Sirāju-d-daulah, who was an enemy to the writer, was removed solely by the Governor's valour; and afterwards Mir Ja'far as long as he lived and had the management of affairs, always in concert with His Lordship performed the duties of friendship towards the writer and heartily employed himself in punishing his enemies, who never prospered during His Lordship's stay in Bengal. But from the day of his departure for Europe they all sounded the trumpet of pride and lifted up their heads on high. Has been continually interceding with the all-gracious Deity for His Lordship's speedy return to this country. Thanks God that by the accomplishment of his wishes he has received new life. Although the Marhattas are ready to attend him, yet he places his sole hope on the blessing of God and the generosity of His Lordship's friendship. All this time he has never written even a single letter to any of the English chiefs. But now that His Lordship has come, some trusty harkārahs have been sent to him. Hopes that he will be taken by the hand and established in the station which he formerly enjoyed. Hopes also that his enemies will be brought to punishment, and that if any of them should come to His Lordship, they will not be countenanced. Looks upon him as his brother and a participator of his afflictions. There is no one but the Almighty God and the Governor that can preserve his honour. Has delivered himself up to His Lordship. "Put me in possession of my post, and all Hindustan is yours. Do with it as you think proper. My reputation is all that I regard." His constancy is well known. Having once entered into an alliance with His Lordship, he has never been induced to form any connections with others notwithstanding the power to which they may have attained. If the Governor will accomplish his business for him, riches in abundance shall be paid His Lordship, and his reputation will be spread throughout the world. As there is an old friendship subsisting between him and His Lordship, and as he has been waiting so long, it is hoped that he will not be disappointed. The French assisted his brothers in the Deccan. His Lordship will now give his assistance to him. Whosoever has engaged in the cause of the writer's family has always prospered. Was desirous of sending a person of distinction to the Governor, but has been prevented by the difficulties that would attend such a measure on account of the enemies in the way. Requests therefore that some trusty man may speedily be dispatched to him, as he has many things to say.

2693. From Muḥammad Riẓā Khān. Encloses three bills of exchange, one for Rs. 50,000 and two for Rs. 1,00,000 each, drawn by the house of Jagat Sēṭh Khush-hāl Chand and Mahārājā Udey Chand and made payable to the Governor. The place, the house, and the sum are written upon the bills in Persian. During these two months, which are the season for encouraging the cultivation of the country, and in which there is no harvest, the collections are always trifling. However the writer takes all possible pains to collect as much as possible. The Rs. 2,50,000, which remain due on account of the pēshkash, will be sent in five or six days. PS.—By reason of the unhealthiness of the weather, the writer has been out of order for three or four days past. Nevertheless he is day and night employed in forwarding the business of the Sarkār.

Aug. 19.

2694. To Jawāhir Singh. The firm friendship and alliance which has at this time been established between His Majesty, the Nawāb Shujā'ud-daulah, and the English Company, the addressee must undoubtedly have heard of. Whosoever is an enemy to one will be regarded as an enemy to all and opposed by their united forces. A sincere friendship with the addressee would give the allies great pleasure; but whilst he grants protection to Sumroo who assassinated such a number of English gentlemen, it is impossible that such a friendship should ever be established. If therefore he is really desirous of it, he should deliver that murderer into the hands of the allies that he may receive the punishment due to his actions. In such a case the allies will regard the addressee as their sincere friend and do everything in their power for the benefit of his affairs.

Aug. 25.

2695. From Jugal Kishor. Has received His Lordship's letter desiring him to send the balance due to the Sarkār. Before the arrival of his letter, having heard of his being at Patna, the writer sent a nagr and was intent on getting ready the balance which is the first and chief object of his desire. The delay which has happened in this matter he will now explain. What should he say of the ruin and utter devastation of the parts under his jurisdiction by the movements of Mīr Qāsim's army? Afterwards the Nawāb Mīr Ja'far, having conferred on him a paṭṭah in the usual form, sent him orders, upon the appearance of fresh trouble and contention at Patna, to levy a new and powerful force and therewith to take post on the bank of the river Gandak and prevent the enemy from passing over, and assured him that his faithful service would be requited and full allowance made for the charges of his troops. Accordingly the writer posted himself strongly on the bank of the said river and notwithstanding the efforts of two parties, on the one side Shaikh Abu-l-barakāt and on the other Nidī, who both wanted to pass this way, acquitted himself with loyalty and fidelity. The Governor must have heard of this. Why should he repeat the promises of favour which His Excellency made him on that occasion? Now that His Lordship has arrived at Patna, it is hoped that his zamindāri will be settled on the most firm and advantageous footing and the balance due to the Sarkār paid without fail. His Lordship must have been informed what sums the writer paid in notwithstanding the wretched and ruinous state of the country. Entreats him therefore to enjoin his mutasaddis and officers in the strictest manner to make out the writer's account agreeably to the sanad and ancient pattah wherewith he was favoured by His Excellency, and with due regard to his services and his expense in keeping up troops according to His Excellency's commands. If it pleases His Lordship to show the writer favour, it will be most kind and generous, if not, he will, before the rains are over, pay up the balance without fail.

Sept. 7.

2696. To Muḥammad Rizā Khān. One Kālī Parshād, gumāstah of Santārām Singh, Dāroghah of Busnaghat in the samindāri of Lakkhī Narāyan, has audaciously detained some loaded boats for three months on pretence of taking duty from them, notwithstanding that the dastak of the Company was shown him, and used ill the men belonging to them. Mr. Sumner, unwilling to occasion a disturbance by sending sepoys, sent a man with a dastak to fetch the said Kālī Parshād. But the latter according to his wicked disposition took no notice of the man or of the dastak and did not set the boats at liberty. As such behaviour as this is most unusual, the Khān is desired immediately upon the perusal of this letter to send an officer of the Sarkār to release the boats and bring Kālī Parshād and his people hither that this matter may be examined in the Governor's presence.

Sept. 9.

2697. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. In the province of Behar there are many jāgirs and altamghahs. Now that the Diwānī thereof is vested in the English Company, Rājā Dhīraj Narāyan has been directed to examine into them, to collect and keep separate the revenues of them all, and send whatever papers are relative to them, that the writer may understand what jāgirs there are, and in the names of what persons, and whether or no these persons are alive and ready to appear and have a sanad. Such as produce a sanad and obtain a new one under the seal of the English Company will be established in the possession of their jāgirs and altamghahs.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 136, p. 125. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 99.]

Sept. 9.

2698. To the Wazīr. The day after His Highness's departure to Oudh, the writer set out for Calcutta, where he safely arrived on the 6th of this month. Hopes that his family as well as he himself are fully convinced of the regard which the English have for him and of the sincerity of their friendship towards him. Assures him that as long as one English factory remains in India, the alliance which the Company have entered into with him will be ever most faithfully observed. It will always give His Lordship the greatest pleasure to hear of his welfare and the prosperity of his affairs.

Sept. 9.

2699. To the King. Arrived safely at Calcutta on the 6th of this month. Will always remember His Majesty's many favours and perform to the utmost of his power the duties of fidelity and obedience. Looks upon the prosperity of His Majesty's affairs and the English Company's as the same. Is ever anxious to hear of his welfare. Requests that he may from time to time be honoured with His Majesty's shuqqahs.

Sept. 10.

2700. To Muḥammad Riṣā Khān. Has received his letter. Replies that the examining into the jāgirs and altamghahs of the Patna province is a very necessary business. It is proper that Rājā Dhiraj Narāyan should collect the rents of all such jāgirs, etc., as are in the names of persons who are now dead. But His Lordship would not have him do so in the case of such jāgirs as are in the names of persons who are now living, as it might be the occasion of much trouble and disturbance. Only he should make a very strict examination into them. Those persons who produce their old sanads should receive new ones under the seal of the Company and be confirmed in their jāgirs and altamghahs, while as to those who cannot, their jāgirs, etc., must be seized for the Sarkār. With regard to what the Khān intimated to the Governor by word of mouth concerning a nagrānah to the Company on their appointment to the Diwāni of Bengal, His Lordship thinks it very proper that such a nagrānah should be made. Only care should be taken that it may not be the occasion of any oppression on the country.

Sept. 13.

2701. From Rājā Tilok Chand. Is glad to hear of his return to Calcutta. His presence in this country is the cause of the greatest satisfaction and comfort to the writer. Mr. Verelst has fully informed the Governor of the wretched state of Burdwan. Hopes that His Lordship will show such favour that on every side prosperity may appear. Sends a congratulatory nazr. Refers him to Kishn Prān Mitter for particulars.

Sept. 14.

2702. To Rājā Tilok Chand. Has received his letter and nazr through Kishn Prān Mitter. Mr. Verelst is a man of understanding and abilities, and by his measures the country will doubtless flourish and both the Company's business and the Rājā's go on properly.

Sept. 18.

2703. From the Wazir. On the 22nd of August, His Highness arrived at Faizabad and applied himself to the business of the ṣūbah. This day which is the 28th of August, he will set out for Lucknow.

1765.

Hopes soon to set his heart at ease with regard to the business here. Assures the Governor that there will not be the least variation in the performance of his agreement. Hopes that their mutual friendship will daily increase and grow firm. Refers him to General Carnac for particulars.

Sept. 18. 2704. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Is in receipt of his letter concerning the boats detained by Kālī Parshād. Has dispatched Najaf Qulī Khān and others with a dastak directing them to release the boats and to send Kālī Parshād to Calcutta to be tried by the Governor.

Sept. 20. 2705. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letters concerning the Diwānī nagrānah and the jāgirs and altamghahs in the province of Behar. Will settle the Diwānī nagrānah in three or four days, draw up the papers of it and send them to the Governor. Has written positively to Rājā Dhīraj Narāyan to leave the jāgirs and altamghahs at present in the possession and under the collection of the jāgirdārs as formerly, and to take muchalkahs that such persons as are living must within a certain time produce their old sanads and procure new ones under the Diwānī seal of the English Company. As to those who are dead or have run away or cannot produce sanads, their jāgirs and altamghahs shall be seized for the Sarkār.

Sept. 20. 2706. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Formerly in conformity with Mr. Spencer's directions, orders were everywhere sent for stopping the currency of the 6th year and coining and establishing that of the 5th year. Accordingly there is only one month remaining of the 6th year and yet the sikkahs thereof have not been issued. By this means the Government suffers a loss in the duties of the mint, and the merchants complain that their business is stopped. Has therefore represented this matter to the Governor and begs for instructions concerning it.

Sept. 22. 2707. To Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Has received his several letters. Approves of what he has written concerning Kālī Parshād, the Diwānī nagrānah and the Patna jāgirs. With regard to the sikkahs of the 6th year, as it appears that by reason of their being withheld the business of the merchants is impeded and a loss is occasioned to the Sarkār, the Khān is desired immediately to give orders that they be issued and put in circulation without further delay.

1765.

PS.—Is much concerned to hear from Mirzā Kāzīm that the Khān has been a good deal out of order. Hopes that by this time he has perfectly recovered.

Sept. 23.

2708. To the Wazīr. Has received his letter. Is glad to hear of the prosperity of his affairs. Hopes that they will daily flourish more and more. Has no doubt of His Highness's faithful observance of the treaty that has been established between him and the Company. Assures him that the English will on their part ever strictly adhere thereto. It is both for His Highness's interest and theirs that there should be a sincere friendship subsisting between them.

Sept. 26.

2709. From Muhammad Rīzā Khān. The Governor's two letters written to summon the Nawāb Ihtirāmu-d-daulah and Murlidhar were dispatched to Patna enclosed in a letter of the writer's. Has sent His Lordship the 'arzis which the Nawāb and Murlidhar returned in answer. From their letters to the writer, it appears that they will set out shortly. Will write to His Lordship when they arrive at Murshidabad.

Sept. 26.

2710. From Muhammad Rīzā Khān. Has been severely ill for some time. By reason thereof some delay has been occasioned in the departure for Calcutta of Mirzā Muhammad Kāzīm Khān [Ihtirāmu-d-daulah] who will, however, set out on Friday the 20th September. The papers concerning the collections made by Mīr Qāsim for the [Bengali] years 1170 and 1171 have been delivered to Bābū Kantū and English translations are being made of them. The papers relative to the regulation of the Bengal province for the present year are also ready. Only Purnea remains to be settled, because it is a district of importance and not a petty affair. That country must be so settled that the chief who presides there may be continued in his office, and that the revenues of the Sarkār too may not be lost or neglected, but be managed in the best manner. Now that the writer has somewhat recovered, the papers concerning the regulation of Purnea will be made ready in two or three days and delivered to the above-mentioned Bābū. Of the papers relating to the khālīshah and jāgirs of Patna the writer has only seen a few. Could not inspect the rest on account of his illness. After he has done so and fixed on the method of regulating the khālīshah and jāgirs of Patna in consultation with Mahindar and Jagat, he will write to the Governor. And then everything will be done according as His Lordship directs.

1765.

Sept. 26.

2711. From Muḥammad Alif.* States that the village of Gandalah has from the time of Shujā'u-d-daulah [?Shujā'u-l-mulk] been under his jurisdiction and that he has paid the mālguzārī regularly. About three months ago Kishn Chaudhri under the protection of the French forcibly took possession of the village and deprived him of the revenues thereof. Is in the greatest distress. Requests that he may be done justice to.

Oct. 3.

2712. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Is in receipt of his letter. Has written parwānahs to all parts for coining and issuing the sikkaḥs of the sixth year. The papers relative to the nagrānah have been sent to the Governor through Mirzā Muḥammad Kāzīm Khān. Thanks His Lordship for showing concern at the writer's indisposition. Has already intimated that he has now recovered.

Oct. 2.

2713. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Has been informed by the officers of Purnea that a large body of mountaineers are bent on some evil design and that consequently the ryots on the frontiers are much alarmed. Has further been informed that at Udwa also the mountaineers, having insolently dared to block up the King's highway, stretch out their hands to molest and oppress travellers and others. When the writer was in the Governor's presence, he represented to His Lordship that as the troops stationed at Rajmahal, etc., were lessened in number, it would be necessary for a battalion of sepoys to be sent so as to arrive here soon. Will dispatch two companies to Purnea and the same number to Rajmahal, to Birbhum and other frontier posts.

Oct. 2.

2714. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Mirzā Muḥammad Kāzīm Khān has set out to wait on the Governor. It is expedient that he should explain some affairs relative to the country, etc., to His Lordship in private. Requests that the matter represented by him may be taken into serious consideration and whatsoever order appears best to His Lordship's wisdom issued, that the writer may in future have no cause to be ashamed. P.S.—The allowances for the chaklah of Hooghly have been withheld with a view to the interest of the Sarkār. It appears that at present thieves there are very outrageous. Consequently Mirzā Muḥammad Kāzīm Khān is desirous of having a company of sepoys sent for a few days to guard him and to assist him in adjusting affairs. Hopes that the said Khān will be favoured in this case.

Oct. 4.

2715. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. There are many persons belonging to the factory of Jahangirnagar, who under the pretence of debts being due to them and in the name of the factory disturb the zamīndārs and obstruct the revenues of the Sarkār. The particulars are very long but the writer briefly mentioned the matter to His Lordship at Motijhil. Moreover several evasive zamīndārs and ta'aluqdārs borrow more or less from the dependants of the factory, and, when their rents are demanded from them, go and shelter themselves under the protection of their creditors so as to be out of the power of the āmils. Also they carry their creditors into their districts and spreading reports to the effect that numbers of villages are rented to the dependants of the factory, practise villainous tricks. The writer accordingly receives from the āmils frequent complaints of these proceedings. Requests that orders may be issued to the gentlemen of the factories of Jahangirnagar and Lakhimpur to see that none of the dependants of the factories lend money to the zamīndārs, etc., without the knowledge of the āmil, or hold any farms, or interfere in the affairs of the country, or send any people into the districts and make a disturbance. Orders may also be issued to the effect that whatsoever demands the dependants of the factories have upon the zamīndārs, etc., they must lay the account thereof before Jasārat Khān, the Nāib at Jahangirnagar, that he may oblige the zamīndārs to pay whatsoever is just.

2720. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. When Mr. Sykes was here before, the writer consulted him when any business of importance was in hand. Now also he will defer weightier matters till the arrival of that gentleman, and set about the collection. The papers of the Bengal province are ready and the writer was thinking of dispatching them together with the clerks, but as Mr. Sykes is to arrive soon, he has postponed sending them. As he can lay the papers before that gentleman and explain them fully to his satisfaction, so that he may send the Governor a translation from hence in an English letter.

Bābū Murlīdhar arrived "last" night. Is looking over all the papers concerning the province of Behar. By the time of the arrival of Mr. Sykes they will all be ready; and then everything will be done according to the Governor's pleasure.

2721. To Muhammad Rizā Khān. Has received his several letters together with the papers relative to the Diwāni nagrānah. In order to put a stop to the incursions of the mountaineers, Sir Robert Fletcher, the commanding officer at Monghyr, has been directed to send immediately two companies of sepoy to Purnea and one to Rajmahal. Will likewise send a company to assist Mirzā Kāzīm at Hooghly. Is fully convinced of the addressee's assiduity for the interest of the Company. In case His Lordship receives any letters respecting the regulation of the province of Behar, agreeably to the Khān's desire he will defer answering them till he has seen the accounts which the Khān is preparing. Jagat Sēth's letters will be sent back hereafter.

Oct. 8.

2722. To Muhammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter complaining of the interruption given to the Government's business by the dependants of the factories of Dacca and Lakhipur lending money to the zamīndārs and renting land. In consequence thereof letters from the Committee have been written to the commanding officers of the army and all the subordinates totally prohibiting them and all the gentlemen of the factories and their dependants from interfering in any measure with the affairs of the Government in future; and positive injunctions have been given that none of the Company's servants belonging to the factories, their agents, baniās, or dependants, lend money to the zamīndārs on security of lands by lease or mortgage or without the consent of the addressee and the other ministers, or interfere in the appointments to public employments or otherwise maintain any intercourse or connection with the business of the Government, but confine themselves strictly to the Company's trade and their own, on pain of immediate suspension. As the 21st of October is the time appointed for all the English who are not employed in the Company's service to return to Calcutta, orders have been given to the chiefs to oblige all such people to repair thither within that time, and to acquaint them that they will otherwise be left entirely to the power of the country Government. Encloses a list of the Company's servants at the different factories. Whatever other Englishmen are dispersed about the country, have received orders to repair to Calcutta by the 21st of October. If they disobey those orders, the addressee can take what measures he thinks proper to send them down to Calcutta. Encloses a list of some of them. There are many others with whose names the Governor is unacquainted. These regulations being established, His Lordship makes no doubt that with Mr. Sykes's assistance, the addressee will be able to carry on the business of the Government in a proper manner and without interruption.

Oct. 11. 2723. To Mir Saïd's mother. Has received her letter. His heart was much afflicted to hear of such proceedings. Oct. 11. 2724. To Muhammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter. Encloses a letter the Governor has just received from the mother of Mir Saïd. Such acts of oppression, if they have really happened, reflect dishonour both upon the Nawāb and the Company. Desires the addressee to see that no such proceedings happen in future, and that no one has any power to injure Mir Saïd's mother.

Oct. 19. 2725. To the King. Has received his several letters. Is happy in the confidence His Majesty expresses of the writer's attachment to the interests of the Royal Scraïr. As His Majesty is determined to move the Imperial standard to his capital the writer heartily wishes that the Royal arms may be attended with success, and is sorry that it is not in his power to order the English troops to wait on His Majesty. Is always desirous of obeying his commands, but agreeably to what has already been written on the subject, he has no authority to comply with His Majesty's wishes in this instance without orders from Europe. It is also impossible for him to supply His Majesty with 1,000 stands of English arms, as the Company are at present in want of arms themselves and he is now collecting all he can for their service.

Oct. 21. 2726. From Rājā Balwant Singh. Has not yet received a reply to his 'arzī. The two qisṭs which remain due from him to the Company will be paid to Mr. Marriott. Strives in every respect to act in obedience to and with the approbation of the latter. At present, understands that Mr. Marriott has been sent for by the Council. Represents that since that gentleman has resided there, the inhabitants of the city have, by his strict administration of justice, found protection and defence and offer up their prayers for the English Company. The writer's business also by his assistance and care is well conducted. Requests therefore that the said gentleman may not be called away.

Oct. 21. 2727. From the Wazir. Has received his letter. From the time that the foundations of concord between the writer and the Company have been laid, he has been satisfied and happy and regards it as a most important event. It is apparent to all Hindustan that their friendship must increase daily, and as to the mutual engagements which they are under, nothing will be done contrary thereto. The chiefs whose territories border on the writer's, and the Marhattas who have of old considered him a dangerous person, being now more than ever disturbed at his alliance with the English Company, are in their own countries forming diverse projects. Thinking that in a case of necessity it will require some time either to send up a force from Calcutta, or to write an order to the commanders of the troops which are here, it is requested that Colonel Smith may be ordered to join the writer in case of an attack from any of his neighbours or the Marhattas; that when it is known the writer and the English are united, no one may dare to make any motion towards them, and that if any person be so rash as to attempt it, he may meet with the punishment he deserves. Assures the Governor that he has not a thought of anything but what is consistent with the treaty, nor has he to do with anyone without previously consulting His Lordship.

Oct. 22. 2728. To the Wazir. Has received his letter. Although the Governor is not willing to employ the Company's forces for any idle schemes, yet His Highness will always find him ready to grant their assistance when necessary. His Highness's desire is entirely agreeable to the treaty subsisting between him and the English, and advisable for their common security. Has therefore directed Colonel Smith to join him. Should the Marhattas or any other people have the presumption to attack His Highness, they are bound to meet with due punishment.

2729. From Muhammad Rīzā Khān. Has received his letter together with the list of the Company's servants and free merchants. The orders of the Committee have been sent to all parts of the country. Is diligently applying himself in concert with Mr. Sykes to the management of the business of the Sarkār.

2730. From the Wazir. Intimates that Mr. Marriott is occasioning a disturbance in the mint at Benares. Requests that he may be enjoined not in any wise to make opposition and contention, but to use his endeavours in conducting every business well. PS.—Will never deviate from the treaty while he lives. Thanks the Governor for so arranging matters for him that he has no concern with any one save His Lordship. As to the King's affairs, the Governor was an eye-witness of them. It is needless to repeat them. At present, however, a treaty is being negotiated between His Majesty and Malhār Rāo through Saifu-d-dīn Khān, a native of Kashmere. Has learnt from a reliable source that Malhār Rāo has asked of the King Allahabad and Kora, that His Majesty consents to his request, and that Saifu-d-dīn's ṭakīl, having undertaken the management of this business, has come over from Malhār Rāo and waited on the King. Represents that if the above treaty is concluded, it will be the occasion of terrible disturbance in the writer's ṣūbah. Mr. Marriott is still making a disturbance in the mint at Benares and allows him no manner of authority in it. That gentleman possibly imagines that the writer will cause him to be put in possession of the mint. But excepting the Governor, the writer has no concern with anyone. If Mr. Marriott withholds the whole ṣūbah from him, he will not write a word. Requests that the said gentleman may be told what seems proper to the Governor on this subject, and asked why he acts contrary to the treaty. Will not write to His Lordship again on this head. Is ashamed to write repeatedly concerning an affair of such little consequence. It becomes the Governor to give such strict orders that in future no one may do what is against His Lordship's inclination.

2731. From the King. At present His Majesty's army is in trouble through want of pay. Desires the Governor to send bills on account of what has been settled regarding Bengal, as soon as possible. Desires him to send also the Royal vestments, filkhānah and the pēshkash usually received from Bengal. Has the strongest desire to proceed towards the capital. It becomes the Governor to order Colonel [Smith] to attend His Majesty thither.

Oct. 29.

2732. From Muhammad Rizā Khān. In the parganah of Dinajpur a large part of the revenue of the Sarkār is in arrears. The wakils of the zamindār there represent that the gumāshhtahs of Mr. George Gray have by their tyranny and oppression ruined the parganah, and appropriated to their own use a large sum taken from the ryots and officers of the samindāri, and that this is the cause of the mālguzāri being in arrears. Represents that unless the money embezzled by the gumāshhtahs of the said gentleman is restored, there is no other means of recovering the sum due to the Sarkār. Accordingly the writer has sent down to the Governor Bānī Kant and seven others of the number of those from whom money has been taken by the gumāshhtahs and whom the zamindār's wakils brought before the writer. Hopes that His Lordship will do justice in this matter. Has already sent him the 'arzi of Rūhu-d-dīn Husain Khān, Faujdar of Purnea, and of Dēbī Singh, his pēshkār, concerning the embezzlements of the above gentleman. Hopes that His Lordship will inquire into the matter and procure the restoration of this money also, that it may be received as part of the sum due to the Sarkār.

Oct. 31.

2733. To Rājā Balwant Singh. Has received his letter. Is glad to learn that Mr. Marriott's conduct has been so satisfactory to him. That gentleman cannot possibly remain any longer at Benares, as some business renders both his and Mr. Bolts's presence in Calcutta absolutely necessary. When Mr. Marriott leaves Benares, Mr. Sage will act as chief in his absence. Desires the Rājā to make the monthly payments to the latter. Observes by the last accounts that the Rājā is in arrears. Tells him that as he is a regular man, he should always pay the money as it becomes due. Has been informed by Mr. Marriott that the Rājā has been making application to him that the fort of Chunar may be delivered into his hands. Knowing as the Rājā does the treaty subsisting between Shujā'u-d-daulah and the English, the Governor is surprised at his entertaining such a thought. Were the English thus to violate their engagements with the Wazīr, what reliance could be placed upon them, or how could the Rājā be assured of their adherence to their engagements with himself? Desires him in future not to think of making any proposal so contrary to their honour, and at the same time to set his mind perfectly at ease in full assurance that they will pay an equal regard to their engagements with him and support him on every just occasion.

the duties of obedience, and if his mind is at ease with regard to the affairs of these parts, to send his son Zābitāh Khān to the Presence. The state of affairs here and the disturbances of the rebellious must be known to His Majesty by reports, without the writer's representing them. The infidels, having with all malevolence advanced as far as Panipat and Satalak, purposed proceeding directly to Shahjahanabad. But upon his sending forward his tent to Maḥaldār Khān's garden and collecting a number of new and old troops, they perceived that they had not then an opportunity of putting their designs into execution. And so after ravaging and plundering the circumjacent villages, they retreated. Their retreat was also due to the fact that the time for the celebration of the chuk * was near at hand. As they are under no apprehension of troubles from any quarter, they are determined to come this way after that festival. To the writer it appears to be a very difficult matter to punish them. It can be effected only by the blessing of God and His Majesty's auspices. As far as lies in his power, he will not be negligent in giving proofs of his fidelity and attachment. With this view he has assembled all his forces from the different districts, and, having left the city, has encamped on the frontiers in order that the enemy may be struck with terror and also that his troops may all be together. Howsoever desirous he is of the honour of paying his respects to His Majesty and kissing the threshold of his Heaven-like Court, yet he is of opinion that his or his son's moving is at present inadvisable, and would be attended with bad consequences. His Majesty, who is the lord of the country, and is acquainted with the affairs of the world, will doubtless think him necessarily detained. It is advisable that His Majesty should advance the Imperial standard this way speedily, and not forget the throne of Shahjahanabad. If the writer sees any prospect of leisure, he will do himself the honour of meeting His Majesty on the road, or send his son Zābitāh Khān to wait on him. Otherwise he is without remedy. Refers him to Qāsim 'Alī Khān and Jagpat Rāy for particulars.

2735B. Ahmad Khān to the King. The writer went out to receive the two Royal farmāns, and placing them on his head was exalted to the highest degree of honour. Understands what His Majesty was pleased to say to him by the mouth of Shāh Jān Maḥammad. Refers to the farmān desiring him to act agreeably to the instructions of Badru-d-daulah. Is sincerely attached to His Majesty's service which makes him consider the Royal habitation as his own, and consequently he wishes from his soul to see the kingdom well established. Whenever the Royal standard advances this way, he will readily attend His Majesty. Refers him to the 'arẓī of Badru-d-daulah for particulars.

2735C. Dundi Khān to the King. Has received his shuggah intimating that it is his just intention to frustrate the wicked designs of his enemies and to destroy those base infidels, and that as soon as the rains are over, the Royal standard will advance towards Shahjahanabad. The knowledge of these His Majesty's intentions has occasioned the writer the greatest joy, since they tend to procure for His Majesty's servants the happiness of arriving in the Royal Presence, and to promote the prosperity of his kingdom, the welfare of his subjects, and the utter destruction of sedition and rebellion. Hopes to be speedily informed of the arrival of Najibu-d-daulah at the capital in order to serve under the Shāh-zādah. The former has set out to punish and reduce to obedience the turbulent and rebellious who in the districts around have raised a disturbance. By the blessing of God and the auspices of His Majesty the country will be cleared of rebels.

2735D. Ya'qub 'Ali Khān to the King. Has received his letter saying that as the rains are now over, he proposes advancing the Royal standards towards the capital, and desiring the writer to repair to the Presence. This joyful news the writer considered as a voice from Heaven. Najibu-d-daulah by reason of disturbances in all parts and particularly the sedition raised by the Sikhs is deprived of all ease and satisfaction, and is forced to be absent from His Majesty's presence. As to the writer himself, he is at all times and in all places praying for His Majesty's prosperity, and is ready to serve him to the utmost of his abilities. Refers him for particulars to Qāsim 'Ali Khān.

2736. To the Sēths. The addressees are not ignorant of what attention the Governor always showed to their fathers, and how cordially he has continued to show it to them and the remainder of the family. Tells them to reflect upon the manner in which he received them and to remember how constantly he has given them proofs of his regard. It cannot but be a matter of great concern to him therefore to learn that they do not consider seriously what they ought to do in order to establish their own credit and to promote the public interests. Instead of keeping to their original intention of having the treasury under three separate keys, they have lodged all the money with their family in their house. Also they have been consenting at least to the farming of the Bengal province, and pressing the zamindārs to discharge their debts to the addressees' fathers at a time when they are five months in arrears to the Government. This is a step the Governor can by no means approve or allow. They are still a very rich house, but His Lordship greatly fears that the tendency they seem to have to avarice, will not only turn greatly to their disadvantage, but will at the same time destroy that

2737. From Dundī Khān. Has already written to him several times. The news that he has arrived at Benares and intends to wait on His Majesty has overjoyed the writer's heart beyond measure and opened the gates of the garden of pleasure before his eyes. From the time that a mutual regard commenced and a literary correspondence ensued between the late Nawāb Mir Ja'far and himself, and he became acquainted with the excellence of the Governor's natural disposition and his great administrative abilities, he conceived a friendship for His Lordship, and has long wished to strengthen the bonds of his esteem. Thanks God that at present the distance between them is so small, and hopes that their friendship will increase, and that through the good effects of their union and harmony affairs of importance will be happily conducted. Has at all times in view the prosperity of the kingdom and a firm friendship with the English. The Governor must have heard of this. Hopes that His Lordship will consider him a sincere well-wisher. Refers him to the letters of Mir Ghulām Ḥusain Khān for particulars.

2738. From Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Has received his letter saying that Mr. Cartier, a gentleman of understanding and consideration, has been empowered to discover what servants of the Company have connections with the samindāri or rent land in the environs of Dacca, and desiring the writer with the advice of the said gentleman to apply an effectual remedy to this evil and from henceforward not to consent to such practices. The understanding and abilities of Mr. Cartier are indubitable. Nothing could be more proper than the empowering of that gentleman to examine into these matters. The writer too has sent Sayyid Mu'tamad Khān, who is an intelligent person and well acquainted with business, to him at Dacca, and has written to the *'āmil*s there to the effect that whosoever has any complaint or excuse to make on account of the Company's servants or their dependants interfering in the samindāri or their farming lands, etc., must send his wa'īls to the said Khān, that the latter fully informing himself of the nature of the case, may explain the same to Mr. Cartier's satisfaction. Will entirely agree with whatever manner that gentleman settles these matters. Has written to the *'āmil*s and zamindārs in all parts ordering them from henceforward not to permit the servants of the Company to rent lands or be appointed to any offices under them; and telling them that whoever does so, he shall be answerable for the consequences, and that they must not raise any objections on account of their past grievances, for Mr. Cartier will give them what redress is just and equitable.

PS.—As to the Governor's saying that besides the Company's servants, there are some European traders who have not yet come down to Calcutta and that he will be highly displeased if the 'āmils of the Sarkār do not send them down, says that he has before written on this subject. Now also he has written to Jasarat Khān, Nāib of Dacca, to Sayyid Muhanmad 'All Khān, Faujdar of Sylhet, and to others remote from hence, ordering them to tell all European merchants, excepting such as are employed in the business of the Company, to repair to Calcutta; and if upon receiving such admonition they neglect to go, to insist upon it peremptorily; but if this method too should fail, to inform the writer and forward a list of their names, that he may send them down by whatever means are practicable. Has given the same instructions to Suchit Rām, and Agghar 'All, the new Tahsildār of Dinajpur, as also to the other 'āmils in this zila.

2739. From Muhammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter saying that while Gopi Nāth, gumāstah of Mr. Boulton, agreeably to the Company's dastak, was bringing to Calcutta 123 pieces of squared timber, the Zamindār of Pachete, disregarding the dastak, detained the timbers and made prisoner the gumāstah, demanding payment of duty on his present cargo and on all that he had brought for two years past; and desiring that an order may be sent for the release of the gumāstah and timbers, and that the Zamindār may be given a sharp reproof. Replies that the Zamindār in question has for a long time been in a state of disobedience, and does not pay the mālguzāri to the Sarkār. Immediately upon the receipt of the Governor's letter, the writer dispatched some strict collectors with orders to go as expeditiously as possible and release the gumāstah and his timbers, and to lay such injunctions and menaces on the Zamindār that hereafter upon seeing the Company's dastak, he may not molest or obstruct any person whatsoever. Has also written to him on this head with the strongest and most positive injunctions, and issued repeated orders to all parts directing the customs to be received from merchants as usual, that no one, who has the Company's dastak, may be impeded. Was already thinking of proposing the punishment of the above Zamindār to the Governor. Unless he is punished, he will never be reduced to obedience or pay the mālguzāri to the Sarkār. Requests to be informed of His Lordship's pleasure in this matter.

2740. From Muhammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter saying that there are at present a great many complaints about the unjust demands of the chaukidārs; that some Dutch boats have been detained at Jellingy chauki for duties contrary to custom; that such proceedings are not proper; and that the chaukidārs ought as usual to let boats pass and repass without obstructions; desiring that positive orders may be sent to the several chaukis directing them not to give any interruption to boats, but to conduct them safe out of their respective bounds ; and adding that as Damodar Singh does not pay his rents, four companies of sepoy's have been sent against him, and that the writer on his part should send some capable and intelligent man to inform himself particularly of what is due and receive it. Replies that as Jellingy chauki is dependent on the pachotrā, the writer called the dāroghah of that office and reprimanded him severely. Accordingly the dāroghah sent some of his people with the utmost haste to release the Dutch boats. He told the writer that it was customary for the chaukidārs to bring the boats to the chauki and search them and then take whatever duties were usual. Has now given positive orders to all the chaukidārs, etc., directing them to let the Dutch and French boats pass upon sight of dastaks under the seal of the chiefs of their factories and not to make any unjust demands. Approves of sending sepoy's against Damodar Singh. As desired, will send a proper person to receive the balance which is due from him.

Nov. 8.

2741. From the Wazir. Has received his letter. Thanks God that their mutual esteem and friendship is founded on truth and sincerity, that they are equally desirous of preserving this union inviolable and that it is increasing day by day. Has once more written to the Nawāb Munīru-d-daulah to pay the Governor 5 lākhs of rupees. If he does not, the writer may be informed, that he may send His Lordship a bill of exchange for the sum.

Nov. 9.

2742. From Rājā Dhiraj Narāyan. The Governor was pleased to give orders for reducing the number of troops here. As the writer looks upon obedience to His Lordships as an honour, he made a thousand representations on this subject. The number has accordingly been reduced ; but there are 2,000 horse still kept. With regard to these he again represented that since the fear of the Governor's name prevented everybody from entertaining any hostile intentions, and since the victorious English troops were sufficient to crush the enemies, there was no occasion for such an expense. But the rulers here would not listen to him. There are very large arrears due to the troops and they are daily more and more importunate. The servants have for some time been endeavouring to excite the troops to sedition. Accordingly this day they sent Bolā Singh, etc., to the writer and made a great disturbance. Mushīru-l-mulk Murādu-d-daulah Mr. Middleton Bahādur Ikhtīār Jang and Colonel Barker, however, in consideration of his being a servant of His Lordship's, took care of him. The disturbance of the troops, both disbanded and retained, increases day by day. Were the Governor's orders for reducing them put into execution, such disturbances would not happen. His Lordship is the master of the country. He may settle what number of troops are to be kept up and send a parwānah accordingly. The gentlemen also may be told that more should not be kept.

Nov. 12.

2743. From the King. As His Majesty has long experienced the faithful service and steady attachment of Qiāmu-d-daulah Aḥmad Khān Bahādur Qāim Jang and his brothers to his Royal person, he has therefore been pleased to confer on the Khān and his heirs an altamghah of 30 lākhs of dāms in the sarkār of Kharakpur, a dependency of Oudh, and written to Shujā'u-d-daulah to give up these dāms. It becomes the Governor to write expressly and with strong injunctions to the Wazīr to make over the altamghah to the Khān's gumāstah and to assist and befriend him in every respect.

Nov. 12.

2744. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Has received his letter saying that he has determined to issue sikkahs of the 7th year at Calcutta on the 1st of December, and desiring the writer to do the same here on that day. In compliance with the ancient custom, the sikkahs were struck in the mint on the 15th of Ḥumādā 1, and the Governor was informed thereof. Will make the new sikkahs pass current in the revenues and among the ṣarrāfs, etc., on the date His Lordship mentions.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 168, p. 146. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 101.]

Nov. 12.

2745. From Muḥammad Rizā Khān. The parganahs of Bhagalpur, Kolgong, Chugh, and Pargah, which were under the management of Mirzā Dāūd Sulṭān, have been thrown into much disorder on account of his departing at the time of the harvest without informing the writer or making collections. Concerning the arrears of those parganahs, there has been much controversy. Notwithstanding what has been said to the Mirzā about making regulations such as have been made in Birbhum and other places, tending to raise the revenues above what was formerly settled, he will not give a satisfactory reply. In short he refused to give a single dām more than what was settled in the years 1171 and 1172. Cannot expect to receive even that from him who is so incapable of business and so unacquainted with affairs. Accordingly with the advice of Mr. Sykes, the writer has appointed Mir Wāriṣ 'Alī, who is an intelligent and capable person, to the above parganahs in the room of Mirzā Dāūd, and settled the revenues at a larger sum than what was agreed to in the years 1171 and 1172. The said Mir has given his agreement in writing.

1765.

Nov. 15.

2746. To the King. Has received his letter together with the several enclosures. Is glad to find that the chiefs of the Empire are ready to perform the duties of faithful obedience. Hopes that the rebellious will meet with the punishment due to their actions and that His Majesty's enemies will be brought to shame. The reason why the English troops cannot have the honour of attending his stirrup to Shahjahanabad, has already been represented. It is needless for the Governor to repeat it.

Nov. 15.

2747. To Dundī Khān. Has received his letter mentioning his attachment to the King and his friendship for the English. Has also received a letter from Ghulām Husain Khān saying that the peace which has been concluded between the Nawāb Shujā'u-d-daulah and the English has been a matter of great joy to the addressee and the other Rohilla chiefs. Is glad to learn that he is firm in his obedience to His Majesty. The close alliance, which, with His Majesty's approbation, the English have entered into with the Wazīr, cannot but be conducive to His Majesty's glory and the general good of the Empire, and therefore must have given the addressee great satisfaction.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 54, p. 39. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 109.]

Nov. 17.

2748. From the King. By reason of the trouble arising from want of money to defray the charges of the Royal Sarkār, a lākh of rupees has been borrowed of some merchants through the Nawāb Munir-u-d-daulah. Desires the Governor to pay the said sum without delay to the gumāshṭah of Kashmīrī Mal, etc., agreeably to the receipt which has been given from the Royal treasury. The sooner the money is paid, the better will His Majesty be pleased, and the more manifest will the Governor's affection be.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 170, p. 147. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 96.]

Nov. 18.

2749. From the Wazīr. Has received his letter saying that other business is designed for Rājā Shitāb Rāy, and desiring the writer to send some trusty man to reside at Calcutta. Agreeably to the Governor's desire, Rājā Parsodā Rāy has been sent to wait on His Lordship.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 171, p. 147. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 109.]

Nov. 18.

2750. To the King. Has received his letter regarding the altamghah in the sarkār of Kharakpur, which His Majesty has conferred upon Ahmad Khān. Replies that Shujā'u-d-daulah, being a faithful servant of His Majesty's, will doubtless of himself pay a proper regard to the Royal commands. It would be very unbecoming in the Governor to write to the Wazir on this subject, as he is entirely independent of His Lordship. This is a business with which the latter has nothing to do. Requests that His Majesty may himself give the Wazir such orders as may be expedient.

1765.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 55, p. 39. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 112.]

Nov. 19.

2751. To the Wazir. Has received his two letters professing friendship, and mentioning that Muniru-d-daulah will give the Governor a receipt for the 5 lākhs of rupees which the addressee is to pay, and take a receipt from His Lordship. The sincerity of the Wazir's friendship gives the writer great pleasure. Assures him that his regard for His Highness will ever remain firm. Desires that the 5 lākhs of rupees may be paid to His Majesty. Colonel Smith will give the addressee a receipt for it and take a receipt from His Majesty.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 56, p. 39. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 115.]

Nov. 19.

2752. To Muḥammad Rizā Khān. Is in receipt of his thirteen letters. Has been informed that the addressee has not yet sent any one to receive the balance due from Damodar Singh. Desires him not to make any delay in this matter. Approves of his removing Mirzā Dāūd from the Faujdarī of Bhagalpur, etc. The Mirzā, who appears to be incapable of business, would never have paid his rents with regularity. Rājā Shitāb Rāy, being a good deal indisposed, cannot proceed to Patna at present, but has appointed Rāy Sādū Rām to act there in his room. Murlidhar, who will assist Rājā Dhīraj Narāyan and Sādū Rām with his advice, will set out for Patna immediately. Hopes that, by this means, the business of that province will be carried on with success till Shitāb Rāy is able to proceed thither himself. With regard to the different appointments the addressee has been making, he is himself the best judge of the propriety of them. He is very capable of conducting the business which has been committed to his charge; and the Governor has no doubt that, with Mr. Sykes's advice, everything will be managed satisfactorily. The payment of the tankhwāh money being now stopped, Rājā Dhīraj Narāyan may be ordered to pay to the Chief of Patna factory whatever sums he may require for the use of the army.

[Trans. P. L. I., 1765, no. 57, pp. 39-40. Abs. P. L. I., 1759-65, p. 113.]

Nov. 20.

2753. From the Wazir. Has received his letter of the 12th October. Agreeably to the Governor's desire, Rājā Parodā Rāy, who is an old confidant of the writer's, will be dispatched to Calcutta on the 2nd November. Has communicated some secret matters to the Rājā. Desires that what he says may be regarded as spoken by the writer. How much soever the Governor may wish that a hearty friendship may be established between them, the writer is still more anxious for it. What the Governor has heard relative to the King's intentions is true beyond a doubt. The writer supposed that it was with His Lordship's advice that the King was going to Delhi; but now he finds that His Lordship was not given any information about it. His Majesty has written to the Wazir also to attend him. But His Highness does not choose to take any step without the Governor's approbation. Had His Majesty consulted him on this scheme, he would first of all have given His Lordship notice, and then acted agreeably to his pleasure. With regard to what the Governor says about calling down the army from Allahabad, the case is this. The country is not yet properly settled and the neighbouring chiefs, jealous of the connection between the writer and the English, wait for an opportunity to show their ill-disposition towards them both. The coming of the Marhattas, the report of the coming of the Abdālī, the disturbances of the Sikhs, and His Majesty's intention of going with the Marhattas to Delhi, all these circumstances render it inadvisable to remove the army from Allahabad at present. Moreover it is the writer's intention, after some time when the affairs of his country are settled to his satisfaction, to come and pay the Governor a visit, that he may have a personal conference with His Lordship. If then there is no English army here and he is not free from the apprehension of dangers, how will he be able to move? Requests that the Commander of the army at Allahabad may be ordered, when the writer sets out on a visit to the Governor, to send an officer with some troops into Oudh to remain in such places as the writer may choose, in order that that province may be well settled and that those, who are waiting for an opportunity, may not form any hostile schemes; but if there is an indispensable necessity for recalling the army from Allahabad, asks that at least the battalion which now attends him may be left with him, as their going would inspire his enemies with hostility. It is to the Governor's favour that the writer is indebted for the settling of his business. What is proper will doubtless be done. There is no occasion for him to point it out.

1765.

Dec. 2.

2754. From the King. Has received his letter through Colonel Smith. Cannot understand how the Governor, who is celebrated for his understanding and wisdom, could think it probable that contrary to the inclination of His Lordship, who is the strength of his arm and the support of his Empire, and the other English gentlemen, who have long attended and served him and given him proofs of their fidelity and attachment, His Majesty would form an alliance with Malhār Rāo Hulkar, who has never shown himself well inclined to the Royal house of Timūr, and give him Allahabad and Kora which by the blessing of God and the assistance of the English saved His Majesty as it were at his last gasp. This is entirely false. Some faithless liar has trumped up a story of his own head and communicated it to the Governor. Desires His Lordship to regard it as an absolute falsity and by no means to give credit to it. As Malhār Rāo Hulkar was forming projects to proceed towards Shahjahanabad, in the neighbourhood of which the Royal family is, and as His Majesty was apprehensive lest the disturbances there might increase, he sent Saifu-d-din 1765.

Muhammad Khān to the Marhatta chief, that he might contrive to divert the latter from his scheme and render him obedient to His Majesty, and to let him know that if he would consent to an alliance with the English, His Majesty could in such case have confidence in him. These measures His Majesty was under a necessity of pursuing after he knew for certain that the English chiefs would not attend his stirrup to Delhi. Had the English chiefs attended him ever so little, the affairs of Akbarabad would have been settled without bloodshed. Has already written to the Governor three times on this subject, but His Lordship has not taken any step in his favour. At present the affairs of Akbarabad will be settled by the smallest movement. The zamīndārs, chiefs and rājās are waiting for his arrival. Desires therefore that positive orders may be sent to Colonel Smith directing him to attend the Royal stirrup towards Akbarabad, that His Majesty's enemies may not imagine that the English chiefs have deserted him. It is solely in consideration of the Governor's faithful obedience that His Majesty has addressed him on this subject. The Sūbahdār Malhār Rāo Hulkar is also desirous of this. With regard to the observance of the treaty with Shujā'u-d-daulah, there has yet been no deviation from it, nor will there be any. Looks upon the Wazīr as the strength of his arm.

Dec. 3.

2755. From Muhammad Rizā Khān. Has been informed by Mirzā Muhammad Kāzīm Khān that Mr. Vernet, the Dutch Director, has removed the chauki of the Bakhsh-bandar which has been of old stationed at Chinsurah for the collection of duties from trading peoples; that he does not permit the officers of the Faujdāri to exercise their authority; and that he passes goods belonging to others under his own dastaks. As these proceedings are greatly prejudicial to the affairs of the Faujdāri and occasion a very considerable loss to the Bakhsh-bandar, it is requested that the above Director may be enjoined to let the chauki, which he has caused to be removed, remain as formerly and not to pass the goods of other merchants together with his own under the same dastak, or cause any obstruction to the business of the Faujdāri.

Dec. 6.

2756. Muhammad Rizā Khān to Lord Clive and the gentlemen of the Committee. Motī Rām, the late Āmil of the chaklah of Hooghly, has embezzled some money which he collected there, and having sold according to his own pleasure the salt of Hingely and other parganahs, does not account for it to the Sarkār. Moreover he has set himself down at Kasijora and will not obey any summons. Requests that some of the Company's people may be sent to bring him from Kasijora, that the money due to the Sarkār may be recovered.

1765.

Dec. 6.

2757. From the Wazir. Has received his letter saying that Colonel Smith has been directed to join the Wazir when necessary. The Governor's showing him so much friendship in this matter makes him extremely happy. The writer addressed His Lordship by way of caution and foresight that if any one should form any hostile schemes, a timely remedy might be at hand. Therefore his sending orders accordingly to Colonel Smith is extremely proper. It is certain that the interests of the writer and those of the Company are the same, and that there is no difference between them. Who has the power to look towards them? If anyone does, he will meet with just punishment. As to what the Governor says of his being unwilling to employ the Company's forces for any idle schemes, replies that if certain schemes are undertaken, they will be attended with very great advantage. Asks permission to write to the Governor fully concerning them. His Lordship may consider them and then pursue them if they are agreeable to him. Desires to be informed of His Lordship's views on the subject that he may act accordingly. The management of all his affairs, great and small, depends upon the Governor's pleasure. Will always act in such a manner as His Lordship may recommend. Rājā Parsodā Rāy, in whom the writer has particular confidence, has already set out for Calcutta, where he will shortly arrive and treat with His Lordship on his part. Dated 17th Nov.

[Trans. P. L. R., 1765, no. 176, pp. 151-152. Abs. P. L. R., 1759-65, p. 109.]

Dec. 6.

2758. From the Wazir. Has received his letter of the 30th October mentioning that he has already heard of His Majesty's negotiation with Malhār Rāo Hulkar; that he does not approve of such measures; and that Colonel Smith has been directed to join the writer with the English forces whenever His Highness may require their assistance; and enclosing a copy of His Lordship's 'arzdash' on this subject to the King. States that the Governor shows the writer friendship beyond his utmost hopes; and the words and meaning of His Lordship's 'arzdash' to the King are selected as it were out of the writer's heart. Cannot sufficiently thank His Lordship for his favours. Prays God that he too may be enabled to act in such a manner as may give His Lordship pleasure and satisfaction. Colonel Smith will doubtless assist the writer as circumstances may require. Mr. Marriott at first made pretences with regard to the mint about a letter from His Majesty, but afterwards he gave in. Accordingly the writer's people are now in possession of the mint. As the Governor is so favourably disposed towards him, it is not in the power of any of the gentlemen to act in a contrary manner. Has already dispatched Rājā Parsodā Rāy. Hopes that the message entrusted to him will be delivered safely. Dated 17th Nov.

Dec. 7.

2759. From the King. It appears that some one has falsely informed the Governor, either by letter or word of mouth, that the 1765.

King's intention in sending for Malhār Rāo Hulkar is to ruin the country of Shujā'u d-daulah. The most ignorant person cannot act in this manner. How is it possible that His Majesty should think of doing anything to the prejudice or disgrace of a person whom he himself has graciously restored to the possession of his country, whom he called brother and for whom his regard is even greater than for a brother? Moreover to despise the servant is to show a contempt for the master. His Majesty's sending Saifu-d-dīn Muhammad Khān was on prudential grounds, as the women of the Royal race of Timūr and all the King's are in the fort of Delhi; and as Najīb-u-d-daulah, by reason of the insurrection of the Sikhs, is advancing towards Lahore. If by the evil insinuations of the Jāts, Malhār Rāo Hulkar should be induced to march against the capital, no satisfaction could be obtained, on account of the separation of the English army from the King. Thus being obliged thereto, His Majesty took such counsel as might be conducive to prevent the junction of these two rebels. He was even desirous of inviting them to join the alliance, intending, when matters were settled with the English chiefs, and Malhār Rāo Hulkar was attending in his service, to punish other rebels. Thanks God that Malhār Rāo Hulkar is most heartily inclined to friendship with the English. Desires that positive orders may be sent to Colonel Smith directing him to go with His Majesty into the neighbourhood of Kora Jahanabad and conclude a treaty agreeably to the Royal intention. Undertakes to make a peace between the Marhatta chief and the English. Will afterwards send against Jawāhir Singh, Malhār Rāo together with Najaf Khān, the Rohilla chiefs who are desirous of coming to His Majesty, and the Royal army. The King himself and the Colonel with the English army will remain in the neighbourhood of Kora Jahanabad till such time as the troops sent have settled affairs at Akbarabad.

Dec. 8.

2760. From the King. Is in expectation of the Governor's 'arzi concerning Malhār Rāo Hulkar and His Majesty's sending Saifu-d-dīn Khān to the latter. Has already written to His Lordship fully with respect to affairs here. Tells him to set his heart at ease, for His Majesty regards him as the support of the Empire and as sincere in his attachment to the throne. As long as His Majesty lives, he will be an enemy to the Governor's enemies and a friend to his friends. Does not look upon Shujā'u d-daulah as a disobedient servant, for it will ever be agreeable to the King to acknowledge the zeal and fidelity wherewith the Governor and General Carnac have served His Majesty. Upon all occasions whatever His Lordship may propose will meet with the Royal approbation. If any person should write to His Lordship a fictitious story about Kora and Allahebad and the Marhattas, it is hoped that no credit will be given thereto, since His Majesty is from his heart and soul interested in the honour, reputation and satisfaction of the Governor and the English chiefs. Desire His 1765.

Lordship to manifest his affection by establishing the King firmly in his kingdom, which will make His Lordship's name renowned unto the world's ends. Requests that Muniru-d-daulah may soon be dismissed and strictly enjoined not to make a longer stay at his house in Patna than three or four days, but to come with all expedition to the Presence. PS.—"Admonishes" him once more saying that if anyone writes from hence or represents to him at Calcutta that the King is negotiating a peace with the Marhattas, he must not credit it, as His Majesty will not enter upon any business whatever without consulting with him, and until such time as he and Shujāu-d-daulah have compromised matters with the Marhattas. Has summoned the Wazir to repair to the Presence. Desires that Najmu-d-daulah may be directed to send His Majesty, agreeably to the ancient custom, the Royal apparel, filkhānah, etc., with expedition. The Governor was spoken to about this at his departure. The boats, which His Lordship promised to send, have arrived, and His Majesty is pleased thereat. But the Royal apparel has not yet come. Desires that it may soon be dispatched as the summer approaches and His Majesty is in want of clothes. Desires also that Muniru-d-daulah may be sent in haste as his presence is needed. Is mindful of the Governor night and day, and regards him as one of his own family. (N.B.—The postscript was in the King's handwriting.)

2761. Translation of an address to Lord Clive. Murādu-d-daulah, son of Jurāmu-d-daulah(?) with his two sisters; Sharifu-ū-nisā, wife of 'Aliwardi Khān, with the wife and the daughter of Sirāju-d-daulah; Shukru-l-lāh Khān, Hafizu-l-lāh Khān, Mirzāi, etc., sons of Sarfarāz Khān, with their three sisters; and Jasārat Jang, Mirzā Jubbā, etc., sons of Saulat Jang, with their mother and one sister, state that by their ill fortune former rulers kept them, innocent people, imprisoned at Dacca for a long time, and that they did not receive regularly even the slender sustenance which was allowed them. By the hardship of imprisonment and their distress for food and necessities their life was rendered bitter to them. However when the Nawāb Mu'inu-d-daulah Bahādur Muzaffār Jang [Muhammad Rizā Khān] came to Dacca, he paid them their small allowance regularly month by month. Now that the Governor, out of his great kindness, has released them from their confinement, they have arrived safely at Murshidabad. For the rest of their lives, receiving an allowance from the Sarkār and being furnished with necessities, they will constantly be employed in praying for the perpetuity of His Lordship's prosperity and glory, and will never be guilty of an improper action. 2762. From Muḥammad Rīzā Khān Orders had been written to Dacca for sending the Royal apparel before the writer was favoured with the Governor's letters on that subject. This day, which is the 17th of December, an answer has been received from thence intimating that 158 pieces of it are ready. Encloses the account of them. Has now again written positive orders directing that the pieces, which are ready, should be immediately forwarded to Murshidabād together with an account of them. Orders have also been sent to the effect that the rest of the cloth for the Royal apparel must be speedily got ready. PS.—455 pieces of cloth are to be got ready for the Royal apparel. Of these 158 are now ready at Dacca. Whereas in the enclosed account *tansukh chirās are mentioned, they are not chirās but pieces of 40 dir'ahs† in length and 1 dir'ah † girah‡ in breadth. In the Royal apparel they are called chirās and what are called tahpēchs§ are sarbands||

Dec. 24.

2763. From Rājā Jānūji. Prosperity and success depend upon the faithful observance of agreements. Even the subsistence of the heavens and the earth is through the blessing of men of truth and fidelity, especially in this fourth and last age of the world when these virtues are nowhere to be met with but in the English. The good faith of Europeans is universally celebrated and even spoken of

as a proverb. Doubtless it is from this cause that all these victories and the accomplishment of all the wishes of the English have proceeded. At the time when Mir Qāsim arrived with the Wazir with all his treasures and effects, and the English were preparing to assist Mir Ja'far, the writer received repeated letters [from the then Governor] desiring him not to suffer himself to be allured by the treasures and rich presents of that faithless tyrant, or to assist or support him or to grant him an asylum in Orissa or elsewhere; and telling him to take from Mir Ja'far the money which was due. As good faith and justice and the benefit of the people, the most precious charge of God, are all the writer wishes for, he sent Ragunāth Pandit as his wakil to establish these foundations of friendship and to receive the money. And whereas wakils worthy of confidence came to the writer from Mir Qāsim with rich presents of jewels and elephants, &c., and brought him bills for 30 lākhs of rupees asking him to assist the ex-Nawāb or to grant him an asylum at Nagpur or in the province of Orissa, that, having strengthened himself and collected some forces, he might ravage the territories of Bengal, the writer sent them all back. Moreover, he prohibited the 7,000 horse, which had been sent to Orissa, from invading those parts in order that the good understanding between him and the English might not be interrupted; and put an entire dependence upon the writing of Shamsu-d-daulah Bahādur (Mr. Vansittart). Notwithstanding that the English arms have been crowned with success, that the Bengal districts have been settled, and that Ragunāth Pandit has been residing in Bengal for nearly two years, the writer has received no account of the money. Not even so much as two lākhs of rupees have been paid. This is evidently an infringement of the agreement. The faithful attachment, which the writer and his ancestors have shown to the Saltanat, particularly in the Deccan, in conjunction with the Nawāb Nizāmu-d-daulah, the Governor must have heard of. If people will be guilty of ingratitude, how can it be helped? Is now also ready with his friends and relatives, who will not be less than 1,00,000 horse, to perform the duties of friendship. As by twelve years' labour and by 50,000 people, men and women, being put to the sword, by repeated wars and by the death of nearly two and twenty principal commanders, the writer's claim to an inheritance and share in the Bengal provinces is established, this his right he will never relinquish as long as there is any breath in his body. But it is a great disgrace to him that he put any trust in the letters of the English containing professions of friendship giving him hopes of the payment of the money, and desiring him not to assist Mir Qāsim. What justice is there in this? If under the cloak of friendship agreements are violated, what remedy is there? As the breach of a promise is very incompatible with that good faith for which the English nation is celebrated, probably there may be sundry reasons for this neglect. But every war is now at an end. It is proper that the Governor should exert his endeavours for the fulfilling of the engagements which have been made with the writer and the payment of the money, which is due, into the hands of Ragunāth Pandit or else empower the writer to take it by whatever means he can, and then it will rest with him, Bengal, and the troops of the Deccan. But without His Lordship's permission he would not choose to do anything contrary to the agreement. Refers him to the said Pandit for several particulars which could not be committed to writing.

Dec. 3.

2762. From Muhammad Riza Khān. Understands from Intizāmu-d-daulah Mr. Sykes Bahādur that the Governor has been informed that the writer and Rājā Mahindar Bahādur (Dālab Rām) have taken out of the province of Behar for their jāgirs some rich and opulent districts, the revenues of which amount to 4 lāks of rupees a year. Replies that the Governor was pleased, out of his favour to the writer, to confer upon him a jāgir, and he is persuaded that it is not His Lordship's intention that it should be an impoverished and ruined district. The mutasaddis of Rājā Dhiraj Narāyan were told to fix upon some districts which were not in a state of ruin; and they selected three districts, which were accordingly appointed as jāgirs for Rājā Dālab Rām and the writer agreeably to the papers of the landar-hast of the province of Behar which the aforesaid mutasaddis delivered to him and which are herewith enclosed. These districts formerly appertained to other jāgirdārs, but having been taken into the possession of the Sarkār, they came under the agreements of the āmils and the collection of the mutasaddis of the province. If they are so very profitable, how is it that they have not been mentioned as such in the papers? It is about a month since with Mr. Sykes's knowledge āmils went to the jāgirs of the Rājā and the writer, and yet no account of the alleged great profits has been received. Had any such information been given to the writer and had any *subdaru-t-talukhs papers arrived, the writer would certainly have acquainted His Lordship and Mr. Sykes. Does not keep the smallest transaction secret from Mr. Sykes and the Governor. The mutasaddis having reckoned the collections of the jāgirs in question to be Rs. 1,73,107, the accounts were delivered to Mr. Sykes along with the other papers of jāgirs in the Behar province. If the districts be worth 4 lāks of rupees a year, the profits of these persons, whose residence is in that province, who are well acquainted with the state of it, and who have taken what districts they have themselves thought proper, will doubtless be still greater. Is day and night diligent in showing his attachment to the Sarkār, and looks upon its losses and profits as his own. It is better that all the jāgirs should be taken into the Government's hands, the jāgirdārs paid in ready money and the balance carried to the Government's credit. Although it is natural for mankind to attend to their private interests and every one is liable to err, yet God is his witness that the attainment of His Lordship's satisfaction is his most earnest wish.

PS.—Exerts himself night and day in managing the affairs of the Sarkār, and by the blessing of God and His Lordship's auspices, the state of disorder in which they were involved, is now removed. The bund-o-bast of every place has been finished these two months, and the collections are going on well. Has great hopes that the business of the Sarkār will be so conducted as to afford His Lordship satisfaction and do the writer credit.

Dec. 10.* 2766. The Nāwāb Fakhru-d-daulah Saif-jāng Mr. Harry Verelst Bahādur to Muhammad Riza Khān. As the chāukidārs, misunderstanding the orders that have recently been issued, detain the goods on their way from ārangs, and as this is just the season for the ships being dispatched, their departure will considerably be delayed. Accordingly the French and the Dutch have complained of the matter. The English will be equally affected. It would be better if those orders were suspended for some time, and put in force again after the season is over.

Dec. 10.* 2767. Mr. Verelst to Rājā Shitāb Rāy. Some time ago, the Nāwāb Amīru-l-mamālik Bahādur, [Lord Clive], asked Muniru-d-daulah for an attar box, etc., for presentation to the King of England. The articles in question may be ready by this time. Desires that immediately on receipt of this letter, they may be sent with expedition. Thanks God that His Lordship is much better now.

Dec. 12.* 2768. Mr. Verelst to Muhammad Riza Khān. Has received from M. Chevalier a complaint to the effect that the āmils of the country everywhere obstruct the French trade; that twelve French boats laden with timber have been detained at Rangamati, notwithstanding that they are provided with a French dastak, and that the officials there will not release them until they are shown an English dastak or a parwānah from the addressee. Desires that a thorough inquiry may be made into the affair and what proper done. Desires also that the chāukidārs may be directed not to put unnecessary restrictions on the French trade.

Dec. 13. 2769. Mr. Verelst to Muḥammad Rīzā Khān. Has received his letter relating to the duties on the Dutch and French trade. Thinks it would be better to ask the Dutch and the French to mention particulars of their goods in the dastaks, and to let their boat be searched at all the recognised chaunkis. If no search is made at Serampur, Jellingy, and Rajmahal, the Sarkār will be defrauded of its revenues, as the said European people will be free to trade in all the mahāls lyi g between these chaunkis without paying any duties. Also they will be able to land and sell their goods duty free at any place on this side of Azimabad as far as the chaunki of Rajmahal. The result will be that all the trade of that part of the country will fall into their hands. When the English and other merchants do not object to their goods and boats being searched, there does not seem to be any reason why the Dutch and the French should. The chaunkidārs having strictly been warned on the subject, will not give them cause for offence. No attention must be paid to these merchants if they make unreasonable complaints. Desires that they may be written to accordingly. As the English have ceased to trade in the mufasssil under orders that have lately been issued, it is proper that the Dutch and the French should follow suit, and that they should be asked not to take their goods from arang to arang and from mahāl to mahāl, but to confine their trade to their recognised factories and the land appertaining thereto. PS.—As to the duty on opium paid by the Dutch and the French, it would be better if it remained the same. In the matter of duties no distinction ought to be made between Hindus and Muhammadans, if the happiness of the people is to be secured.

Dec. 13. 2770. Mr. Verelst to Muniru-d-dāulah. Has received his two letters, one for Lord Clive and the other for the writer, intimating the dispatch of Rāy Dīā Rām Pandit. The latter has arrived at Calcutta safe. Intimates His Lordship's indisposition.

Dec. 13. 2771. Mr. Verelst to the King. As Lord Clive is indisposed and Mr. Sumner intend to return to Europe, the management of affairs here has been entrusted to the writer. Has received His Majesty's shuqqah addressed to His Lordship, and understood the contents. Agreeably to His Majesty's desire the two lakhs of rupees, paid by Kashmīrī Mal and Baijnāth into the Royal treasury through Muniru-d-dāulah, have been credited to their account. His Majesty knows what valuable services Lord Clive has rendered to the throne. It is hoped that the writer will be regarded as equally attached thereto. As long as he remains in this country, he will devote himself to the regulation of the affairs of the Empire and the happiness and prosperity of the Royal house of Timūr.

Dec. 13.

2772. Mr. Verelst to the Wazir. Mr. Sumner, who acted as President of the Committee after Lord Clive's return to Europe [? India], has left India; and the writer has succeeded him. As His Lordship is a little indisposed, he has directed the writer to reply to the addressee's letter delivered by Rājā Parsodā Rāy. Referring to the Wazir's intention of proceeding towards Kora for the ratification of certain agreements with the Rohilla chiefs, and his desire that Colonel Barker may be directed to accompany him with the English troops, replies that as perfect peace prevails in that quarter, there is no necessity for proceeding thereto with an army. Moreover this movement on the part of His Highness will be looked upon with suspicion by the Rohillas and will cause them much alarm and apprehension. Suggests an amicable settlement of the dispute, but says that there can be no real friendship between them and the Rohillas as long as that tyrant Qāsim remains with them and is not delivered up. Approves of His Highness's going to Allahabad. As long as the writer remains in this country, he will not deviate by a hairsbreadth from the treaty entered into with His Highness by Lord Clive and the gentlemen of the Committee.

2778. Mr. Verelst to Mirzā Muhammad Kāzīm Khān, Faujdār of Hooghly. Has been informed that by reason of a false complaint preferred against Munshi Muhammad Mughīr by his enemies, peons have been sent to his house. The Munshi, who has from of old been a faithful servant of the Company, cannot be imagined to have committed such a crime. At all events, it is not proper that one of the Company's servants should have been made to suffer so much hardship. Asks why the complainant has not been sent to Calcutta to lay his case before the writer, and why without any inquiry being made, a respectable man has been arrested and defamed. As the addressee has already been directed by Lord Clive not to molest or persecute the said Munshi, his treatment of the latter appears all the more surprising. Thinks that the addressee must have a grudge against him. Desires him immediately on receipt of this letter to withdraw his peons from the Munshi's house, and never to listen to the stories of his enemies. PS.—As to the addressee's saying that Hidgely is being ruined on account of the arrival of tilangās and chobdārs, replies that whatever may be necessary will be done.

Dec. 22. 2783. To the Wazīr. Has recovered from his late indisposition. From his letter received through Rājā Parsodā Rāy, he seems to think that it is the writer's intention to get Mir Qāsim by violence out of the hands of the Rohillas. Protests that such has never been his intention. If, however, the delivering up of Mir Qāsim can be effected through peaceful methods, so much the better, as it would prove highly advantageous both for the Company and the addressee. As regards the Marhatta danger, a triple alliance has been established between the Nizām, the Marhattas, and the English, and a copy of the treaty has been received here. The dispute about the sarkārs, which were granted to the English by His Majesty, has been settled. The English have agreed to pay something by way of na'ibandī annually to the Nizām. The allies having proposed a joint attack on Haidar Nāik it would be unwise to break with Ragunāth Rāo, lest while peace reigns in the Deccan, Bengal should become the seat of war. Assures the addressee that the Marhattas will not disturb his repose, though they may, by watching for a proper opportunity, lay the petty zamīndārs under contribution. When one or two years' tranquillity has filled his treasury, given stability to his power, and augmented his forces, the establishment of the Empire, the seating of His Majesty on his parental throne and other proposals may then be carried into effect. The English forces will not be backward in lending every assistance therein.

2794. From Munīru-d-daulah. The Wazir has, agreeably to His Lordship's commands, entered on the administration of affairs, and perfect harmony reigns between His Majesty and His Highness. The writer has also been exalted. His Highness acts in conformity with His Lordship's commands, and the writer also, having due regard thereto, applies himself with vigour and alacrity to every necessary business. As His Highness owes his grandeur and elevation to His Lordship, it is incumbent on him to manifest every testimony of gratitude. His Lordship has already been informed of the Wazir's solicitations for the ṣūbah of Allahabad on account of the heavy expenses necessarily attending the maintenance of an army at this time when every quarter threatens disturbances. Is anxious to know His Lordship's views on the subject in order that steps may be taken accordingly. PS.—Learns that Najaf Khān has expressed himself in reproachful terms concerning the writer in a letter to His Lordship. Requests that the Khān may be pacified and this cause of inquietude removed.

Jan. 6.

2801. Muniru-d-daulah to Mr. Verelst. Has received his letter. Congratulates him on his accession to the Government and professes attachment. P.S.—His 'arzi to the King has already been answered. His Majesty regards the addressee equally with Lord Clive as the chief support of his throne, and consequently reposes the same confidence in his counsels and approbation. A khal'at with a sarpēch, a string of pearls, a horse and a sword will be sent to him from His Majesty. Requests to be informed of the names of whatever gentlemen are his friends that dresses may be sent for them also. Mentions in this connection that at the time of Lord Clive's receiving dresse at Chapra, the gentlemen who were with him were also honoured in the same manner. P.S.—Is glad to learn of the arrival of Rāy Dīā Rām Pandit at Calcutta. Until the presents arrive from His Majesty, he will attend the addressee. Requests that whenever he is recalled, he may be granted leave to depart. Some time ago, the sum of 2 lākhs of rupees was borrowed from the bankers in order to supply the necessary expenses of the illustrious Sarkār. At this period, on account of the immense charge and disbursement requisite for the maintenance of the troops, 4 lākhs of rupees more have been borrowed, 2 lākhs from the Nawāb Shujā'u-d-daulah and 2 from Lālā Kashmīrī Mal, and deposited in the Royal treasury. By the assistance of these advances, the business of the Sarkār proceeds without interruption.

and the troops receive their pay regularly. The account will in a short time be transmitted to the addressee. In consequence of orders given by Lord Clive, the writer borrowed money from the bankers for the service of the Sarkār and sent due accounts for His Lordship's information. Now that the direction of affairs has been vested in the addressee, and the writer has become his wakil and nāib in the Presence, if at any time the payments to the Sarkār are delayed, he will borrow from the merchants one or two lākhs of rupees, deliver it on the Company's account into the Royal treasury, and transmit the proper accounts to the addressee. Requests that on receipt of them, the money may be paid to the gumāstahs of the merchants.

Jan. 15.

2802. To the Wazir. Has received his letter saying that the Marhatta sardārs desire to obtain an interview with him and requesting his Lordship to advise him on the subject. Has already informed him of the alliance between the English, the Nizām, and the Marhattas. Does not therefore see any harm in the interview, which may even lead to more cordial relations with the Marhattas. The question rests entirely with the addressee. If he and the Marhattas conduct the King to Shahjahanabad, it is well; but the English forces cannot lend their assistance in such an expedition. The addressee knows very well that the English will not fight any power while it does not first invade the King's dominions, or the addressee's territory, or this province; but that if by chance it does so, they will not be backward in punishing it. As regards Shāh Abdālī, he may penetrate towards these parts as far as Shahjahanabad, but his progress will not extend further. Should he bend his march this way, all the English forces will unite with the addressee's and inflict upon him an utter defeat. Has been informed that some of the bankers at Bénarès convey to Mir Qāsim in bills the money he lodged with them. It is necessary that an inquiry may be made into the matter, and that whatever sums belonging to the ex-Nawāb are discovered in the possession of the bankers, may be confiscated and deposited in the addressee's treasury.

Jan. 25.

2803. To [Munī] Begam. It was to put a stop to the misrule prevailing in Bengal and to restore the lost name of the Company to its former splendour that the writer was sent to Calcutta by the King of England and his ministers. Thanks God that the affairs of the province have been regulated in a proper manner, that a treaty has been entered into with the King and the Wazir, and that the people, who were the cause of the disgrace brought on the Company, have been punished and sent to England. By reason of the climate of this country disagreeing with him, he often remains ill. He decided to return to Europe. Mr. Verelst has been appointed to succeed him. Hopes that all affairs will be conducted properly.
